Resuscitation Fails

Crowd Sees Dramatic Rescue

NEW YORK (AP)—A Times Square area crowd of thousands cheered itself hoarse Thursday night as firemen—risking death in flame and smoke with every step—rescued seven of their comrades trapped in the rubble of a four-story building that collapsed on them.

One by one, the seven men were dragged out from behind blazing wreckage and tons of wood and metal which might well have been their tomb.

All were taken to hospital. None appeared to be severely injured but all were held for observation.

The sixth man rescued—his face blackened and his uniform in smoking rags—sat up on a stretcher, grinned, waved a weary arm to Fire Commissioner Robert Lowery and gasped: "Merry Christmas, commissioner."

The seven men were trapped about 10 p.m., and the last was brought to safety at 1:20 a.m. Power saws were used to cut through the debris. The trapped men were in radio communication with firemen outside during part of the rescue operations.

Military Aid Being Rushed to Jordan

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States is rushing military equipment to Jordan in an apparent attempt to maintain a balance of power in the crisis-torn Middle East.

The state department announced Thursday night the equipment includes an undisclosed number of F-104 fighter-bombers Jordan previously agreed to purchase, but it did not spell out the other kinds or amount of assistance being provided "to strengthen the defensive capability of the Jordanian armed forces."

The announcement came shortly after the Jordanian government radio in Amman announced the resignation of the government of Premier Wasfi Tell. The department said the timing of the announcement of arms aid and the resignation of Tell's government was nothing more than a coincidence.

Tell was asked by King Hussein to form a new government.

Tell's 22-month-old government has been under fire both in Jordan and in other Arab countries since a Nov. 13 Israeli attack on the Jordanian village of El Samu. Its opponents demanded strong retaliatory action against the Israelis.

HAS NEW SOURCES

Shortly before the U.S. announcement, Israeli Premier Levi Eshkol said in Tel Aviv his country had "new, most important sources for weapons." The sources were not identified.

Although Eshkol reiterated in principal Israel's desire to respect existing frontiers, he said his country is reserving its right of freedom of action in the crisis.

This was an apparent reference to the recent decision of the Arab defence council to move non-Jordanian troops to Jordan's border with Israel.

The United Nation's Security Council censured Israel for the Nov. 13 attack. Israel said it acted in reprisal for border raids by Arab terrorists.

Sources indicated the U.S. aid to Jordan includes armored personel carriers to replace vehicles obtained after the Second World War from Britain.

The announcement said "a substantial portion" of the equipment will be shipped to Jordan over the next 30 to 90 days. Some of the F-104 aircraft would be expedited.

Although U.S. officials said the airlift to Jordan does not mean an emergency situation, they acknowledged that the speedy arrival of the military equipment would bolster Hussein's position.

U.S. Will Send Grain to India

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States, spurred partly by a related Soviet action, has agreed to send hungry India 900,000 tons of wheat and sorghum for the winter.

A U.S. official called the allocation "interim" and said the administration would consult Congress about future grain shipments.

The Soviet Union announced Thursday prior to the U.S. agreement that it would donate 200,000 tons of wheat immediately to drought-stricken areas of India.

One official said the U.S. had been waiting for other countries, including the Soviet Union, to join the hunger fight. He said the Soviet announcement quickened the U.S. decision.

The grain, coupled with other supplies assured from Canada and Australia, "should prevent any starvation" into March, said the official. It assures India of 1,000,000 tons of imported grain in both January and February.

India's own winter wheat crop comes to harvest in March and April.

Children Who Fled Montreal Happy With 'Family' Christmas

VANCOUVER (CP) — Four children who left Montreal and their parents and came west by themselves to set up housekeeping are all set for a merry Christmas.

Maria Baleni, 18, sisters Milica, 15, Draga, 10, and brother Andre, 14, left a strife-filled home in Montreal in August, 1965, and made their way to Vancouver.

They had been here three months when the Catholic children's Aid Society received a request from the Montreal social welfare court, asking about their welfare.

On investigation, the society found the children had formed a solid family relationship—and allowed them to stay. It says it has found no reason to change its mind.

For more than a year, with little adult help, they have attended school, earned a living, paid their bills and run their own household.

Maria, the major wage-earner, is a nurse's aide. Two of the younger children contribute to the family budget by delivering newspapers.

Since the children were born in Yugoslavia and raised in Quebec, Christmas for them takes on an international flavor.

"In Yugoslavia, on Saint Nicholas' Day, Dec. 6, children put their shoes on the cinder sill," said Maria. "Saint Nick is supposed to put sticks in the shoes if the children have been bad, and goodies if they have been good.

"Our shoes were about half and half this time," she laughed.

There's only one thing wrong, she said. "We miss the snow. We never had a Christmas without snow, and I hope it will snow for Christmas, if only a little bit."

Ice Closing In On Whales

INUVIK, N.W.T. (CP)—Ice is closing in on the breathing hole of 17 white whales trapped in Eskimo Lake, 30 miles north of this arctic community.

An observation team reported after an inspection flight over the lake Thursday that ice had formed a bridge over the centre of the breathing hole of the big pigs and that it appeared to be closing rapidly.

Snow and icing conditions have limited the use of aircraft in the area 1,200 miles northwest of Edmonton.

Frozen food, including lamb chops, was dropped to the whales Wednesday by a bush pilot.

Lake Ontario Level Up, Others Down

OTTAWA (CP)—Water levels in the Great Lakes are well along in their annual winter decline and the prospect for improvement next summer does not look good.

Lakes Erie and Huron were well below their average of the last 50 years last summer and probably will be even lower next summer, says G. C. Dohler of the Canadian Hydrographic Service.

Levels of lakes Superior and Ontario are controlled and do not vary as much.

Heavy precipitation in the spring and summer could make a difference but the lake levels usually depend on precipitation over the last two years as well as precipitation and evaporation during the current year.

A cool, wet summer would help keep the levels up but hot, sunny weather over the lakes would speed evaporation not only in the lakes themselves, but in their watersheds.

Mr. Dohler said there is no way to make long-term forecasts of lake levels over a period of years.

IS NO CYCLE

"There is no definite cycle in the lakes. There are too many variable factors involved," he said.

The hydrographic service's latest bulletin shows Huron, Erie and Ontario still were above their 1965 levels at the end of November while Superior was slightly below its mark of a year ago.

But Huron still was a foot below its 50-year average for November while Erie was down about half a foot, and Ontario two-tenths of a foot.

Lake Ontario was a quarter of a foot above its 10-year average, however, while Erie was down by the same amount and Huron down by almost half a foot.

FRANKFORD — Sincere sympathy is extended to Mrs. J. M. Dafoe in the loss of her brother, Mr. Fleming a resident of New York State.

Mrs. Ray Moran underwent surgery in Belleville General Hospital last week.

Radioactive Detector

Britain's first whole-body monitor for measuring radioactivity has been developed by the University of Strathclyde. Its process is simpler than conventional monitors and it can be used in nearly any hospital room. The bed passes the detector, the patient is scanned from head to foot. The results are available within minutes.

Fluoridation Recount Asked

KINGSTON (CP)—Two Kingston residents have filed the required papers and a $100 bond with Judge Alan Campbell of Frontenac County for a recount on the fluoridation question here, Judge Campbell said Thursday.

He said he has issued the order for a recount and will set a date for it later this week.

On a Dec. 5 plebiscite, the vote was 8,741 to 8,307 against retaining fluoridation, which was introduced to this city in March.

Disney Interview Always Same

The following is the last of five articles on Walt Disney by Associated Press columnist Bob Thomas, author of two books on Disney.

By BOB THOMAS

The procedure was always the same. The reporter went at noon with Disney's public relations man to the award-decorated office on the third floor of the animation building. A secretary served lunch in trays to Walt and the visitors, and Walt began talking.

He sat at a low table laden with scripts and reports; there was no desk in the Disney office. All about were mementoes of past triumphs, ceramic busts of Mickey Mouse, the Seven Dwarfs, etc. But Walt had scant interest in the past. Often he would talk about projects that would not reach the public for three, four or five years.

The wall featured two main exhibits. One was a blowup of Variety's annual list of all-time, box-office winners.

It pleased Walt when Mary Poppins climbed to the No. 6 spot last year, topped only by Gone with the Wind, Ben-Hur and The Ten Commandments.

PLANNED ADDITIONS

The other wall exhibit was an aerial map of Disneyland, not as it is today, but with the improvements Walt planned to add over the years. He played with the park like a boy with an erector set. Always he was seeking new ways to please the crowds.

"Let's go eat," Walt would say after he had expounded on his work in progress. He walked down the corridor and along Dopey Drive (the streets are named after the studio's stars) to the commissary. Along the way he said hello to employees; virtually all called him Walt, but the casualness was not to be mistaken for intimacy. There was always a respectful distance between employees and the boss.

Expo Story To Be Shown

As a centennial project, Famous Players Canadian Corporation has offered its theatre screens to publicize Expo '67, opening in April in Montreal.

Theatres operated by Famous Players and their associates coast-to-coast will present the Expo story on their screens in an estimated 1,000,000 Canadians each week. The Belle Theatre here is a member of the group.

The theatres will be official Expo ticket centres distributing a complete range of Expo "passports" and bonus ticket books.

SECOND STRING TO BOW

Comedian Sandy Baron of TV's Hey Landlord has written 60 songs, three of them recorded by the late Nat King Cole.

Walt always sat at the corner table in the Coral Room, which was reserved for executives, stars and visiting dignitaries. After ordering his lunch—he was usually on a diet to lose a few pounds—Walt began talk ing on the subject of the interview.

Perhaps interview is not the right term. Lasting seven of eight hours, Walt was impatient with the usual give-and-take of a press interview. He would grasp a thought, examine it, expand it and pursue it to the extreme.

INVOLVED IN STORY

Sometimes he would talk about an enterprise that would cost many millions of dollars. Or he could have been describing the antics of a bear in the next animated feature, The Jungle Book. In that case his eyebrows would waggle and his cheeks would puff up bear-like; he was as good a storyteller in person as he was on the screen.

Over a period of 20-odd years I had found such lunches with Walt, and I also tagged along as he prowled through Disneyland. He liked all things present and future and often received unsolicited advice and fantasies, but never a person.

There were two Walt Disneys, public and private. The public Disney put his name and face on his company's product and sometimes found himself in any exploitation that would aid the cause. But he drew the line on any invasion of his personal life.

It was significant that Disney's birthday was held last week with only family and a few close associates present, thus avoiding the ruefully spectacles that have marred the passing of other greats.

Dean Martin Show Climbing

NEW YORK (AP)—In a television season notable for the high casualty rate of its shows and for a markedly unenthusiastic reception for variety shows in general, it is interesting to note one quiet but real success story.

NBC's Dean Martin Show, now in the middle of its second season, has been climbing the Nielsen ladder, without fanfare and without resort to violent changes in format.

The Thursday evening variety hour is unremarkable and downright routine in format, quality of performers and in its guest stars. The program's casual air manages to reflect the engaging personality of its star — or at least his public personality.

During its first season the show never made it into the hit class and was remarkable only for its apparently unlimited supply of booze jokes. The jokes, though slightly muted, are still there. Martin, whether obviously misreading his cue cards, or singing a ballad with professionally somehow manages to pull everything together in an entertaining if low-key whole.

In the last Nielsen rating, the Dean Martin Show had moved into 23rd place, which puts it right into the hit category and clinches the renewal of the show for a third season.

Thursday night's show was typical. Martin's guests, included Liberace, who with danced and modelled an assortment of sequined smoking jackets; Jane Powell danced and sang. Barbara McNair also sang, and so did Tennessee Ernie Ford. And there was considerable singing by Martin here and without his guests.

That's a lot of singing, with only short pauses between numbers for humorous exchanges. But Martin's easy humor and self - amusement is infectious and the hour passed quickly.

One of the problems faced by a new series is the custom of completing at least seven and often a dozen or more episodes before the public has a chance to see the first one. If a show is not working well, it is impossible to make any emergency repairs—and often it is canceled before anything can be done.

Two comedies, both in ratings trouble but which somehow managed to survive the mid-season cancellation period, now are going to make revisions.

It's About Time, on CBS, will change locales—which means a change in the character of the jokes. Instead of having a couple of astronauts in the caveman era, the cavemen, starting next month, will be exposed to modern civilization.

And ABC's Pruitts of Southampton, when it moves Jan. 13 into a new Friday spot, not only will be renamed The Pruitts Diller Show, but acquire a new team of writers and some new characters.

Victor Mature Plays Old Actor

Mature was dissatisfied with his role — "three times I threw my script into the ocean" — and personally built it up.

He amplified a line, "I'm not that old," by turning to a mirror and pulling back his cheeks to smooth out the wrinkles. He accentuated the hammy - star image by having an aide trot after him in the film with a chair. The movie was made in Italy and on a nearby island.

Consecon

Golfer - raconteur - investor, Mature, 50, a sun - tanned, still robust 200 pounds, has been living on fits five - acre southern California ranch since quitting films five years ago.

"I was always a pretty good loafer," he said, "but I think I'll start workin' again."

CONSECON — The monthly Farmers' Union meeting was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Carman O'Hara Monday evening.

Mrs. Annie Mastin, who has been visiting her daughter and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Keene, returned to her home in Picton.

Artillery Pound s Guerillas After Truce Broken

SAIGON (CP)—U.S. marines battled with guerrilla troops in northern Quang Nam province this afternoon in the first major outbreak of hostilities in the Vietnam Christmas truce.

An American military spokesman said the marines were fired on with an estimated 1,000 rounds of mtchine-gun and rifle fire, and called in artillery to pound the guerrillas.

The clash was the most significant reported so far during the truce period.

A spokesman in Saigon military headquarters declined to describe it inTlelligtnce as a major violation of the cease-fire, but said it seemed to be of considerable importance.

There were a number of other incidents that marred the first day of the truce.

The fighting broke out 7½ hours after the truce two miles southeast of the giant marines marine base at Danang.

Two companies of marines were involved in the fighting.

The spokesman said American casualties were light in the main fighting, and contact with the guerillas was broken.

A South Vietnamese military spokesman said "we do not consider the truce violated so far." He reported two incidents after the truce started at 7 a.m.

Both the U.S. and Vietnamese commands appeared to regard the series of firing incidents as minor harassment or random enemy fire and not full blown violations of the ceasefire.

A U.S. spokesman defined a violation as "a calculated, pursued enemy attack or an organized terror attack."

A unit of Australian troops, operating in Phuoc Tuy province southeast of Saigon, reported a brief exchange of fire with five Viet Cong. The Australians said the Viet Cong initiated the fire but fled quickly.

Since then 200,000 U.S. servicemen have arrived in bring the total American commitment to 371,000 and 8,000 American servicemen have been killed.

Friday night, during the hours of darkness before the truce began, American planes showered North Vietnam with a record 24,009,000 leaflets.

A spokesman said 4,000,000 of the leaflets were dropped in the Hanoi and Haiphong areas and the rest scattered up and down North Vietnam.

The ceasefire will remain in effect until 7 a.m. Monday (6 p.m. sat. Sunday). It is for three of three truce periods. Another 48-hour ceasefire is scheduled next weekend over the New Year's holiday, to be followed by a four-day truce in February during the Vietnamese observance of Tet, the lunar new year.

While the guns were muffled, servicemen devoted some time to civic action programs in South Vietnam. Christmas celebrations and religious services.

Comedian Bob Hope flew back to Saigon from Thailand for the third time this week to entertain the forces in Vietnam

Turning serious for a moment, Hope told reporters, "I think we should assert our power, or escalate enough to win fast" in the Vietnam war.

Also on hand for a religious meeting was evangelist Billy Graham, who has been in Vietnam since early this week.

Two Christmas Eve reported only hours after authorities in Saigon had said the first hours of the truce apparently had passed without violations of the holiday ceasefire.

In the early afternoon in Binh Thuan province about 110 miles northeast of Saigon, aircraft from the U.S. 1st Air Cavalry Division on an aerial reconnaissance mission received three hits from the ground.

World Hungers More Than Ever For Peace Today: Pearson

OTTAWA (CP) — The world hungers more than ever for peace among all nations, Prime Minister Pearson says in his Christmas message.

"Through the exercise of love and understanding and good will in all of our hearts, every one of us as individuals can make his own contribution to the progress and the welfare of our country and to peace across our world.

"For peace and progress begin in the hearts and souls of every individual person."

Mr. Pearson extended his greetings Friday to Canadians abroad, teachers, technicians and missionaries.

He expressed regret that commercialism and a kind of celebration threaten to "obscure the true meaning of Christmas."

"If we are lucky, we are surrounded by our children and our grandchildren."

He had special greetings for those who will work Christmas Day to maintain essential services and for the less fortunate.

"Some are burdened with poverty; others are lonely or sick or sorrowing. So we think of them particularly on this day."

The prime minister will broadcast his message on CBC English and French networks Sunday morning. The text was issued to the press in advance.

Pope to Say Mass In Florence

FLORENCE, Italy (Reuters) — Pope Paul will come to this flood-ravaged city today to say Christmas midnight mass in its famous Renaissance cathedral as a gesture of comfort and consolation to millions of Italian flood victims.

It will be the first time in more than a century that a Pope has not said the midnight mass in the Vatican's Sistine Chapel under its Michaelangelo ceiling frescoes.

The hills of Florence—a city that seven weeks ago was mired in deep, stinking mud with debris everywhere—will peal out from noon to 9 p.m. today to herald the Pope's arrival.

He will be greeted at the Florence toll gate and will drive through the streets of the town, seeing flood damage on the way, to the Basilica of Santa Croce, where the floods were deepest.

The Pope will pray for a few moments inside the church whose exquisite frescoes still show the marks of the oil and water and where the priceless crucifix of Cimbbue was damaged beyond repair.

Then he will talk to the people from the church steps before going to the archbishop's palace to meet local church and civic officials, and have a brief rest.

After the mass and a sermon, the Pope will say a few more words to the crowds who will be able to follow the mass from loudspeakers playing out into the cathedral square and nearby streets.

Then he will motor back through the night to Rome to say the traditional Sunday morning mass in St. Peter's Basilica.

Jet Crash Lands All 101 Safe

MEXICO CITY (AP)—A Mexicana Airlines passenger jet from New York with 101 persons on board made a crash landing on a road north of Mexico City today and skidded into the shallow waters of Lake Texcoco.

First reports from the scene said four persons were injured.

Rescue boats moved in to take passengers from the plane and carry them to shore.

Kiesinger's Aim is Peace

BONN (Reuters)—West German Chancellor Kurt Georg Kiesinger said today his country's chief aim is peace, which would finally be achieved in Europe with German reunification.

But he said reunifications depended on increasing agreement among the victors of the Second World War who divided Nazi Germany, and on reasonable German-Soviet relations.

Tipple Test Tough Task If Drinking

DETROIT (AP) — Convinced that the Christmas cocktail party is begs to stay, Michigan's automobile club Friday suggested fun and games to test a tippler's qualifications for driving home.

It puts the bee on the host: If your guest is tight, don't let him take the wheel until he can perform two simple, game-like tasks:

1. First, let the guest set forth on a 10-foot straight line. If he walks it without wavs or wobble, he qualifies for the second step.

2. Attach a three-inch rubber ball or Christmas tree ornament to a string hanging from the ceiling to shoulder level and let the guest try swinging it at a three-inch bull's eye on the wall.

"If he hits the target, he's okay," says the club. "If he hits a circle near it, he needs a cup of coffee. If he misses, he should go lie down."

Trains, Planes Booked Solid

Trains, boats and planes are booked solid as Canadians head into what is expected to be the most travelled Christmas season in peacetime history.

The CPR will operate 10 extra holiday specials. Eastern Airlines say Montreal - New York flights are booked solid and BOAC flights from Canada to Great Britain are running at capacity.

Air Canada has laid on 184 extra sections in Quebec, Ontario and the Maritimes and 26 additional westbound flights will leave Toronto over the holiday.

Seven extra flights will operate from Toronto to Caribbean destinations and an extra five will go to Florida.

More than 1,800 seamen on ships are expected to be in Vancouver on Christmas Day but one seamen's mission won't be serving Christmas dinner.

"Christmas dinners don't appeal to seamen. They get well fed aboard ships these days," said Captain Stanley Smith of the Flying Angel Mission.

In Montreal, about 250 aged poor will sit down to a feast provided by the Little Brothers of the Poor. Eating with them will be Paul - Emile Cardinal Leger.

Some people won't be eating at all. Four students from Ottawa and Toronto plan to fast for 200 hours in support of a medical aid fund for civilians in Vietnam.

Guard Opens Present, Has Hands Blown Off

NEW WESTMINSTER, B.C. (CP)—A penitentiary guard and his young son—injured by the blast of a bomb—have survived an attempt at murder via the Christmas mail.

Guard Fraser Newton, 42, was in fair condition in hospital today but the condition of his 10-year - old son, Norman, was given as critical.

Newton lost his hands when the Christmas parcel exploded, but he ran screaming into the street carrying his wounded son.

The blast triggered a frantic telephone operation by officials to warn more than 200 other guards of the British Columbia penitentiary not to touch unopened Christmas parcels, but no other bombs were located.

The explosion occurred as Newton unwrapped the parcel at his home in North Surrey, across the Fraser River from New Westminster, where the penitentiary is located, while his son watched.

Police said the blast wrecked the kitchen and bathroom of the house.

Newton's wife, Eleanor, was at work at her letter's job at the Royal Bank of Canada in nearby Whalley at the time and the couple's infant daughter was being cared for by a babysitter.

Newton, a guard at the penitentiary for 13 years, suffered burns and cuts to his face and stomach in addition to losing his hands. He was also hit in the face, arms, neck and chest by flying metal.

Police said the blast was caused by "an unidentified explosive device received by parcel post."

Inspector W. R. Morrison of the security element of the RCMP said whoever sent the parcel made sure it was a fairly heavy explosive charge.

"We are following every possible lead to find the sender," he said.

G. S. Merritt, assistant penitentiary warden, said Newton's duties took him to all parts of the penitentiary.

"As far as I know he had not been threatened by any of the prisoners. He was a good officer and was very popular with his colleagues.

"All of them have been shocked to learn of this incident. It's perplexing — how could anyone stoop so low?"

The assistant warden said the bomb could not have been made at the penitentiary.

"If a prisoner wants to send out a Christmas present it has to be wrapped by one of the officers," he said. "An explosive device would never get by."

"It might have been someone who was released some time ago," Mr. Merritt said.

Mrs. Bruno Schulz, a neighbor of the Newtons, said the explosion was heard throughout the neighborhood and brought people to the street.

The Proof Is in the Escaping

LONDON (Reuters) — Eight men escaped in three prison breaks Friday, bringing to more than 100 the number now evading police capture across Britain.

Thirteen have escaped since an official report on security declared Thursday that not one prison in Britain is escape proof.

Earlier, two men fled from a Birmingham working party and a prisoner left London's Wandsworth jail in a garbage truck. Five others smashed their way out of Liverpool's Walton jail within hours of publication of the government-ordered security report, but two were recaptured Friday.

Prime Minister Wilson Friday night announced the appointment of a new chairman for the British prisons board. He is Sir James MacKay, a former aviation ministry official with a reputation as a tough administrator.

The 100 prisoners on the run included two key figures from the 1963 $7,000,000 great train robbery, and Mad Axeman Frank Mitchell, who broke out of the bleak Welt country prison of Dartmoor last week.

Nearly Every Kid Has One Church Ad Copy Says

CLEVELAND (AP)—It's the season when church people collect gifts for the needy, sing carols and expound peace and goodwill.

But in this morning's newspaper, Clevelanders were greeted with a full-page advertisement topped by a life-size picture of a rat and a caption: "Merry Christmas, Kids." It was sponsored by the Council of Churches of Greater Cleveland.

"You were expecting maybe reindeer?" the ad goes on, adding: "In some sections of Cleveland, rats are very IN this year. Nearly every kid has one. Sometimes two."

The advertisement is the third in a series begun at U.S. Thanksgiving by the church council which embraces 12 Protestant denominations and 600 church congregations.

The copy, prepared without fee by an advertising agency, admittedly is designed to give the Cleveland public the shock treatment that would trigger a flood of letters to Gov. James A. Rhodes and get the Ohio general-assembly meeting next month to liberalize relief payments.

The first advertisement showed a can of dog food on a dinner table and was captioned: "Compassion and Special: 25 Cents a Pound. The text ad had a photograph of a profile of a pregnant woman and was headed: "Let 'em Starve."

"This developed after four years of attempting to change the standards of public welfare by talking and having very nice men," said Rev. Charles Rawlings, executive director of the metropolitan affairs commission of the church council.

"Somehow we have to get the message to the people. There are 120,000 children in Ohio on starvation diet."

All three of the advertisements emphasize that Ohio is the fourth-wealthiest state in the U.S. in assessed property value, fifth in personal income, third in manufacturing and 30th in aid to needy families.

Every Ohio child on public assistance gets 73 cents a day "whether they deserve it or not," the advertisements say.

A Healthy Barry Best Gift Parents Could Be Given

Christmas is a time for children and parents strive to make it so.

But, sometimes, it happens a youngster all-unknowing returns the gesture — makes a particular Christmas a highlight of happy togetherness for the family album.

But, for the first time ever his parents will be able to let Barry indulge himself in all the Christmas caprices of childhood without casting a thought for his good health.

Barry was born with a hole in his heart, a congenital condition making him what is familiarly known as a "blue baby."

This meant his parents had to carefully shepherd his energy, as the condition left him easily exhausted.

"He could get upstairs and downstairs but it was quite a chore," said Mrs. Hawley.

Every six months for the past five years, the Hawleys took their son to Kingston for regular checkups. Doctors were uncertain when he would be sufficiently strong to attempt a corrective operation.

GROWTH REVEALED

This year, however, there was another complication: Barry was due to start school.

"Before we took him down for the last checkup in September we asked if the doctor could fix him up for going to school," said Pete Hawley.

After examination, it was agreed to make the attempt and Barry entered hospital November 13. Just four days later an interim correction operation was performed which called for severing a shoulder artery and linking it to the heart, says Mrs. Hawley.

Just two weeks later the boy was released to his parents — the operation pronounced a success.

Now a pupil at Queen Mary public school, he is normally active "as all get out."

He still will return for regular medical checkups and — say the Hawleys — maybe in 10 years it will be possible to have a total correction performed, closing the hole in his heart and removing the slight valve growth.

Meantime, there are years of normal childhood events in which he can participate to the hilt.

HAPPY CHRISTMAS! — A Study in family togetherness, the Hawleys gather round Christmas tree with Barry, 5, all of them looking forward to the first Yuletide of assured, sound health for the son of a happy household.

Compare These Prices to Today

Christmas is a stocking filled with customs.

And among the most harmless is that of comparing consumer costs with bygone years and heaving up a sigh for the ante-inflation days.

If the days ever existed when the ante has not been ascending like sap in summer, they long have been obscured by the mists of time.

Yet the custom of comparisons continues — even today when a finance minister keeps Christmas week to announce a tax increase.

However, for those who still persist, let's move the mists and hark back to some really good old days — like the 14th century for instance, bearing mind there's always two sides to the coin.

Columbus had yet to make himself a laughing stock claiming to show the whole world it wasn't flat as a plate.

Still, there were some fairpriced fowl to be placed on the plate.

A penny would purchase 12 fresh eggs — and to wash down that mouthful, the local brewer sold you two gallons of beer for as many cents.

To clear the cobwebs from that draught you could take a walk around your real estate — which you could have purchased for two cents an acre on pasture land, 12 cents for arable land.

If you kept seeing tumbling draught horses you didn't have to blame the hangover.

There were so many work nags around they were failing over each other — retailing at 72 cents each.

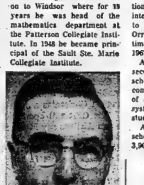
E. A. Orr to Retire in June



A 40-year career in high school education, ranging all the way from teacher and department head to principal and finally superintendent of schools, will be ended next June for E. Arnold Orr of this city.

At this week's meeting of the Bay of Quinte District High School Board, Mr. Orr tendered his resignation as Secondary Schools superintendent. The resignation will be effective at the end of the school term in next June.

Mr. Orr has been superintendent of the Bay of Quinte District four high schools since 1964.

A native of Belleville, Mr. Orr went to public and high school here and then attended McMaster University where he received his bachelor of arts degree in mathematics and later his master's degree in education.

His first teaching assignment was at the Ridgetown High and Agricultural School where for two years he taught his specialty — mathematics.

From Ridgetown he moved on to Windsor where for 13 years he was head of the mathematics department at the Patterson Collegiate Institute. In 1948 he became principal of the Sault Ste. Marie Collegiate Institute.

Then in 1954 he moved back to Belleville to become principal at Belleville Collegiate Institute, a position which he held for 10 years before being named to his present position.

Dr. John Barlow, school board "chairman, said the board accepted Mr. Orr's resignation with mixed feelings.

"In view of Mr. Orr's remarkable service to the board, we regret to see him go," Dr. Barlow said. "But at the same time we are happy that he is still young enough to enjoy retirement."

Dr. Barlow said Mr. Orr had been with the Bay of Quinte District High Schools during its rapid growth period and was the board's first superintendent of secondary schools.

Mr. Orr said that he and Mrs. Orr "would continue to make their home in Belleville. They hope to do some travelling.

Board officials said the position of secondary school superintendent would be advertised to allow appointment of Mr. Orr's successor in plenty of time before opening of the 1967 fall school term.

Also the board will hire a second man to act as high school inspector, a position recommended by the department of education for high school systems with more than 3,500 students.

Attendance at the four high schools in the city is now 3,900.

Mooseheart Choir Will Be Heard

A 60-voice high school choir will join the sounds of Christmas music over Radio Station CJBQ tomorrow.

The group is the Mooseheart High School, from the Moose heart High School, from the City of Children in Illinois.

J. B. Roth, governor of Belleville Moose Lodge 1004 says the program will include traditional carols and hymns with narration by student members of the choir.

IN MEMORIAM

FOSTER — In loving memory of our dear son, Bill, who was killed in a car accident, Dec. 24, 1965.

Two years on a wonderful son,
To us a friend, companion dear,
But at the threshold of manhood,
He came and took him away.
Quarter to one than words can tell,
You saw we lost and loved so well,
Dear God do we forget you dear Bill?

In our hearts you are always here,
As it must be the years have flown,
—Sadly missed and ever remembered by Mom and Dad.

DRAPER — In memory of our dear grandson, Charles Steven Draper, who passed away Dec. 24, 1964.

Dearest grandson we loved so well,
Only those who've lost can tell,
Of the lonely bitter heartache,
For the grandson we loved so well,
The vacant chair, your face we bought,
We will not forget you, we hear,
Through the passing of the years,
—Always remembered by Donald, Marlene and Glenn.

SHARP — In loving memory of a dear father, Charles Sharp, who passed away Dec. 24th, 1964.

The golden gate closed upon,
The one we loved so well,
Without a chance to say goodbye,
You quietly passed away,
Within our hearts we'll always stay,
Our memories of you and try to live and carry on,
As you would want us to,
Someday I know we'll understand,
Why parting had to be.
And when our days on earth are o'er,
Once more your face we'll see.
—Lovingly remembered by Winnie and family.

GUAY — In loving memory of a dear husband, father and grandfather Xavier Guay, who passed away Dec. 24, 1964.

The years we shared together,
Are always in my mind,
Memories are treasures,
As we think so much of you,
God gave us sorrow,
God gave you rest,
You did your best,
But life knows best.
—Lovingly remembered by wife and family.

JUBY — In loving remembrance of a dear wife, Lenny Juby, who passed away Dec. 26, 1965.

Peacefully sleeping, resting at last,
The world's weary troubles are over and past,
In silence we suffered, in patience she bore,
Till God called her home to suffer no more.
—Sadly remembered by husband Howard.

DARRAH — In loving memory of a dear son and brother Ryerson Darrah who passed away Dec. 26, 1957.

—Always remembered by mother, sister Laura, brother-in-Law Vernon and family.

Those Who Guard, or Nurse or Pray Will Get Their Christmas Another Day

The Real Meaning

Clergymen are on call around the clock — and Christmas is no different. It is also their responsibility to emphasize the festivities' real inspiration — as in the Christmas sermon being readied by Rev. Gordon B. Woodstock, head of the Belleville Ministerial Association.

Christmas is a spirited time.

In fact, people like to say, a merry Christmas can be hard work.

But, in truth, it's the happiest spare time period of them all, when much of the world relaxes in the luxury of one whole day set aside for family fun, certain there will be no interruptions.

But not for everyone.

Behind the festive scenes, the community must still be guaranteed its day-to-day services — and those who keep them functioning must surrender their time to the common purpose.

These are the quiet people of Christmas — the police, the firemen, the hospital staffs, the workers who maintain communications.

They are charged with the responsibility of keeping Christmas normal for the community.

Most of them remain unnoticed and unsung.

Hundreds of Bellevillians will place telephone calls to relatives across the country. The operator who services each call at the Bell Telephone exchange will just be a voice.

Yet to keep the wires humming the company must maintain a full battery of women at the switchboard.

Belleville's Telephone Answering Service is a similar, if smaller, operation.

The service has 177 subscribers, including doctors and emergency services. It also handles a two - way radio service with a broadcast radius of 50 miles. Christmas Day, they will probably perform crucial services affecting the lives of many holiday-makers.

Anonymity goes by the board at Belleville General Hospital — but then the personal touch is part of the pattern for its staff.

However, it also is part of the job to help impart a spirit of happiness to those in their care.

Elsewhere in the city, men will leave home to continue the vigils of protecting life and property.

Police officers and firemen may not even receive a call.

The Personal Touch

Emergency knows no clock or calendar. Dec. 25 is another day for vigilance in every community hospital. But, there's always time for that important touch . . . like the attention 94-year-old William McKeown is getting from nurses Kuhnsun Park, (left) and Fay Green . . . two of the hospital's staff who will work Christ mas Day.

The Safe Way to Drive

A community cannot be without reliable means of transport. On duty tomorrow will be taxi drivers like Hank Wallbridge — who has been answering cab calls for 10 Christmases past.

Communication Is Key

Among those on duty Christmas Day will be Grace Fleizer, who will keep tabs on the city's Telephone Answering Service switchboard. Many of its 170 subscribers are crucial in times of emergency — doctors, ambulance operations, community services.

No Time to Relax Vigil

Police and firemen must man their posts as usual during the Yuletide festivities. While a festive touch might still be in the official air — like the police headquarter's tree being decorated by Trudy Hibbard with a helping hand from Sergeant Doug Ellis — the official vigil cannot be relaxed.

Someone Took Santa Claus From Lawn

This Christmas provincial police in Belleville today are looking for a Santa Claus described as six feet tall — and stuffed with straw.

The Santa was ornamental — gracing the lawn of Mrs. Nellie Kollar on the fourth concession of Sidney township near Wallbridge.

Mrs. Kollar had placed the king - size replica among Christmas decorations outside her home.

She woke this morning to find it had been stolen during the night.

One is the galloping process of natural evolution which has come to be known as the "population explosion". With it is the associated evil of hunger. And the other is a phenomenon which has been created artificially, by man himself, through his pathological inability to save face and satisfy honor other than by hostility and conflict. This is what has led to the agony of Viet Nam.

Viet Nam, with the United States and its fearsome embarrassment of military riches on the one side, an implacable and determined Asiatic foe on the other; Viet Nam, with its little children, its old men and women, and others still young and in the prime of life, trapped in a land where war long since has become a way of life.

Thus, as we celebrate Christmas, this season is far from being the traditional one of peace and goodwill. For many it is, but it is well that we turn from our own sheltered and comfortable environment to consider that for millions this period is a hell on earth.

That the people of the western world can do something to alleviate this situation should be the prime thought in our minds at this time. Much of course is being done — by the United Nations and private relief organizations, with contributions of money, food, clothing, medicines and so on. But it is not enough.

What a vast impact could be made if the so-called developed nations would devote all their energies and material wealth to the task of erasing these two problems of poverty and war from the earth.

Bud Trivett, a member of the national executive of the United Nations Association, put it this way in a recent address in Belleville. Suggesting that food and world trade were the two greatest needs of the world, he said in order to effect a big increase in these "there must be a total dedication by all people such as one would put into winning a war".

It may be argued that war is one way of keeping the population down, that a world which cannot come even near to feeding its billions would find itself intolerably burdened by countless others rescued from any famine in India, or from sudden death in Viet Nam.

On the other hand, is this simply a case of misplaced dedication? Instead of the emphasis hitherto given to making war the same energies could long since have been channeled into the production of food and the investigation of alternative sources such as the ocean bed.

There are many ways in which the sick and the maimed, the destitute and the lonely — in our own midst and overseas — can be helped at least to support themselves. It can be done, for example, through the agencies mentioned earlier.

Man may be born into trouble as the sparks fly upward, but behind this fact is the message of Christmas. Beyond the discord and the awesome events of faraway battlefields is mankind's eternal quest for something of real value. As we exchange gifts and messages with family and friends, men still look back to the birth of a child, in Bethlehem of Judaea, nearly 2,000 years ago.

It is appropriate at Christmas that we think mainly of children. Primarily it is their day, and it is their future that is at stake — just as earlier generations also looked ahead to a great unknown. Today, as ever, we must work to diminish mankind's restlessness into peaceful rather than destructive avenues of prayer.

The children of Viet Nam are the symbols, in its extreme form, of suffering everywhere. They could be our own youngsters. Weekend Magazine recently described a Swiss organization's work in sending war-scarred Vietnamese children to hospital's overseas. In this and other humanitarian works, on the part of people of many nations, may be seen the true nature of man, seeking always, and poignantly, to find expression.

20 YEARS AGO

December 24, 1946

K. J. Collins, of Kingston, visited Mr. and Mrs. Cleo Colling for Christmas.

Capt. and Mrs. Homer Thomas, of Camp Borden, spent Christmas with the former's mother, Mrs. Woodman Thomas, Albert Street.

Miss Jean Dickens of New York City is spending several days as the guest of her father, Ernest Dickens, Albert St.

30 YEARS AGO

December 24, 1936

Three hundred and seventy families received today hampers filled to over-flowing with good things for Christmas. The giving of the hampers was made possible by organizations in the city churches, fraternal organizations, the Rotary Club, the Kiwanis Club, the fire department, the Salvation Army, business men's Club and many private orders, paid for by the trust fund of the late Senator H. Corby, were also delivered. The Army and Navy Veterans and the Canadian Legion are taking special care of returned war veterans who are unemployed and in need.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarke Diamond of Hamilton, are here to spend Christmas with the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. Davey Diamond, Foster Ave.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles McMahon of Kingston, will spend Christmas here with the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Byrne.

50 YEARS AGO

December 24, 1916

From our file copy at this time in 1866: "The workers at the City Mission, Dundas St. E. hope to be able to open soup kitchens on New Year's Day, if friends of the work are liberal in their Christmas contributions. The work was carried on successfully last winter and proved a boon to many poor families.

Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Adams will spend the holiday season with friends in Hillier.

Dec. 24, 1966 . . .

Free French naval forces seized the small islands of St. Pierre and Miquelon from their Vichy rulers 25 years ago today—in 1941—much to the annoyance of Ottawa, London and Washington. The Allied war leaders gladly accepted General de Gaulle's military help but distrusted his political ambitions and the United States was still in diplomatic contact with Vichy France. Official Allied disapproval was further aggravated since a British spy agency, operating in the United States, had helped the Free French landings by finding out nearly all the Islanders were anti-Vichy.

Fifty years ago today—in 1916 — Central Powers forces in Rumania captured Tulcea and occupied all Dobrodja except the northeast corner; British units raided enemy lines on the Macedonian front.

Twenty-five years ago today—in 1941—three German aircraft were shot down over Malta; British troops occupied Benghasi, Libya; large numbers of Japanese troops landed on Leyte, Philippines, and troopships were ragged off Sarawak.

Fifty years ago today—in 1916—the British dominions and India were invited to a "special war conference of the Entente Powers"; Germany repeated to the U.S. its proposal for a peace conference.

Second World War

Twenty-five years ago today—in 1941 — Hong Kong surrendered and the fate of its garrison, including 2,000 Canadians, was unknown; citizens of St. Pierre and Miquelon voted overwhelmingly to side with the Free French; Japanese tanks reached the Filipino summer capital, Baguio.

The Season For Positive Thinking And Small Blessings Counting

Montreal May Ban Sirens

Sherbrooke Record

Montreal City Council is studying a by-law which might receive close attention from other municipalities in the province including Sherbrooke.

It would ban entirely the use of sirens on all vehicles—including those of the police, fire and ambulance services—and replace them with a two-beep sound.

Generally speaking the Sherbrooke police and fire departments' employees show Presque aisle restraint in the use of sirens. With the odd exception these howlers are only put into service when approaching intersections or when motorists and pedestrians fail to take reasonable precautions to avoid the protection vehicles which they are answering emergency calls.

But the same cannot be said of the employees of some ambulance services, who seem to delight in making as much noise as possible when answering calls, even if no emergency is involved.

This is especially noticeable at night. The streets may be almost free of traffic but the wailing sirens can be heard through the city as the ambulances make their way to the scene of an accident or to pick up a person needing transportation to a hospital.

What purpose is served by this practice is difficult to fathom—unless it serves as an outlet for the hidden frustrations of the driver or as an advertisement for the particular firm to which the vehicle belongs.

Even in heavy traffic the weird noise of the sirens too often only aggravates the confusion it is supposed to alleviate. Motorists and pedestrians alike often become panicky on hearing the commotion and commit errors that sometimes lead to accidents.

And one thing should be banned completely — the use of sirens by motorists who have no connection with any public service, who only wish to impress upon the public their own importance and perhaps use the siren to evade the general traffic laws.

U.S. Draft Dodgers

Buffalo Evening News

Young men who have fled north into Canada to escape the draft have perhaps begun to feel something they will increasingly dread: That they live without a country, men whose parish reputations may at any time catch up with them. What will accent the sting for each man, we suspect, is the knowledge that before he is, in many cases, 25 years old he has become unwanted in either the land he fled from or the land he fled to. He'll learn that few people, in whatever country he lives, ever really respect a draft-dodger very much.

Films Get Mixed Reaction

Peterborough Examiner

In a recent edition of Canadian Cinematography, Gerald Pratley bemoans the unhappy lot of the Canadian film. As a case in point, he takes the showing of the Montreal comedy The Happy Life of Leopold Z. It was a well-made and attractive, if slight, production, and yet its showing in Winnipeg by Columbia Pictures was a disaster. Pratley points out that it nonetheless did extremely well in Quebec. And even Nobody Waved Goodbye, which was produced in Toronto, attracted larger audiences in Montreal than Toronto. It is perhaps no coincidence that Quebec has for some time been more favorable artistic source than other parts of Canada.

How is the Canadian film to gain more popular support and appreciation? Undoubtedly the government's plans for assistance to Canadian film-makers will help. Pratley also suggests that more Canadian features should be bought for television and shown instead of the banal old movies that are now used. This is a reasonable suggestion. .

But in the end the plight of the Canadian film is simply an aspect of the general predicament of Canadian nationality. There can be no simple formula for a viable Canadian film industry. Government subsidies, although necessary and helpful, alone will not do the job. In the end a successful Canadian film industry can only be built slowly on applied talent, perseverance, public goodwill and a maturing sense of nationhood.

Politics and the Seaway

Quebec Chronicle-Telegraph

There is perhaps no other country in the world where a central government, as a matter of policy, refuses to help the development of an area for fear it would be too competitive with another. But in Canada this policy has been pursued for years although there is not one official government source that will admit to it.

Ever since the St. Lawrence Seaway was built, it has become evident that the river channel — at least as far as Montreal — was proving a great temptation to ocean traffic. It provides a quick and cheap way to enter almost the very heart of Canada. The Seaway, presumably, was built, just for this purpose.

But parochial politics have got in the way of the normal development of river traffic — especially in the winter. As the principal river by which foreign shipping enters Canada, one would expect the federal government to do its utmost to keep it free of ice (it would be considerably cheaper than trying to keep Churchill from freezing over, anyway). But not the Canadian government.

Atlantic MPs, who fear that winter traffic in the St. Lawrence would take a deep bite out of port revenues in their constituencies, have been successfully lobbying to prevent Ottawa from using its icebreakers to help maintain a shipping channel in the frozen river.

The logic has come for the federal parliament to take a bold stand on this question, to say to the Haligonians that it is not by discouraging shipping in the St. Lawrence that the lot of the Atlantic Provinces can be improved. Halifax and the other ports in the East should be built up on their own merit.

To Your Good Health

Early Visit to Doctor Vital in Pregnancy

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: Please settle an agrument between my wife and all the young married on my street. I think that when a woman's period is 10 days past due, she should go to the doctor for examination.

They say she should wait until she has missed two or three periods, and that the doctor can't tell any earlier whether she is pregnant without a frog test. —Mrs. B. M.

You are right for several reasons.

A drop or other test would be used only when there is special urgency in being positive of pregnancy at the earliest possible moment.

Most women, assuming that they are pregnant, would want certain enough after 10 days and the sooner one starts seeing her doctor, the better for her and the baby.

The women on your street ought to keep up with their reading, I should say. There's been enough printed on the subject so that everyone should be aware that the first three months of pregnancy is the time in which greatest risk of birth defects is present.

German measles is only one of many. What about drugs? Is the woman taking anything which ought to be sharply reduced or not taken at all in those early months?

Waiting two or three months also deprives the physician of gathering data which can be invaluable. How much does the woman weigh right now? Knowing that, he can guide her in limiting her weight gain within safest limits. Some heavy eaters have gained enough at the end of two or three months so you no longer can calculate the best weight.

Should she start taking vitamin supplements and calcium? If she should, the sooner the better.

What about her sugar level? With some women, a current diabetes develops in pregnancy.

It is very important to know this. The physician needs a simple urinalysis at the earliest possible moment, not weeks or months along in the pregnancy.

Is there any history of kidney disease, varicose veins, or other condition which ought to be watched?

We could list other valid reasons but the foregoing ought to be enough to prove the point.

Going to the doctor at the first suspicion of pregnancy is the route to safer births and healthier babies, not to mention mammas.

There's precious little difference in cost, since as a rule physicians make a standard charge for a pregnancy. The doctor can do a far better job, with the same total effort, if he starts early.

Dear Dr. Molner: This question is mildly disturbing our set of people's tranquility. I claim that eating raw carrots sharpens a person's vision. I'm right and no glasses yet. — J. R.

Extreme deficiency of Vitamin A (derived from yellow vegetables and other sources) can contribute to night blindness. Too much won't sharpen vision otherwise.

Carrots are a useful food but they have no bearing on whether you need glasses.

Dear Dr. Molner: Is it a serious condition when tests show no acid in the stomach? What can be done to correct it.—K.F.

Lack of sufficient acid interferes with digestion. It often is necessary to give a few drops of dilute hydrochloric acid in water, to provide suitable acidity. Lack of acid may accompany pernicious anemia, and cancer of the stomach. The blood count and X-ray studies of the stomach will determine these. Lack of sufficient acid may be a factor in recurrent diarrhea.

School Tax Levy

Ottawa Citizen

Newfoundland is in many ways a province not like the others. University students, for example, already receive free tuition, a practice still a long way off in the rest of the country. But in the schools throughout most of the province a shrinkingly archaic financial scheme operates.

Few municipalities levy school taxes, usually parents have to pay fees to send their youngsters to school. The announcement that this practice is now to end will be one of the most welcome measures forecast in the Newfoundland legislature's speech from the throne.

CHRISTMAS CHURCH SERVICES

A Lift for Living

Power and Glory of God Seen in Small Wonders

By REV. HAROLD E. KOHN

When Mark Twain's daughter Suzy was very small, she once cried as if her heart would break, because a picnic had been cancelled on account of rain. While trying to console herself she had broken a favorite toy. Suzy's mother tried to console the girl, saying, "There, there, Suzy. You mustn't cry over little things." The child's reply, although ungrammatical, was profoundly philosophical: "Mama, what is little things?"

Well, what are the little things? What are the big things? What are the things so insignificant that they can be safely over-looked? What are the things so importantly big that we neglect them at our peril? It isn't always easy to say.

For instance, the little towns of the world, the "thick towns" of their time, have frequently become the most important places in history: Bridge Creek, Virginia; Hodgesville, Kentucky; Epworth, England; Dole, France. How small and insignificant they seemed, and yet what men they produced. — George Washington, Abraham Lincoln, John Wesley, Louis Pasteur!

"THICK TOWN"

Then there is that small village, Bethlehem, so seemingly negligible that first Christmas. — If anyone had wanted to compare it to Jerusalem, Rome, Alexandria, Damascus or Corinth, Bethlehem was a hick town in the old world. However, it is not of the ancient world's cities that we sing this Christmas time, but of the "little town of Bethlehem" Small? Yes.

"Yet in the dark streets shineth
The everlasting Light;
The hopes and fears of all the years
Are met in thee tonight."

Again, we talk lightly and superficially about doing "little kindness. What is a little kindness? When we consider what a difference is made in our outlook and living by a chance word of cheer and encouragement, a touch of sincere gratitude or praise, a hand on the shoulder, a wise suggestion, a timely and unexpected helping hand, we are inclined to believe there are no little kindnesses.

The much-maligned innkeeper of Bethlehem, who found no room in his crowded inn for Mary and Joseph and the newly born Baby, nevertheless performed a "little" kindness in providing a shelter in a cattle stall. From our vantage point Christmas would not be quite the same without the remembrance of the Baby in that manger, the hay, lowing cattle, and the innkeeper's "little" afterthought. Little kindnesses have big consequences, as Christmas reminds us.

God has so designed His universe that big things depend upon little things. All that matter is built of tiny molecules which are, in turn, composed of invisible atoms.

DEPEND ON "LITTLE ONE"

In particular, the big things of the world, such as the survival of civilization, depend upon the Little One born long ago in Bethlehem. Whether or not the world holds together depends upon our acceptance or rejection of His goals for living as our own — goals such as compassionate goodwill toward all men, and co-operative striving toward man's common good, which Christ called "the Kingdom of God."

Whether or not we survive also depends upon our acceptance of His means of reaching those goals, which is the practice of a loving and peaceful persuasion, rather than the use of brute force. All social reform fails, no matter how well it is managed and financed, unless it is backed by such a Christlike spirit.

Moreover, the Christ who is the Cause and Means and Christmas shows us the resources on which we must depend if we are to live the life of love. Christ's life was consciously open to God, as a flowing well is backed by hidden rivers. In Him the supplies of love were inexhaustible because his resources were in God.

Small wonders, and especially the Little Wonder born in Bethlehem, must be given their chance in the world. In human hearts everywhere, a little Christlike understanding must be given a home. It must be nourished until it is big enough to cast a healing, saving influence across the earth.

Christmas is much more than a day or a season. It is a condition of life — the insightful mind and responsive heart that see God's power and glory in life's small wonders and how in wonder, joy and holy obedience.

Lighting the Way

POWER IN SHARING

From Brandenburg, Kentucky, comes news of Mark Slicks, who, in 1963 at 7 years of age, suffered brain damage from an attack of measles. As a result, Mark lost his ability to both talk and walk.

Mark's physician prescribed a "creeping and crawling" program of therapy. This was designed to activate undamaged cells in Mark's brain by retracing his development: from infancy. The program is simple. It consists of adults and teenagers who spend some time each day in Mark's home, crawling around the floor playing cowboys and Indians. More than 200 residents of his village have been sharing this program for almost 10 years. Mark is not only walking now, but is making splendid headway with his speech. The family doctor anticipates Mark's complete recovery within the next year.

Perhaps in our own communities, many people are, in various ways, suffering unnecessarily because we are to selfish to give of our time, or money, or strength, to share their suffering with them. It is within our power to accomplish great things for others if we are willing to share their load.

Ann Landers

Realizes Pregnancy Not So Bad After All

DEAR ANN LANDERS: The letter from the woman who was afraid to have a baby could have been written by me. Maybe my story will give her courage.

After five years of marriage I discovered I was pregnant. I never wanted to have any children because I was terrified at the thought of pregnancy and delivery. My husband was thrilled when I told him the news and I thought to myself, "That's just like a man."

I had an excellent job as an executive secretary and decided to keep working as long as I felt good. Well, Ann, I worked until five days before the baby was born. I felt marvelous the whole time and was never happier.

ANN LANDERS

The labor pains started when my husband was out playing golf. When the pains were four minutes apart I drove myself to the hospital and checked myself in. I left a note for my husband telling him where I was and to come when he got home. I read a little, dozed a little and before I knew it I had a beautiful baby girl.

Of course there was a little discomfort, but it wasn't half as bad as I thought it would be. I could kick myself for having worried needlessly all those years. You may use me as an example to others if you wish. — LUCKY ME.

DEAR YOU: You are a fine example — to a point. But I would not advise a woman whose labor pains are four minutes apart to drive herself to the hospital. Your signature is appropriate but do you realize how lucky you are? Next time, if your husband is playing golf, call a taxi.

• •

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I was very disappointed when you told the 14-year-old girl that she owed an apology to the 40-year-old man who greeted her with "Hi, Beautiful." She answered, "Hello, Ugly."

We have a daughter the same age and I had better not catch any 40-year-old man speaking to her in that manner. Old goats who get away with such crap should be told off. I can't understand your putting down the girl instead of the fresh-mouthed man.

I have a hunch you were on vacation and one of your assistants wrote the answer. Right? — X-RAY EYES.

DEAR EYES: Wrong. When I take a vacation the answers are prepared before I leave town. Every word that appears under my byline is written by me.

Sorry, Lady, but I still feel that the girl was rude. A 40-year-old man who says "Hi, Beautiful" to a teen-ager is not necessarily a dirty old man.

• •

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My father has been a widower for many years and has always said he would never re-marry. He is a friendly extrovert and enjoys the companionship of women, however, and this is proving to be a problem. Not to him, but to us.

Dad has had three different women living with him since Mother died 10 years ago. We would tell people that these women are "housekeepers" but he takes them out socially. He keeps a woman about three years then tires of her and makes a change.

You will probably say it's his business, but it becomes our business when the children begin to ask what goes with Grampa. Are you have an answer? — TONGUE TIED DAUGHTER.

DEAR DAUGHTER: Untie your tongue and tell your children that Grampa is a friendly fellow who enjoys socializing with his housekeepers. No explanation beyond

Kitchen Tested Recipes

Combine Barley and Mushrooms For New Year's Day Casserole

By MARY MOORE

QUESTION: Our parents are from Quebec and my husband remembers his mother cooking barley in a baking dish. A neighbor told me you gave a recipe for a barley dish many years ago that called for mushrooms. Could you repeat this? I want to surprise him on New Years. — Yvonne DeP.

ANSWER: I am proud of this dish and gratified to hear your neighbor remembered it. BARLEY AND MUSHROOM CASSEROLE (repeated from April, 1959)

NOTE: Start this two hours before mealtime.

2 tbsp. butter
½ Spanish onion, chopped
½ lb. fresh mushrooms, quartered
1 cup raw, dry pot barley
3 cups hot water
½ tsp. salt
1 chicken bouillon cube

Saute gently together the onion and barley in the butter until they are soaked with it, but not brown at all. Add salt, bouillon cube and 2 cups of the water and simmer until water is absorbed. Add remaining 1 cup hot water and turn into a casserole, cover and bake at 325 deg. Fahr. for 1 hr. Remove from oven, add washed and quartered mushrooms, stirring them in gently, replace cover and bake half hour longer.

GREETINGS FROM MARY

On Christmas Eve I feel sentimental. Along with you I have been trying frantically to look after every last detail and now we can relax and hope that all of our cooking creations and gift guesses are a success.

Naturally I wonder how many of my offerings you have made. To paraphrase an old Scottish quotation: Would the power the Great Giver give me to see your Christmas dinner tables as you behold them. I hope they are surrounded with happy loved ones as ours will be.

ST. ANNE'S CWL

At the December meeting of St. Anne's Catholic Women's League at the home of Mrs. Burton Whalen, plans were made for Christmas activities.

Candy canes and other treats were bought for the children's Christmas party at the school and a grocery basket was made up for a needy family. Flowers are being sent to two patients in a Kingston hospital. Christmas gifts will be given to both priests. Plans were discussed for the sale of candy and novelties for the school children.

Mrs. R. Gehan gave two readings and euchre was played by the members.

A euchre was held recently in the Club House with ten tables in play. Prizes were won by Mrs. Lillian Bennett, Mrs. Donna Cox, Mrs. Olive Ellis (consolation), Art Genereux, George Smart, Paul Genereux (consolation), Pearl Genereux (lone hand) and Louis Buckley (door prize).

Wise Men Brought Different Gifts But Shared Greatest Gift of All

Dear Doris: "What three gifts did the Wise Men bring?"

A father, was at first amused when he found that his little daughter had written "gold, frankincense and mirth".

But then he asked himself— Is this answer really so wrong? The Wise Men each brought a different gift but they all shared in the greatest gift of all — that special mirth — "Joy and Love" — awakened in our hearts at Christmas.

It is still that same mirth we feel and share with you at this season. — Your Many Friends at the Community Welfare Council of Brantford and Brant County.

Dear Many: It is a lovely mirth! — And I'd like to share it with everyone who reads these lines, from Bonavista to Vancouver Island. Also our readers in friendly, warm Bermuda.

Dear Doris: My biggest problem is not being able to stand noise. I'm a young woman with young children; and their running, yelling, questions, etc., nearly drive me wild, so that I am always yelling at them. As a result I have no control over them because they have gotten to where they just don't pay any attention to me.

I have tried tranquillizers and plugging my ears but neither remedy seems to be the answer. I get into such a nervous state over the children that I end up fighting with my husband as well. I took psychiatric counselling a few years ago, which consisted of talking to a social worker, but that didn't help either. — Just a Wreck

Dear Wreck: Which came first — the chicken or the egg? Can't you see that your screams encourage bigger and noisier responses? Doesn't a mother set the scene for peace or war?

I'd suggest (1) further counselling, to explore the origins of your own prevailing, destructive state of mind; and (2) a serious study of child training. Unless you want the whole family to get as disorganized and unhappy as you are.

Both you and your children need peace of mind. You need to learn to express love and joy, instead of hate and desperate grief.

Dear Doris: How does one go about obtaining a position at Expo '67 in Montreal? I feel that working at the Expo would be an education, an experience, an adventure and also a contribution. — Adventurous.

Dear Adventurous: And so it would. Write to the Canadian Corporation for the 1967 World Exhibition No. 1, Place Ville Marie, Montreal, Quebec.

Know Your Antiques

Christmas toys were fun for child and adult in Victorian days. This Tammany Hall mechanical bank shows the fat politician taking your money. This type of iron bank was a popular toy in the 1880's.

Victorian Toys Were Meant To Amuse and Instruct Child

By RALPH and TERRY KOVEL

Christmas toys for the children of the Victorian era were meant to amuse as well as instruct. The popular mechanical banks were interesting to watch and also inspired thrift.

A hidden political meaning crept into the design of some toys. The Teddy bear bank pictured, Theodore Roosevelt on a bear hunting expedition. O n e bank had Uncle Sam putt i n g your money in his suitcase.

The most scathing satire was the Tammany Hall bank. A fat politician sat in his chair and took your penny and put it in his pocket. The politician was made to resemble Boss Tweed, the boss of New York. The bank was first made in 1873 and was made for several years after that.

Q. How can I find the marking on cut glass?

A. It is difficult to find the signature on a piece of c u t glass without a trained eye. The marking is very faint and only about 10 percent of all cut glass is signed.

Pieces with a large, smooth inside surface such as an open bowl or a plate may be marked. The mark appears off centre on the smooth inside glass near the middle. To see the faintly etched mark you must turn the glass so that the light catches t h e surface at exactly the proper angle. Practice and a good eye can aid you with this search.

• • •

Q. "Wedgwood" is impressed on the bottom of my dish. Is that a misprint?

A. One of the Yorkshire, England potteries used this mark which resembled the name of Wedgwood, the famous English pottery. It was different enough to avoid legal action. The mark was used about 1840 to 1850.

• • •

Q. Is it all right to place dishes on the top of a cabinet or high boy in a home furnished in the 18th century manner?

A. Porcelains were displayed inside as well as on the flat tops of some cabinets. It was a fashionable decorative device in the 18th century.

Slogans Not Wanted

By Dr. Stuart E. Rosenberg

What Peter says about Paul tells you more about Peter than about Paul. What some "spokesmen for God" say about Him, tells us much more about them.

Consider what some of them have been urging upon the North American public:

There are others who prefer gas and oil. Says one of them:

"High octane thinking means Power and Performance. Pray to God and plug into the Power House!"

Apparently, these "high-powered", "pressure-in preachers" have their degrees in "Electronic Theology." Or else they have taken courses in composing advertising copy. Their motto seems to be the slogan of the ad agency: "If you don't tune it down and streamline it, you can't get it across!"

Pardon my irreverence: but if you do tone it down and streamline it in order to get it across — just what are you getting across?

Getting the potential customer out to the nearest retail outlet for the product offered — this, obviously is a role that radio and television advertising are most suited to perform. The sales message is pointed, sharp and streamlined. They know very quickly if it is not getting across, and if it is not, they make it more pointed, sharper, and give it added streamlining.

But when religious teachers reduce religion to snappy sales jargon and use the sales talk tricks of a snake-oil vendor they are nothing more than hucksters, hopefully pure, but certainly very, very simple.

Whenever religion is over simplified and made into an item for quick purchase at cheap bargain-basement prices, it is debased, counterfeited and falsely marketed. Great religion is not the result of simple effort, "sudden" inspiration, or of "repeat-after-me" slogans.

Careful study, diligent thought profound meditation; and above all, doubt — all of these go into the making of the faith that can endure far beyond the 60-second spot announcement, at the station break!

PUSH TWO WAYS

MONTREAL (CP)—Dr. John Unwin, director of the adolescents' clinic of Allen Memorial Institute, says contemporary outside pressures and the internal strains of the average teen-ager's physical, social and psychological growth result in tension which sometimes becomes a major disturbance.

ST. JAMES' C.W.L.

On Thursday the Catholic Women's League of St. James' Church of Stirling held their Christmas meeting with a good attendance.

It was decided that gifts and cards be sent to those who are ill. A box was prepared for a young girl in the Smiths Falls hospital. Two card parties are planned for the month of January. A cheque was presented to the pastor for assistance in parish work. It was planned to hold the 'World Day of Prayer' service at St. James' Church in February, 1967. Mrs. Stan Meeks reported on her preparations for treats for the parish children.

Christmas readings were given by Mrs. Joe Forestell, Mrs. Gerald Kerby and Mrs. Roy Lachappelle. A Christmas game followed and the meeting closed.

The group sat down to a lunch prepared by Mrs. J. R. Donohoe, with the assistance of her daughters and Mrs. J. L. Donohoe, Mrs. Joe Forestell and Mrs. James Lagrow. Afterwards gifts were exchanged.

Hydro Plans Pickering Layoffs

TORONTO (CP) — Ontario Hydro announced Friday that a walkout of steel riggers has compelled the company to proceed with an orderly layoff of the 750 workers building Hydro's $226,000,000 nuclear power plant at Pickering, 20 miles east of here.

William H. Barnes, a Hydro spokesman, said a telegram was sent to the leaders of building trades involved in the project announcing the company decision.

About 90 steel riggers, members of Local 721, International Association of Bridge, Structural and Ornamental Iron Workers, walked off the job twice, since Dec. 9 to protest safety procedures and the suspension of John Winkler, safety steward. Winkler refused to allow riggers to work more than 100 feet above the ground without safety belts.

No date was given for the start of layoffs. Other tradesmen have remained on the job except for two days early in the dispute when they walked off in sympathy with the riggers. They returned last Wednesday when picket lines were removed.

Lucky Law Not Scrooge

England Swings Like A.... What?

LONDON (AP)—God rest ye merrie, gentlemen—but if the law wants to play Scrooge, Merrie England could be very un-merrie at Christmas.

For instance:

By strict application of the Clear Air Act of 1956, burning of ye olde yule log could be a violation of the law.

If any citizen's log sends black smoke up the chimney, that citizen is liable to a £10 ($30) fine.

And the turkey can be dangerous.

Should someone win a festive bird on a raffle not authorized by section 44 of the Betting, Gaming and Lotteries Act of 1963, the fee for a first offence is £100 ($300).

Suppose an Englishman's boss gives him a Christmas turkey.

To abide by regulations the lucky recipient should declare the turkey as a gift to the income tax inspector.

The boss can get it in the neck as well as the turkey, should kind - hearted employers give turkeys, chickens, ducks, geese, pheasants or grouse to employees. Paragraph 52 of the Employer's Guide says such gifts should be reported to the inland revenue department.

Urban regulations say that singing in the street "to the annoyance or disturbance of householders, they, or any agent acting on their behalf, or any constable, may request said singers to desist." Refusal could bring a £5 ($15) fine.

Carol singers "in parties of two or more" can involve themselves in violations of the Highway Act of 1835 should they "obstruct the highway or the footpath with their persons, lanterns, bassoons or other instruments."

Most Christians Put Away Cares of World

No Joy in Aberfan On Christmas Eve

ABERFAN, Wales (AP) — Christmas Eve in a steep, dark village, and the spirit of goodwill leaves only a sad and sour taste.

This is Aberfan, with its plague of memories . . . the pain like engraved on parents' faces. Christmas is a bitter recollection of happier times.

It is just two months since a black avalanche of coal sludge engulfed the village school in this Welsh mining community of 5,000 and buried alive almost a whole generation of children.

It is there that the parents' thoughts lie this Christmas.

"We bought a Christmas tree and put up decorations but my heart wasn't in it," said Harry Short, who lost his eight-year-old daughter, Martine.

"We are making an effort at giving a normal Christmas for the rest of my children—four boys—but it's not normal of course."

ECHOES FEELINGS

He echoes the feelings of most people in Aberfan.

There are a few signs of Christmas in the village apart from sprigs of holly brought down from the mountain and sold around shops by young boys.

Toys came from all parts of the world, donated in response to an appeal by Princess Margaret.

The Aberfan Disaster Fund has reached a colossal £1,370,000 ($4,300,000). The fund is to be closed next month and a trust committee appointed to work out how the money will be spent in the village.

TOPS IN SPEED

Christians put away the cares of a quarrelsome world today and gathered for joyful celebrations of the message of eternal peace proclaimed in Bethlehem 1966 years ago.

Millions in many nations wrapped the last gifts, put the final trimmings on the tree and planned to spend Christmas Eve with their families or at midnight religious services.

World leaders called for peace and there was a kind of peace in Vietnam, where both sides put down their guns in the first hours of an uneasy two-day Christmas truce.

Pope Paul hopes for a "miracle of goodwill" to end the war. Prime Minister Pearson of Canada said each person could contribute to peace "through the exercise of love and understanding."

Thousands of pilgrims, many of them Arab Christians who may visit relatives in Jordan only at this time of year, crossed the armistice line from Israel to pray in the Church of the Nativity in Bethlehem and sing carols in a nearby field where tradition says angels appeared to shepherds at the first Christmas. Atop the massive, 4th-century church is a neon sign: "Merry Christmas."

In West Berlin, hundreds of thousands face a Christmas without visiting relatives in East Berlin for the first time since 1962. The West Berlin government refused Kas. Germany the recognition as a state it demanded in return for passes through the Berlin wall.

"The Communists have closed the narrow gaze to humaneness," Mayor Heinrich Alberts said.

President Johnson is to fly to San Antonio, Tex., to greet sick and wounded servicemen flown back from Vietnam, then join other Johnsons at the LBJ Ranch near Johnson City to open gifts Christmas Eve.

Weekend Bowl Games

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

If nothing else, Florida State had to be on the lookout today for Jerry DePoyster's flying foot.

DePoyster's foot has been a major weapon in Wyoming's football attack this season, and there was no reason to believe it wouldn't be as potentially dangerous in the Sun Bowl at El Paso, Tex., today.

In the day's only other bowl game, all-age teams from the North and the South clashed in the Blue-Gray game at Montgomery, Ala. Another all-star game, the North - South at Miami, Fla., is set for Monday.

DePoyster not only led major college kickers in scoring with 71 points, but he also tried a record number of kicks: 77, which included a previously unheard-of 38 field goal attempts.

To counter the DePoyster threat, Florida State has the nation's fourth-best passer offence. Quarterback Gary Pajcic tossed for eight touchdowns and 1,598 yards during the regular season when Florida State compiled a 6-4 record. Wyoming was 9-1.

QUARTERBACKS BATTLE

The Blue-Gray game was expected to be a battle of quarterbacks with Terry Southall of Baylor throwing for the Gray and Brigham Young's Virgil Carter pitching for the Blue.

During the season, Southall passed for 16 touchdowns and 1,986 yards while Carter connected on enough passes to gain 2,182 yards.

The card party sponsored by Tanner LOL was held Friday night with eight tables in play. Winners were Will Reynolds, James York, Miss Gwen Ray, Mrs. Earl Ketchen and Mrs. Archie Wickens (lone lottery). The next party will be held the first Friday evening in January.

When Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Baries returned home Saturday evening their family and neighbors had decorated their home for a surprise party on the occasion of their 35th wedding anniversary. Assign Ra

TORONTO (CP)—Coal Reception, top two-year old thoroughbred in Canada in 1966, was assigned a record breaking 127 pounds for the ninth running of Canadian Free Handicap weights.

Bill Dilling, the Jockey Club handicapper, said Reception's weight is the highest ever assigned a Canadian horse in the 20-year history of the handicap.

Pick Junior All Stars

TORONTO (CP)—The Ontario Hockey Association Junior A All-Stars will combine speed and strength down the middle in their exhibition game Wednesday against the Czechoslovakian national team.

All-Star coach Eddie Bush of Hamilton Red Wings and manager Jim Gregory of Toronto Marlboros made their selections Thursday night.

Jan Young of Oshawa Generals will start at goal with Hamilton's Gerry Gray and Larry Holmes of St. Catharines Black Hawks also available.

The league's four top centres — Walt Tkaczuk and Don Luce of Kitchener Rangers, Gary Unger of London Nationals and Derek Sanderson of Niagara Falls Flyers — give the club strength up the middle.

The wingers will be Mickey Redmond, John Vanderbrug and Gary Monahan of Peterborough Petes, Tim Ecclestone of Kitchener, Larry Pleau of Montreal Junior Canadiens, John Mercer of London, Gerry Meehan of Toronto and Don Lawson of Hamilton.

The defence will be named by Brian Glennie, Toronto, Rick Smith, Hamilton, Nick Beverly, Oshawa, Jim Dorey, London, Tom Reid, St. Catharines, and Ricky Ley, Niagara Falls.

Smith has since been sent back to Rochester but Frank Udvari, supervisor of the OHA referees, said the rules may be changed.

"There's nothing in the rule book now, but we may have to revise that rule," he said. "I know a goalie can hold the puck for three seconds but he isn't supposed to be carrying it like a football player. He can be out to the blue line in three seconds."

Rules May Be Revised

TORONTO (CP) — The rules may be revised next season to prevent goaltenders from carrying the puck up the ice in National Hockey League games.

Goalie Gary Smith, called up by Toronto Maple Leafs from Rochester Americans of the American League, Wednesday night stickhandled with the puck to centre ice and passed it, returning to his net. The action occurred during a game in Montreal won 6-3 by the Canadiens.

Smith has since been sent back to Rochester but Frank Udvari, supervisor of the OHA referees, said the rules may be changed.

"There's nothing in the rule book now, but we may have to revise that rule," he said. "I know a goalie can hold the puck for three seconds but he isn't supposed to be carrying it like a football player. He can be out to the blue line in three seconds."

Riders Sign US Tackle

OTTAWA (CP) — Ottawa Rough Riders of the Eastern Football Conference announced Friday they have signed defensive tackle Earl Edwards of Wichita State University, Kansas, for the 1967 season.

Edwards, a six-foot, six inch, 250-pound junior, has decided against playing his final year of college eligibility in the U.S.

Mo-Hawks Rally; 'Brown' Off Hornets

★ ★ ★ ★ ★ Slapshot Serenade

BY GEO. H. CARVER
Sports Editor

The Mo-Hawks played Santa Claus to the Galt Hornets for 20 minutes last night but decided it was better to give than to receive.

The Hornets stung them for three first-period goals before the Crawfordmen snapped out of the lethargy to score twice in the second and third frames and snatch the 6-3 victory.

What looked like a Hornet romp in the first period turned into a one-sided upset that had an estimated 1,400 fans standing in the aisles.

The visitors built a home three goals in 14 minutes in the opener while the Mo-Hawks wandered over the ice in the throes of disorganization.

The spark that fired the victory effort came after five minutes of the second period when Bob McAlpine blazed a blistering high shot past the Hornet goalie on a pass from Minnie Menard.

The goal settled the Mo-Hawks down and from that point on never looked back.

"Wiener" Brown slapshot two goals and added an assist to spark the attack. Close behind his fine performance was that of Minnie Menard with two assists. Marchen scored the fourth goal.

MINNIE MENARD

WAYNE BROWN

Darling, Baker and Gresdahl drew assists.

Rating star billing were the goalies Ron Boomer of the Hornets and Steve Reze, both pulled sensational saves beating doorstep attackers time after time.

Hornet penalty set the stage for the Mo-Hawks' second goal when Minnie Menard on the power play fed Wiener Brown who blazed a slapper behind Boomer.

The crowd came to life as McAlpine missed two blistering slapshots.

It littered the ice with pro-grams when after seven minutes of the third period Marchen drove a well - screened slapshot from the point on a play from Darling and Baker to tie the score.

It was the fastest period of the game with the desperate Hornets throwing everything they had to knock the count and the Mo-Hawks ganging the defence to hurl back the threats.

Brown missed two more slappers by inches (and that five - dollar bill) during the rushes exchange.

The Hornets pulled Boomer out of the nets with 58 seconds remaining but Reze and his cohorts successfully defended the citadel intil the gung rang.

The game was cleanly played with spasms of heavy hitting. The Mo-Hawks drew five of the nine penalties one a minor and ten minute misconduct to Rick Bradford.

The Hornets outshot the Mo-Hawks 13-6 in the first, had six against eleven in the second and 10 against nine in the third to edge the homesters 29-28.

Alouettes' Management

Would Promote Asst. Coach

MONTREAL (CP) — O. K. Dalton, Montreal Alouettes' assistant coach under Darrell Mudra last season, said Friday he has been asked by the club's management to apply for the now - available head coaching job.

The request came after the announcement Thursday that Mudra had vacated his position as Alouette head coach to accept a similar post at Texas's University of Arizona.

Dalton, vacationing in Colorado Springs, said in a telephone interview that he had been asked by both Sam Ale' president and chairman of the board, and co-owner Ted Workman if he was interested in the job.

"They can't offer the job to anyone because if isn't really open yet," said Dalton. "They have to settle the issue with the board of directors. But they asked me if I was interested and I told them I certainly am."

HAVEN'T SAID

The complication referred to by Dalton is that the Alouettes' management has not yet indicated whether they are going to release Mudra from his contract, which has two more years to run.

Dalton, a college of Bob Weber at High Goldston as assistant coaches under Mudra, said he is still surprised at the swift turn of events which have left the Als without a leader.

He said that Atwell, vacationing in Florida, had asked him to call Weber and Goldston to appraise them of Mudra's defection and to assure them they were still members in good standing of the Alouette staff.

Asked if he would remain here under a new head coach, Dalton replied: "That's something you'd have to ask me when you know who the new man would be."

Harvey Leaves Clippers

BALTIMORE (AP) — Baltimore Clippers disclosed Friday night that Doug Harvey, former National Hockey League defenseman great, is no longer on the Clippers roster.

A spokesman for the American Hockey League club said the Clippers had sold Harvey, 42, to Providence Reds of the AHL, but that a dispute over the sale had developed between Harvey and general manager-coach Terry Reardon.

Harvey, said the spokesman, contends he owns his own contract that if he leaves the club he becomes a free agent.

Whip Providence 9-3

Prodigal Tribe Marks Return

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

Springfield's unhappy band of Indians is concentrating on hockey again after losing a battle with owner Eddie Shore.

The Indians, who staged a four-day walkout earlier in the week, made Providence Reds a whipping post and snapped a four - game American Hockey League losing streak by bathing the Reds 9-3 Friday night.

"I'm very happy with the way the team played," Shore said. "It checked well and passed well. The puck usually fluded its way into the nets when you do that."

An observer suggested the victory might not be too indicative of the Indians' strength because Providence is an AHL doormat this season.

"Providence looked bad because of the way Springfield played," the 64-year-old owner said.

Of the 16 players dressed by Shore, 15 were members of the squad which walked out Monday in protest of suspension of defencemen Dale Rolfe, Bill White and Dave Amadio. Veteran Bert Marshall was suspended after the walkout.

Marshall, Rolfe, Rom and kept the four players under suspension. However, he relented and had only one of five players imported during the week in his form.

Winger Larry Billows, obtained on loan from Memphis of the Central League, assisted on the first Springfield goal and impressed Shore with his all-around play.

The Indians struck for three goals in each period and goalie Jacques Caron made 31 saves. Caron was fined $500 for "a different play" a month ago, but the money later was returned by Shore.

In other games, first-place Hershey Bears widened their Eastern Division lead with a 5-2 victory over Baltimore Clippers, while Cleveland Barons breezed their home ice unbeaten streak to nine games with a 4-2 triumph over Rochester.

Elected To Hall

"Ole Archie" Reflects

SAN DIEGO (AP)—The Boxing Hall of Fame is supposed to be exclusive to greats of the ring who have hung up their gloves.

But the mention of retirement ends the world light heavyweight champion Archie Moore into his famous monologues—like stances from which he used to strike so swiftly.

"This is beautiful; It is quite an honor," said Moore when he learned of his election Friday to the Hall of Fame.

"But I have not retired as yet," ageless Archie said. "I'm in the best part of the biggest fight of my life—against juvenile delinquency."

Moore headed the list of four fighters elected to the Hall of Fame, bringing the number of members to 191.. Archie was named on 322 of a possible 365 ballots, followed by Kid Gavilan, former welterweight king, who at 40 lives in Cuba. He had 226 votes.

Also elected were former light heavyweight champion Battling Levinsky, picked by the Old Timers Committee, and James Deaf Burke, an English 19th century champion named by the pioneer group.

Moore's last fight was in 1956 when he was knocked out by Floyd Patterson in a heavyweight title fight.

But Archie retired still wearing the light heavyweight crown, which he won in 1952 by defeating Joey Maxim. He defended the title seven times.

"I've dedicated the rest of my life to uprooting juvenile delinquency," he said.

HAS A PROGRAM

Moore has a program which he calls "A, B and C—any Boy Can—if he wants to," which has kept him busy for the last year in Vallejo, Calif.

"It's the greatest battle ever fought. I teach truth, respect and dignity through self - defence," he said. "It is a motivating program to teach a youngster to be more than a drop-out of school and a bum."

Turning back to the sport of boxing, Moore had reflections and predictions for the boxing world.

Boxing has taken its lumps in the public eye during recent years but "boxing is used to being knocked around," he said. "Boxing is the last outpost for any youngster who wants to make it and 1967 will bring the sport back up to the fine high level it used to enjoy."

Moore's age always has been a question mark. It still is.

"I'm only a year older than last year," he said. "Some where between 49 and 53."

Alouettes' President

Says College Football Pro

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — Darrell Mudra says he doesn't expect trouble over the fact he has signed as head football coach with the University of Arizona although Montreal Alouettes haven't yet decided whether they will release him from his contract there.

"I don't really anticipate much trouble negotiating with the Montreal people," Mudra said. "We've always gotten along very well. I'm sure they will release me."

Meanwhile, Joe Atwell, president and chairman of the board of the Montreal team, said in Fort Lauderdale, Wis., that he was aware that Mudra was going to talk to Arizona University "but I can tell you he didn't go with my blessing."

The new contract was announced Thursday. Mudra had served only one year of his three-year contract with Montreal of the Eastern Football Conference.

Atwell said it would be up to the board to decide whether Mudra will be released.

"It must be getting near the time when a contract is going to have to be renegotiated as a contract. College football is no longer college football. . . . It's just as professional as the pros."

Boom-Boom Band Invad

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Leafs and Castro did it. Can Boom-Boom's band?

Can Bernie (Boom - Boom) Geoffrion and his little crew of Montreal Canadiens' exiles upset their former rulers in the Forum tonight when their first-place New York Rangers take on the fourth-place Canadiens?

Nobody has come up with a firm answer on why ex-Canadiens are so dangerous when they become New Yorkers. But they sure are.

Sharing first place with Chicago Black Hawks, the Rangers have won two and lost three against the defending Stanley Cup champions this season. But with Geoffrion showing the way, they have a 22-7 won-lost record against Montreal's 11-10.

The only player not expected to see any action against the Canadiens tonight is Berenson, who has been out since the early part of the season with a foot injury.

BRUINS MEET LEAFS

Gilbert and Goyette are tied for fourth place in the individual scoring race with 26 points apiece. Gilbert has 18 goals and shares the lead in that department with Ken Wharram of Chicago.Goyette's 25 points include 23 assists.

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—Buffalo Bills of the American Football League confirmed Friday they have signed tackle Dick Cunningham of Arkansas but denied he would be paid approximately $200,000.

"The report is totally inaccurate," Ralph C. Wilson Jr. said. But he added that the Bills never disclose player salaries.

The announcement of Cunningham's signing was made Thursday in Dallas, Tex., by Arkansas' two-time all-America tackle, Lloyd Phillips. He said Cunningham would receive more than $200,000.

Weekend Bowl Games

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

If nothing else, Florida State had to be on the lookout today for Jerry DePoyster's flying foot.

DePoyster's foot has been a major weapon in Wyoming's football attack this season, and there was no reason to believe it wouldn't be as potentially dangerous in the Sun Bowl at El Paso, Tex., today.

In the day's only other bowl game, all-star teams from the North and the South clashed in the Blue-Gray game at Montgomery, Ala. Another all-star game, the North - South at Miami, Fla., is set for Monday.

DePoyster not only led major college kickers in scoring with 71 points, but he also tried a record number of kicks, 77, which included a previously unheard-of 38 field goal attempts.

To counter toe DePoyster threat, Florida State has the nation's fourth-best passing offence. Quarterback Gary Pajcic tossed for eight touchdowns and 1,590 yards during the regular season when Florida State compiled a 6-4 record. Wyoming was 8-1.

QUARTERBACKS BATTLE

The Blue-Gray game was expected to be a battle of quarterbacks with Terry Southall of Baylor throwing for the Gray and Brigham Young's Virgal Carter pitching for the Blue.

During the season, Southall passed for 16 touchdowns and 1,986 yards while Carter connected on enough passes to gain 2,182 yards.

Hypothetical Event

Assign Racing Weights

TORONTO (CP)—Coal Reception, top two-year old thoroughbred in Canada in 1966, was assigned a record breaking 127 pounds for the ninth annual Canadian Free Handicap weights.

Bill Dilling, the Jockey Club's racing secretary and handicapper, Friday also named He's a Smoothie the top three-year-old by assigning him 126 pounds, Victorian Era the top older horse with 122 pounds and George' Royal the best grass course horse at 127 pounds.

He's a Smoothie owned by Bill Beasley of Toronto, was assigned two more pounds on the handicap list than Tridel Hero, winner of the 1965 Queen's Plate who is owned by Peter Marshall of Toronto.

Victorian Era. was named Horse of the Year in 1966 after winning nine stakes races and the 122 pounds assigned equalled the record given Northern Dancer, who won the Kentucky Derby and Queen's Plate in 1964.

Russ Nationals Win 28-0

It was the second successive victory for the Selects on an eight-game Canadian tour. Two losses to the Canadian national team and one to the Western International Hockey League All-Stars marked the start of the tour.

Victor Yaroslavtsev paced the Russians with three goals. Anatolien Ionov and Victor Krekov scored two each and Vladim Shredrin, Alexander Yakushev, Anatoliy Motsvilov and Valentin Markov shared the others.

Marksmen for Regina were Bill Reid and Lorne Davis.

Outdoor Tips And Tricks

BY BOB BLAIND

This weekend will not see too many rabbit hunters on the prowl. But by this time the wolf hunting gang from Belleville and Prince Edward should be back with a wolf or two.

This is the third weekend in a row these boys have tried to corner some of the wolves in the county, the two previous weeks without success.

A wolf calling record has been used to locate these ghosts of the bush and has attracted them enough to return the call. But when the hunting crew made the run through the area where the wolves were like night before no trace of these elusive creatures was found.

Wolves are a sly animal, and will move cunning than a fox and in the heavily populated section they are living in, are very tough to hunt.

The peninsula of land is marshy along the edges with scrub cedars, then heavy brush and woods in the centre, therefore very tough going to walk straight through from one side to the other and arrive.

Also it is impossible to walk in a straight line and next to impossible to go through the heavy underbrush.

This underbrush and heavy cover is where the wolves are, in all probability, hanging out and when chased so far will take cover and hide here. They are used to people and unless really cornered will stay put and let you pass right by them.

Mr. Wolf will be tough to hunt in this area, unless some good dogs are used to take a hint, boys, unless you get awful lucky the hunting will be poor.

Perch fishermen in the Belleville harbor had a pretty good day's fishing on Thursday and as the ice builds up will get lots better.

A few nice pickerel were caught at Number One Dam, but there is still too much water to make the fishing good.

This writer would like to wish you all a very Merry Christmas and a Happy, Prosperous New Year. May the 1967 year be generous to you with good health and happiness.

Parilli Comeback Of Year

NEW YORK (AP)—Babe Parilli of Boston Patriots, hooted by his hometown fans for making a poor start early in the season, Friday was named winner of the Comeback of the Year award in the American Football League by The Associated Press.

Parilli, a 36-year-old veteran of 10 pro seasons, got the nod from the three-man committee of sports writers and sportscasters balloting in each of the nine league cities. He drew eight votes to five for his nearest competitor, halfback Bert Coan of Kansas City Chiefs.

Buffalo Bills flanker Elbert Dubenion received four votes. Jack Parilli, who had a sensational 1964 season in which he passed for 31 touchdowns, was criticized at the start of the season when he was unable to get untracked and seemed to be following a downward path set in 1965. The former quarterback with Ottawa, Rough Riders of the Eastern Conference and Sarnia of the Senior Ontario Rugby Football Union laughed it off.

Parilli completed 181 of 382 passes for 2,721 yards and 20 touchdowns, guiding the Patriots to an 8-4-2 record compared to 4-6-2 in 1965.

Basketball Tournaments Next Week

Tournaments will feature the Christmas week sports activities of secondary schools of the district.

In the city Quinte Secondary School will host three teams in a 4-on-4 loop tourney. This will include wrestling.

Eight teams have entered the annual Queen's Christmas Basketball Tournament. Both tourneys are being staged Wednesday, December 28th.

Birchmount Part, Toronto; Whitby Anderson and Whitby Secondary School will be the guests of Quinte. Two teams from each school will participate in wrestling. The public is invited.

Belleville Collegiate Institute's crack 1965 team won the Queen's Tournament last year and are strongly favored to repeat next week. They open against Port-Hope High at 9 a.m.

Co-favorite is the strong Adam Scott S.S. from Peterborough which has a forward line averaging 6'. 4". They meet Loyalist CVI, Kingston in the opener.

The fourth game of the first round sees Quinte Central go against the strong Orono S.S. squad. Either of these squads could upset the pre-tourney favorites.

The second round will get underway in the afternoon with the semi-finals and finals at 6:30, 7.30 and 9 p.m. respectively.

PLAN SWIMMING MEET

HALIFAX (CP) — Swimmers from Montreal will compete against girls and boys from Nova Scotia in a meet at the Halifax YMCA next Wednesday and Thursday. A team of 24 will attend the meet from the Montreal AAA. Nova Scotia will be represented by six teams. The meet will be strictly for teenagers.

Little Doctoring Helps Show

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—How to save a television series from extinction is demonstrated with expertise by Sherwood Schwartz, who had accomplished that feat-at least temporarily-with Gilligan's Island.

The show is the Sunday night CBS series about a raft of castaways including Alexander Jack Mullaney—who crack the time barrier and land amid a band of pirate-disembarked, played by Imogene Coca, Joe E. Ross, CBS chief Schwartz, Mike Mazurki etc.

It's About Time was bisted by most of the critics, but managed sizeable ratings for a few weeks. Then it started to slide close to, but not quite into the danger zone.

Schwartz, who defied the critics by making a hit of Gilligan's Island, pointed out the descent of his new series, which seemed concocted of the same swiftie hokum.

"It is difficult to analyze your own product," the producer-writer said, "but I believe the show with a cold eye.

REACHES CONCLUSIONS

"Why did it start well, then taper down to a 22 rating? I came to three conclusions. They were:

"1. The 20th century man in the stone age is confronted with three unusual perils—dinosaurs, poor cave drawings and cameras.

"2. The look of the show, especially in color, is mono-onus—caves, trees, dirt streets, mangy-looking furs. Fun goes out the window when a show doesn't have an attractive look.

"3. Only the astronauts speak better than English—but others speak a primitive form of English that is difficult for the audience to listen to."

Airline Stewardesses Often Find Home Away Off at Christmas

TORONTO (CP)—Most people like to spend Christmas at home with family or friends but an airline stewardess working international flights may find herself thousands of miles from home Christmas Day.

Susan Parry, a stewardess with British Overseas Airways Corp., said on a recent stopover here that she spent last Christmas in Tehran, where Christmas isn't celebrated at all.

Miss Parry said the flight crew's Christmas tree consisted of a few branches of a tree, without decorations.

"Four of us wanted to attend an English-speaking Christian church service and after endless inquiries we were finally directed to one—only to discover the entire service was in Dutch."

But, said Miss Parry, "I'll be home for Christmas this year—hope." Home to Miss Parry is Kent, England, where her family have a "Christmas tree, stockings, pudding—the lot." TAKE TURNS

BOAC stewardesses usually spend one Christmas at home and the next away. This is a home year for Wendy Barker, of Staffordshire, England.

Miss Barker has spent two Christmases in Khartoum in the Sudan, and one in New Delhi.

"You wake up and feel a bit bored on Christmas morning when you're so far away from home, but it really wasn't too bad in Khartoum," she said.

The BOAC staff and arranged a party and dinner and they made things very homey. Khartoum is on the edge of the Sahara desert and it gets very, very hot. It seems a bit odd to be going to an outdoor party on Christmas Day or to spend the afternoon lounging by the pool."

Sylvia Haynes of BOAC who has been a stewardess for more than 15 years, says she has spent Christmases "everywhere from Baghdad to Hong Kong." She spent her most unusual Christmas in Tel Aviv.

"We were supposed to fly out Christmas Day, but the plane got stuck in the mud on the runway.

"There we were with absolutely no Christmas arrangements. We had to rush out and shop for food and find presents. Our Christmas dinner wasn't exactly traditional, but we had a good time."

One stewardess who prefers to work Christmas Day is Rose Vellend of Air Canada. She flew to Jamaica last Christmas and will be going to Nassau this year.

"I usually can't get home for Christmas because my family lives in Quebec. But I've always considered Christmas a religious holiday and so long as I have the both of us can go to church on Christmas Eve, I'm happy.

Many Items Discussed at Council Meet

DESERONTO — A letter from the Ontario Water and Resources Commission read at this week's council meeting was in the nature of a Christmas present to Deseronto. It stated that a proposed program for the sewer system in the town would reach the town council "in the near future," and the councillors take it to mean that this will be early in the year. Plans for this improvement were instituted six years ago.

Because of other commitments, William Schell resigned as Deseronto's representative on the Napanee and District Collegiate Institute Board. His resignation was regretfully accepted and John A. Layfield was appointed to take his place.

A second resignation was received, but no appointment was made to fill the vacancy. Albert Marks, who last his bid for re-election by only a few votes, resigned as chairman of the Centennial Parks Committee. In spite of persuasion by all other Councillors, Councillor Marks refused to withdraw his resignation. As he was one of the prime movers of the project, and has thrown himself whole-heartedly into the work, the Council felt he should continue, chiefly because he is so familiar with every aspect of the project. The question of a replacement was left for the decision of the 1967 council.

Councillor Gordanier, chairman of the industrial and publicity committees, reported that 12 building permits had been granted in 1966.

Mayor Gerald Lott expressed his appreciation of the work done by Council throughout the year, not forgetting the excellent services of retiring Councillors Howard and Marks over a period of years.

Yule Concerts Held in Schools For Last Time

TYENDINAGA — All the one room schools of Tyendinaga Township will be closed before Christmas rolls around this year and consequently all the parties are being held to mark the Christmas closing were of historic interest. Some of these schools are over a century old. Teachers and pupils made an extra effort to do honour to an old friend with just a little more effort in decorating, preparing the programs, and making it, altogether a memorable occasion.

Mothers and other guests shared the festivities in S. S. 14, Tyendinaga with its 30 pupils and teacher Mrs. Ralph Lawler. A bakery had ordered a Christmas cake, in a casserole and proceeds from the sale of tickets went to fill an 48 bags with good things for the pupils and their younger brothers and sisters. An hour's program was followed by refreshments, with tea for the grown-ups and chocolate milk for the children. Santa Claus did not arrive in time and so the teachers asked for volunteers in hand out the gifts.

One of the informal guests was Mrs. Marshall Lazier, representing the Women's Institute, who will give a description of this historic event in the Tweedsmuir History.

Rylstone Activities

RYLSTONE — Mrs. Lindsay Finch, Charlene, Craig and Timmie were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. Garfield Finch, in Campbellford, on Saturday evening.

A group of Rawdon Township Road men have been working at the Barton Cemetery, on the hill line, for the past week or two, cutting down trees and brush. Already it presents a much neater appearance. It is one of the oldest cemeteries in the district.

Several members of Rylstone United Church Women, met at the home of Mrs. Clarence Thomson, on Tuesday afternoon to make small gifts for members of the U.C.W. and others.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Anderson, Barbara and Jeffrey visited her sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Murney Fleming, of Columbus on Sunday.

The congregation of Rylstone United Church worshipped with the Stanwood Church congregation on Sunday morning, when they held their combined Christmas Youth service at Stanwood Church. Members of Rylstone choir assisted with the music.

Carolyn Merrick of Mount Pleasant was a weekend guest of Maureen Stewart, her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Stewart at Hood.

Portuguese Colony Fears Invasion

MACAO (AP) — Macao's Communist-harrassed government Monday sent a new reply to Communist Chinese demanda while thousands of young Communist Red Guards were reported ready for action across the border and Chinese gunboats patrolled offshore.

In the six-square-mile Portuguese colony, local leftists held more anti-Portuguese meetings and demanded the arrest of all Nationalist Chinese leaders in the colony.

Representatives of the colonial government crossed the border into China for another meeting with Communist Chinese officials at Kungpeh, about two miles to the north.

Militant Macao leftist sources said several thousand Red Guards remained in the Kungpeh area, site of a "hate Portuguese" mass rally Saturday attended by some 15,000 Chinese Communist Chinese. These leftist sources said the Red Guards shouted their readiness to march across the border into Macao if the Portuguese did not immediately capitulate to all Chinese demands.

Macao authorities refused to talk about the representatives who crossed the border Monday.

But other sources, including some claiming government contacts, said the group was carrying new proposals for closing down all Nationalist Chinese activities in Macao—including the Refugee Relief Association which says it seeks to help escapees from Communist China but which Peking accuses of being a front for subversion and sabotage against the Communist mainland.

The government representatives also were reported to be carrying the draft of a government "public apology and admission of guilt" for using troops and police against pro-Communist rioters early this month.

Liu, Teng Denounced

TOKYO (AP)—A rally of 100,000 Red Guards in Peking denounced President Liu Shao-chi and party general-secretary Teng Hsiao-ping today as leaders of the "bourgeois reactionary line," Japanese correspondents reported from the Chinese capital.

Neither Liu nor Teng were present at the meeting in Peking's workers athletic hall, the correspondents of the Japan broadcasting corporation said.

On the eve of the rally, Red Guard wall newspapers carried abject self-criticisms by Liu, once the No. 2 man in the Communist hierarchy, and Teng, the former No. 7 man.

Arrests Predicted

BELGRADE (AP)—The dominant faction in Communist China soon will have President Liu Shao-chi arrested, Yugoslavia's Tanjug news agency predicted Monday in a dispatch from Peking.

Also marked for early arrest is Liu's associate, Teng Hsiao-ping, secretary-general of the Chinese Communist party. Both have been denounced in speeches and posters as following a pro-Soviet line.

Japanese press accounts from the Chinese capital said Liu and Teng were accused of stirring up, as late as this month, "the black wind" against party chairman Mao Tse-tung and Defence Minister Lin Piao. Lin was designated vice-chairman and Mao's political heir at a party meeting in August, these reports said.

Cuban Shock Troops Modelled on Guards

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Recently created shock troops described by exiles as similar to China's Red Guards are reported in Cuba.

The units, officially called Youth Technical Brigades are reported to have the dual role of serving as technicians in industries and on farms and making certain the workers are good producers and good Communists.

The official Havana newspaper Gramma, which reaches some exiles, quoted Miguel Martin, secretary-general of the Cuban labor confederation as describing the brigades as "a shock troop against indolence, disorganization and lack of discipline."

Mario Fontela, secretary-general of the Miami-based Democratic Revolutionary Labor Front, an anti-Castro labor organization, said brigade members wear blue shirts, work trousers and a holster with a revolver.

Castro said in a speech monitored here Dec. 18 that young farm technicians receive military training. He told a graduating class in Havana: "This is a youth group . . . that has received military instruction, that constitutes units for defence of the country." Castro did not mention the brigades by name.

Cold and Blustery in East But Swim Time in Nanaimo

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Wiffe ioost Canadians had a cold, snowy, blustery Christmas, residents of Vancouver and Victoria were enjoying temperatures so mild—45 degrees at mid-afternoon — that 247 of them felt brave enough for a splash in the Pacific Ocean.

The occasion for the cold baths was the 47th annual Polar Bear Swim at Nanaimo on Vancouver Island. A sponsoring realty company handed out silver dollars and bananas to the brave souls who ventured into the 38-degree water.

British Columbia residents, perhaps in a mood to tell the rest of the country about their unseasonable Christmas, placed a record 240,145 long-distance telephone calls on Christmas Day.

Elsewhere in Canada, the Christmas weekend was generally quiet, although storms stirred trouble in the East and part of Ontario.

Snow—up to six inches in some parts of New Brunswick—fog and rain made driving hazardous and closed most airports in the Atlantic provinces Christmas Eve and Christmas Day. Only one flight reached Halifax from Montreal Christmas Day, and none made it the other way.

Fires took the lives of five children in two separate fires in Newfoundland early Christmas morning, three of one family 20 miles west of Gander and two brothers in St. John's.

Much of Quebec was buried under a heavy blanket of snow, with Montreal receiving more than a foot. Montreal International Airport was closed and most air and highway traffic into the city was cut off by drifting snow.

Ottawa got caught in the same storm but most of the rest of Ontario escaped. Sarnia was hit by a localized storm which dumped 18 inches of snow late Sunday. In Ottawa, seven students continued a fast begun Friday in hopes of making people think about the war in Vietnam. They will live on tea and water until midnight New Year's Eve.

Manitoba was clear and cold, with temperatures near zero in the south and as low as 10 below in the north. The curling season got under way as 256 rinks started play Monday in the Manitoba Schoolboy Bonspiel.

Police reported highway traffic moderate in Alberta over the weekend, but a four-vehicle collision west of Calgary Friday night killed one person. Temperatures were above normal across the province, with sunny skies the rule and only a few snowflurries.

Nick the Greek Wins Last Bet

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The legendary gambler Nick the Greek died Sunday night, two weeks after winning a bet on his life.

Nicholas Andrea Dandolos, known as "the highest-rolling professional free-lance gambler in the history of the United States," died from complications that followed a heart attack Dec. 14. Mount Sinai Hospital recorded his age as 80.

Although in poor health in recent months he bet writer Cy Rice that he would finish telling him the story of his life—"6-to-5 before I die."

"He did," Rice said. "Two days before he was rushed to the hospital."

The gambler's finances had dwindled to "almost nothing" in recent years, Rice said. But Nick the Greek always said he gambled for the thrills and not the money. By his own count he went from rags to riches 73 times in 50 years.

Most of the spectacular anecdotes came from Nick the Greek himself. Such as: losing $1,000,000 in a single crap game; losing $600,000 in a single poker pot; offering to bet $500,000 on the turn of a card.

A native of Crete, he quit college in Greece in 1911 when an uncle willed him $50,000.

Christians Return to Work

By HTE CANADIAN PRESS

Christians return to a workaday world after a Christmas which saw a brief and not-too-successful ceasefire in Vietnam and pilgrims kiss the spot in Bethlehem where they believe Jesus was born.

Britons eased back into the routine after observing Boxing Day Monday, a legal holiday when Christmas boxes are traditionally given to messengers and mailmen.

The holiday mood ended abruptly in Vietnam, where U.S. B-52s roared in from Guam Monday and bombed northern positions an hour after the end of a two-day truce.

As the festivities came to a close, there were these memories of Christmas, 1966:

Msgr. Alberto Gori, the aged Latin patriarch, placed a plaster figure of Jesus on a 14-pointed silver star in a grotto beneath Bethlehem's Church of the Nativity at the place where tradition says Christ was born. About 15,000 tourists and pilgrims, some from as far away as Tokyo, heard bells peal joyfully across the sunny hills of the Holy Land.

Pope Paul gave his Christmas noon blessing to the city of Rome and the world before 100,000 persons gathered in spring-like weather in St. Peter's Square. The 69-year-old Pope spoke strongly but had cries of fatigue under his eyes after a Christmas Eve trip to Florence to celebrate midnight mass and console victims of last month's floods.

Queen Elizabeth and Princess Margaret drove 25 miles from Windsor Castle to visit their mother, Queen Mother Elizabeth, who is recovering from an operation in a London hospital.

In the United States, President Johnson and his family attended Christmas Eve mass at St. Francis Xavier Catholic church near the LBJ ranch, then spent a quiet holiday at home.

Christmas services were led in Vietnam by Francis Cardinal Spellman, Archbishop of New York and Roman Catholic military vicar to the U.S. armed forces, and by Baptist evangelist Billy Graham.

In Hanoi, the official Vietnam

. . . And precious little left on the turkey carcass, to boot. However, the slim day-after-Christmas pickings didn't deter dalmation Sparky, who showed all the eagerness of a fire dog for a Boxing Day bite. Little wonder. The two-month-old pup was a Yuletide gift to his daughter from Bob Emerson — captain in Belleville's fire department.

Spellman's Vietnam Visit Out of Line With Pope's Policy

VATICAN CITY (Reuters)—Vatican sources voiced regret today at reported weekend statements on the Vietnam war by New York's Francis Cardinal Spellman and said they might adversely affect Pope Paul's campaign for peace.

The Vatican withheld any official comment on the American cardinal's Christmas statements in Vietnam that the war there was in defence of civilization and that anything less than victory was inconceivable.

Official comment was withheld, the Vatican sources said, because so far only extracts of the Cardinal's statements had been received here and the full context of his remarks was not known.

But the first impression, the sources said, was that the 77-year-old cardinal's words were out of line with Vatican policy.

Cardinal Spellman, on a Christmas visit to American troops in Vietnam, was sharply criticized Monday by Soviet and French newspapers, which contrasted his statements with Pope Paul's Christmas hopes for peace in Vietnam.

Cardinal Spellman told the troops in Vietnam that they were the defence, protection and salvation not only of their own country but of civilization itself.

The 77-year-old cardinal, was criticized by the French press for saying Saturday that the U.S. military commitment in Vietnam was a war in defence of civilization and that "less than victory is inconceivable."

Speaking under a monsoon drizzle to 3,000 U.S. troops in a large amphitheatre here, Cardinal Spellman said Monday "I have no words to express the satisfaction and gratitude I feel for what you have done and are doing for our country."

Crew Feared Trapped In Fire-ravaged Trawler

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP)—Preparations were being made today at the big International Grenfell Mission Hospital in St. Anthony, on the northern tip of insular Newfoundland, to receive 13 known survivors of the fire-torn British trawler St. Finbarr being towed down the Labrador coast.

Hospital administrator Donald Fish said no estimated arrival time was known but there was a report that the towing vessel, the British trawler Orsino, had increased speed overnight to about seven knots.

A small plane stationed at the hospital was unable to take off to search for the incoming ships and determine their location because of poor weather.

The Orsino carries the 13 survivors of the Christmas Day fire, including Capt. Tom Sawyer of the St. Finbarr, and the

MohawkProject For Centennial Gets Approval

The Ontario government has approved sharing a Centennial projects grant for the Mohawk Tyendinaga Indian Reserve.

The Mohawk project calls for a $5,000 improvement program for the community centre grounds on the reserve.

Clarke Rollins, MPP Hastings East, said the provincial government share has now been approved by Municipal Affairs Minister Spooner and the application will now be forwarded to the federal government.

Cost of the project is evenly divided between the Indian band and both governments.

102 Fatalities Across Canada, 82 on Roads

In contrast to the national near-chaos on Canada's highways, Christmas in the Quinte district was calm and quiet.

Ontario had 27 dead in traffic mishaps.

In the Quinte district there were no fatal accidents reported.

OPP at Belleville, district headquarters entered it as one of the quietest holidays on record. This despite poor driving weather Christmas Day when snowflurries dumped about a half-inch precipitation on the Belleville-Trenton area.

Christmas partygoers also appeared in heeding advice urging about drinking. During the three-day holiday, Belleville OPP said they made no arrests for impaired driving.

City police made one such arrest — at 2 a.m. today.

This year's total traffic death toll for the 78-hour period was 20 higher than last year's for the same time.

It was also 17 more than the 65 predicted by the Canadian Highway Safety Council.

11,774 Telephone Calls Placed

Last year they figured 10,000 subscribers in the city and district would call friends and relatives in North America.

However, bad weather kept most people indoors and — say Bell officials — this doubled the estimate way out of line.

Instead, some 12,500 calls were made at that time.

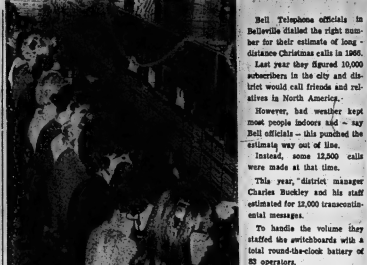
This time the situation wasn't complicated by weather conditions.

The estimate, reported Mr. Buckley was uncannily accurate — considering the traffic.

In all, 11,774 long - distance calls were placed through the Belleville switchboard.



"No one had any difficulty in getting through," he said.

The total does not include overseas calls, which now must be booked in advance and are handled directly through the Bell exchange in Montreal.

Christ Church Well Attended At Christmas

The Festival of Christmas was one of the largest congregations in attendance at Christ Church in many years. The church was filled to capacity on Christmas Eve and well filled for the three services on Christmas Day with some one thousand worshippers in attendance. Music at all services saw the men and boys choir under the direction of John C. Withers sing the beautiful music of Christmas.

The Sunday before Christmas in the evening there was the Solemn Nine Lessons and Carol service at 7 p.m. which was enjoyed by the large number of persons who attended and on the Friday before Christmas the last in the Advent Organ Recitals by Mr. Withers was given with Dorothy Wright as soprano soloist.

A good number of the congregation and their friends were in attendance at this noon time service of carols in the middle of the busy Christmas week.

At the Christmas services the rector preached on the subject "God so loved He gave." Canon Wright was assisted in the services by the Rev. Allan Lauder, curate at Christ Church.

The church was beautifully decorated for the Christmas season with spruce and pine boughs by the ladies of the Altar Guild of the parish.

Boat Driver Suffers Cracked Ribs in Crash

A 27-year-old Belleville high school teacher was injured Christmas Day when the ice boat he was driving on the Bay of Quinte, east of Redneersville tipped over.

Richard Bird, a science teacher at Quinte Secondary School, was taken to Belleville General Hospital with cracked ribs after he was extricated from the wreckage of his boat.

The boat was believed to have hit a soft spot in the ice layer and turned over. Bird was pinned on the ice when the mast snapped and toppled across him.

He was rescued by nearby bayshore residents who witnessed the incident.

Love keeps your memory ever green
And wipes away our tears.

Lovingly remembered by daughter-in-law, Robert and Ruby, Deseronto.

TAYLOR — In loving memory of a dear grandson, Norman, who passed away Dec. 27, 1965.

But God took him home - it was His will,
Within our hearts he liveth still.
—Always remembered by grandpa and grandma Bradshaw.

TAYLOR — In loving memory of a dear nephew Norman, who passed away Dec. 27, 1965.

We think of him in silence,

TAYLOR — In loving memory of our dear nephew, Norman, who passed away Dec. 27, 1965.

Though you have died three years ago.

TOMS — In loving memory of Fred A. Toms, who passed away 7th December, 1964.

The hand that we held is cold now,
The loving heart is still,
The hand so often clasped in mine,

I soften sit and think of him,
And shed a silent tear,
But peace and rest is with him now,
That grief can call its own.
—Sadly missed by mother, Dot.

HUNT — In loving memory of my dear mother Dorothy Juby who passed away Dec. 27, 1964.

If I had all the world to give,
I'd give it all to you,
For you are the dearest mother,
And sweet her at the door.
But all I can do, dear mother,
Is go and send your prayer,
To tell you that I love you,
Tho' you're gone to God above.
—Sadly missed by daughter-in-law, Dorothy Hunt.

TAYLOR — In loving memory of our dear brother Norman, who passed away Dec. 27, 1965.

Two years have passed and flown on,
Two years have taken their toll,
Despite the love, the voice,
The smile of the one who once sat here.

And now, a lonely heartache,
Often silent tears,
But always beautiful memories,
Of one we love so dear.
—Sadly missed, but lovingly remembered by sister Mary and family.

TAYLOR — In loving memory of our dear son, Norman, who passed away Dec. 27, 1965.

Your happy carefree ways,
Or how we miss you so many friends,
In those brighter bygone days,
Dear son, you were the world would hold,
Your cherished smile, your heart of gold,
Always so good, unselfish and kind,
Often silent tears, but memories will remain behind.

Blaze Caused By Attempt To Thaw Pipes

Fire believed caused by an attempt to thaw out frozen pipes caused little damage to a Belleville drive-in restaurant Boxing Day morning — thanks to alert neighbors.

Firemen were called about 1 a.m. to the Golden Mile Restaurant on North Front Street when nearby residents spotted flames in the restaurant kitchen.

Chief Tod Poste said the blaze was confined to a small area of damage but it could have been serious.

"Another ten minutes and it might have been too late," added the chief.

Chief Poste said owner Gus Christopher earlier in the night had tried to unthaw frozen pipes in the area with a blow-torch and a spark might have lodged in fibrous wall material.

Police Check Hunters in Quinte Area

Officers said they checked between 15 and 20 carloads of hunters — mainly from the Toronto area — carrying shotguns and rifles.

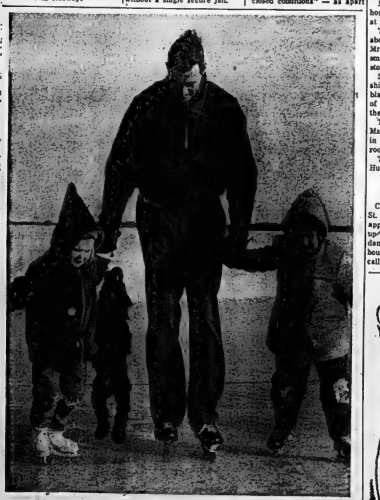
The checks were in the Marysville area and south of Wallbridge Road near Belleville.

Officers said three men were charged under the Liquor Control Act.

The hunters were checked for firearms, dangerous hunting practices and liquor.

Police said they received three complaints from local farmers during the day.

Meanime, in Prince Edward County, in recent years the scene of many complaints against out-of-town holiday hunters, OPP at Picton said they had heard of no incidents.



However, early Boxing Day afternoon they sent a cruiser to the Ameliasburgh township area.

Police attributed the decrease to the fact charges had been laid in other years.

"We don't seem to have the problem with them now," said an officer. "Maybe the word's got around."

And one good way to shape up for another year is a Boxing Day bout on the ice. What he lacks in skates he offsets with stance.

Thousand Police Search Moor As UK Escape 'Fad' Continues

LONDON (AP)—Nearly 1,000 police helped by tracker dogs searched over the heather-strewn rocks of Dartmoor today for five convicts who broke jail in a multiple escape that was spectacular even by current British standards.

The five scaled the 30-foot prison wall after overpowering two guards and wore only prison shirts, trousers and sneakers on a night of bitter winds and rain.

Prison officers said the men were unlikely to have been picked up by accomplices and probably were suffering agonies of exposure on the bleak moorland.

Another three convicts did the fashionable thing late Monday night and slipped away from Leyhill open prison, vanishing into the rain and mist of the countryside.

That made Monday's score "eight away, two back" in the strange saga of the country without a single secure jail.

The two who were recaptured had escaped from Sudbury open prison in Derbyshire Christmas Eve.

It was the mass escape from Dartmoor that shook the prison administration and surprised even Britons who had become used to the series of escapes.

NO JAIL SECURE

There has been jailbreak after jailbreak since Earl Mountbatten last week published an indictment of British's prison system—including a judgment that no really secure jail exists here.

The five Dartmoor fugitives, all strongarm robbers serving terms ranging from four to 15 years, brought the total number of escapes from the forbidding old jail to 15 this year.

There are about 600 prisoners in Dartmoor, located near the lonely village of Princeton in the far west of England. All but 50 are serving long terms.

Until Monday no escape from "closed conditions" — as apart from outside working parties had taken place since 1964 when six men got out, including two who were picked up immediately after dropping over the wall.

It was from a working party that Frank Mitchell, the "Mad Axeman," got away earlier this month.

Fire Destroys Old Landmark Near Stirling

Mr. Hubel was away from home for the Christmas holiday at the time.

The fire was first spotted about 4 p.m. by a neighbor Mrs. Ray Hagerman, who saw smoke pouring from the two-storey frame house.

Stirling and Rawdon township fire units answered the blaze but only a small amount of furniture was saved before the building was gutted.

More than an hour later — at 3:35 a.m. — Mrs. Marion Boldrick of Thomasburg, had a boy weighing 4 lbs. 11 oz., delivered at Belleville General Hospital.

Exactly five hours later Mrs. Anita Young, of Stirling, gave birth to a girl weighing 6 lbs., 14 oz.

At last report, all offspring were doing fine.

Three Youths Get Sentences Suspended

Henry Herman Lefebvre and Ralph Burton Miller had pleaded guilty to the charge Nov. 17 after an original joint charge of attempted armed robbery was withdrawn by Crown Attorney John Pringle.

The third accused, who also pleaded guilty to attempted theft, was tried in juvenile court for his part in the offence.

Mr. Pringle told Magistrate T. Y. Wills that the three had tried to rob the proprietors of a Trenton Dairy Queen store of the day's cash receipts.

Two of the teenagers were masks and carried .22 calibre rifles in the holdup attempt, he said.

The theft was foiled when the proprietor's wife buried a brick of ice cream at one of the youths, causing the would-be robbers to flee from the scene.

Leonard Reid Enters Council

FRANKFORD (Special) — A tie vote in this village's December 5 municipal election, unbroken by a judicial recount, has been resolved.

Last week's account by Judge J. C. Anderson in Belleville, confirmed the tie.

Responsibility for a decision then was vested in municipal clerk-treasurer L. E. Turner, who could cast a deciding vote by virtue of office.

Mr. Turner has decided in favor of Leonard Reid, a village councillor for several years.

India's Problem

Famine conditions in India have been assuming serious proportions of late, a factor which can serve only to compound the formidable economic and social problems the country already faces. Bihar state is said to have been particularly hard hit.

Wheat and other material aid are being sent by Canada and the United States under existing programs, and more is on the way. The Soviet Union has made a surprise offer of 200,000 tons of wheat.

Canada has announced it will spend $75 million in aid to India next year, and a Washington report says the United States has allocated food grains worth more than $53 million as an emergency measure to help prevent starvation. For this year the U.S. has sent 10 million tons of wheat to India, and Canada has provided one million tons.

Private organizations are also stepping up their aid programs. Some $5,000 was raised by "hunger luncheons" organized in Ottawa, Toronto and Montreal last week by the Canadian branch of the Oxford Committee for Famine Relief.

With its huge population, harsh climate and general economic backwardness India needs all the aid it can get. It also needs to train more of its own people in modern methods of agriculture, soil conservation, irrigation and so on, in order to increase its domestic food production.

But always there is the terrible problem of increasing population. And it may be wondered how this continent and other wheat-producing countries can keep up their shipments? We must be thankful our own granaries are full, but we cannot always expect to have bumper crops?

Progress Castro-style

Progress in this as in any other time usually stems from the thoughts and actions of individuals — although in the democratic world individuality must also have the sanction of the people if the ideas it brings to the world are to succeed.

In some cases individualism can be a mixed blessing. Fidel Castro, for instance, merely substituted one form of corrupt government for another when his revolutionaries ousted the Batista regime in Cuba.

Today Cuba has independence and stability of a sort, and seems to be muddling through despite the economic stringencies and social mediocrity the espousement of communism have produced.

As a subversive element in the heart of the western hemisphere, and a threat to the political integrity of both this continent and Latin America the existence cannot be ignored. But the measure of its own success as a country which has had a revolution — eight years ago this coming January — certainly cannot be measured in terms of human or social betterment.

Castro may have brought some benefits to Cuba that were lacking under Batista. Certainly the majority of the people seem to be behind him. He has built hospitals and schools and given the people a sense of belonging, of national spirit. But he has done it largely at the expense of the intelligentsia and middle class who are the driving force in effecting progress in any country. And that is why hundreds of Cubans have been leaving every day for the United States in the strife which Castro himself sanctioned recently.

Otherwise Cuba has been quiet of late, although now and again Castro pops back into the public eye to make the sort of statements which show him to be more of a political theorist and agitator than a leader who is genuinely interested in the social and economic progress of his country.

A recent example was his remark that President Kennedy was "an intelligent bandit, while Lyndon Johnson (whom nobody seems to love these days) is a mediocre bandit."

As for the leaders of "People's China," as he calls it, Castro thinks they are "gimrack revolutionaries."

Another Strike Threat

Strikes are contagious, as well as being disruptive — fromt the travelling public's point of view at least.

Air Canada was grounded recently by a strike of machinists, and along with other airlines survived a subsequent strike threat by air traffic controllers. Now the men who fuel commercial airliners are planning a walkout — this Thursday — posing a threat to New Year traffic.

Canada Tops Brain Drain

Montreal Gazette

Much is said about the "brain drain" Canada suffers, from the exodus of its scientists and engineers to the United States. But how serious this is for Canada, compared with other countries, is shown by the table drawn up in a recent report.

The report lists the countries of last permanent residence, and gives the percentage of scientists and engineers who have left for the U.S. in 1956-61, the percentage being given as the ratio of the migrants to the 1958 output of science and engineering graduates in each country.

Country	Scientists	Engineers
Canada	13.5	6.6
Switzerland	10.6	22.4
Norway	3.4	23.8
Netherlands	7.9	21.8
Greece	3.6	20.7
Sweden	1.3	16.3
Germany	6.0	9.3
Great Britain	2.6	17.2
Italy	0.9	1.7
France	0.5	1.2

Canada leads the world in its loss of scientists and engineers to the United States. And the report goes on to say: "Furthermore, there is evidence that the drain is more serious in terms of quality than in terms of quantity."

Probably not more than about 5 per cent of the total stock of American scientists and engineers were trained abroad, but 21 per cent of the 6th members of the United States Academy of Sciences were born abroad and 18 per cent were trained abroad.

Automation's Beginnings

Stratford Beacon-Herald

Ours is not the first culture to be concerned about automation. The ancient Mayas in what is now El Salvador had a similar problem, says the National Geographic Society.

It is believed that a powerful guild of porters fought against the automation of their trade by developing a vehicle so successful were they that the first European explorers found no evidence that the wheel had ever been invented in the New World.

Injury or Infection Can Damage the Brain

By JOSEPH C. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: What is the meaning of softening of the brain and its cause? Does it have any bearing on a person having a stroke? — M. H.

The term really doesn't mean much. It's a carryover from earlier years when we really didn't know much about the brain.

A more exact term for softening would be atrophy, or shrinking of a portion of the brain, as well as degeneration. »

It can result from a stroke, or injury, or infection.

In the case of an injury, there may be bruising or bleeding of the brain tissue, altering its structure. Or a blow may cause a blood clot outside the brain but inside the skull. This can exert pressure and thus cause changes in the brain.

"Softening of the brain" can be used loosely to apply to any of these conditions.

Dear Dr. Molner: I plan to be married soon so would like information on birth control pills. Is it true you have to start taking them before you are married? Do you have to take them every day? Are they always effective? Is it easier to become pregnant when you stop using them? How do I go about getting them?—Miss J.T.S.

You will have to go to your physician to get the pills. He will give you exact instructions. Follow the directions he gives you, not the rule that someone else may follow. Not all pills are alike.

In general, you take the pills daily for about three weeks, then stop for a week. Your doctor will tell you exactly which day to start and stop.

The pills appear to be the most reliable method yet devised for birth control short of total abstinence from sexual activity. For maximum safety, it is wise to take the pills for one complete cycle (a month) before being sure they are fully effective — hence start one cycle before your marriage.

In some instances, the same medication is used to regulate an irregular menstrual cycle and in that way can improve chances of pregnancy. (That was being done before the pills came to be used for contraceptive purposes.) Aside from such cases, I doubt that there is any particular difference in your prospects of becoming pregnant when you stop using them.

• • •

Dear Dr. Molner: I developed a small cyst on one nipple. My doctor said there was no cause for alarm but I could have it removed if I chose.

Two months later the cyst opened, and being a compulsive type I squeezed it gently, and a considerable amount of matter came out. Since then more has come out. Will this become a chronic condition? Am I risking infection? — R. F. F.

Cysts of all types continue to secrete matter of some sort, some slowly, some rapidly. So yes, the condition can be expected to continue. There is always some risk of infection. You should see your physician to consider whether removal is now advisable.

Matheson Is Nemesis Of CBC "Swingers"

By RICHARD JACKSON

Gift-wrapped by Parliament with the best wishes of Prime Minister Pearson, it could come in the shape of a reformed and house-cleaned Canadian Broadcasting Corporation.

It could arrive in one of two ways or, better still both — CBC with its dirty mouth washed out and purged of its self-styled "swingers" — and/or a CBC with its annual $129,000,000 tax-financed budget pared down to size.

For years, the CBC has writhen its own broadcasting ticket, contemptuous of the protests of both Parliament and public.

Neither the taxpayers nor the taxpayers' representatives ever seemed able to do much about it.

But now, at last, a Voice-From-The-Prime-Minister's-Office, Mr. Matheson, Liberal MP for Ontario's Leeds and Parliamentary Secretary to the Prime Minister, who is accusing what he charges is a "determined group in the CBC" of a coldly calculated campaign to undermine and destroy all that decent Canadians should esteem."

Like the new flag or not, you must concede that in getting it flown, John Matheson was no fiddly-dandy, no bed-dragging reactionary, nor even, as the CBC "swingers" like to describe those who question their ghastly taste, a "neanderthal."

As the Voice-From-The-Prime-Minister's - Office, Mr. Matheson zeroed in on the now-dead "This Hour Has Seven Days" program, and its CBC successor, "Sunday," which has been arousing even more public protest.

These CBC "swingers," warns Mr. Matheson, practise a "new form" of journalism, trafficking in "distortion and censorship by exclusion."

When they program something on national unity, he says, they play up those who wish to destroy Confederation.

When they dealt with religious themes, he catalogued, 22 of their total 28 items were "sarcastic or antagonistic."

When they portrayed business or industry, 26 of their total 40 episodes on private enterprise were "ridiculed or condemned."

Two programs were devoted to the delights of drug addiction, pace-setting and LSD with little mention of the dangers.

This Voice - From - The - Prime-Minister's-Office was not letting off the top of the head.

The indictment continues:

On 14 programs, Communism was given favorable treatment. And not once was there a word of criticism or even a question of the Communist philosophy or world position.

The "swingers" routinely hate the police and the courts in a bad light.

A CBC documentary on Kingston Penitentiary was so slanted, so loaded, so dead-set against authority that even the inmates protested.

Invoking the supposedly sacrosanct name of "Public Affairs," this band of nihilists, pleading that they were merely making the news "vital, compelling and meaningful," are fastening their destructive views on the CBC at the taxpayers' ever-increasing expense.

A steady flow of twisted news, of poisoned facts, brought disaster to Germany when this Voice-From-The - Prime - Minister's - Office — and, counsels Mr. Matheson, "even in Canada, pre-conceived opinions of a coldly determined, highly vocal minority, repetitiously broadcasting, to the exclusion of all other concepts, can threaten Canadian liberties."

CBC "Public Affairs," slanted, twisted and loaded, Mr. Matheson cautions, can create "serious problems" for the Government in domestic and foreign policy - making.

The situation at last is coming to a show-down.

For, reports this Voice-From-The - Prime - Minister's - Office, "battle lines are being drawn, finally, between those who would debase Canada and those who would elevate it."

Teachers Seek Higher Pay

Toronto Telegram

The word is that teachers will be demanding higher salaries at their next bargaining session with boards of education. Already some school trustees have set up battle positions to hold the line.

There is a kind of ancient prejudice about the teaching profession, which originates in a mistaken idealism about the nature of this calling.

It views the teacher as so dedicated a public servant, so preoccupied with installing the love of learning in the young that concern for money is beneath him.

But like members of other professions, teachers have family responsibilities and years for the things money can buy.

Their demand for just and fair recompense for their work should not be regarded, as it too often is, as unprofessional.

In Toronto a secondary school teacher begins at $5,400 and eventually can work up to the highest category of $11,000; an elementary school teacher starts at $4,100 and can earn $9,100 in the top grade.

Considering that they have the responsibility of training future citizens in democracy, it may well be argued that the reward they get is not commensurate with the significant role they play.

Not long ago the president of the Ontario Public School Men and School Associations told a Queen's Park committee on Youth that teachers' demands have jumped to such a high level that too many are in the profession just for the pay.

If this were the case, why is there a growing teacher exodus? It is not that the burdens of extra duties, such as clerical work and over-populated classes, are to blame, but the attraction of better pay in industry is not to be discounted.

A proper evaluation of the role of the teaching profession in our society would not only invite and retain the talented; it would enable boards of education to set the kind of standards a progressive urban civilization demands.

Federal Question

Peterborough Examiner

In the near future the Ontario Government is to publish a report about the possibility of transforming Ottawa into a federal district. Ottawa has long been a puzzle, and sometimes a burden, to the nation, since it is, like any other municipality, largely responsible for its own affairs. At the same time, its position as the nation's capital requires that it be something more than a municipality with provincial responsibilities to the Ontario Government.

The Ontario attitude is gaining favor, and rightly so. It is unfitting that a municipality should bear the financial responsibility for supporting a national showpiece or for being the focus of such international questions for a Canadian capital as bilingualism is. If schools Ottawa needs transformation and it needs some direct help from the national government to become truly a national centre.

For the moment, it is something of an apology. For example, it is impossible on most Saturdays to get a room of any sort, let alone anything else, in Ottawa's largest hotel unless one is in the hotel. Its entertainment is poor, most of its residential streets are in need of repair, and its arterial highways have only just begun to catch up with what the capital requires. Later the decision is made to turn the area into a national asset, the better for Ottawa and for the country.

GLEANINGS FROM OUR FILES OF BYGONE YEARS

20 YEARS AGO

Versatility in commercial operation of the war - proven "jeep" was demonstrated to the local public works department today as a jeep-operated snowplow was pressed into service to assist in clearing city sidewalks of the overnight snowfall.

Following negotiations a week or so ago a business deal involving the purchase of a $40,000 theatre for the village of Bancroft was completed, according to reports from the northern village.

When they portrayed, business or industry, 26 of their total 40 episodes on private enterprise were "ridiculed or condemned."

Two programs were devoted to the delights of drug addiction, pace-sniffing and LSD with little mention of the dangers.

This Voice - From - The - Prime-Minister's-Office was not letting off the top of the head.

The indictment continues:

On 14 programs, Communism was given favorable treatment. And not once was there a word of criticism or even a question of the Communist philosophy or world position.

The "swingers" routinely hate the police and the courts in a bad light.

A CBC documentary on Kingston Penitentiary was so slanted, so loaded, so dead-set against authority that even the inmates protested.

Invoking the supposedly sacrosanct name of "Public Affairs," this band of nihilists, pleading that they were merely making the news "vital, compelling and meaningful," are fastening their destructive views on the CBC at the taxpayers' ever-increasing expense.

A steady flow of twisted news, of poisoned facts, brought disaster to Germany when this Voice-From-The - Prime - Minister's - Office — and, counsels Mr. Matheson, "even in Canada, pre-conceived opinions of a coldly determined, highly vocal minority, repetitiously broadcasting, to the exclusion of all other concepts, can threaten Canadian liberties."

Medical Men's Dilemma

By SYDNEY J. HARRIS

"If you think that government leaders and businessmen are confused about the changing times," said a surgeon to me the other night, "you ought to hear how perplexed the doctors are. It's hard to know what standards we should use anymore, or what responsibilities we have."

He works in a clinic once a week. Last month, he disclosed, about 20 girls were brought in by their mothers for contraceptive devices; the girls ranged from 14 to 20, and were mostly in college.

During the same week, another 30 or so girls came in to the obstetrical department; they were all pregnant, unmarried, and from 16 to 20 years in age. At the same time, he went on, another two or three came in to find out why they couldn't have children.

The last group, he said, "were girls around 18, who wanted to go on Aid-to-Dependent - Children, but weren't pregnant. We were supposed to find out if they were truly sterile."

Then he shrugged, "Talk about the sexual revolution! in our time! It's fantastic. We've never dealt with these problems before on such a scale, and there's nothing in the Hippocratic Oath that tells us how to act or where our responsibilities end in these matters."

For the medical profession today has, willy-nilly, been plunged into the whole vast vortex of changing standards and mores. The "private" practice of medicine sounds fine on paper, or in an AMA banquet speech, but in reality medicine has become more and more inextricably involved in the economic, social, sexual and public health concerns of the family.

Perhaps the most flagrant example is the dilemma of the doctors about the abortion law. An estimated 1 million abortions take places in this country annually; the great majority of these are performed by trained girls, but on married women who want no more children. They are therefore illegally, unsanitarily, dangerously, and expensively.

Many, I think most, doctors, object to this situation, but they are powerless to change it. Not one of them can perform an abortion laws, they will prescribe contraceptive devices and pills for unmarried girls who are sexually active.

What we have in the end is more unsolicited, and, in the pills permit premarital sex with greater impunity than ever before; thus, the harsh abortion laws accomplish precisely the reverse of their intended purpose. And the medical profession, confronted with this sexual revolution, can only wash its hands and call itself an innocent bystander of our times.

George Washington was granted dictatorial powers by Congress to command the Continental Congress, the same day that he won the battle of Trenton. He had been chosen commander-in-chief in 1775, when the American Declaration of Independence started, partly as a political bargain although those who knew him well had already discerned his genius. Washington's success in battle led his enemies to fear he might make himself a king but he was the only man who, after the war, could unite the United States as president and then peacefully retire.

Not So Outspoken

Cyrus Eaton Still Planning Projects

CLEVELAND (AP) — Canadian-born industrialist Cyrus S. Eaton, 83 today, has been involved in six decades of corporation building, but says he feels that some of his most important work lies ahead.

In a pre-birthday interview Monday at his farm at nearby Northfield, Eaton said he still has "all the zest I ever had and I am still experiencing the full joy of living."

He is chairman of the board of the Chesapeake and Ohio Railway and also exerts either control or important influence over an empire estimated at being worth $3,000,000,000. It embraces iron ore, coal, shipping utilities and railways.

Eaton said he is working on a number of projects "of the first magnitude," but they are of a confidential nature.

"If you live as long as I have," he said, "you're bound to acquire some know-how even if you're not too bright to start with."

Eaton, who was born in Pugwash, N.S., continues to work for better relations between the United States and the Soviet Union, but he no longer is as outspoken as he once was about U.S. foreign policy.

"One discovers that a critical attitude just arouses opposition, and a peaceful one can be more successful," he says. "I am not publicly condemning the policies and institutions of any country, including my own."

He has avoided public controversy since May, 1965, when he warned that armed Soviet intervention in Vietnam was imminent.

Eaton expressed his current view as:

"I am optimistic. I refuse to give up hope that we can devise a method of dealing with international problems even with our philosophical and political differences."

Steelmakers Predict Fast Start in '67

CLEVELAND (AP) — "Steelmakers will get away from the gate faster in 1967 than they did in the record year that's ending," says Steel magazine.

The metalworking weekly, published Sunday, predicts shipments next month will top those for January, 1966, by 10 per cent because users were trimming large inventories they had built for strike protection in 1965.

Estimates of user stocks vary, but most steel company analysts believe supplies are in good balance with consumption, Steel says, adding, "Steel producers needn't fear much additional liquidation by automakers and can companies. Business in other major steel consuming industries will determine whether liquidation will continue."

Mill stocks at the end of October were 18,500,000 tons, the highest level since 1961. Steel says.

Prison Guard, Son Recovering Slowly

NEW WESTMINSTER, B.C. (CP) — A prison guard and his young son, severely injured in a pre-Christmas booby-trap explosion, were recovering slowly in a hospital Monday while police intensified a search for the person who sent the parcel.

Frank Newton, 42, had both hands blown off. His son Norman, 10, standing beside him when he opened the Christmas parcel, suffered severe injuries from flying metal and will likely lose the sight in his left eye.

Both were in fair condition in the hospital here Monday. The boy had been in critical condition since Friday's explosion at the Newton home in nearby North Surrey.

Authorities, meanwhile, were working in force to uncover the sender of the booby trap. They believe it may have been a former inmate of the British Columbia penitentiary, a maximum-security federal prison located in this city about 20 miles east of Vancouver.

The Christmas parcel was delivered to Newton's home Friday afternoon. Newton, his son standing beside him, opened the parcel when he returned home from his job at the prison. The explosion tore off his hands and most fragments of metal into his face and stomach. His son was hit in the face, arms, neck and chest.

RCMP released on Monday a former prisoner they had picked up for questioning in connection with the incident. A second man, also a former prisoner, still was being sought.

Near-banks Feel Strain Of Economy

By DENNIS ORCHARD

OTTAWA (CP)—The pressure of tight money on the lending activity of financial institutions is clearly putting more strain on near-banks than banks.

The increase in consumer lending by sales finance and consumer loan companies was 10.1 per cent between August, 1965, and August, 1966, reports the Dominion Bureau of Statistics.

The chartered banks increased their business 10.7 per cent over the same period.

More significantly, the non-bank institutions kept their hand active in the consumer field by sacrificing expansion of their loans to business.

Between the second quarter of 1965 and the second quarter of 1966, their combined lending for various business purposes actually declined almost one per cent.

Over the same period, seasonally-adjusted loans for the banks show an increase of better than eight per cent.

CONFIRM PATTERN

The tables confirm the pattern of aggressive bank behavior since 1958, when the Bank of Nova Scotia plunged into instalment lending with its Scotia Plan.

As late as 1957, the banks had only $421,000,000 outstanding in unsecured personal loans while the sales finance and consumer loan companies had $1,127,000,000, or about 73 per cent of the combined total.

By the end of 1965, with the other chartered banks well established on the course set by the Bank of Nova Scotia, the share held by the sales finance and consumer loan companies had been reduced to just under 50 per cent.

High point of the banks' expansion came in 1964 when they increased the value of personal loans on their books by 25 per cent.

Two reasons are suggested by finance department sources here for the decision by the near-banks to restrict lending to business.

From the point of view of profitability, consumer loans require and support more staff time. These companies will make best use of their personnel by keeping active in the field.

And in the long run, consumer lending is much more difficult to build up than business lending. Letting it sag in 1967 would make a rapid expansion impossible if a period of easier money comes along.

news agency preceded an account of Christmas Eve services by saying that U.S. aircraft have deliberately attacked more than 300 parishes and nearly 100 churches in North Vietnam since Feb. 7, 1965.

Mexicans celebrated with fiestas, and authorities gave presents of radios, gas ranges, food and toys to the poor.

Frenchmen paid about $10—10 per cent more than last year—for 2.2 pounds of foie gras, the fat goose liver that are a feature of holiday feasts. In India, the government banned multi-course dinners at Christmas and New Year's dinners to save food.

BERLIN WALL CLOSED

Some Christians had difficulties with Communist authorities. East Germany refused to grant West Berliners holiday passes through the Berlin Wall to visit relatives and Kurt Scharf, Protestant bishop of Berlin, said, "we are experiencing Christmas Eve and Christmas with many sorrows."

Stefan Cardinal Wyszynski, Roman Catholic primate of Poland, said in a Christmas sermon he will resist government attempts to interfere in the training of priests.

Another 11 members of the St. Finbarr's 25-man crew remain missing. Bearing Brst. here, agents for the vessel, said some of the missing men may be trapped alive beneath the St. Finbarr's decks, which had been smoking too badly to prevent boarding.

The two ships diverted towards St. Anthony early Monday night when they were 140 miles northeast of that port and making only three to five knots. Originally they were to head for St John's, 600 miles to the south, but were ordered to St. Anthony by the agents. Besides the hospital facilities available there, an examination of the burned hull and its systems probably would be made at a large government wharf in the harbor.

A strong northeast gale with winds up to 40 miles an hour was whipping up heavy seas in the Strait of Belle Isle as the Orinno headed to port.

The workers had been battling gale-force winds of up to 60 miles an hour with sleet, snow, rain and freezing spray since fire broke out aboard the St. Finbarr about 5 a.m. NST, Sunday.

A boom's chair was rigged between the Orinno and the St. Finbarr, to take off the latter's crew, but the rig apparently broke during the operation. The agents said they believe "no men may have been lost when the line snapped and that the body of the dead man was possibly picked out of the water.

Poor communications blamed on the weather and the remoteness of the area in which the tragedy occurred have made it difficult to piece together a picture of what actually happened.

The St. Finbarr's fuel tanks berthed Sunday but the main fire was reported out Monday, although the vessel was still smouldering.

New Formula for Educating Nurses Sought in N. B.

FREDERICTON (CP) — The New Brunswick Association of Registered Nurses, recommending a new formula for educating and training nurses, is seeking provincial government action to implement it.

The suggested program would gradually phase out the present hospital training school system and replace it with university schools of nursing and institutes for health services.

Only registered nurses would be authorized to practise nursing in hospitals. The plan would reduce to two years from three the period required to achieve RN status, with improved qualifications.

The formula is based on a plan by Dr. Katherine Wright, dean, director of the school of nursing at University of New Brunswick.

She recommended that nurses Grade 1—for technical or clinical work—comprise 75 per cent of the nursing complement and be given a two-year education at three institutes proposed for Saint John, Moncton and Campbellton. Future ward secretaries also would be trained at the institutes.

FEW HAVE DEGREES

The other 25 per cent of the nurses—called Nurse Grade II—would be educated at the UNB and University of Moncton schools of nursing for the professional category. Currently, those having degrees number less than 10 per cent.

An independent council, responsible to the ministry of education, was recommended as essential for administration of the institutes. Half of the capital needed for construction would be sought from the federal health resources fund and the other half from the province.

The RN association has asked the provincial government to start implementation of the program in 1967 so it can be put into effect for the 1968-69 academic year.

Mrs. Katherine Wright, association president, said the plan has been endorsed by the executive committee of the Canadian Nurses' Association and may be reflected in nursing education nationally.

Stuttering Is Also A Speech Problem

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Your reply to the high school boy who stuttered was correct — he should speak to his school counselor. But I wish you had given a few further and brief, "The counsellor will probably refer you to a speech therapist."

ANN LANDERS

Speech therapy is a relatively new field and too few people know about it. True, stuttering is caused by an emotional problem, but it is still a speech problem.

I am a speech therapist and I'd like to suggest ways that parents, teachers and friends can help the stutterer:

1. Allow the stutterer to talk. Don't "help" him by completing his sentences or changing the subject.

2. Don't show embarrassment when he stammers and is unable to finish a word.

3. Never tell the stutterer to "start over" or "take a breath" or "speak more slowly." This only makes him more self-conscious.

4. Remember that everyone is non-fluent occasionally. We are all grateful when nobody makes a point of it. — DAYTON THERAPIST.

DEAR DAYTON: I appreciate your letter. You have educated millions of people today . . . including Ann Landers. Thank you.

* * *

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Two years ago I began to take out a divorced woman who was 42. I was 35. After seven months of keeping steady company she told me she was pregnant. This woman had grown children and was a respected person in the community. I felt that the humiliation of having a child out of wedlock at her age would be a devastating experience, so I married her right away.

Two months later she told me she was mistaken and she was not pregnant after all. Then the trouble started. She spent most of her time with her married children. I was left to cradle my own meals and do my own laundry. Our apartment looked like hogs lived there. It soon became obvious that I was getting nothing out of our marriage but bills to pay. So I left.

My friends and family think I am a heel. I can't tell them why I married the woman in the first place. Or can I? — CONDEMNED.

DEAR CONDEMNED: No, you can't. And just in case you are sitting around feeling sorry for yourself, I'd like to remind you that you were old enough to know better than to get involved in a mess like that, Bob.

*

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I'd like to tell "Nothing Wife" that unless she develops a little more patience, she'll no longer be married to a man who is arrogant because he stopped drinking. Instead she will find herself married to a drunk again.

"I'd like to ask "Nothing" to evaluate herself. Did her husband drink too much when they were married? If so, there must have something wrong with her, too, or she wouldn't have married him.

Every woman whose husband is trying to stay sober should look upon him as a child who needs praise and encouragement. The first year an alcoholic quits drinking is as difficult as his last year of alcoholism.

My husband hasn't had a drink in 11 years. I am very proud of him and I let him know it. I know, too, that I helped him win the fight — and so does he. — BEEN THERE.

DEAR B.T.: I am passing on your counsel to "Nothing Wife" for what it's worth — and I think it's worth a good deal. Thank you.

Used Greeting Cards Sent To Outposts by Readers

DORIS CLARK

Dear Doris: You'd never imagine just how useful those old greeting cards have been. Many hundreds have come to this Christian outpost from your readers.

We don't waste a scrap. Even the string, stamps and wrapping paper go to kiltie makers, stamp collectors and parcel wrappers!

As for the cards themselves, many can be used again. If the name has been written small enough we paste a flower or cut-out over it. If the signature is at the bottom, we cut the bottom off.

Some very nice pictures, on cards not suitable for making over, get little calendar pads attached. Little and big cut-outs, of flowers, figures, scenes, go into bags of 20 to sell for 60 cents. Still others are made into enclosure cards or tags, or wall mottoes (with a Bible verse).

All this is done by handicapped or older people; a continuous merry-go-round for extra earnings; a prosperous happy — business, to which many of you have given the initial push. We thank you. — Frances Stevenson, Christian Compound, Indore, India.

Dear Miss Stevenson: It is good to feel we have a part in your work. I'll pass the instructions as to how to prepare and mail bundles of cards to any writing in for them.

Dear Doris: About Molly, who gets all tense when she tries to talk to boys: I feel that this girl needs counseling help and is incapable of self-help. I wonder if I might be able to help her through correspondence.

I am a woman of 30, and very interested in the field of dialogue, interpersonal relations, etc. Have had some training in it recently, and continuing experience. — A. M.T.

Dear A.M.T.: Perhaps you could help Molly, but where do we find her? She gave neither name nor address.

All we know is she wrote to me through her newspaper with her deep private question. Certain "Desperate's" do not feel they could possibly risk anybody in the whole wide world knowing just what their problem is. My assurance that everything is kept confidential doesn't mean a thing to them.

How about it, Molly? What do I tell the kind Mrs. A.M.T.?

To Worried: Unless you want to be classed as pickups, don't get into cars with strange boys. If a stranger invites you for a ride, you can't possibly tell by looking at him whether he can be trusted. People a good deal older than 13 are being fooled all the time.

Confidential to "One of Your Readers": If you would write in again, I have a message for you, recommending a certain medication for your friend with the "after birth blues."

Susanna's Family Fare

Housecoat Made From Bath Towels

Hi There! Relax girl! It's all over.

Old you-know-who has lie, by-hed his last bo, family and friends are satiated with food and liquid, and if you decided to send cousin Louie a card, forget it! Send him two, next year!

Furthermore, if Santa didn't bring you a comfortable lounging robe in which to enjoy these new-found languid hours, this interesting neutron coe of our bright readers may just have you in mind:

Dear Susanna: I am writing this while wearing a housecoat I made for myself in a couple of hours this afternoon out of three flowered bath towels. What's more, I can hardly sew at all, and hate it more than anything else. But, as my son would say, "This little item's a breeze."

The skirt is made from two towels joined together vertically. These are then shirred into the third towel which has been folded in half lengthwise (or horizontally) to form the bodice and sleeves. The neck is cut from the exact center (don't make it too large) and the opening at the back of the towel requires a button and loop. No zipper — too tricky — besides it might catch on the woven material.

When you lay the three towels out to work on them, you will see exactly what to do — and don't be afraid — if I could iust cut out such a lovely article, anyone can! — Sweet 16.

How sweet it is, 16, when our efforts are so rewarding. I wasn't afraid either, and I'm delighted with the one I made. It is so cozy and sort of shapeless.

However for all the cowards in the crowd who hesitate to plunge right in, we have designed a paper pattern with detailed instructions, plus fit stitch.

It's anyone's for the asking — especially if you are your usual generous self and enclose a hint or two of your own for the column.

. . . and the very, very best of the very best, to you, in the coming year; you deserve it! — SUSANNA

English Meat Pies

By MARY MOORE

If superb results are what you want to serve for an English Meat Pie that fulfils the highest standards.

I made it last night and took it out of the oven at 10 o'clock and nearly burned my tongue tasting it.

I think it is ideal for a New Year's Eve at home buffet party. But it is so spotty some of you may choose it as your piece de resistance for New Year's dinner.

TUESDAY

Dinner Menu

DE LUXE ENGLISH MEAT PIE (serves 8 to 10)

Pastry: (English Melton Mowbray type)
3 cups unsifted all-purpose flour
2 tsps. single-acting baking powder
1½ tsps. salt
1½ cups shortening — divided (see below)
⅝ cup boiling water
1 tbsp. lemon juice
1 large egg yolk

Filling:
1 lb. lean red brand found steak
1 lb. fresh lean pork (I used "outlet" from ham end of carcass)
½ small mushrooms.
1 cup chopped onion, packed (I used Spanish)
1 tbsp. flour
One 10-oz. can undiluted consomme
2¼ cups boiling water
1 tsp. salt

Make pastry by mixing together flour, baking powder and salt. Cut in ¾ cup of the shortening with pastry blender. Melt the remaining ¾ cup shortening in the ⅝ cup boiling water. Add lemon juice. Drop the egg yolk onto the flour mixture, stir til in a bit, then add the shortening liquid and stir in thoroughly. Wipe down sides of bowl and chill dough.

To make filling cut some fat from edge of round steak and render it out in large frying pan. Add chopped onion and stir until onion wilts but do not brown it. Remove bits of fat. Cut all meat into ¾" or 1" pieces. Add, neat to pan and sear but do not brown. Sprinkle flour over and stir in. Add scrubbed mushrooms cut into halves. Add salt, consomme and boiling water and bring to simmering point.

When filling is ready and dough is chilled decide whether you are baking this in 2 medium casseroles or one huge one. Roll out dough on well floured board to ¼" thickness and cut strips to line sides of huge casserole or sides of 2 medium casseroles. Roll out remaining dough to fit top of 1 huge casserole or 2 medium casseroles. Make slashes at centre. Pour filling into side-lined casserole or casseroles. Seal on gashed top or tops. Be sure to follow next step: Brush top or tops all over with 1 egg yolk mixed with 1 tsp. cold water. Bake at 425 deg. Fahr. for 15 min. Reduce heat to 350 deg. Fahr. for next half hour. Reduce heat to 250 deg. Fahr. and bake 1½ hrs. longer — 2 hrs. baking in all.

NOTE: 1) Try to use casserole large enough to prevent any juice which bubbles through gashes from flowing over into oven.

2) I made two deep meat pies in Corningware casseroles approximately 7 x 7x 2½" and froze one.

The Intelligencer

BELLEVILLE, ONTARIO, TUESDAY, DECEMBER 27, 1966

AN OPEN LETTER TO ALL MO-HAWK FANS:

It was Friday night, the second Day before Christmas. Your favorite team the Mo-Hawks were playing the Galt Hornets. You turned out some 1,400 strong to back up the club.

A Galt representative came to the press box. "Goshlemighty," he said, "where do you get 'em. We couldn't raise over 500 in our hometown in Christmas week."

"Tease guys and Gals" hold the loyalty record in this ten-team circuit of the Ontario Hockey Association senior "A" circuit.

On their performance todate, the Mo-Hawks are not the best team in the league. But, who, in their first year of operation in six years expected them to be?

But by the same token they are not the "worst" team in the circuit. They are in sixth spot, well within the playoffs limit.

Not that is not the point. You box-office supporters are the best in the whole circuit. You hold the record. You have done a grand supporting job, and don't think Floyd Crawford and his merry gang of Mo-Hawk men do not appreciate it. That goes for gracenif' manager Bob Temple and his administrative cohorts.

But hockey fans like players and officials have their faults.

And that includes you fellows and gals.

The rear of the hometown crowd when a goal is scored or a brilliant defensive play is made is music to the ears of a hockey player.

The thrill of the scorer is personally evidenced when he tosses his stick aloft in the lift of the moment.

In all fairness to the sports fan, hockey or otherwise, he or she will applaud a brilliant play made by the opposition. That is sports justice. It should be that way. The true sports fan recognizes brilliancy of individual or team play on the part of friend or foe.

The average fan, he or she, by the right of purchase of box office ticket is entitled to the right to cheer or jeer, applaud or otherwise. He or she can within their own right disagree verbally with players or the decisions of officials. That is their dollar right.

But sometimes exuberance on the part of home town fans can be overdone. That was evidenced here last Friday night when the Mo-Hawks fought back from a 3-0 deficit to defeat the Galt Hornets 4-3 in a more or less sensational second-and-third periods comeback.

Fandom sensing a bad shellacking after that first period 3-0 score came suddenly to life when the Mo-Hawks "broke the egg" early in the second frame.

Programs and other things littered the ice when they cut the margin to a 3-2 count. It was repeated when the score was tied a few minutes later and when the winning goal was scored.

Exuberance, as was noted, is understandable, under the circumstances. But the throwing of empty bottles on the ice is not. This can cause more damage than anything. It could result in serious injury to a player or players.

Worse yet is the psychological reaction. The Hornets in this case were, so to speak "on the run." The respite caused by the delay in cleaning the ice could have given them or any other team under similar circumstances a new lease of life. In fact the rest could have enabled them to go on and pull the game out of the fire.

Fortunately for the Mo-Hawks this did not happen. But it could.

So please, and I'm quoting the management lad, desist from tossing the programs and other debris on the ice, especially when the home town gang is on the way to a win.

Manager Bob Temple, coach Floyd Crawford and the entire Mo-Hawk teams are extremely grateful for your support. But please temper your exuberance by refraining from littering the ice.

Score Was 6-1

Nationals Whip Russ

WINNIPEG (CP) — Canada's national hockey team handed Moscow Selects their fourth loss in the sixth game of their Canadian tour here before almost 5,000 Christmas Day fans.

It was the third loss the Russian team, being groomed for the 1968 Olympics, has suffered at the hands of the Canadian squad.

The Selects saw defeat at the hands of the Western International League All - Stars and twice in Canada before taking two straight victories against Edmonton All-Stars and Regina Caps of the Western Canada Senior League.

Both teams Sunday traded goals in the first period before the Canadians added two unanswered goals in the second and three in the final period.

Each team took five minor penalties.

Vladimir Chinov made 31 saves in the Selects' net and Canada's Ken Broderick and Wayne Stephanson turned back 19 Russian shots.

Boomer Booms; Blues Lead By Four

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Here K is with nearly half the season gone and what do we see in the National Hockey League?

Chicago Black Hawks, in pursuit of the league championship they have never won, are in New York tonight to try to close the four-point gap between them and the first-place Rangers.

And at the other end of the standings, Detroit Red Wings are in Boston, attempting to pick up the two points that will fling them out of the basement ahead of the floundering Bruins.

Much of the credit for the Rangers' showing must go to Boom Boom Geoffrion, at 33 making a comeback after two years of minor-league coaching.

SCORES 2 GOALS

The Boomer fired a pair of goals and took over fourth-place in the NHL's all-time scoring derby Saturday night as Rangers squeaked out a 4-3 victory over Montreal Canadiens, the Boomer's former teammates.

He came back Sunday with the only goal as New York blanked Chicago 1-0. His lifetime total now is 331.

In 30 games so far, Geoffrion has 10 goals, five in the last three outings, and 18 on the season.

Toronto Maple Leafs stayed in third place, five points off the pace, by defeating Boston 3-0 on Saturday and 4-2 on Sunday.

Geoffrion's two goals Saturday night gave him 380 for his 15-year NHL career, one more than Ted Lindsay. Bob Nevin got one for Rangers, but it was Montreal came close to salvaging a tie with goals by Ralph Backstrom and one by Bobby Rousseau.

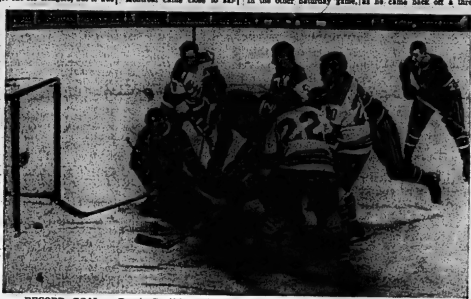
in the other Saturday game, as between Boston and Toronto goalie Johnny Bower of the Leafs appeared shaky at times he came back off a three-game layoff with an injured shoulder. His defence kept most of the shooting at long range while veteran George Armstrong and youngsters John Brenneman and Pete Stemkowski scored the only goals of the game.



It was a different story Sunday in Boston, with the 43-year-old Bower magnificent in the nets. Jim Pappin scored twice and Red Kelly and Larry Jeffrey once each, the 39-year-old Kelly setting up Jeffrey and assisting on one of Pappin's goals.

GETS FIRST NHL GOAL

Bower's shutout of Boston had been going 138 minutes and 13 seconds when Johnny McKenzie came through at 3:25 of the third period. Jean-Paul Parise got the only other Boston goal—his first in the NHL—to end the scoring.

Canadiens threw 43 shots at the Wings in the Sunday encounter Defenceman J. C. Tremblay scored a first-period power play goal, with Leon Rochefort and penalty - killer Jim Roberts scoring in the second. Dave Balon came through in the third period as Canadiens beat Detroit for the fourth straight time this season.

Howie Young, playing his first game in the Detroit Olympics since his controversial return from the minors, was in the penalty box when Tremblay's 30-footer ripped home just under the crossbar.

Big Ten

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

Bobby Rousseau of Montreal Canadiens had one goal and two assists and Phil Goyette of New York Rangers picked up four assists in two weekend games to move into a tie for second place in the National Hockey League individual scoring parade, still led by Stan Mikita.

Rousseau and Goyette share second spot with 30 points apiece. Rousseau has nine goals and 21 assists while Goyette has three goals and 27 assists.

Mikita was held pointless in Chicago Black Hawks' only game Sunday night but continued as leader with 43 points, including a league-leading 29 assists.

Ken Wharram of Chicago slipped to fourth place with 28 points, followed by Red Gilbert of New York with 26 points. Wharram and Gilbert lead the league in goal-scoring with 16 each.

Don Marshall and Boom Boom Geoffrion of New York and Norm Ullman of Detroit place with 25 points apiece, followed by Gordie Howe of Detroit in ninth place with 24 points.

Nationals Held To Tie

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo (AP)—West Canada Selects came from behind three times Monday night to earn a 5-5 tie with the Canadian Nationals in the opening game of the national hockey tournament at the Broadmoor World Arena here.

All five Select goals came from within 10 feet of Canadian goalie Ken Broderick with five different shooters hitting the mark.

Canada's Gary Dineen snapped a 4-4 tie with a 40-foot slap shot over the right shoulder of Select goalie Don Holmes. But Agar's shot, less than three minutes later, tied the contest again.

Canada took a 2-0 lead before the Selects tied it, and went ahead again by two goals after the first period, only to have the Selects even the score with two second-period tallies.

In addition to Dineen, the Nationals scorers were Gary Begg, Jean Cusson, Bill MacMillan and Duane MacPhail.

Cup Upset; Indians Beat Aussies

MELBOURNE (AP)—The Indian pair of Ramathha Krishnan and Jaideep Mukerjea defeated Australians John Newcombe and Tony Roche 4-6, 7-5, 6-4, 6-4 today in one of the greatest upsets of Davis Cup challenges.

The victory means India's challenge for amateur tennis' most prized trophy remains alive into the third day, with Australia holding a 2-1 lead and two singles matches to go.

When Roche lost the first point, the Indians, grinning broadly, put their arms about each other as they hurried to the net to shake hands with the shocked Australians.

The crowd of 10,000 stood and applauded the Indians as they left the court after a gallant fight which they won by brilliant tennis that nobody expected.

Newcombe and Roche appeared as if they would wrap up the cup for Australia for the third straight year.

They won the first set and had the Indians down 0-40 in the second game of the second set. But the visitors battled back and held the service.

This seemed to give them confidence, and they proceeded to smash, volley and hit passing shots with precision and speed.

The Indian comeback had the crowd gripping their seats in excitement and yelling and cheering.

After tying the match at one set apiece, the Indians easily won the third set, never losing more than a single point in a game.

The fourth set was tied 3-3, but Mukerjea put his team ahead by smashing a game point between Newcombe and Roche.

The Australians had a chance to even the match in the eighth game, but they lost a 30-0 lead, then committed two errors and lost the game.

Ralston Joins Net Pros

BAKERSFIELD, Calif. (AP) Dennis Ralston, America's top amateur tennis player, has made official what has been rumored. He has turned professional.

"Professional tennis offers me a future while amateur tennis in the United States offers a player nothing," Ralston told The Associated Press Monday.

The 24-year-old California, in a seven-year amateur career, has played all over the world and won everything in sight except for the two big ones.

"Any regrets?" he was asked.

"Yes," said Denny. He named the two big ones—Wimbledon and the U.S. National at Forest Hills.

"I wouldn't say I have any real regrets, but I would have liked to have won those two," he continued.

Ralston said he preferred not to divulge the financial terms of his pro contract but he was reported to have signed for three years for $100,000.

The contract was signed with Wallace M. Dill of the International Professional Tennis Association.

Ralston's pro career will get under way next month in Australia, followed by competition in the U.S., Europe and South Africa.

The opposition will include veteran Pancho Gonzales of the U.S. and Australians Rod Laver, Ken Rosewall and Lew Hoad.

Liverpool Nips Chelsea; Share Lead

LONDON (CP)—Robert Hunt, a star of England's World Cup team, Monday scored a vital goal that gave Liverpool a Christmas soccer double over Chelsea and the joint leadership of the English League.

Liverpool defeated Chelsea 2-1 at Chelsea Saturday.

That gave Liverpool 30 points from 22 games and put them level with Manchester United.

Manchester, playing without their suspended England star, Nobby Stiles, lost 2-1 to Sheffield United.

FANS FIGHT

In the Sheffield United-Manchester game, fighting broke out in the stands and police ejected 15 fans. Three men were taken to hospital.

A police spokesman said the injured spectators had been struck by flying bottles or beer cans.

This was the first game Manchester had played without Stiles, who has started a three-week suspension. They held Sheffield to 1-1 at half-time, but burly centre - forward Mick Jones got the winner for Sheffield.

An early goal by wing-half Bob McKinlay gave Nottingham Forest a 1-0 victory over Everton. Nottingham joined Chelsea in joint third place with 28 points.

Geoff Hurst, another of England's World Cup heroes, scored his 20th goal of the season and started West Ham on the way to a 4-1 victory over Blackpool at Blackpool.

Blackpool remains at the bottom of the standings with 12 points from 22 games. Newcastle, trounced 5-0 by Leeds, is the next team above Blackpool with 14 points from 23 games.

Wolverhampton Wanderers won 3-0 at Derby and lead the Second Division standings with 30 points. Coventry and Ipswich are tied for second place with 28 points.

"Let's Forget It"

Shore Lifts Suspensions

SPRINGFIELD, Mass. (AP)—Eddie Shore owner of the American Hockey League Springfield Indians, lifted Saturday the suspensions against four players which led to a walkout of the entire team last week.

Shore made ice available for an hour prior to the regular workout for defencemen Dale Rolfe, Bill White and Dave Amadio and centre Brian Kilrea.

The suspensions were lifted after a conference between Kilrea and Shore. The quartet joined later in the regular team practice.

Shore was quoted as saying that "if they want to come back in and co-operate we'll operate from there." After the session with Kilrea he said: "Let's forget the whole thing happened and get back to work."

The Indians staged an abortive four-day walkout earlier in the week in protest of suspensions given Rolfe, White and Amadio. Kilrea was suspended after the walkout.

Springfield trounced Providence Reds 9-3 Friday night without using the suspended quartet even though they dressed for the game.

Mikita Still Tops

Giacomin, Crozier Share SO Lead

MONTREAL, (CP) — New York Rangers haven't played half their 1966-67 road schedule yet but they already have amassed more points in opposition rinks than they did in the entire 1965-66 National Hockey League season.

Statistics released by NHL headquarters today show this is one of the main reasons the first-place Rangers hold a four-point lead over Chicago Black Hawks in the league standings.

New York, with 38 points, and Chicago are the only teams playing better than .500 hockey on the road. Of 15 games played away from home, the Rangers have won seven, lost five and tied three for 17 points. Chicago has won six, lost five and tied two road games.

Last season in 35 road games, the Rangers won—six, lost 22 and tied four for 66 points. New York's scoring isn't that much better, averaging 2.93 goals a game on the road compared with 2.86 last season.

However, their goals-against mark is down by almost two goals a game—2.33 against this season compared with 4.48 last season.

MIKITA LEADS

The Rangers have four players within the top 10 point getters in the individual scoring race, still led by centre Stan Mikita of Chicago.

Mikita has 43 points, 13 more than Bobby Rousseau of Montreal Canadiens and Phil Goyette of New York. Mikita leads the league in assists with 29, two more than Goyette.

The Rangers won all three games last week, giving them eight wins in their last nine games and 13 victories and a tie in the last 15 outings.

Ed Giacomin, New York's goaltender, has allowed only 77 goals in those 15 games for an outstanding 1.80 goals - against average. His average for the season is 2.18, best in the league.

Giacomin and Roger Crozier of Detroit share the lead in the shutout department with four each.

Defence; Brewer And Harvey!

BALTIMORE (CP) — Doug Harvey, former National Hockey League defensive great, said Monday he would like to play for Canada's national hockey team.

A spokesman for Baltimore Clippers of the American Hockey League said Friday night that the Clippers had sold the 42-year-old Harvey to Providence Reds of the same league, but that a dispute over the sale had developed between Harvey and Baltimore general manager

The spokesman said Harvey contends the Reds violated a contract and that if he leaves the club he comes a free agent. Reardon says that Harvey is under contract to the club for this year and that the sale was within bounds of the contract.

The spokesman said the matter had been turned over to AHL president Jack Butterfield.

"I'm a free agent now," Harvey said Monday. "I had an offer to play in Providence, but they'd have to pay me pretty well to play there. They're a losing club and, if I'm going to play on a losing club all season, they'd have to pay me well.

"I wouldn't mind playing for Canada's national team," he said. "I think Brewer (Carl Brewer) and myself would make a pretty good defensive pair. I think it's time we came up with a good enough team to give it to the Russians."

Miners Win Opener

STOCKHOLM (CP) — Veteran Sid Finney scored the winning goal late in the third period Monday as Drumheller Miners came from behind to defeat Djurgarden 3-2 in their opening game of the Bunny Ahearne hockey tournament.

Ron Leopold gave the Allan Cup champions an early lead in the second period but the Swedes countered with two goals before the second intermission.

Employment News

By J. R. STAVELEY,
Employer Relations Officer

The labor demand declined sharply during the past week, as represented by employment opportunities listed with the Canada Manpower Centre by local employers. This trend is normal at this time of the year and is in line with previous years' experience.

A review of the employment trend in the community during the past year shows a stable economy. Throughout the year there was a consistently strong demand for the skilled and educated worker, and at times there was a scarcity of suitable construction labor.

This is particularly significant in view of the fact that there is no large accelerating industrial expansion taking place in the community. However, industrial plants maintained near peak labor forces and in some cases, due to new production items, required additional part time workers. Elsewhere in Canada, this labor demand was in some areas most acute, leading to labor shortages with result a lost production hour. The Canada Manpower Centre played an active part in endeavoring to alleviate any such labor shortages through its Canada-wide clearance procedure and the manpower mobility program.

At various times during the year, personnel representatives of well known business organizations visited the Canada Manpower Centre for assistance in recruiting their labor requirements.

In today's economy emphasis is placed upon the necessity of maximum productivity, which entails programs designed for the re-training and educational up-grading of the adult worker.

In this community it is worthwhile to note that the activity and scope of one of these programs, that of the Canadian Vocational Training Program, under S. C. Buckley, the area Co-ordinator. At the present time, at the Quinte Secondary School, 200 adults are completing the autumn term for commercial, industrial and academic up-grading. Grades 7 to 12. These students range from 20 to 65 years of age. The oldest has the promise of another five years of employment in a man-less which calls for more proficiency in mathematics than he had prior to entering in this course. The winter term for these courses will commence on Jan. 15, 1967. In the northern portion of the district, arrangements have been made for an academic upgrading course up to Grade 10 level to start at the North Hastings High School on Jan. 9. A similar course will commence at Cloyne on Jan 12.

Yankees Defeat Rebels

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A team of Yankee stars, eager to impress a flock of pro scouts in the stands, rolled to a 21-14 victory over the Rebels Monday in the North-South college football game.

The North team, winning only for the seventh time in the 19 year series, powered to a 20-0 halftime lead, then coasted home behind a rugged defence.

In other weekend games, the South rallied for a 14-6 victory over the South in the Blue-Gray game at Montgomery, Ala., Saturday, while Wyoming whipped Florida State 28-20 in the Sun Bowl at El Paso, Tex.

Donald Cockroft, the leading U.S. college punter from Adams State College in Colorado, boosted the Yanks into a 6-0 first-quarter lead Sunday with field goals of 31 and 38 yards.

Then, in one-minute, 12 seconds of the second period, the Yanks scored twice on a nine-yard pass from Colorado's Bernie McCall to Tulsa's Neal Sweeney and a 30-yard dash with an intercepted pass by tackle Pete Duranko of Notre Dame.

Houston's Bo Burris finally found the range for the South in the last quarter with scoring shots of 15 and 11 yards to Gary Rowe of North Carolina State.

But the South never got in close enough distance as the North also scored in the fourth on a nine-yard run by Bo Rein of Kansas State.

In the Blue-Gray game Saturday, quarterback Frank Stenrud, who cut out the first half, came off the bench and hurled two touchdown passes in the final quarter, wiping out a 3-0 Gray lead.

At El Paso, Jim Klick's running, blended with a tough Wyoming defence, gave the Cowboys their victory over Florida State. Klick was named the game's most valuable player. He scored two touchdowns, rushed for 126 yards in 25 carries and caught four passes for 42 yards.

Thermostat Vital Aid To Engine

By EUGENE B. MILNOE

The thermostat is designed to shut off cooling system operation — temporarily, of course, in order to aid the engine. It keeps water from circulating through the radiator until the engine heats up to operating temperature. Then, it opens to throughout the entire system.

So-called winter thermostats open at 180 F., while those meant for summer usage open at 195 F.

The purpose of the thermostat is not just to give you quicker and hotter action from the car heater, but to get the engine up to a healthy temperature as fast as possible. This is important in summer as well as winter, and that's why the thermostat should never be removed unless it's defective. Without it, you can be sure of greater engine wear, sub-par gas mileage and rougher engine performance.

R. E. writes: Tell your readers to beware of corrosion at spark plug connections when they're having starting troubles.

T.G. asks: When should the automatic transmission oil level be checked?

After the engine has been running awhile, heating up the fluid. If you mean "how often," check it every 1,000 miles.

From G.P.: When you say "examine the distributor cap," what do you mean?

Look for cracks and for dirt or corrosion in the sockets or wells. Sockets can really be cleaned, but a cracked cap must be replaced.

R. N. asks: On my 1960 sedan, which battery cable is the negative? The marks on the battery posts are worn off.

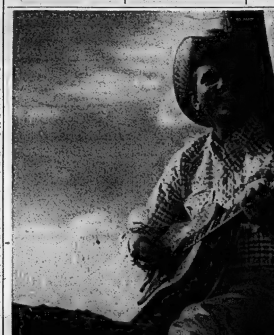
Cockney Jean Simmons Loves Hollywood

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Horrors. Trash cans! You'd think posh Beverly Hills would find some more genteel way. But here were six of them, brimming with garden trimmings, at Jean Simmons's curb.

Up the steep driveway, two signs: "Drive carefully" and "Children at play." In an Eden of shrubbery and lawn, every leaf and blade in place, the rambling house is a gleaming enamel white. Jean is cool and trim in slacks and sweater, still ravishingly beautiful at 37.

Americans first saw the sultry Cockney brunette in the 1947 British film Great Expectations. She played, she recalls, "the young Estelle who grew up into Valerie Hobson."

Now, after 17 Hollywood years, 10 years U.S. citizenship and how many Hollywood movies? — "I haven't the foggiest idea, 20 or 25" — she said: "I don't think I could live anywhere else."



London - born, a schoolteacher's daughter, Miss Simmons stepped at 14 from dancing school to films: Caesar and Cleopatra with Vivien Leigh and Stewart Granger, later for 10 years her husband; Hamlet, with Sir Laurence Olivier; Trio and others.

Married in 1960 to director Richard Brooks, she took three years off from work after the birth of their daughter Kate, 5. Now her life is crowded again with films, recently Divorce, American Style and currently Rough Night in Jericho, a western.

"I love 'em," she said of westerns. She'd had a fight scene with Dean Martin and found him "a very strong fella."

Weekends there is tennis on the family's home court with such people as Gene Kelly and Peter Ustinov.

Daughter Tracy, 10, a girlish theme too. Several shows that tried to get away from the classic type of show failed to make much of a splash—Shane, The Road West and The Monroes. Although outdoor programs like Rat Patrol, Tarzan and Daniel seem to be attracting big audiences, it is the oldtimers of television who are sitting comfortably on the top of the Nielsen list. That means Red Skelton, Lucille Ball, Andy Griffith, Jackie Gleason, Ed Sullivan and the Walt Disney programs. Apparently they are outside the trend line.

Canada's Most Popular Star

Tommy Hunter, the 29-year-old western singer whose television program is filled with unabashed sentiment and corn, headlines Canada's most popular variety show. In the ratings he's topped only by hockey and a couple of American imports.

Many New Shows Coming in New Year

NEW YORK (AP)—Once network television gets past the New Year parades and football games, it will present almost a dozen new shows and a lot of schedule changes. This is the so-called "second season" that starts around Jan. 9.

The 1966-67 television season is already history, and not happy history at that, for network executives now are concentrating furiously on next September's schedule.

Salesmen soon will be pitching new programs to prospective sponsors.

Television programming is a high-stakes gamble in which millions of dollars in development money are at stake. Because of this, the Nielsen ratings are more helpful than a crystal ball, and the Nielsen numbers indicate that we want more situation comedy and outdoor adventure. Only a couple of seasons ago, situation comedy was out of fashion.

"There is an obvious trend toward reality, in comedy as well as other programs," a producer said one network executive.

"It seems clear and marked. And it is also clear that the fantasy thing is over—no more Munsters."

None of the new crop of spy and secret agent shows has done well. In drama the trend is toward the fugitive type of show because the public seems to have had the James Bond bit.

There has been a marked lack of interest in the most recent switch of the western

Stirling Lodge No. 239 IOOF held its annual Christmas tea and banner in the Lodge Hall Friday evening under the direction of Noble Grand Don Walker and sub committee. The home baking, farmers' market and variety booths were arranged with Christmas decorations. In one corner Santa Claus was seated on a red plush dais to greet all children and distribute gifts.

Mrs. Sheldon McIntosh contributed organ music for the two-hour period and accompanied Miss Linda Walker, who sang several solos. Mrs. W. F. Kellar won the draw for a cheese and Mrs. Harold Johnson won a turkey.

Napanee News

Police Report One Minor Accident

NAPANEE — Napanee's Christmas weekend was a happy one, no fires within the town limits, no arrests, and only one minor accident investigated by the local detachment of the Ontario Provincial Police.

Christmas morning Edward Alan Griffin and his family of Madoc were prevented from wrapping their destination when their car went out of control on the slippery road, broke out a hydro pole, and had to be towed away. There were no injuries however. The accident occurred on Highway 3 near the Frontenac - Lennox and Addington boundary.

Christmas Eve services were held in most of the churches, and special music marked the services Christmas Day.

The weather was the only drawback to an almost perfect Christmas for Napanee, with its gay lights, carol singers, concerts, all the unfortunate remembered, the hospital with gifts for everyone and a special Christmas dinner for families together. Some plans were disrupted by the storm, with cautious drivers refusing to take risks.

QUIET IN DERERONTO

Like its next-door neighbor Napanee, Deseronto had a Christmas weekend unmarred by trouble. The police were on patrol, but found nothing amiss and not even a scraped fender was reported, Police Chief Thomlinson stated Monday. He also said that Deseronto has been very fortunate to have had no fires for about six weeks, and then only minor ones.

The town was more beautifully decorated than for any previous Christmas, and Mayor Gerald Lott feels that the Public Utilities did an outstanding job with the trees in the park, and the decorations on its own building.

The Legion, the Salvation Army, and the Lions Club, with the co-operation of many, saw to it that every needy family had a good Christmas.

Dig That Bird

OXNARD, Calif. (AP)—Earl Pitcher, 68, soldered, sanded and sawed to produce a version of the world's wildest scarecrow. It's made of washing machine parts, an old record player and lots of solenoids, and can swing its wings, buzz and flash its bright-red nose. Pitcher says it intimidates sparrows and keeps them off his lettuce patch.

Hold Final Yule Concert At School

TYENDINAGA — The one-room school of S. S. No. 4, Tyendinaga Township, marked its last Christmas with a flourish. Next Christmas the pupils of all the township will be celebrating in their new ultra-modern school, with building to begin immediately.

The 25 pupils of the school presented a long and varied program under the leadership of their teacher, James Bell. The only outsider appearing was Constable Alvin Miller of Belleville.

The program was arranged to represent one on television. The master of ceremonies was a pupil, Susan Mortimer. There were two short plays, a pantomime, and a rather pretentious Christmas pageant, which ended in carol singing. Juniors and seniors each presented a square dance, and there were the usual recitations and solo numbers.

Santa Claus presented each child with a Christmas treat. Each pupils received a gift from the teacher, as well as one from a fellow pupil with whom he had exchanged his name.

It is doubtful that the old school had ever before been crowded by so many people as last Thursday night. There were at least 75 visitors in addition to the pupils. Many were themselves former school pupils, as well as people from a wide area including Kingston and Belleville.

An interesting feature was the fact that each person was given a printed program, the work done by the pupils. A silver collection was added to the school fund, and Mr. Bell states that plans are already being considered for using this fund when the school closes in June, to give the pupils some sort of special treat, perhaps a trip.

India Fire Suicides Averted

AMRITSAR (AP) — A last-minute agreement by Prime Minister Gandhi averted the suicides by fire Monday of six Sikhs, ended the 10-day fast of Sikh leader Sant salat Fateh Singh and removed a grave threat of communal violence in India.

Fateh Singh sipped orange juice offered by Hukam Singh. Mrs. Gandhi's emissary, after they conferred on Sikh demands for territorial and administrative changes in the new Sikh state of Punjabi Suba.

"Everything has been amicably settled," Fateh Singh said.

Hukam Singh, speaker of the lower house of Parliament and a Sikh, came to his walled city in northwestern India only two hours before the Sikhs planned to set themselves afire. The six waited nearby as the talks went on past the deadline.

Fateh Singh had threatened to burn himself today.

AGREES TO TALKS

Mrs. Gandhi agreed to arbitrate the disposition of Chandigarh, now the capital of both Punjabi Suba and the adjacent Hindu state of Hariana. Both were formed from the old state of Punjab, and the Sikhs want Chandigarh all to themselves.

Hukam Singh said after his return to New Delhi he had assured Fateh Singh that the city will ultimately go to the Sikhs.

The prime minister also will determine which state owns Bhakra dam, a hydroelectric-irrigation facility south of Chandigarh. Under a previous agreement, each state will have its own governor and high court to replace the present joint governor and high court. Other disputes will go to a government commission.

At word of the agreement there were cries of "No! No!" from several thousands Sikhs gathered in the golden temple. But after they were told their leader had approved it, they put garlands on Fateh Singh and the six who had intended suicide and shouted "long live the saint!"

Helicopter Troops Overrun by Vietnamese

SAIGON (CP)—North Vietnamese infantrymen overran positions of the U.S. 1st Cavalry Division today and inflicted heavy casualties on an helicopter-borne troops, U.S. military headquarters reported.

The headquarters said the North Vietnamese, as estimated battalion of the veteran 610th division, penetrated several artillery positions of the U.S. cavalry division and blew up some with satchel charges and grenades before the Americans rushed them back and restored their defence lines.

The furious engagement near the central coastal city of Bong Son, 300 miles northeast of Saigon, broke off this morning. The casualties reported included 45 North Vietnamese killed.

The action was the major combat on a day which also brought an assassination attempt against a leading South Vietnamese politician in Saigon and raids by B-52 heavy bombers against Communist positions in South Vietnam.

A grenade was thrown at Dr. Phan Quang Dan, but did not injure him seriously, police reported.

BYSTANDERS INJURED

Dr. Dan, Vietnam's leading liberal, was wounded in the leg and thigh by fragments from the grenade. Five Vietnamese bystanders also were wounded, one seriously, police said.

Security men saw two men running from the scene and arrested one as a suspect.

The attack was made on Dr. Dan as he was leaving his home in the Saigon suburb of Gia Dinh. Twenty days ago another leading politician, Tran Van Van, was assassinated as he drove through a Saigon street.

Dr. Dan is one of the three leading members of the constituent assembly now writing a constitution for South Vietnam and has a large following in Saigon. He was jailed and tortured by the late president Ngo Dinh Diem in 1960 because of his opposition to Diem.

As the war moved into its second day after the Christmas truce, the B-52s struck in South Vietnam again at dawn today. It was the fourth strike in 24 hours for the superfortresses.

Monday they dumped hundreds of tons of high explosives on an area inside the demilitarized zone separating the two Vietnams, where North Vietnamese troops were believed to be stationed.

BOMB NEAR HANOI

Over North Vietnam U.S. planes returned to the attack Monday, striking within 12 miles of Hanoi over storage areas and truck parking areas.

The toll of known dead from a Christmas Eve crash of a U.S. transport plane on a South Vietnamese village near Da Nang rose to 131 today.

A spokesman said the toll included the four-man American crew of the plane.

Meanwhile, U.S. troops took over the unloading of ships in the port of Saigon because of a strike by 2,500 Vietnamese dock workers.

The heavy fighting near Bong Son swirled around a helicopter landing zone of the American air cavalrymen.

"Friendly casualties were heavy," the U.S. command's communique said. It was one of the few times in recent months that the command has reported heavy losses to a sizeable American ground force. A spokesman described the area which took such losses as "small-company but less than a battalion." This would put it somewhere between 400 and 800 men.

ASHTRAYS ATTACKED

TOKYO (AP)—A local company has decided to stop making ashtrays with an image of Buddha on the bottom. Onishi Bussan Co. said it will recall ashtrays already distributed, following a protest from the World Fellowship of Buddhists, which says the souvenirs are sacrilegious.

Goose Gets Truce

From Agence France-Presse

HANOI (CP) — Canadian soldiers during the weekend extended the Christmas truce in Vietnam to cover a goose named Alice.

Alice, a hefty 16-pound reddish-brown bird, was flown in from Vientiane, Thailand, as the Christmas dinner of the British consul - general, J. H. R. Colvin.

But she spent the night unadorned with roast potatoes and green peas thanks to a last-minute reprieve by soldiers from the Canadian military delegation to the International Control Commission here.

They met her at Hanoi's airport, where she had arrived in a specially-ventilated and diplomatic pouch, and took her in, intending Alice behor to the British delegation.

But Alice conquered them, and when the fateful hour of execution came around nobody was prepared to kill the goose.

Mr. Colvin had to settle for a turkey dinner, while the Canadians, intending Alice belonged to them; adopted her as their new mascot.

CL-44 Crash Kills Villagers

SAIGON (AP)—The U.S. military command issued revised figures Monday on casualties from the Christmas Eve crash of an American chartered Canadian-built CL-44 airplane into a village near Da Nang.

The command said that the accident killed 109 Vietnamese on the ground and the four crewmen who were the only persons aboard.

Additionally, the command said, 16 Vietnamese were injured and 13 still are missing. Earlier figures had said 125 persons were killed and 42 injured and this later was revised to 88 killed and 17 injured.

The plane, a four-engined turboprop jet flying under a military charter, cut a 200-yard swath through the village when it crashed and then attempted a landing at Da Nang airbase in driving rain.

Author's Illness Delays Talk In Judge's Chamber Over Book

NEW YORK (AP)—The dispute over the book The Death of a President moves into a judge's chambers today with Mrs. John P. Kennedy's lawyer favoring a postponement of hearings on her move to block publication of the book.

Author William Manchester, in hospital with pneumonia, and Harper and Row, publishers of his 300,000-word manuscript on the assassination of the president, have been ordered to show cause in New York State Supreme Court why they should not be barred from bringing out the account.

Lawyers for the two sides were to discuss the situation informally in Justice Saul Streit's chambers.

"I have no grave objections to putting the matter over as long as necessary," said Simon Rifkind, lawyer for Mrs. Kennedy. "I'll make that very clear. Counsel for Mr. Manchester needs the views of his client and that's not possible now."

SETS CONDITIONS

Streit, who issued the show-cause order Dec. 16, suggested previously he would agree to postpone the hearings if negotiations on removing disputed passages from the text were not completed by today.

Edward Greenbaum, lawyer for the publishers, declined comment on any postponement request.

Negotiations on trimming passages that Mrs. Kennedy considers intimate and beyond the interest of history continued Sunday. More talks—a Kennedy spokesman said they were going along well"—were scheduled for today.

"Naturally," the spokesman said, "this illness makes things just that much more difficult. Manchester can't be consulted on the manuscript and that slows things, of course."

Mrs. Kennedy has already reached a settlement on deleting sections of a 40,000-word extract of the manuscript that Look magazine plans to serialize beginning in the issue which reaches newsstands Jan. 10. The book is scheduled for publication in April.

The literary and legal maneouvring came against a background of Manchester's illness. A White House statement denying comments attributed to President Johnson by Newsweek magazine relating to the assassination, and Mrs. Kennedy's departure with her children for a holiday on the British West Indies island of Antigua.

Manchester was ordered to remain in the hospital for at least a week after his admission early Monday morning with what his physician called "a slight touch of pneumonia."

The 44-year-old writer remained on the critical list although he was reported responding well to antibiotic treatment. A complete diagnosis would take at least three days and until then he would be considered in critical condition, Dr. Erwin Tracy said.

Newsweek Says LBJ Version Differs

Kennedy bookLJohnson . . . .

NEW YORK (AP) — Newsweek magazine says President Johnson's own recollection of his succession to the presidency differs sharply from the Kennedys' "evident perception of it" as related in the forthcoming book, The Death of a President.

One section is reported to tell of Mrs. Kennedy's shock at finding Johnson and his party already in command aboard the presidential plane, Air Force One, by the time Kennedy's body was borne aboard in a coffin.

Another section of Manchester's book is reported to relate Mrs. Kennedy's annoyance that Johnson repeatedly called her "honey," and what Johnson was told when he telephoned the slain President's brother, Robert F. Kennedy, then the attorney-general, for a ruling as whether he should take the oath of office immediately in Texas aboard the plane.

Newsweek says in a story in the Jan. 2 issue that Johnson recalls that the secret service wanted to put him aboard Air Force One with its superior communications gear and to place Kennedy's coffin on Air Force Two, which had flown Johnson to Texas.

"But Johnson ordered the body put aboard Air Force One," Newsweek says, and quotes Johnson as explaining to intimates:

"I wasn't going to let Mrs. Kennedy fly back alone with his body."

By Johnson's memory, Newsweek says, Robert Kennedy was not unconstitutional about when he should take the oath of office as stated in the Manchester manuscript.

The magazine says Johnson's version is that Kennedy recommended that he take the oath at once. "He recalls telephoning Bobby: 'I hate to bother you at a time like this, but . . .' and asking for a ruling." Newsweek reports, adding:

"Kennedy, he said, told him: 'I think you should be sworn in there" but Bobby also said he would check it and call back. The return call came instead from then deputy attorney-general Nicholas Katzenbach, who advised Mr. Johnson to take the presidential oath at once and dictated its wording to a Johnson secretary."

Twelve on Train Die in Flames as It Hits Fuel Oil Truck

EVERETT, Mass. (AP)—A Boston and Maine com - car diesel - passenger train smashed into a fuel oil truck stalled with frozen brakes on a street crossing early today. Twelve persons died as flames engulfed the train and the truck.

Officials estimated they might have up to 25 persons aboard the train. No definite check was available on the number aboard the local run.

Fire Chief Herbert Fothergill of Chelsea said most of the victims were trapped in the train for 30 minutes until the fir was put out. He said firemen "used their bare hands to extricate the trapped passengers."

A firemen said one door was blocked "because there was a body lying on the other side."

Police Chief Ralph DeVito said he and Officer George Stewart "tried breaking the windows with our night sticks but that wouldn't work. We couldn't open the door because there was this guy trying to get out the door with his head stuck through the window."

"We pushed him away but then there was so much smoke we couldn't see."

Massachusetts General Hospital in Boston said it received nine dead from burns and four injured. Whidden Hospital in Everett said it received two dead and 10 injured and Chelsea Naval Hospital received one dead and three injured.

Everett is an industrial community that lies on the outskirts of Boston.

Police said the driver of the fuel truck, Raymond Bosley, 29, told them his brakes froze as he reached the crossing and the vehicle stalled.

While he was trying to restart the truck, the gates came down on both sides of the crossing and he heard the train approaching. He ran down the tracks and tried to flag down the train with his jacket.

Police said the force of the collision carried the train and truck 150 feet down the tracks. The truck ruptured, spilling most of its 7,000 gallons of stove oil in a fiery wave.

The dead included the engineer and conductor.

A passenger, Martin F. Marnik, 15, of Lynn said the engineer came into the car just before the crash "and he yelled, 'Jesus Saved, we're going to hit' and then I was thrown forward."

Catherine O'Keefe, 37, of Brookline, another passenger, said, "All of a sudden there was a blinding flash and I was thrown into the aisle.

"One minute it was clear and the next minute the car was full of smoke. People were walking all over me. Then some man, God bless him, gave me a pull on the arm and I was able to get halfway up. I followed him and somehow I got out."

Tweed Garage Gutted by Flames

Four Fire Departments Hold Tweed Loss to $100,000

TWEED (Staff)—Battling in biting, below-zero weather, firemen from four district departments last night halted a stubborn fire threat to an entire business block on this village's main street.

Today, as icicles draped the scene of the blaze, officials estimated loss at $100,000 after flames gutted the James Rivers garage and showroom on Victoria Street, destroying trucks, tractors and other equipment.

However, firemen successfully carried off a concentrated effort to contain the blaze from spreading to a next-door wood-and-tinsel-brick garage.

"We poured over 200,000 gallons on it," said village reeve Guy Hughes. "It was the most stubborn fire you ever saw."

Local volunteers, under Chief Ross McNaught, were reinforced by units from Belleville, Madoc and Frankford under the Quinte district mutual aid scheme.

The fight was staged in bitterly cold weather. Yesterday afternoon temperatures began sliding and between 4 p.m. and 8 a.m. today dipped to five below zero.

Lost in the blaze were three trucks and a new car owned by Mr. Rivers, a truck owned by Ray Corneyea, a township truck and two farm tractors.

Also burned was stock, office equipment and furniture in the upstairs apartment.

Flames soaring high into the air could be seen as far away as Plainfield.

Firemen had the blaze under control by shortly after nine o'clock but the Tweed fire department continued to pour water onto the burning embers throughout the night, to guard against further outbreaks.

There was little damage at the adjoining Louis Rashotte garage but smoke entered the "Bun" Rashotte apartment overhead and furniture was carried to safety.

The blaze is believed to have started in the ground floor garage, and was discovered by Mr. and Mrs. Rivers about 8.30 when they noticed smoke drifting into their upstairs apartment.

Already, however, smoke filled the entire downstairs area and nothing was saved except a few tires from a showroom window.

Fire Scene Cools Off

Tweed fire chief Ross McNaught found even his ladder iced-up in the aftermath of last night's blaze that left main street garage-showrooms an icicle-draped shell. The chief wields axe-handle as de-icer.

'Missing' Man Found

MARMORA (Special)—A man feared missing in an overnight fire which destroyed a small residence near here turned up safely today while police were probing the ruins.

It was the second fire in the Marmora area in less than 24 hours, following the loss of a barn on a district farmstead.

Last night's blaze destroyed the home of Joseph Haughton, more than a half-mile west of here in Marmora township.

Provincial Police said Mr. Haughton was not at home at the time. However, earlier in the night a relative, Harry Wright, was seen entering the small wooden building.

The building was a total loss when OPP officers from Madoc were called at 7 a.m. There was no sign of Mr. Wright and police at first feared he might be missing in the fire. However, while they were at the scene one of the officers spotted Mr. Wright walking toward them. They found he had awakened earlier in the the building filling with smoke and had gone to a neighbor's home.

Meanwhile, cause of a blaze that destroyed a barn on their farmstead six miles north of here earlier Tuesday still is puzzling Mr. and Mrs. Bill Doyle.

The Doyles four sons — ranging in age from 10 to 14 years — were in the barn cleaning ground floor stables when the

Big Quake Hits Chile

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP)—A violent earthquake rocked northern Chile early today and heavy casualties were feared in the port of Taltal, the centre of the upheaval.

The Chilean news agency Orbe said 80 per cent of the buildings in Taltal were destroyed but the number of dead and injured was not known yet. The town 200 miles north of Santiago has a population of about 7,000.

The news agency said the a strong earthquake in South America and said it registered 7.75 on the Richter scale. There is no top to that scale, but the 1906 San Francisco quake registered 8.25 on it.

Sudanese Coup Foiled

KHARTOUM, Sudan (Reuters) — Sudanese armed forces foiled a coup attempt against the government, Prime Minister Sadik El Ambdi announced today.

"Some criminals tried to overthrow democracy in the Sudan by taking power through new recruit units in the army," the prime minister said in a broadcast statement. "They will be brought to trial."

An armed forces spokesman said two lieutenants, believed to be the coup leaders, were arrested.

Informed sources said many officers probably were involved in the abortive coup. But their political leanings were not yet known.

The present regime, headed by President Ismail El Azhari and Premier Sadik El Mahdi, is a coalition of the two main parties. Civilian rule was instituted after the ouster of a military regime in 1964.

Khartoum has been tense since street battles last week between pro- and anti-Communist demonstrators, after a high court decision Dec. 22 removed a ban on the Communist party.

Indonesian Exiles Accused Of Directing Irian Revolt

JAKARTA (Reuters) — The Indonesian military command of West Irian has accused Indonesian living in The Netherlands of directing dissident rebels against the central government, the official Antara news agency reported today.

Brig.-Gen. Bintoro, commander of the former Dutch New Guinea, said the rebel movement is launching political warfare with a plebiscite in West Irian as the main target.

Antara also reported that Lt.-Col. Mohammad Ilyas, commandant of Manokware of the northwest coast of West Irian, said a company of armed rebels is hiding in dense jungles along the coast. But he said they avoided clashes with Indonesian troops.

Thoha said the rebel movement was being directed by an Irianese named Joswe now living in Holland. He said the movement had only 400 followers and dismissed it as an immediate military threat.

But Bintoro said the effects of the movement are hurting the area's economy.

Lucky Thirteen Nearing Haven at Last After Seeing Their Towed Ship Sink

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP)—The lucky 13 survivors of the British trawler St. Finbarr, which sank Tuesday after a three-day battle with fire and a winter storm off the northern tip of Newfoundland, are due here late today.

Their rescue ship, the British trawler Orsino, was reported making a speedy 30 to 35 knots Tuesday night through high winds, snow and freezing rain down the northeast coast of Newfoundland with the men aboard.

They include Capt. Tom Sawyer of the St. Finbarr and 12 of his 25-man crew The Orsino carries the body of only one of the 12 other men. He has been identified as H. Smith.

The probable fate of the 11 others, now given up for lost, may become clearer when the survivors make port and can tell of the Christmas Day disaster in the northeast Atlantic.

Meanwhile, Watson Hall, general manager of T. Hamnsling and Co. Ltd. of Hull, England, owners of the St. Finbarr, was due this morning after a flight Tuesday from Britain.

He said in an interview in Montreal Tuesday night that an investigation will be conducted into the burning and eventual loss of the St. Finbarr. He added his company has "no idea yet what started the Christmas Day fire."

The 1,139-ton St. Finbarr, built less than two years ago in Port Glasgow, Scotland, went to the bottom while under tow by the Orsino toward St. Anthony, the northernmost community on the island of Newfoundland.

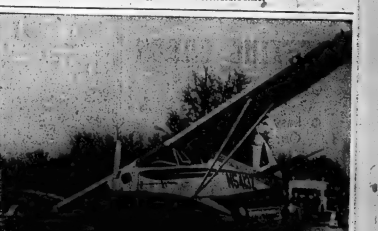
The 210 - foot stern trawler was ravaged by a fire that erupted while she was working with several other British trawlers before dawn Christmas Day on the inte - season fishing grounds, 120 miles northeast of Hopedale, midway up the Labrador coastline.

Two other trawlers, the Orsino and the Sir Fred Parker, sped to the rescue. The Orsino put a line aboard and began taking the crew off the burning ship with a boaun's chair but the line broke.

Two men plunged to their deaths in the icy water but it was believed the body carried by the Orsino was the only one recovered.

Although 10 more men were unaccounted for, further rescue attempts apparently were impossible. The Orsino began towing the still flaming ship slowly southward, initially towards this Newfoundland capital city, 600 miles to the southeast.

As the slow tow progressed, fuel tanks erupted in flames and the fire aboard the St. Finbarr burned throughout the day and continued to smoulder Monday and Tuesday.



Bearing Bros., Newfoundland agents for the St. Finbarr, ordered the two ships into St. Anthony but winds of 35 miles an hour, rain and snow closed in on the harbor approaches Tuesday.

Despite this and the difficulty of communicating with the Orsino, the 120-bed International Grenfell Mission Hospital in St. Anthony was made ready to receive the survivors and the entire medical staff told to stand by.

The agents said Tuesday they were trying to reach the ship once more before it sank to decide whether to order her to divert here when word of the sinking came through. The ships then were about 35 miles northeast of St. Anthony and wallowing in heavy seas at only about five knots.

Until the actual sinking, the agents had hope that at least some of the 11 missing men might have been trapped but alive below the St. Finbarr's decks. But they said hope was gone after the ship went down.

The Orsino immediately veered from St. Anthony and steamed towards here.

New Piggy-back Style

Three occupants of this automobile escaped injury when a private plane landed on top of the car on the Baltimore-Washington Parkway. The plane pilot, Donald Hines, 27, of Western Port, Md., and Arthur Ward, 19, of Hyattsville, Md., also in the plane, escaped injury. The driver of the car was Austin Fischer, of Midland Park, N.J.

Christmas Past, Present and Future)

More Students Than Ever in Hunt for Degrees This Year

By JOHN LeBLANC
Canadian Press Staff Writer

From computer science to bilingual economics, the newest crop of Canadian students is getting the jump on the times.

And as more horizons open beyond the traditional campus bounds, more students than ever are on the hunt for degrees this year.

A Cross-Canada Survey by The Canadian Press shows that the full-time university population now has soared past the 200,000 mark. This is almost 25,000 more than a year ago and better than 2½ times the 78,000 of just a decade ago.

In the continuing surge of education-hungry youth, every university except the rare one determined to hold down the size of its student body has a record enrolment. The increases run all the way from 12 at Dalhousie in Halifax—where the lid was on—to 2,100 at the University of Montreal.

Notable upswings have come in the West and Ontario. The University of Saskatchewan added almost 2,000; new Simon Fraser at Burnaby, B.C., 1,800; and University of Manitoba, 1,500. Queen's and Waterloo joined the top of the list in tuition fees, charging $800 for medicine, $740 for engineering and $625 for an arts year. The arts figure was equalled only by University of New Brunswick, Fredericton.

At the other end of the scale is a low of $200 for first-year arts at Mount Allison and Saskatchewan ($320 for succeeding years) along with $400 for engineering at universities in Alberta and Manitoba and Alberta's $500-$550 for medicine.

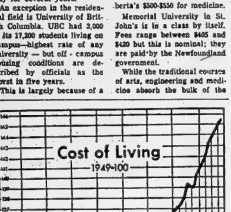
Memorial University in St. John's is in a class by itself. Fees range between $405 and $420 but this is nominal; they are paid by the Newfoundland government.

While the traditional courses of arts, engineering and medicine absorb the bulk of the student bodies, special preference shows up around the country. University of Alberta students go in heavily for education courses, while social sciences, linguistics and fine arts are prominent at University of Victoria.

Psychology is big at new Trent University in Peterborough, and so it is at Waterloo, where it vies with computer science as a latter-day favorite. Queen's is recognizing computer science also by making it a major in arts and sciences.

Another innovation looking to tomorrow is at University of Western Ontario in London where freshman economics is being taught in French because, the university says, it feels Canadian economists now need to be bilingual. If the experiment is successful, senior courses in economics will be taught in French.

Moving in another direction, Carleton University has opened an arts department; which will emphasize history of art.



Breaking entirely new ground, the University of Ottawa has opened a course in public administration for civil servants of developing French-speaking countries of Africa and Asia.

Some other developments:

—Most popular off-campus housing is Memorial's Hatcher Hall, a marskiold House, first student-built residence in North America, where occupants get reduced rates by doing three hours' work duty a week.

—Windsor University has gone to heavily for a closed-circuit TV. It converted its biology building into a studio and classrooms accommodating 1,100 students and uses 36 hours a week of TV time.

—For the first time in its 125-year history, Acadia had to turn down high-qualified candidates. It is considering raising entrance standards.

Canada's cost of living index climbed steadily during the first 11 months of 1966, rising more than four points during the period to 145.5 by November. The average yearly rise since 1949, when the index stood at 100, has been 2.7 points, but since mid-1964 it has risen 10 points.

(CP Newsmap)

UNIVERSITY POPULATION STILL SOARS — This architect's model of a new mathematics and computer building under construction at the University of Waterloo is only one example of Canadian universities' attempts to meet the demands of ever-increasing numbers of students. This building, to be completed next year, will cost about $7,500,000.

Wanted Killer Followed Advice Of Predecessor With Same Name

LONDON (CP) — Wanted men have often tried to lose themselves in London. Probably many have succeeded, since the city and its sprawling environs virtually crawl with people.

But Harry Roberts, 30, charged with two other men in the murder of three London policemen, was a special case in more ways than one. Britain's most wanted man, he eluded for three days one of the greatest manhunt the country has seen for many years.

He used a well - equipped tent hideaway in a woodland near Bishop's Stortford within 30 miles of London in deepest Hertfordshire. Millions marveled at how he escaped discovery so long.

Now an interested little book has come to hand. Decorated with a cover picture of a tent, it is The Tramp's Handbook by Harry Roberts.

"He who first built a house has much to answer for," writes Roberts.

"As long as men lived in tents, mobile homes devoid of moss, and had no wish to settle, as in graves, for all their lives within limited installations: so long were they little likely to mistake the essential for the superficial."

The book was published in May 1902 by The Bodley Head Ltd., and the publishing firm knows of no connection between author Harry Roberts and accused killer Harry Roberts.

USEFUL FOR FUGITIVE

But the man who wrote his paean of praise for the outdoor life at the turn of the century related much camping lore that might have been useful to his unfortunate namesake. Bodley Head had only one file copy of the volume.

It deals with outdoor cookery, fruits and herbs, mushrooms and truffles. The arts of concealment and disguise in food without disturbing civilization receive chapters of lucid prose.

"Modern" trends are condemned by the hedgerow philosopher even though in his day the English countryside was perhaps almost as quaint and picturesque as tourist advertisements make it out to be today.

The imagination boggles at what Roberts might write in the 1960s were he in the early 1900s he was moved to declare: "Convention has but to say that every man must have more clothes than he can wear, more beds than he can occupy, more meals than he can digest, and in order to satisfy these artificial conditions, men are found willing to sacrifice leisure, peace of mind, and all human dignity and honor. . . .

"That we, ephemera that we are, solemnly built for ourselves habitations which shall outlive us by many generations, and settled down to occupy them as forever, is but one more evidence of our blind conceit and pompousness."

Yet, nearly all humans years for "vagabondage": "Some are true vagabonds born birds and indeed few are born without at least some of the spirit of wandering in their souls and the blood of vagabondage in their arteries."

The perambulating prophet predicted a bleak future but he did comment approvingly on the enduring habit of talking about the weather. Some "superior" persons regarded and God makes the weather."

"Even in a climate such as that of England, and even the effeminate, cloth - debauched, drawing - room worshippers such as ourselves, life can be lived during two-thirds of the year as well in a tent as in a modern mansion.

"An old gypsy whom I asked one day whether he would like to spend his old age in a house, replied that he was too old and his chest too weak to try any game of that sort now.

"'A young man might manage it, perhaps, and seem none the worse for it, but not a man 84.'"

Gypsies were much admired by author Roberts, and he taunted one of them at the serving: "The Saviour was born in the open like a gypsy, and rode on an ass like a gypsy, and went round the land leading His bread like a gypsy."

And, as it happened, a gypsy claimed the reward for spotting that tent in the wood near Bishop's Stortford.

India to Get 30 Diesels

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada will lend India $7,000,000 to buy 30 Canadian-made railway locomotives under an agreement signed today in New Delhi.

The diesels, each with a gross horsepower of 1,950 and a top speed of 80 miles per hour, will augment India's 700 mainline locomotives.

Three Canadian companies have been invited to bid by Jan. 3 on the contract for their production, a federal spokesman said today.

Paratroops In Action In Vietnam

SAIGON (AP)—Thousands of South Vietnamese troops fanned out across the Mekong Delta today and reported killing 89 Viet Cong in two days.

The large-scale operation was launched Tuesday by ground troops, helicopter - borne units and the Vietnam war's first combat parachute jump in at least two years.

The multi-regiment force of Vietnamese infantrymen, paratroopers, armored cavalrymen and popular force units descended on a Viet Cong stronghold in Kien Hoa province 138 miles west-southwest of Saigon.

The paratroops jumped from 33 planes—13 U.S. Air Force transports and 20 C-47s of the South Vietnamese air force.

Vietnamese headquarters said the paratroops ran into no opposition when they jumped. Spokesmen declined to say if if any of the jumpers were injured. In a previous large-scale jump in April 1964, some 40 per cent of the paratroopers were injured in jumping.

NEWS ARTICLE

At a recent meeting of the Belleville Transit Commission a thorough discussion was held concerning possible action which could be taken by the Commission to reduce the present subsidy received from the City. Serious consideration was given to discontinuing bus service at 6:45 p.m. on all week nights with the exception of Friday. It has been determined that the actual count that very few people ride Commission buses after the above noted time and the proposed reduction in service could provide an annual savings of approximately $5,000.00.

The Commission feels that it is their function to provide adequate bus service to all parts of the City and to ensure that a service is available to take people to work, school, shopping areas, etc., but when patronage drops to such a low point as it does between 9.45 p.m. and 11.45 p.m., it hardly seems that the service is justified.

A definite decision on this matter will be made in the new year.

Murray Twp. Voters Head For Polls

TRENTON — The weather-man may play an important a role in the municipal election in Murray township for a vacancy on the five - man municipal council. The township clerk calls for freezing rain later today which could reduce an expected heavy turnout and delay the polling pattern established over the years.

Moon Scene Shown Russian TV Viewers

The series of pictures apparently was shot by a revolving camera within the spaceship, down to one - thousandth of a down to use - thousandth of a metre.

Luna XIII made a controlled landing on the moon Saturday night after a three-day flight.

The Soviet news agency Tass reported soon after the television broadcast that a transmission Monday sent back the panorama.

Prof. Alexander Lebedinsky, a Soviet lunar expert, confirmed to the Tass account that the pictures were taken by a television camera making a full revolution inclined at an angle of 16 degrees.

The Tass account explained that because of the inclination the closest sections of the pictures were taken at a distance of less than a metre (39.37 inches). The result was that these sections show details

Scenes in the farther parts of the pictures, which look small, in reality are much larger than the objects in the foreground, Tass said.

The television camera at one point caught the mechanism put out to measure the firmness of the moon's surface. A rod was forced down into the lunar soil from an arm outside the spaceships. One of Luna XIII's petallike aerials on top of the spaceships also was caught in the panorama.

Luna XIII landed in a crater with a radius of several yards. The rim of this crater is visible in both the right and left sides of the panorama.

Tass said that while Luna XIII landed in the same Ocean of Storms area as Luna IX, preliminary data indicate that there are surface differences.

Temple Still Considering

Charge Liberals Trying to Keep Candidates From Opposing Nixon for Leadership Denied

TORONTO (CP) — Ontario Liberals were accused today of trying to turn next week's party leadership convention into a coronation.

Lloyd Francis, former member of Parliament for Carleton who had been considering running,dropped out of the race because he says party leaders are trying to get an acclamation for Robert Nixon to give an appearance of party unity.

Mr. Nixon, member of the legislature for Brant, is the only announced candidate so far.

Meantime, Robert Temple, Belleville lawyer and former MP for Hastings South who has intimated he is considering contesting the leadership, told The Intelligencer it was the privilege of party members to support any movement they desired.

"We're a democratic party", he said, "it's any party member's right to say he supports an acclamation or is against an acclamation".

Mr. Temple said he was still considering whether to enter provincial politics as a leadership challenger, or remain in the federal arena.

However, he said, since it became known he was considering the Ontario leadership, he had received promises of support from around the province.

The Nixon - by - acclamation group includes former finance minister Walter Gordon, broadcaster Charles Templeton, Toronto and District Liberal president Clem Neiman and Sudbury MPP Elmer Sopha, said Mr. Francis.

Mr. Neiman said the charge is "a figment of Mr. Francis' imagination."

AT CRITICAL STAGE

Mr. Francis said the provincial party has been slow and ineffective in attacking government handling of finance company failures and generally is lacking in appeal to city voters.

A contest for the leadership would have given it a good chance to lodge some of the policy issues involved, he said.

Mr. Nixon said every effort is being made to make next week's convention "wide open and democratic."

Besides Mr. Temple, Paul Stanislawski, 41, twice an unsuccessful Liberal candidate in High Park riding, is also still considering running.

Accountants Hear Talk On Profession

What the cost accountant must learn to do to become a successful executive, was the topic of an address heard by members of the Bay of Quinte Chapter of The Society of Industrial and Cost Accountants of Ontario at their December meeting.

The meeting, held at the Tops Motel saw Don Hickson, vice president administration and treasurer of Moul Johnson Canada Ltd. as the speaker. Mr. Hickson talked on the subject "The Accountant as an Executive".

Mr. Hickson said the accounting function was that of providing information on which decisions are made. If an accountant wished to become an executive he must be willing to accept responsibility of making decisions and following these through to completion.

"To be successful executives accountants must delegate responsibility for detail and become the organizer, the planner and the visionary", Mr. Hickson said.

MUST BE WILLING

The speaker said also that the accountants must be willing to advance with the technology of the computer and evaluate what their firm requires and what it can afford.

"Too often accountants view their figures as the substance and the end of their profession. If the accountant aspires to be something greater, he must use his figures as a medium of communication which requires interpretation and judgment to reveal a condition or set of circumstances involving his company."

Quinte Branch chairman Mrs. Marg Bosiak of Elaine Footwear, Stirling, conducted the meeting. The speaker was introduced by Ken Wormald of Moul Johnson and was thanked by John Cameron of the Excise Tax Department.

One new student, Henry Wild, Ontario Milk Marketing Board, and two visitors, Percy Hitchcock of Albert College and Roy Finkle of George Welch were introduced.

Chevrier in London Till April

LONDON (CP)—After bidding all his friends goodbye, Lionel Chevrier has discovered he won't be leaving for Canada until perhaps next spring.

An informant said today the Canadian high commissioner to Britain has been asked by Prime Minister Pearson to remain at his post until next April.

Chevrier, now on holiday in Portugal, was to leave for Ottawa in a week or so to take on his new appointment as commissioner-general for state visits during the Canadian centennial.

The Guardian, in commenting on the abrupt change, suggested that "perhaps something important is in the wind."

"Perhaps—since London is the plum posting for the Canadian foreign service with any number of contenders jostling for Chevrier's job—an Ottawa stalemate has produced postponements, with three more months of diplomatic musical chairs to come."

There has been speculation that Charles Ritchie, Canada's ambassador to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, has been tipped as Chevrier's successor. Ritchie now is absorbed in negotiating the transfer of Canadian bases from France and re-establishment of personnel in Germany and Belgium. Most of the transfer should be concluded next spring.

Road Toll Heavy

LONDON (Reuters) — Britain's highway death toll of 136 during the Christmas holiday was the highest four-day total in eight years, the Royal Automobile Club said Tuesday night. During the same period in 1959 road accidents killed 181 persons. Last year's figure was 82 dead and in 1964 78 persons died.

Farmers' Receipts Record

OTTAWA (CP) — Farmers were paid a record $3,008,000,000 in cash receipts from their operations during the first nine months of 1961, the Dominion Bureau of Statistics reported today.

This was a 13.3 per cent increase over 1960's previous record of $2,654,000,000.

Included are cash receipts from sale of farm products; Canadian wheat board participation payments on previous years' grain crops; net cash advances on farm-stored grains in Western Canada; and deficiency payments from the agricultural stabilization board.

The bureau said higher wheat marketings and expanded sales of cattle and calves at higher prices accounted for most of the 1961 improvement.

Potatoes were the only commodity with a lower return this year than last. Gains were marked up by oats, rye, flaxseed, rapeseed, soybeans, fruits, vegetables, tobacco, hogs, poultry and eggs.

Canadian Cheddar Cheese Campaign Falls Flat on Face

By RICHARD JACKSON

OTTAWA — How about that Joe Greene, the go-go Agriculture Minister!

Always in there trying. Like with cheese.

Which is very big in Joe's Ottawa Valley constituency of Renfrew South and, for that matter, all across the dairylands of Eastern Ontario, or wherever, over the broad land, that cheddar, the high quality production of aged Cheddar, so prized by the gourmets.

Our Boy Joe has been down to Washington a couple of times pushing cheese — and it isn't because he hasn't given it the old ball-and-college try that so far it is no sale.

The Agriculture Action Man's just plain unlucky.

The catch to cracking the big American market, with cheese is that you've got to have what Washington concedes is "a distinctive national variety."

The Honorable Joe claims we have it with our fine aged Cheddar.

But the trick is to make the Americans, especially those from the farm states, believe it.

So a calculated campaign to convince them got under way.

A task force was assembled from the various Federal departments to plan the strategy.

The cheese experts from Agriculture, the tariff specialists from National Revenue, the salesmen from Trade and Commerce, the diplomatists from External Affairs and a trouble-shooter from the Privy Council Office got together on a scheme to take the proposition that rare old Cheddar is truly Canada's "national cheese" to the very top and convince no less a power than President Johnson of the truth of it.

They had to sell him on Joe Greene's proud boast that in the world of cheese, Cheddar indeed is the Canadian trademark.

So they called in the elite of Canada's cheese-makers and got themselves the heart-core of what was duly attested to be the nation's Finest-Cheddar-Ever.

Prime Minister Pearson was enlisted and persuaded that to serve President Johnson a slice or two from the centre of this Greatest-of-all-Cheeses at the next time the two leaders should meet.

There was even a script prepared for this momentous occasion.

Carefully were the words selected, lovingly were they assembled, devotedly were they polished.

There was even a line or two written — in glorious anticipation of what he would say — for President Johnson.

It called for the President when the Prime Minister hailed into this Wonder - Of - All - Cheeses — to exclaim that this magnificent Canadian Cheddar was truly the best he ever had tasted.

Next line in the script was to be the Prime Minister's, the one that would wrap it all up.

As the President, savoring the delights of the cheese, rolled it on his tongue and smacked his lips in rapturous appreciation, the Prime Minister was to draw it to the presidential attention, that this not only was Absolutely - The - Ultimate - In - Cheddars, but Canadian, and as such very definitely Canada's very "distinctive national variety contribution" to the global cheese-board.

The strategy, the experts assured themselves, simply could not fail.

Catch was, that somebody — they've never put the finger of official blame on who — didn't forgot to put the Positively - Finest - Cheddar - Ever on the Prime Minister's Jet Star.

So there was no cheese to cut for the President's pleasure.

And, of course, no script to read.

All they could do was keep up the pressure of the joint lobby

Reds Threaten Asia

U.S. Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield's warning that Thailand could become another West Nam is very much within the grounds of possibility.

All of Asia is ripe for revolution. Dominated as it is by the hulking monolith of China, this huge and backward continent has all the elements of political unrest and economic backwardness that make for a furtherance of the classic power struggle now being witnessed in Viet Nam.

Bordering Viet Nam are Laos, Cambodia and Thailand, and although they are all relatively quiet at the moment there is no guarantee that they will remain so.

Senator Mansfield says the early ingredients of the Vietnam war are present in Thailand. United States troops are being sent to help cope with rebel forces, and, as was once the case in Vietnam, they are cast as advisors, not combatants.

Asia is a vacuum, compounded by poverty, ignorance, economic backwardness and fear. The whole continent could fall to the Communists tomorrow, were it not for the United States. And those who argue that the U.S. has no business in Asia should remember that should Asia become Communist in its entirety then the whole southern hemisphere including Australia and New Zealand, would immediately be threatened.

The confrontation here between east and west is as obvious as it is inevitable. When President Johnson, during his recent trip through Asia, promised U.S. support not only to Vietnam, but to any Asian country willing to fight Communist infiltration, he was doing no less than echoing the words of President Kennedy before him — that the United States would "face any hardship, bear and burden, to ensure the cause of liberty."

That Thailand could be the next country to face what the Communists like to call a "war of liberation" is borne out by a first-hand investigation by Ruth Lor Mallory, a perceptive Chinese-Canadian who knows the area well.

In a recent despatch to Weekend Magazine, from Bangkok, Miss Mallory wrote: "Compared with Vietnam where my husband and I had also lived, the Thai northeast showed few outward signs of danger, but you could smell the fear.

"We saw policemen and government officials carrying rifles in two of the towns we visited, and were told that many hid pistols in their belts.

"In one town several buildings were lined with sandbags, the result of a Communist attack on a police station the week before our visit. A police checkpoint along the road stopped all trucks and searched for arms. And we were shown a long patch of scorched road where, the month before, the Communists had ambushed and killed four policemen and four soldiers."

Here is a situation that cannot be ignored. The Communist strategy is clear. It is to infiltrate and absorb Thailand as it has been attempting to do in Vietnam. Laos and Cambodia could fall in the same fashion, not to mention Burma and Malaya which the Reds have already tried — and failed — to absorb.

Asia is the great melting pot of our day. But outside Asia lies the western world, and freedom as we know it, and that is why the United States is also fighting and dying in Viet Nam. To ignore this obligation would be to permit a Communist takeover in the entire area within a very short time.

Highway Toll

Everything is relative, and this is a big country. So it may not come as such a surprise to encounter people who have never seen a serious car accident — despite years of driving themselves and despite the toll reported regularly by the news media.

But even those who are accident-free can report any number of near misses and scares. Indeed, incidents such as these may make a better driver of a man when he realizes how narrow was his escape, and how slender a margin there is between safety and tragedy on the highways.

The Christmas season, inevitably, brought its quota of deaths through highway accidents. The wintry conditions made for hazardous driving, but misfortune came to some not because of the weather but because of the inability of others to place curbs on their celebrations.

Thus, a 33-year-old nurse, not long out from Britain, lost her life when struck by a car as she was crossing an Ottawa street. The driver of the car has been charged with impaired driving. Another woman was killed when she hit a car in front of her in a chain collision on Ottawa's Queensway.

And so it continues — this awful, unnecessary loss of life. Traffic accidents caused 86 deaths, and liquor, speed, carelessness and inattention all played their part. We suppose it will ever be thus, despite all the safety campaigns and the warnings.

Minority

Christian Science Monitor

With the retirement of Mrs. Neuberger, only one woman remains in the United States Senate. Less than a dozen serve in the House. No woman heads a United States department in the president's cabinet. Women are a small minority in most university faculties. While millions of women work in industry and government, the number in executive positions, while growing, is still not impressive.

No Cure for Gout But Drugs Control It

By JOSEPH C. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: Last week my husband's ankle swelled suddenly, as it had twice before. We thought it was from an old injury but the doctor says it is gout.

Can one ever be cured of it? How important is diet? Can the condition be controlled or will it worsen with age and cripple him? I gather that gout comes from intemperate eating and drinking, but we always have three ordinary meals a day and he drinks nothing stronger than beer. — Mrs. R. O.

Nobody is ever cured of gout, but with modern drugs it is possible to control the disease so well that patients go for years without another attack.

There used to be a belief that intemperate eating and drinking caused gout, but this now is found to be in error. Gout is an inability of the system to dispose of excess uric acid, so it forms in crystals in the joints or elsewhere, and can be very painful.

It is true that too much rich food as well as alcohol can bring on an attack, but that is quite different from causing the disease.

You should read my booklet, "The Modern Way to Treat Gout," which you can obtain by sending 30 cents in coin and a stamped, self-addressed envelope to me in care of the Chicago Sun - Times Syndicate, P. O. Box 193, Dundee, Ill. It will explain how modern drugs keep the uric acid level low and thus protect the patient from attacks.

With this type of treatment, you need have no fear that gout will turn into a crippling disease. If a patient is reasonably moderate in his eating, that is adequate — extremely rigid diet no longer appears necessary for most gout patients.

Dear Dr. Molner: Please explain why I cannot wear costume jewelry or metal garters without breaking out with a weeping rash. — Miss E. H.

It is an allergy of a type called contact dermatitis. There are different kinds of allergies. Some folks have hay fever. Some have food allergies. Still others break out because of contact with certain metals. Nickel is a common one, but other metals may be involved.

Sometimes a clear plastic spray of lacquer, to prevent contact of jewelry (or garters) with the skin can prevent the trouble. An outstanding case of nickel sensitivity was in a man whose finger tips broke out in a raw rash. The trouble was traced to jingling coins in his pockets, when he took care not to have any nickels there, his fingers healed.

• • •

Dear Dr. Molner: What causes erysipelas? Does it have any connection with the nerves? Is it contagious? — Mrs. M. T.

It is caused by one strain of the streptococcus germ infecting the skin and underlying tissues, so the surface appears shiny and swollen, pink or red, and tender.

It is not nearly as common as it used to be, thanks to the antibiotic drugs, but it most frequently attacks people already weakened by some other health problem. If the patient does not throw it off (with the help of modern drugs) it can lead to general infection, kidney disease, pneumonia.

Erysipelas also has a tendency to recur, but it is not particularly contagious, except to those who are in close daily contact with the patient.

Dec. 28, 1966 . . .

Spain recognized the independence of Mexico 102 years ago today—in 1863—more than 40 years after the Mexicans had first decided the rule of the mother country. But, after surviving war with the United States and civil war, Mexico was occupied by French troops, who had placed an Austrian prince on the throne as emperor. The elected president, Benito Juarez, got American pressure to bring the French to withdraw their troops in 1867 and the country's development as a republic was assured.

1622—St. Francis de Sales died.

1866—84,000 people died in an earthquake at Mesaina, Sicily.

Second World War

Twenty-five years ago today—in 1941—British desert columns attacked Rommel's retreating forces at Agedabia, Libya; the Japanese bombed Manila again; British aircraft from Singapore destroyed 10 Japanese aircraft on the ground at Sungeipadi.

On Keeping Confidences

Montreal Gazette

In this an age in which confidences need no longer be kept, least of all if there is a large and curious audience impatient to hear it anything is to be secured, it is the obligation that comes from the private trust that one person places in another. It will be a sorry world if obligations of this nature, having nothing more than trustworthiness to bind them, should be quite ruthlessly disregarded.

Fire Fighters Letter to Editor

Thirty Years of Service

Editor,
The Intelligencer,

At the end of this year, the Belleville Fire Fighters Association will have completed 30 years of service to Belleville and the surrounding area.

Over the past 30 years the association has helped enormously in improving the lot of the Fire Fighters. Theirs is a dangerous profession. The profession of fire fighting has a fatality rate of 45 deaths for every 100,000 on the job, compared with fatality rates for policemen of 43.5 per 100,000, or 19.8 per 100,000 for the over-all work force, and 7.6 per 100,000 for Federal Civil employees. Heart diseases are the side effects most often encountered in this profession.

Only in the wake of a tragedy does the public really become aware of the hazards of a fire fighter's life. Such a tragedy befell 11 fire fighters in New York City last October.

As Cardinal Cushing once commented, "When a fire fighter passes, whenever we pass a fire house, that the next alarm the men inside answer, may be their last."

We are completing this year by again, with the help of Kiwanis Club of Belleville, gathering, sending and delivering toys to the needy children of the City.

At the YMCA we held a Christmas party for the fire fighters' families where they enjoyed a movie as well as a visit from Santa.

The fire fighters give freely of their spare time to many different projects, some of these projects being the Santa Claus Fund, helping the Mental Retarded Association on occasions through the week at the YMCA, and with the children and the year around backing of the Muscular Dystrophy Association in the fund raising and work against this dreaded disease.

The Prime Minister was to draw it to the presidential attention, that this not only was Absolutely - The - Ultimate - In - Cheddars, but Canadian, and as such very definitely Canada's very "distinctive national variety contribution" to the global cheeseboard.

The strategy, the experts assured themselves, simply could not fail.

Catch was, that somebody — they've never put the finger of official blame on who — didn't forgot to put the Positively - Finest - Cheddar - Ever on the Prime Minister's Jet Star.

So there was no cheese to cut for the President's pleasure.

And, of course, no script to read.

All they could do was keep up the pressure of the joint lobby case.

ROBERT ANDRUS,
Secr'ary.

Decimals For UK

Oshawa Times

If Britain emerges from its financial bind by 1971 Britons will indeed be fortunate. If not, great confusion and mental anguish will be added to the country's concern over the future of its currency. The decision has been made to "decimalize" the pound. It will be divided into 100 pennies (newpence) on that date.

It is not so much that shillings, of which there are 20 to the pound, will disappear, along with half-crowns (eight to the pound), florins (10), sixpences (40) and threepence-bits (80). It is the fact that at present the penny that enormous, heavy pocket-destroying copper piece, the size of a silver dollar, is worth one-240th of a pound. The new pound, which will contain its present value, is to be worth 100 pennies, instead of 240. The new penny will be 2.4 times the value (and one hopes only a fraction of the size and weight) of the present penny.

"The Beast" in Car Drivers

By SYDNEY J. HARRIS

You really must ride around in a sports car to learn how badly, how competitively, how maliciously, most men drive. I have said before, and I repeat, the great wonder of our age is not how high our standard of death rate is but rather how low it is, all things considered.

The moment the driver of a large, conventional Detroit car pulls alongside my little Beast at a stop-light, his hackles go up, his back hairs bristle, and he feels forced to show me how fast he is at leaving me. He will willingly burn a half-gallon of gas and tear two inches of rubber off his tires to beat me at the start.

This is not only juvenile, it is also asinine, because I am not going to race him, and if I did, it would be no contest. I don't lay a penny on myself to win a fast at a light, or to exceed any speed laws, but simply because it is sure-footed, easily maneuverable, and quite fun to tool around in. If I wanted to compete, I'd go to Sechring and I'd wear a helmet and take all the proper precautions.

(Incidentally, this is not to suggest that drivers of sports cars are any less adolescent or showoffy than drivers of conventional cars; if anything, most of them are worse, arrogantly weaving in and out of traffic with the recklessness of a little man defensive about his size.)

Much as I agree with critics of the auto industry that it has taken too long to do too little about making safer cars, it must also be admitted that most drivers might use a safer car to commit even more foolhardy acts. Some of them are already a little inhibited today by the dim knowledge that their over-powered vehicle is not really under their control; given more assurance, God only knows what they might do.

I have heard racing drivers swear solemnly that they would rather take a chance on crashing on a wet track at 100 miles an hour in a race than go half that speed on a straightaway on a dry surface on a typical expressway. And I have heard the other racing drivers will do, expressed one, who doesn't even like to go 100 miles an hour, "but even the finest racing driver in the world has no protection when a car comes at you who doesn't even have the sense to be scared."

The sports car driver has a terrifying bug's-eye view of this unknown, unseen menace. Most motorists are envious of us, or contemptuous, or just spiteful, but they don't really see us.

We are hilling ourselves off faster, and in far greater numbers, than we have been able to accomplish in all the wars since 1776. Perhaps this is nature's cunning way of combatting the population explosion — at least it's the most efficient tool we've found so far.

Education Favorite Charity of Canadian Business Firms

MONTREAL (CP) —Canadian business gives more annually to education than any other charitable cause, including social services, the National Industrial Conference Board says.

Reporting on a study of contributions by 177 Canadian companies in 1965, the board says 46.1 per cent of the $25,600,000 they gave went to educational institutions, nearly all of it marked for universities.

Gifts to health and welfare drives, such as United Appeals, took up 40.5 per cent of total donations.

The board gives no comparisons with previous years but says that gifts to social service programs have not decreased in recent years.

Instead, universities have become the principal beneficiaries of bigger overall contributions.

"We have quite consciously increased our support for educational appeals and have held the line or reduced our support in other directions," a pulp and paper company told the board in response to a mailed questionnaire.

"While we have not reduced our support for health and welfare campaigns in the communities where we have a vital interest, we have become much more selective and we are less likely than we were to respond to campaigns in other areas of Canada."

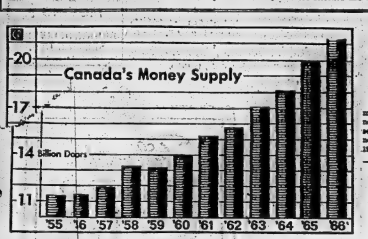
Of the remaining total of the charitable gifts, 6.8 per cent was for civic causes, 5.4 per cent for cultural matters and the rest for assorted campaigns.

Capital projects are the biggest recipients of corporate giving, reflecting at least in part the surge in university construction during recent years.

About 91 cents of each gift dollar goes to a university building campaign, with grants for new proposals getting 13 cents.

Since 1962, when the last study was made, funds sought by universities from non-government sources have more than doubled while hospital building campaigns appear to have eased.

The study also found these other general trends:



...1. Canadian companies earmark almost eight per cent more of their gifts for education than their American counterparts—or parents—but one per cent less for social services.

...2. Contributions totalled .37 per cent of corporate profits before taxes, up slightly from .35 per cent in 1963.

...3. While larger corporations obviously give more in total, their rate of contributions is near the average as smaller companies.

...4. Large firms tend to spend more on education and smaller ones favor health and welfare.

The biggest donor, by industrial grouping, was primary metals, where 39 companies give more than $6,000,000. Eight-ten banking, finance and insurance companies gave $4,638,000 and 16 lumber, pulp and paper corporations gave $,800,000.

Canada's money supply was up to $21,344,000,000 at Nov. 30, 1966, compared with $19,968,000,000 in 1965. Money supply is the currency in circulation outside banks, chartered bank deposits held by the general public, and Canadian government deposits in the chartered banks.

Expansion Without Inflation Or Tight Money U.S. Forecast

WASHINGTON (AP) — Commerce Secretary John T. Connor predicted Tuesday eight to seventh straight year of economic expansion in the U.S. in 1967, but without the sharp inflation and tight money which distorted this year's picture.

In his annual economic outlook and year-end review, Connor avoided mention of possible increased taxes to help fight the Vietnam war. President John son has indicated he will announce a decision on that early in January.

Connor noted record production, sales, payrolls and profits during 1966 and said already there are signs that the worst is over for tight money which hit the economy hard during the year and depressed the home building industry to its lowest level since the Second World War.

Somewhat easier credit plus the federal help already pledged to mortgage financing "should lead to some improvement in residential construction over current levels," he said.

The secretary also said there is not likely to be repetition of the sharp increases in food prices that occurred during 1966.

Connor said a continuing problem next year will be the persistent U.S. dollar drain.

But, he said, a more moderate growth in domestic demand for goods and services should result in a smaller rise in imports during 1967 and give U.S. businessmen fresh incentives to increase their exports.

In an accompanying statement, the commerce department's office of business economics said the deficit in the U.S. balance of payments this year may exceed the $1,500,000,000 deficit of 1965.

Pulp, Paper Output Up

MONTREAL (CP) — R. M. Fowler, president of the Canadian Pulp and Paper Association, said Tuesday Canada's production of pulp and paper increased by more than eight per cent in 1966 but profits in the industry did not match the pace.

Mr. Fowler, in his year-end report, said the production gain was the largest ever achieved by the Canadian industry and raised the nation's output of pulp and paper to a value of $2,300,000,000.

Final figures for newsprint would show a production increase of about 5.5 per cent to more than that for paperboard. Kraft paper output rose by upwards of eight per cent.

Tungsten Mine Fire Hits Yukon's Economy

VANCOUVER (CP) — The economy of the Yukon will be hurt substantially by a fire at Canada's only tungsten mine, Manager Roy Ellerman said Tuesday night.

The fire late Monday night has halted production at the Canada Tungsten Corp. open-pit mining operation in the Northwest Territories, 130 miles north of Whitehorse, Y.T.

Mr. Ellerman said only key men among the 70 employees of the mine would be kept on with full pay. He said the remainder would be laid off, but would not say how many were "key" personnel.

"It will be several months, at least, before we can hope to get production going again," he said.

"This will not affect industry generally, but it will mean a substantial loss to the Yukon economy, because our payroll alone brings a great deal of money into the area."

RITS CONCENTRATOR

Mr. Ellerman said the electrical drying plant destroyed the main ore concentrator. Mr. Ellerman estimated damage at $2,000,000.

Employees and volunteers from Tungsten—population 100—fought the blaze for two hours before bringing it under control. They saved the mine's diesh power house, only 30 feet from the blaze.

"They did an amazing job," said Mr. Ellerman. "The town site is a couple of hundred miles from anywhere, and they had only a few hydrants and hoses."

The mine supplies 15 per cent of the Western World's tungsten concentrates, used in light alloy steel, cutting and stellite products.

Mr. Ellerman said the mine's biggest customers are the United States, Sweden and Japan.

"Because they will have to buy elsewhere for a while does not mean we will lose their business when our production resumes," he said.

The mine went into operation in 1962, closed in mid-1963 and resumed production in September, 1964.

In Toronto, President F. E. Hall said business interruptance insurance and fire insurance would cover the company's losses.

In trading Tuesday on the Toronto Stock Exchange, Canada Tungsten shares dropped 20 cents to $1.35.

Bell, Dominion Bridge Announce Scholarships

MONTREAL (CP)—Two companies with headquarters in Montreal Tuesday announced scholarship programs to mark Canada's centennial next year.

The Bell Telephone Co. of Canada will provide eight graduate fellowships, four to be awarded in 1967. Renewals and new awards will raise the annual total to eight in subsequent years.

Bell President Marcel Vincent said the fellowships are open to any outstanding Canadian student who is a graduate of a university or college with standard accepted by the Association of Universities and Colleges of Canada.

The candidates must intend to pursue graduate studies in Canada at a university or college which is a member or affiliate of the association.

Successful candidates will receive $5,000. In addition $1,500 will be given to the university to pay for tuition and help defray other expenses of the university's graduate study program.

The other firm, Dominion Bridge Co. Ltd., will provide five university scholarships for the children of its employees.

MacKenzie McMurray, Dominion president, said these scholarships—to be announced not later than Aug. 31, 1967—will be awarded for four years for any course leading to a baccalaureate degree or until the degree is obtained, whichever comes first.

Each successful Dominion applicant, who maintains satisfactory performance at the university, will receive $750 a year while an unconditional grant of $250 will be made annually to the university.

Protest Lodged

BELGRADE (AP)—The U.S. embassy informally protested to Yugoslav foreign ministry Tuesday against an anti-American demonstration in Novi Sad. They smashed several display windows on the ground floor of the U.S. information office before police dispersed them.

Several Companies Plan Margarine Price Boost

TORONTO (CP) — Lever Brothers Ltd. is raising the list price of all its margarine products by one per cent Jan. 1, the company announced Tuesday.

In a statement President John C. Lockwood attributed the increase to the increase in the federal sales tax announced in the mini-budget Dec. 19. The tax is to go up to 12 per cent from 11 Jan. 1.

Price increases of from one quarter cent per one-half cent-per-pound wholesale for margarine were also announced by Canada Packers Ltd., Monarch Margarine Co. and Swift Canadian Co. Ltd.

Mrs. R. W. Morningstar of Toronto, a director of the Consumer's Association of Canada, said the association will oppose the tax increase.

SEES DISCRIMINATION

"The tax is discriminatin against the low income group," Mrs. Morningstar said. "The low priced spread should not be allowed to provide an advantage for another spread."

Mr. Lockwood said margarine is the only basic food product subject to the sales tax.

"The sales tax on margarine was originally designed to protect the dairy industry," he said. "Since the government is considering foreign butter imports to meet a shortage of Canadian butter, this argument hardly applies today."

He said the sales tax will add nearly $6,000,000 to housewives' annual bills. "Regretably, this new cost tends to be concentrated among consumers who can least afford it."

The increase is the first to be announced affecting major consumer products, although other industries have indicated they are studying the question.

Quebec Hydro And Texaco To Seek Oil

QUEBEC (CP)—The Quebec department of natural resources announced Tuesday night that an agreement has been signed between Texaco Exploration Co. and Hydro-Quebec involving offshore exploration for oil in the Gulf of St. Lawrence.

Child Birth Has Compensation for Pain

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I was interested in the letter from the young married woman who wrote that she was afraid to have a baby because she had heard so many horrible tales about the agony of labor pains.

ANN LANDERS

Mothers my little child was born, I , too, was petrified. I am sure my fear was a hangover from old movies showing women in labor, dripping with perspiration — chewing the bed linen and screaming for relief. I told my mother how frightened I was and she answered me in a simple sentence: "If having a baby is such a horrible experience why do so many women have more than one?"

My first delivery was no picnic but I kept remembering what my mother had said, and it was very comforting. When the nurse placed the little pink and white bundle into my arms a few hours later I forgot the hours of pain." I have had two babies since and they came much easier. I know now that everything has a price and child-bearing is no exception. I wouldn't trade those three bummyaches for anything in the world. — MRS. C. M.

DEAR MRS.: The movie version of childbirth went out with tearing sheets and boiling water. New scientific techniques have eliminated most of the agony. Expectant mothers are told what to expect and why. This is very helpful since the fear of the unknown causes most of the tenseness and anxiety.

When one considers the pain suffered with no compensation whatever, childbirth turns out to be a real bargain.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: The letter you printed recently about the little boy who stole some small change from the neighbor's kitchen windowsill brought to mind a story my mother used to tell. It has a moral worth passing on.

Mother's neighbor kept a bowl of candy on the dining room table for the children who came to visit. The also kept a dish of pennies near the candy. Abe moment a child left she counted the pennies. If any pennies were missing she would gossip about it to the neighbor.

I believe temptation-testing is rock-bottom. The person who makes stealing easy encourages dishonesty. Isn't this the most despicable form of immorality?

When I see merchandise displayed temptingly and no employee in sight it becomes clear to me why shoplifting is at an all-time high. Candy, gum, cigarettes and magazines piled near the door are an open invitation to "help yourself."

Please publish my letter and your comments. — O.W.F.

DEAR O.W.F.: You are right — some people can stand anything but temptation. When we make it easier for someone to do the wrong thing rather than the right thing, we are in a sense setting a trap.

A good example of unwittingly stealing is leaving keys in the ignition of a car. The driver who plans to be gone only a few minutes places a heavy burden on teen-agers who love to drive a car — anybody's. Many a youth who had not set out to steal a car got the notion when he saw the keys dangling from the dashboard. The crime rate among juveniles has never been higher and irresistible temptation might well be cited as one of the causes.

The little tarts in the silver serving dish are hot canapes called Salmon Puff Tartlettes. Mary Moore tells you how to make them for a smash hit at your New Year's Eve Party.

Kitchen Tested Recipes

Advance Planning Means Party Leisure

By MARY MOORE

Maybe it was subconscious but unwittingly the lovely little hot canapes I am describing today are inexpensive.

I made 22 2" tartlettes from the following recipe. There are only a couple of bites in each one. So if you are having a crowd of around 15 people for a New Years Eve party at home I think you should double these amounts.

SALMON (OR TUNA) PUFF TARTLETTES (22 two-inch)

Comforting Note: The main for steps in this recipe may be done in advance — see note under filling instructions.

Pastry:
1 cup sifted all purpose flour
1-3 cup shortening
1 tbsp. butter
½ tsp. salt
2 tbsps. cold water

Filling:
One 2-oz. can red salmon (or tuna) drained and mashed (1-3 cup packed)
1 tsp. bottled green onion or chive flakes (or finely chopped raw green onion)
3 tbsps. dairy sour cream
1 tbsp. drained green relish (or finely chopped sweet pickle)
½ tsp. salt
1 slightly beaten egg white

Make pastry by cutting shortening and butter into flour and salt with pastry blender until size of peas. Drizzle in water, tossing with a fork until flour is dampened. Between palms press into a ball and roll out on lightly floured board very thinly — ⅛" thick. Cut out with 2¼" cutter and line 22 two-inch tart tins. (I used my teflon pan which made it easy to remove these when baked.) Use the smallest tart tins you have on hand. If you have tiny 1¼" tart tins you can have more tarts. Bake these tart shells at 425 deg. Fahr. for about 6 min. — or until barely baked. Remove from oven.

Filling: Mash the drained salmon or tuna and add all remaining ingredients except egg white. (Note: All above preparation may be done in advance.) Near serving time beat egg white until stiff and fold into filling. Fill each baked 2" tart shell with a rounded teaspoonful of filling. Do not overfill. Top each with a level ¼ tsp. grated Romano or Parmesan cheese (or use grated dry old Cheddar.) Put it down over so gently with tip of fork. Bake at 375 deg. Fahr. about 12 to 15 min. or until tartlettes are puffy and tinged with gold. With great care remove from pans onto napkin-lined serving tray and serve hot to your lucky guests.

NOTE: If you require more substantial fare my Holiday Spiced Lamb (Dec. 12) would be ideal sliced thinly on your buffet table.

Wear New-look Hose

Dear Su: Why not go all out chic this New-Year's Eve and wear a pair of the new-look stockings in one of those pale, pastel shades.

You say your budget is too badly beat? Well I know where you can buy a pair for about half the price they would ordinarily cost at the stocking counter.

Go to the section in your favorite department store where they sell uniforms and ask for a pair of nurses' stockings.

When you pull them on, you will find they are a delicate, sheer, off-white that goes well with almost anything. — Miss D. Y. Knowles

* * *

Dear Susanna: There's more to that baked pepper squash than meets the eye.

Don't dispose of the seeds when you scoop them out of the centre, as they are almost the best part.

Separate them with a fork as best you can from the pulp — a little left on doesn't hurt. Next, spread them out on a dry cookie sheet to be toasted in the oven at the same time as you are baking the squash.

Stir occasionally, and keep an eye on them 'til they are golden brown and crispy. It may take nearly half an hour in a moderate oven. Remove, sprinkle liberally with salt — and even melted butter if you like — and set them out in a pretty little dish as a delicate before - dinner appetizer. — Mrs. H. B.

Hmmm, are they good! Not better watch it. They are worse than peanuts when it comes to not being able to leave a single last one in the bowl. — SUSANNA

Weddings No Time to Be Insulted

Dear Doris: My sisters and brothers, like to get together for reasons, as you recently. I attended the wedding of my sister's daughter, was enjoying it until, on paying the church, I noticed names and telegrams had vanished that my daughters had been left out. Each family had been represented by at least one member and two families by two and three members.

One daughter had attended a shower at the bride's home. She also received a gift from reunion there last summer, just to mention some of the present times they had seen her. Still they are reported as saying they didn't know her very well, when considering the invitation list. This to me is a very lame excuse.

There were 130 at the reception and I know of no reason why one of my daughters shouldn't have been invited. Do I have reason to feel—Insulted?

Dear Insulted: No. I can't imagine that a friendly family like yours would deliberately do something unkind. But have you ever tried making up a list of wedding guests, with a limit of 75 for the bride? The very fact that your girl got to go to a shower means they wanted her in on things.

Feeling insulted will get you nowhere. Try consenting relations with the young folk by springing your own party on them; make them the guests of honor, and have your daughters there too. Family ties are precious.

Dear Doris: I am a boy 13 in grade 12.

I am severely overweight and my friends in and out of school have nicknamed me "Fat Pat". They embarrass me in front of girls and this upsets me emotionally to the extent of tears.

I was wondering if I should search for new friends or tell my present ones to quit hacking me. — Heckled.

Dear Heckled: The old meaningful 24d you ever know of anybody who was harder on teenagers than other teenagers?

You could either:

(1) Ignore the heckling. They do it because you show you mind! Or,

(2) Take off the weight and make a hit with the girls.

If you were to proceed, quietly, to remove the extra pounds you'd soon have them all eating crow. (Ask your father what that means.) And extra dividend to go with the manly leanness would doubtless be your improved sense of well-being.

Have you got the will-power to stick to my Reducing Diet, if I send it to you?

Dear Doris: If a girl goes away is it improper to write to a boy she may like? — Wondering.

Dear Wondering: Not if he asked her to write. If they haven't talked about it, she could venture a card first, telling him what she is doing and being sure her new address is readable.

If he answers, they are pen pals!

(We now have some understanding of why people set up their Dr. Write to Doris about your particular human problem, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope for private reply.)

Yule Customs Discussed At Women's Study Guild

The December meeting of the Belleville Women's Study Guild was held on Monday evening at the home of Mrs. George Wishart. The president, Mrs. H. G. Wylie welcomed the members, and a guest, Mrs. Viola Habib.

A letter of appreciation was read for the parcel of used postage stamps the Guild collected to help lepers, and members were reminded that these cancelled stamps were still in demand.

Mrs. E. A. Fleming took the worship service, reading from a book by Peter Marshall a plea that Christmas be kept in all the loveliness of its ancient traditions.

Under the direction of Mrs. R. Avendson the group joined in singing several carols, and enjoyed a game of matching names, at which Mrs. Wishart proved the most adept.

Mrs. K. Daley gave members a world tour of Christmas customs. Christmas trees in some countries are decorated with cookies, candies and fruit, or artistic carvings, and Christmas cribs are in many places the centre of celebrations. Children the world over receive gifts, although the mythical giver is not always known as Santa Claus.

Customs which seemed linked to superstitution are followed — single girls at this time in Poland look into clear water to see their future husbands, and the animals share the leftovers and the holy wafers, as legend has it that they then regain their speech and must be treated as equals by the family. In Turkey the head of the church throws a wooden cross into the water, and three boys swim after it — the winner to be specially blessed and the recipient of gifts. Scots find a waxing more favorable for the celebration of Christmas, and no housewife must leave a piece of work unfinished at this season. In South Africa is a summer holiday. There is no snow, but the most beautiful flowers are seen at this time.

In the West Indies the weather is warm and there are parades and fire crackers and carol singing and toys for the children. For about seven years a Christmas tree had been sent to Jamaica from Canada for the decoration of the city square in Kingston. At New Years everyone tries to be in church in sing the old year away and the new one in. At midnight the bells chime and then a few minutes of silence is followed by firecrackers and bonfires.

Guild members joined in sharing memories of Christmas customs in the widespread corners of the world from which they came, and festive holiday fare served by hostesses. Mrs. R. C. Ellis, Mrs. E. A. Orr and Mrs. M. C. Selden rounded out a comfortable evening.

Young People Enjoy Square Dance Party

During the holiday season there have been parties, and more parties, but the happy group in St. Thomas Parish Hall last Friday night enjoyed a different type of fun, namely square dancing.

The group was made up of the "Tra-Tom Class" and the "Teen Club." About 60 of these young dancers are also in 13 year olds, who started square dance classes last September under the direction of Chic James and Al Smith. The classes are in Modern Square Dancing.

The "Teen Club" meets at the Recreation Centre every Friday night with Garnet May as caller. Both groups are sponsored by the Belleville Recreation Commission.

Square dancing is a recreation that appeals to all age groups and many parents attend the party.

The leaders and their wives served refreshments.

LYCOMBE'S Aleh SIR JOHN A. MACDONALD

The December meeting of the Ameyalo and Sir John A. Macdonald Home and School Association was held in the auditorium of Sir Mackenzie Bowell School to accommodate the more than 300 parents and children who participated in the program.

The meeting was the first of two with the theme "the child in the community". Mr. Summers the principal stated that the program was an opportunity for the children to develop skills as individuals and as a group and to develop a greater appreciation of their role in the community.

The children presented rhymes, songs, plays and gymnastic display and sang carols with their parents accompanied by Mrs. Kitchen at the piano.

Mrs. Sword thanked Mr. Summers the principal and each teacher for this extra contribution to the community.

Refreshments for this large group were organized by Mrs. Vader with the assistance of Mrs. Spencer and Mrs. Parks and the Grade 1 and 2 mothers.

The bake sale was sponsored by Mrs. Brown assisted by Mrs. Yates, Mrs. Twiddy, Mrs. Conley, Mrs. Perry, Mrs. Bell and by the Grade mothers, Mrs. Clarke, Mrs. Whitley, Mrs. McLeod, Mrs. Weaver, Mrs. Wright, Mrs. Parks, Mrs. Spencer, Mrs. Veasey and Mrs. Sword.

CASTLEFORD, England (CP) — School authorities are faced in this Yorkshire town with a craze for tattooing among young teen-agers. More than 50 boys aged 13 and 14 at one school have one design or tattoo and two nine-year-olds had them. Parents have been advised to see if their children are tattooed without written permission.

Nick "The Greek" Dondolos, a man who built himself into a legend of the most fabulous figure in the early century posh gambling halls of New York, Chicago, etc., died the other day.

Known as one of the greatest plungers in the history of gambling, the man who, it is reported, once won $1,500,000 in a craps game; lost $685,000 in one poker pot and offered to bet $350,000 on the turn of a card, died "almost penniless." He was 86.

The Greek was not a product of the racetrack and the "sport of kings" was just another form of diversion to him. Yet strangely enough one of the most colorful and amazing stories of his career took place on a Canadian track.

Nick had a secret yen to get into the "big time" of gambling. And around that time, 1914, there were no better hunting grounds for the mantle of "Big Shot" than the racetrack. Bookmakers were rated "tops" among sportsmen.

Nick picked a Hamilton, Ontario track to make his "maiden debut." He procured a ticket writer, cashier and outside man but reserved the black man spot for himself. He had plenty of money.

For three races he quoted prices and their changes, but the betting fraternity treated him like the plague. This was not unusual for he was a newcomer, a stranger without a clientele.

Nick was irked. He always wanted swift action. Standing on the block getting no bets — all this agitated the Greek.

The price line for the fourth race was posted. The favorite was Plate Glass which opened at 6-5 and when play was finally dropped to even money. Bookies didn't want to risk too much loss on a "sure thing." Plate Glass seemed to be that.

Nick was a newcomer .He wanted business. He hadn't taken a dozen bets all day. So when the other books were quoting even money or 6-5 Nick hauled out his cersecr, wiped off even money and chalked 2-1 against Plate Glass.

There was a mad scramble around Nick's book. The players swirled about him. When other bookies saw their players desert them they stopped taking bets.

They saw Nick was quoting 2-1 against an even money shot. This newcomer can't get away with this, they said. So they wagered all the money they had taken on Plate Glass at 6-5 and bet it on Nick. It seemed that Santa Claus had arrived early.

They sensed a killing for themselves without risk. If Plate Glass won they would get $200 for each $100 bet, and they would be required to pay their players only $120 on $100 according to whether the player got 6-5 or even money from them.

This sucker was too good to be true. So they began to bet their own money with Nick. Calmly, methodically, Nick took all the cash that was forced on him, and although buried under a ton of money, he never cut his price from 2-1.

Nick didn't think Plate Glass was a cinch and when he thought that way others could tap him to the limit of the bankroll. He was the biggest plunger of modern times because he would bet $50,000, $200,000, $500,000, all he had in any game if his judgment and hunches made him feel he was right.

Plate Glass was beaten. Nick "The Greek" was the winner of over $200,000 in one race. The hard-hit rival bookies let out shrieks of woe. Many were friends or acquaintances of track officials. This Greek was a stranger.

The favors did not go unheard. Officials went into a huddle and ruled "Mr. Nick Dondalos is ruled off as a bookmaker because of reckless speculation and for the betterment of racing."

And out a small chunk of Nick's winnings came from the pockets of a well-known Belleville business man of that era.

Nick had the proud record of never breaking his word. The story goes if he lost $50,000 at the flip of a card, and, if he was broke at the time and said: "I'll pay you tomorrow at noon" — at noon tomorrow you would be paid.

Dondolos looked like a diplomat or a professor. He had a low cultured voice and was unassuming almost to the point of being a recluse.

He was a gambler to the last breath. He offered to bet a writer odds he would die before he could tell him his life story. He did.

Two-Gun Mikita Holds Up Rangers

New York Rangers found out Tuesday night how the other half lives. They lost.

The Rangers went into Chicago Sunday night and celebrated Christmas with a 1-0 victory over the Black Hawks.

but the shoe was on the other foot Tuesday night in New York.

The Black Hawks spotted the Rangers a one-goal lead and then came back to squeeze out a 3-2 victory in one of two scheduled National Hockey League games. Detroit Red Wings and Boston Bruins tied 4-4.

Stan Mikita, who is setting a blistering pace in the individual scoring race, led the Chicago attack with two goals. Bobby Hull scored what proved to be the winning goal with less than four minutes to go in the game. Rod Gilbert and Bernie Geoffrion scored for New York.

BOIVIN SCORES TWO

Defenceman Leo Boivin scored two goals and Alex Delvecchio and Gordie Howe netted one each. Pit Martin had two for the Bruins and Ron Stewart and Ed Westfall scored one apiece.

New York's loss was only its ninth of the season, against 16 wins and six ties, leaving the Rangers in first place with 38 points. Second - place Chicago moved within two points of the Rangers by snapping a New York winning streak at three games.

Mikita scored his first goal of the game at 8:08 of the second period. Geoffrion put the Rangers ahead 2-1 at 1:27 of the third period but Mikita just over a minute later evened the score again.

Hull scored his winning goal at 16:14 of the third when Phil Esposito gave him a perfect pass from the face-off.

LEADS WITH 45

Mikita's two goals gave him 16 for the season and boosted his league-leading points total to 45. He leads the NHL in assists with 29.

Mikita's first goal ended New York goalie Ed Giacomin's shutout string against the Black Hawks at 194 minutes, 15 seconds. He blanked Chicago in his last two starts against them.

The Bruins, who have managed only one win in their last 15 games, led 2-1 at the end of the second period on a goal by Stewart and Martin's first of the night. Boivin also scored his first of the night in the second period.

Delvecchio evened the score at the 15-second mark of the third period but Westfall put the Bruins ahead 3-2 at the 50-second mark. Boivin tied the score at 7:07 with his second of the night but Martin gave the Bruins the lead again less than three minutes later.

Howe tied the score at 15:42 while Boston rookie Jean-Paul Parise was serving a minor penalty. Howe tipped in Norm Ullman's long shot.

BRUINS HAVE EDGE

The tie left Boston in fifth place with 20 points, one more than the Red Wings.

The Bruins fired 45 shots at Roger Crozier, including 21 in the third period. Bovon goalie Gerry Cheevers stopped 30.

The Bruins will meet Montreal Canadiens in Montreal tonight in the only scheduled game.

Provost suffered a sprained back in a collision with New York defenceman Arnie Brown last Saturday and although the injury is not serious, he won't be able to return to action until this weekend.

Beliveau was examined by a specialist Tuesday and is reported to have completely recovered from an eye injury he suffered Dec. 17 against Chicago. However, he won't start skating until Monday and isn't expected to return to the Montreal lineup until Jan. 7.

Cowan Nips Nick For Golf Crown

TORONTO (CP) — When it comes to golf rankings in Ontario, Gary Cowan and Nick Weslock are like a vaudeville team arguing over top billing.

This year it's Cowan.

The 28 - year - old insurance salesman from Kitchener tops the annual amateur rankings released today by the Ontario Golf Association. Weslock, a 43-year-old engineer from Burlington, Ont., is second.

Cowan and Weslock have held the top two positions in the ratings for the last six years. Cowan was first and Weslock second in both 1961 and 1962. Then it was Weslock and Cowan in that order the next four years.

In addition, Cowan was ranked first in 1960 which makes this his third year as top golfer in the province.

Ranked third in 1960 was Doug Mossop of Toronto with Paul Williams of Burlington fourth, Bob Bradley if Oshawa fifth, Martin Mason of Toronto sixth, Jim Neale of Hamilton seventh, Bill Morland of North Bay eighth, Ernie Bentley of Toronto ninth and Wayne Mc-Donald, an 18-year-old junior from Oakville, 10th.

Cowan defeated Jeanne Bemas of Bethesda, Md., in a playoff for the 1966 United States amateur crown in Ardmore, Pa., becoming the first Canadian to win the title since Sandy Somerville of London, Ont., did it in 1932.

Cowan also tied Robert Dickson of Muskogee, Okla., at 137 to lead all 1,900 qualifiers for the U.S. amateur championship.

He was third in the Willingdoo Cup trials for the interprovincial championship with 284, tied for second among the amateurs in the Ontario Open with 213 and was a semi-finalist in the Canadian Amateur.

Weslock, who plays out of the Mississauga Golf Club at Port Credit, won the Canadian Amateur for the fourth time this year, tied Mossop at 283 for first spot in the Willingdon Cup trials, deadlocked with Cowan in the Ontario Open as second low amateur, qualified for the U.S. Amateur with 141, and finished seven strokes behind Cowan in the tournament with 286 and was low scorer on the Ontario team in the Willingdon Cup matches.

Two Teams In Canada

Red Fans Miss Hockey

MOSCOW (CP) — Some Soviet sports writers are chagrined that a one-month hole has been punched in the schedule of Russia's best hockey league because of playing commitments in Canada.

Russia has two teams in Canada this month. Moscow Selects, the second national team, left here Dec. 15 for a nine-game exhibition series that ends Thursday.

Two days before Christmas, the No. 1 national team left for another nine-game stint in Canada, including three games at the centennial invitational tournament in Winnipeg. This team's tour of Canada does not end until Jan. 12.

The two teams are made up of the best players on the three top teams in Russia's Soviet Wings-Army, Spartak and Dynamo. The resulting hiatus in the schedule is referred to somewhat sarcastically as the "winter holidays" by a writer in Pravda, organ of the Russian Communist party.

Under the headline, "Hockey leaves the country," the newspaper concedes that a Canadian tournament is "an excellent hockey school—if not an academy—for our young players as well as our venerable players."

"Granted that, however, it is impossible to view indifferently the annual export of our best hockey across the ocean for a whole month. . . . For millions of lovers of this game in this country, hockey-less, wrote holidays come until the middle of January."

A note of disappointment is also evident in references by other newspapers to the scheduling interruption, including the government organ Izvestia and Vechernya Moskva (Evening Moscow).

Gary Bauman, regular netminder with Quebec of the American Hockey League until his recall to the National Hockey League Canadiens two weeks ago, will guard the nets for the juniors, a Forum spokesman said Tuesday.

Hurl Back India Challenge

Australia Retains Davis Cup

By DON TAIT

MELBOURNE, Australia (AP) — Australia has retained the Davis Cup, the top prize in amateur tennis, for the third straight year after a determined bid by upstart India.

Ray Emerson, the Aussies' ace, clinched the cup by beating Ramanathan Krishnan 6-0, 6-2, 10-8 in Wednesday's opening singles match. Fred Stolle then completed the Australian triumph by outlasting game Jaideep Mukerjea 7-5, 6-8, 6-3, 5-7, 6-3.

The Australians, who have won the Davis Cup in seven of the last eight years and 11 of the last 17, were expected to clinch it easily after Emerson and Stolle had swept their opening singles matches Monday.

But the Indians came back with a stunning upset in Tuesday's doubles, beating Tony Roche and John Newcombe, possibly the two best men on the team.

Still India's chances seemed doomed and Emerson ended any hopes when the underdogs might have entertained, beating Krishnan. Then Stolle whipped the determined Mukerjea.

Emerson finished off Krishnan in 85 minutes as the Indian held only one service game in the first two sets.

Mukerjea earned India's only singles set victories in his closing match with Stolle. But the experienced Aussie, who had scored 12 service aces in whipping Krishnan Monday, held on to beat the Indian, who has had little international experience.

The Indians were making their first Challenge Round appearance after disposing of Brazil in the inter-zone finals. Brazil had eliminated the United States in the American Zone finals.

But they were no match for the experienced and talented Australian team.

Nationals Overpower US Team 8-1

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (CP-AP) — Canada's national hockey team, favored in the Walter Brown memorial hockey tournament, overpowered the U.S. national team 8-1 Tuesday night.

Eight Canadian players shared in the scoring as the Nationals ran their record to a victory and a tie. They tied 4-4 with the Western Canada Selects Monday night. In tonight's game, the Selects play the U.S. national team.

The tournament continues through Saturday night with each team playing the other two teams twice. Canada's national team plays its next game Thursday against the Selects.

Terry Casey scored the U.S. goal in the second period to foil a shutout bid by Canada's backup goalie, Wayne Stephenson, who made 27 saves. Carl Wetzel, former property of Detroit Red Wings, stopped 28 shots in the U.S. net.

Then the Canadians scored four quick goals in the second period to put the game out of reach.

MacPhail, a 23-year-old left wing winger from Edmonton, scored the first goal of the second period. Cadieux, 23 year-old right winger from Ottawa, and Cusson, a 24-year-old winger from Verdun, Que., then added unassisted goals. O'Shea then added another Canadian goal before Casey tallied for the U.S. O'Shea played for Peterborough Petes of the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A series last year.

Stephenson, the Manitoba Junior ace, gave a great valuable player in 1964-65, turned in a fine performance in allowing the single goal.

Carl Brewer, who quit his $20,000-a-year defenceman's job with Toronto Maple Leafs of the National Hockey League a year ago, picked up three assists.

I own a wine cellar
(And we live in an apartment!)

No matter what I whip up for an evening meal, I've a wine on hand to make it mean something. Stew will do—if there's chilled DuBarry Sparkling Vin Rosé on the table. And just taste what Manor Claret can do for hamburgers. Manor Sauterne for fish and chicken! And my whole cellar barely cost the price of a box of good hardtackerlick.

74 Sherry An appetizer wine, most popular in Canada. Serve with hors d'oeuvres, and also superb as a cocktail.

Manor St. Davids Sauterne Chilled, it does wonders for white meat of any kind—fish, fowl or pork—and salads.

Manor St. Davids Claret Canada's most distinctive "wine of the country", ideal with steaks, hamburgers, red meat of any kind.

DuBarry Sparkling Vin Rosé An "anytime" wine that's light and tingling on the tongue. Serves before, during and after any meal at all.

Manchester U Gets Revenge

LONDON (CP) — Manchester United forged back to the top of the First Division of the English League soccer Tuesday, 24 hours after being displaced by reigning champion Liverpool.

On the last day of the Christmas holiday program United trimmed Sheffield United 2-0 to gain revenge for its defeat at Sheffield Monday. United leads the first division with 32 points, two more than Liverpool which did not play today.

Stoke City moved into third place, a point behind Liverpool, with a 4-3 victory over Burnley. Chelsea, which started the holiday in second place, dropped to fourth after its two defeats by Liverpool.

Tottenham Hotspur continued its disappointing form with a goalless home draw against lowly West Bromwich Albion. Albion beat Spurs 3-0 Monday and its three Christmas points helped to ease its relegation fears.

RACE IS CLOSE

The neck-and-neck struggle at the top of the Second Division intensified, with Wolves leading by a point from Coventry with Ipswich, Blackburn and Millwall all a point further behind.

Wolves did not play today, but Coventry took one away by point from a 1-1 draw with Rotherham. Millwall which has risen from the fourth to the Second Division in successive seasons, drew 1-1 away to Northwich. Blackburn, relegated from the first division last season, scored a 2-0 victory over Carlisle.

Queens Park Rangers drew 2-2 away to Brighton and lead the Third Division by three points. Stockport without a game today, kept its four-point lead in the fourth division over Southport, whose game with Wrexham was postponed.

Meet Junior All-Stars

Czechs Ice "Top Team"

TORONTO (CP) — Ontario Hockey Association Junior A All-Stars tonight face what one Czechoslovakian has called his country's greatest national hockey team.

"We feel this is the best team we have ever had," said Dr. Drenek Andrst, president of the Czechoslovakia ice hockey section, in an interview Tuesday.

Dr. Andrst said there is no scarcity of hockey talent in his country.

"There are between 1,100 and 1,200 hockey clubs, and some of the clubs have two, three senior teams and two junior teams."

While touring Canada two years ago the Czechs announced they were rebuilding their national team, using younger players. The rebuilding program has produced eight new players and an average age for the team of slightly more than 22 years.

"We have a B team and an under-19 junior team and an under-18 junior team," said Dr. Andrst. "These are the players we are building for the future."

Dr. Andrst was asked if any of the Czech players would be allowed to play professionally.

"None of our players will be released before the 1968 Olympic Games," he answered through an interpreter. "And even after the Olympics, no players will be released who can be helpful to us."

Schlee Top Golf Rookie

Schlee started to play pro golf in 1964 but his sponsor withdrew support after three poor showings. He didn't rejoin the tour until October of 1965.

He had won less than $2,000 going into last July, but things suddenly began to click. He picked up his biggest cheque, $12,000 for second in the Minnesota golf classic, then tied for 13th at the Indianapolis 500 Open and the Canadian Open. He finished the season with about $22,000 in official money and 48th among the money winners.

Urges Two Tourneys

MELVILLE, Sask. (CP)—Two international hockey tournaments involving Canada, Russia, Czechoslovakia and Sweden should be staged every season, Gordon Juckes of Melville said Tuesday.

Juckes, secretary-manager of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association, said the tournaments would help prevent one-sided defeats such as those administered in Newfoundland by the touring Russian national team.

"It is just about impossible for us to provide good games for selected or national teams from Russia, Czechoslovakia or Sweden unless we put together an all-star team or use our national team," Juckes said in a telephone interview.

"Canadian club teams aren't strong enough any more to meet top European teams on even terms.

"If hometown people want to see their own teams play against European competition we'll schedule games with the West Germans, for example, or Polish or Finnish national teams."

HAD SHORT NOTICE

Juckes said the four games scheduled for the Russians in the Maritimes were set up on short notice after Russia withdrew from the annual Walter Brown tournament at Colorado Springs.

Junior "A" Scoring

Unger Moves Up

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Gary Unger, fast-moving forward with London's Nationals, combined a scheduled advantage and a seven-point scoring spree to close in on Derek Sanderson in the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A scoring race.

Sanderson still led the race after Monday's games with 68 points but Unger was a close second with 63.

A big factor was the schedule, which gave Unger three games in which to pick up his four goals and three assists, Niagara Falls Flyers played only once and the best Sanderson could do for them was a single point.

However, the Flyers now have played four fewer games than the Nats.

Sanderson's total includes 18 goals and 28 assists while Unger leads the league in goals with 23 to his credit.

Four players on the league-leading Kitchener Rangers are among the league's Big 10 this week. Jack McCreary is tied for fifth place with Peterborough's Petes Mick Redmond at 56 points, and captain Wayt Thrash, Don Luce and rookie Tim Ecclesion have 55 points each.

Peterborough's John Vanderburg and Gary Monahan hold down third and fourth places in the scoring race with 59 and 57 points, respectively

Ian Young, goalminder for the lowly Oshawa Generals, this week moved in front in the netminder race. He has allowed 73 goals in 23 games for a 3.17 average but in the same 23 games the Generals have scored only 84 times.

Prime Minister Arrests King In World's Youngest Nation

MASERU, Lesotho (AP)—The prime minister of the world's second youngest nation put his king under house arrest at midnight Tuesday night after months of feuding over their respective powers.

Prime Minister Leabua Jonathan of Lesotho ordered King Moshoeshoe II confined to his palace in Maseru following a day of disorder in which six persons were killed and more than 100 arrested. The day included a police inspector.

Jonathan said Moshoeshoe have been disputing the division of political powers made when Lesotho, formerly Basutoland, gained its independence from Britain Oct. 4. The tiny African nation has an area of 11,716 square miles, a population of about 880,000, and is surrounded by South Africa.

When the country became independent, control of the police, armed forces and foreign affairs was given to the government under supervision of the prime minister. Moshoeshoe, who had been paramount, claimed those powers should have been given to him.

The king was placed under arrest by the commissioner of police under terms of the Emergency Powers Act, which provides for maintenance of peace. Orders were given to let no one enter or leave the palace without the government's permission, a government information officer said. The palace is guarded by armed members of the paramilitary police mobile unit.

NEW UP ROADBLOCKS

Violence occurred Tuesday after Jonathan's government set up roadblocks to search people on their way to a gathering that the 28-year-old king was to address at Thaba Bosigo, 18 miles from Maseru.

Authorities said about 100 Negroes stormed from their vehicles after they were stopped by a police patrol, headed by Inspector Paul Ratsiane Mafil.

The crowd killed Mafil with his own revolver and injured several troopers.

The police fired on the group, killing five and wounding 10 others. Jonathan warned the king to stay away from the meeting and it was never held.

The prime minister issued a statement charging that the disturbances were the result of a plot "between the king and opposition leaders to take the government by force of arms in the hope that, in the resulting upheaval, the king would assume dictatorial powers for which he has always yearned."

Among those arrested were three leading members of the opposition Congress Party and a large number of their supporters.

POWERS LIMITED

King Moshoeshoe, his powers strictly limited under the country's constitution, has sided with the political opposition, which objects to the government's cooperation with white ruled South Africa.

Moshoeshoe opposed the constitution under which Britain granted independence Oct. 4. The Congress party has backed his claim to real power, in stead of the formal role of constitutional monarch allotted him under the present setup.

Moshoeshoe earlier demanded sweeping executive powers that would make him virtually an absolute monarch, with control over armed forces, police and foreign policy.

Basutoland's main export is manpower to South Africa. More than 200,000 of its men work there, mainly in the gold mines. The money they send home to their families is import tant to Basutoland's financial position.

Canada's Wheat Exports To China Big Recently

OTTAWA (CP) — Canadian wheat exports to China in the first three months of the current crop year almost were equal to Canada's shipments to all of Western Europe, including the big British market.

Figures released Tuesday by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics for August, September and October also showed that with exports to other Asian countries —including food aid to India—that market is taking more than 40 per cent of Canada's worldwide sales.

The Asian figures are up sharply from comparable totals for the 1965-66 crop year. While the figures fluctuate in any three-month period, according to local crop production and varying needs of the importing countries, the latest tabulations demonstrate the role of the Asian market.

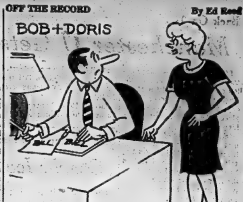
ALMOST TRIPLE

Shipments to Communist China in the first three months of the crop year, which started Aug. 1, totalled 40,903,985 bushels, compared with 14,886,796 in the same three months last year.

This year's China figure compares with 17,903,436 bushels shipped to Britain, 30,279,805 bushels to the European Economic Community, and about 4,000,000 to other West European countries.

The whole of the West European imports—42,183,325 bushels—was, however, just slightly under the total of Canadian shipments to Russia and its East European satellites—43,210,438 bushels.

Total shipments to China, India, Japan, Pakistan, North Korea and other Asian countries were 89,508,807 bushels in the August-October period, more than double the 33,330,507 bushels shipped to that continent in the same period last year.



In August, September and October last year, Asia's market for 88,330,277 bushels ranked well below the West European imports of 42,063,812.

But East European imports last year were running at a high level of 84,754,494 bushels for the quarter-year, sparked by Russia's big imports.

Rations Increased

NEW DELHI (AP) — About 19,000,000 persons in the worst-affected areas of drought-stricken Bihar State in eastern India will have their grain rations increased to eight ounces a day from six beginning Jan. 1, the government announced Tuesday. It followed by five days an announcement that the United States would make an emergency shipment of 900,000 tons of grains and the Soviet Union 200,000.

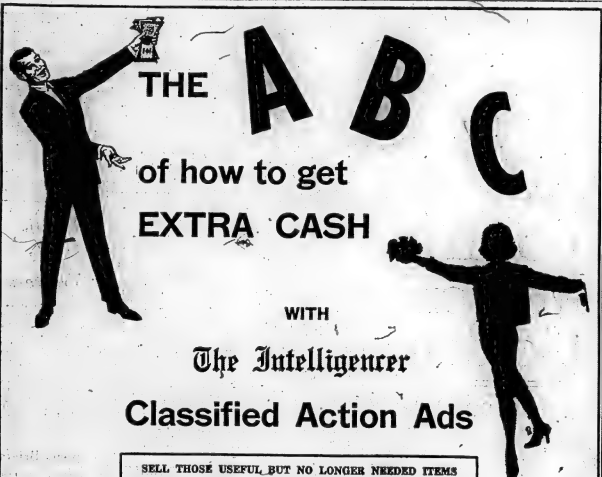
Mrs. Blanche Burley is a patient in Belleville General Hospital.

Guy Favreau In Hospital

OTTAWA (CP) — Guy Favreau, Quebec leader in the federal Liberal party, is back in hospital for further treatment of an illness that has kept him from his cabinet duties nearly four months.

He was reported in good condition Tuesday in Ottawa General Hospital, where he was admitted early in September suffering from pneumonia, exhaustion and complications.



Mr. Favreau, 49, was released in November for convalescence at home and returned a week ago for tests and observation. He lost considerable weight in hospital and there is no word on when he is expected to be released.

Party sources say Mr. Favreau is expected to announce his retirement from politics early in the new year, opening the way for a cabinet shuffle and a few byelections.

He is expected to resign from his Montreal Papineau seat in the Commons as well as from his two cabinet portfolios of registrar - general and privy council president.

Lions Help Whales Breathe, Enlarging Hole in Arctic Ice

INUVIK, N.W.T. (CP)—The town Lions Club has enlarged a breathing hole used by a herd of white whales trapped in a nearby arctic lake, 1,200 miles northwest of Edmonton, and has called for special equipment to cut a second hole in the thick lake ice.

The club, spearheading a drive for equipment and supplies to keep the herd of beluga alive, requires a chain saw with a tongue that will cut through 3½ feet of ice. Most saws are much smaller.

The club established a camp Monday at Erkimo Lake, where the whales are trapped, and will man the base to install and operate the equipment and supplies worth $3,500 that were airlifted free of charge Saturday.

The club has announced that additional finances will be necessary to keep two men on ice at the lake during the next few months of extreme cold and long hours of darkness. Club President Tom Rusnak said only one month's pay can be guaranteed the men.

The whales were trapped in the lake after failing to get back to the Arctic Ocean, through a maze of lakes and peninsulas, and thence to the Pacific Ocean. The original herd was estimated at 17. Current estimates of those still alive range from nine to 12.

P. J. Benson, acting as Edmonton representative for a save-the-whales campaign, said today he will apply to charter the campaign as a charitable foundation.

The charter is needed to guarantee payment of $12 a day to an Eskimo who has agreed to stay at the lake and keep the equipment operating.

The equipment includes a diesel lighting plant, a submersible water pump and two 2,000-watt lighting systems, all needed to keep open a hole in the ice so the whales can surface to breathe.

The whales were able to keep the hole open when the water first froze in October, but the hole gradually became smaller.

Mr. Benson said additional equipment needed now includes another lighting plant, two more pumps, a sizable building on the site, two watchmen, two chain saws equipped to cut the thick ice, a tent, food and enough funds to pay two men.

The whales, foraging area would be increased by opening a second hole. The original breathing hole was 18 feet by 35 feet and had been growing smaller when enlarged this weekend.

A federal mammalogist said Tuesday beluga are common in northern salt water and there was ample precedent for such strandings, either while hiding from killer whales or by ebbing tides.

G. L. Grant, of Winnipeg, area director for the federal fisheries department, said in an interview Tuesday that in addition to breathing and foraging problems the whales could also be threatened by an increased proportion of fresh water.

The fresh water would come from ice and the spring thaw. Belugas are salt water mammals.

Mr. Grant could not say at what level of fresh water the whales would be threatened. He added that although food is a problem, the whales could probably survive for some time on blubber-stored energy.

House Parties Favored Over Night Spots For Greeting Canada's Centennial Year

Cross-Canada Survey
By THE CANADIAN PRESS

The "typical" Canadian will welcome Centennial Year at a friend's home.

A Cross-Canada Survey by The Canadian Press shows that the demand for New Year's Eve reservations at night spots isn't up to the usual level, and the reason likely is that New Year's Day falls on a Sunday.

In most provinces public bars will close at or before midnight and in some provinces the night spots themselves must close by midnight.

For those who do go out on the town the tab is likely to be steeper than ever despite the shorter hours.

Top fee is $50 a head at Montreal's Queen Elizabeth Hotel. The fee will buy you a "luxury" dinner and allow you to be entertained by comedian Frank Fontaine and dance to the orchestra of Nick Martin. But drinks will be extra.

However, the majority of Montrealers will end up at a club or cabaret where the cover charge will be no more than $2 and the price of drinks modest.

Torontonians will pay $30 a couple to get into the Royal York Hotel's Imperial Room, where the dinner will cost an extra $8 to $12 a plate.

Ontario is one of the provinces where liquor laws have been relaxed slightly for the occasion. Drinks will be served until midnight instead of 11:30 p.m. and dancing will go on until 2 a.m. or later.

Robert Bonner, British Columbia's attorney-general, says he doubts police will enforce laws that require liquor outlets to close at midnight, provided they shut down by 2 a.m.

Vancouver's most expensive entertainment is $40 a couple at the rooftop room of a downtown hotel. The average tab runs $2 to $15 a couple.

Sale of liquor at Alberta outlets will end at 11:30 p.m. The price of entertainment will run from $15 to $40 a person.

Most expensive place in Regina will be the Hotel Saskatchewan, at $25 a couple. Tickets are still available there and at other nightclubs where the price is $12.50 to $15 a couple.

The average charge at Winnipeg hotels and nightclubs will be $7 to $12.50 a person, and in Manitoba the bars will close at midnight. As in B.C. and Ontario, however, the nightspots will stay open for dining and dancing.

New Brunswick bars will be open until 1 a.m.—the usual closing hour for the province. Prices at Saint John range up to $25 a couple.

Top price is Charlottetown will be $10 a person at a downtown hotel, while at Halifax the maximum tab will be $30.

At St. John's, Nfld., nearly three-quarters of the nightclubs are insisting on formal wear. Despite the requirement most have been booked solid for two weeks.

One thing will be true no matter where you go—police forces will be at full strength to check on the condition of celebrants who decide to drive home.

Centennial Grants Near $10 Million

TORONTO — On the eve of Canada's centenary, gifts totalling close to $10 million have been wrapped up for Ontario's celebration of the nation's 100th birthday.

The actual amount, $9,708,736, represents the combined contributions to date by the federal and provincial governments towards Ontario centennial projects.

Approval of the latest group, amounting to $80,000, was announced Monday night by Hon. Judy LaMarsh, Secretary of State and Minister responsible for Centennial Affairs, and Hon. James Auld, Ontario Minister of Tourism and Information and chairman of the Provincial Centennial Committee.

Biggest enterprise in the list of four recent approvals is the City of Chatham's construction of a library building. The $613,500 cost will be assisted by matching grants of $29,760 from Queen's Park and Ottawa, a Canada Winter Works grant of $65,324 and an Ontario Winter Works grant of $32,666 to go with the municipality's share of $453,474.

A community centre was chosen by the Township of Jaffray-Melick in the Kenora area, the $22,985 expenditure to be aided by equal donations of $2,533 by Ontario and Ottawa and an Ontario Community Centres Act grant of $8,000, the township bearing the balance.

Two projects are being undertaken by the Township of Cavan in the Millbrook district. One, restoration of the township hall at a cost of $2,945, will be helped by similar gifts of $967 from the two senior governments; the other, a municipal park costing $3,200, will be assisted by duplicate contributions of $1,067 from Queen's Park and Ottawa, the township sustaining the remainders.

Priest Weds Divorcee

BELLEVILLE, Ill. (AP) — Robert G. Wesselmann, former chancellor of the Roman Catholic diocese of Belleville, announced Tuesday he was married to a divorcee last fall.

The priest said he was married to Mildred H. Burton, 36, of Belleville in a civil ceremony.

Wesselmann, 36, resigned as chancellor of the diocese Oct. 25. The position is the third highest in the diocese. At the time he said he was resigning for reasons of health.

The chancery office in Belleville declined to comment on the former chancellor's status as a priest. He held the rank of monsignor.

"I am convinced that I am no longer called to love and serve in the priesthood as it is currently structured," said Wesselmann.

He said he would work for a private firm in Kansas City, Mo., evaluating poverty programs in the city.

"I feel that there are two underlying reasons for this conviction," Wesselmann's statement said:

"First of all the slowness of the church in America to implement the vision initiated by Vatican Council II, and secondly, the failure of the institutional church to sufficiently identify with the poor and with those who suffer from prejudice and other so-called ills."

Two White S.A. Police Officers Slain

JOHANNESBURG (AP)—Two white South African police reservists were killed early today after they stopped a car to question three Negroes in the northern Johannesburg suburb of Rosebank, police reported.

One of the Negroes stabbed one of the policemen, wrenched his pistol from him and shot both of the white men, police said.

They said E. G. Anderson, 42, a tobacco company public relations official, was stabbed and shot three times in the chest. D. F. Pirie, 36, a company secretary, was shot twice in the stomach.

The two members of the police reserve, who volunteer to assist the regular police force, were on a routine patrol in a police car.

Super Specials Seem Winners

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The year's end has brought a rash of super-specials for moviegoers —The Sand Pebbles and Grand Prix, filmed for a total cost of $22,000,000. Both seem to be winners.

Robert Wise, who created the most popular movie of all time, The Sound of Music, deals with different matters in The Sand Pebbles. This time he depicts war and revolution, as if in cameo caught in the internal strife.

Admirers of Wise's musicals —he also made West Side Story —may have forgotten that he can also handle realism in an expert manner, as witness Somebody Up There Likes Me and I Want to Live. He shows his skill in The Sand Pebbles, especially in a pricelight scene and in a shipboard battle.

USES LANDSCAPES

Wise makes full use of the Chinese landscapes — actually Formosa and Hong Kong. But he is also an actor's director, and he draws from Steve McQueen a beautifully sustained and naturalistic performance. The rest of the cast performs with skill, and Candice Bergen in her first big role proves she has star quality.

Grand Prix covers the more contemporary scene of the speed-car world as definitely as it can possibly be done. The audience is placed in low-slung racers and whirled around Europe's classic tracks at 180 m.p.h. so that you get the thrill, the danger—and almost the smell—of the race.

Director John Frankenheimer, whose love of racing is obvious in every scene, has used the cinerama screen for a degree of participation far beyond the roller-coaster ride of the original cinerama movie. The result is exciting, hypnotic and sometimes vertigo - inducing. Frankenheimer wisely varies the racing shots with split screens and sometimes fragmented one, hurling a dozen or more separate scenes on the screen.

CBC Works on Satellite

FORT ERIE, Ont. (CP)—The CBC is doing advanced, hardheaded work on development of television space satellites, State Secretary LaMarsh said Tuesday.

Without predicting when Canada will get the first one of his own, she predicted it will sit in stationary orbit like the U.S. Early Bird satellite. It will provide a coverage pattern enveloping "our entire country, including the far north."

Miss LaMarsh, speaking to the Fort Erie Junior Chamber of Commerce, said the CBC is talking in terms of a satellite costing about $10,000,000.

Whether the system is operated by the publicly-owned corporation or privately, this is her vision of it:

"Programs would be fed into the system from a few transmission sites, probably in the major production centres such as Montreal and Toronto.

"The satellite then would relay the programs to ground transmitters spread across the country at enough locations to assure maximum coverage. . . .

"The experts tell us we are not more than a decade away from an even greater technological breakthrough which will show us to transmit directly from satellites to home receivers without the need for intermediate ground stations."

30 Escapees Still on Loose In Britain

LONDON (AP)—Sixteen of 30 prisoners who escaped from British jails during the Christmas weekend were still on the loose today following the voluntary return of one and the capture of another.

The rash of escapes has members of Parliament exerting pressure on Home Secretary Roy Jenkins to come up with a guaranteed remedy and demanding special measures to prevent more breakouts. About 300 prisoners have escaped this year.

One of five long-term prisoners who broke out of Dartmoor prison over Christmas was captured Tuesday night after crashing a stolen car through a police roadblock.

Police dogs and their handlers were moved inside the walls of seven major prisons Tuesday night in an attempt to stem the exodus.

Time Spot Makes Little Difference to Gomer Pyle

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP)—There are two categories of successful television shows.

There is the genuine hit, the kind the public likes and will follow in a new time period or a new night.

Gomer Pyle is an example. Last season it had high Nielsen ratings Friday evening. This season it is doing even better Wednesday nights.

There also are the shows, counted as successful, that beat their network's competition. Some poor shows are hits merely because the opposition was even worse. Gilligan's Island was a hit last season when it was on Thursday night opposite Gidget.

This season it moved to Monday nights and found real competition in The Monkees and The Iron Horse. It dropped like a stone in the ratings and its survival now is in doubt.

Programs with weak competition are in what the trade calls "a soft spot." The happiest position for a fledgling show used to be opposite CBS' excellent Tuesday night news hour which almost always had small audiences.

NBC's movie returns have become so popular that The Fugitive, a Nielsen leader for several seasons, has slipped to where it is doubtful it will return next season.

A fairly good show sometimes gets lost in competition. Jericho, soon to depart, is a fast-moving adventure series, but it never had a chance between Daniel Boone and Batman, Thursday nights.

Student Against Lowering of Drinking Age

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont. (CP) Lowering the drinking age would be disastrous to youth, a university student said Tuesday.

Speaking to the annual Ontario youth conference on alcohol problems, Darrell Picketts, a second-year pre-medical student at Queen's University in Kingston, said brawls and injury on campus indicate the drinking age should not be lowered.

He said the under-age drinker at university seems to be almost immune to police action.

"Until a short time ago, when preventive measures were taken, there used to be an average of four or five persons injured by flying bottles at every football game," he said.

Thomas A. Knott, director of youth work for the Ontario Temperance Federation, criticized parents and theologians for a lack of guidance to youth.

"Where can youth secure clearly defined guidelines so necessary today," Mr. Knott said.

"The free-wheeling theologian who sanctions premarital sex 'if you are sure' is likely the same voice that proclaims 'God is dead,'" he said.

584 in U.S. Lost Lives Over Holiday

CHICAGO (AP) — Latest figures show that 584 persons lost their lives in the three - day Christmas weekend in the U.S. Last year 720 persons were killed during traffic accidents, since traffic safety officials said bad weather, intense driver education and increased police patrols contributed to the decrease in fatalities.

DATE HAS CHANGED

Dec. 25 is not Christ's historical birthday but was chosen for the observation of Christmas by Bishop Liberius of Rome.

Fiery Puff--Million Loss

Explosion of a 55-gallon drum of kerosene sends a huge ball of fire through heavy black smoke as flames rage in the Stokely Van Camp No. 1 canning plant and warehouse in Fairmont, Minn. A company official estimated loss at one million dollars.
(AP Wirephoto)

Old Sabotage Training Camp Now Communications Centre

OSHAWA, Ont. (CP) — The fence around the 275-acre base is only five feet high and it's not there to guard any secrets about a sabotage training centre that operated on the site during the Second World War.

It's merely to keep the public out; to prevent someone from blundering into the high-voltage transmission wires and either killing himself or fouling up operations.

"I'm running a communications detachment, and a wartime museum," says Capt. E. H. Heavens, the commanding officer. "I don't have people wandering around here getting in the way of the operation."

But to dispel the air of secrecy he took Oshawa Times reporter Gerry Soroka and photographer Ernest Jones on a tour of the base, which stretches back from the shore of Lake Ontario to the old city.

Only one building was off limits to the visitors. Capt. Heavens explained that it is the centre for sending messages to points in Canada and overseas. Another is the radio and receiving devices and other secret equipment.

Attention was recently focused on the base by John Pearson's new book, The Life of Ian Fleming, in which he wrote that the author of the James Bond stories was training during the war at Sir William Stephenson's counter - espionage school in a farmhouse at Oshawa.

The school was also mentioned some years ago in The Quiet Canadian, a biography of Stephenson, wartime chief of the British intelligence network in North and South America.

"Here the new recruit was taught the importance of accurate observation . . . how to creep behind an armed sentry and kill him instantly without noise. . . . in the course in unarmed combat, he learned many holds' whose use would enable him to break an adversary's arm or leg, to knock him unconscious or to kill him outright.

"He learned to handle a Tommy gun and to use several different types of revolvers and pistols.

"Much of his time was spent in mastering the art of sabotage. . . . The school trained more than 300 carefully chosen students and conducted 52 courses."

A retired army officer, who asked that his name not be used, confirmed that the station was used for training in the use of various types of firearms. He said men came to the camp in groups, stayed a few days, then left before a new group came. There were about 12 permanent officers and more than 25 men regularly stationed there.

The property was occupied for defence purposes as early as 1941 but people living in the area didn't know it by any name except Camp X because of the secrecy surrounding its early operations. The counter-espionage school closed up in 1944.

OFFICER DIED

While few persons associated with the school will talk about it, there is a possibility that it had several casualties. In Oshawa's Union Cemetery I saw a simple plaque on the ground in Soldier's Plata that reads:

"In proud memory of our beloved son, Captain Howard B. Burgess, Intelligence Corps, Died June 3rd, 1942, in his 27th year. Lest we forget."

Capt. Burgess was stationed at Camp X and died shortly after being posted there. It has been rumored that he suffered injuries while training and died later in hospital.

And while the undertaker who buried him says the defence department has sworn him to secrecy about circumstances of the death, he adds that "in the period between 1941 and 1945 there were several cases of death there."

It was in 1947 that the Royal Canadian Corps of Signals took over the property and buildings and set up a communications detachment now operated for the Canadian armed forces.

Communications from the centre go directly to Canadian forces overseas and to the North. The six transmitters on the base send messages in direct hops of 2,500 miles.

It has buildings used for storage, living quarters, transmission centre, administration, communications, power plant and a gate house. The basement of the transmission centre has been converted into a fallout shelter.

Providing Modern Equipment Best Way to Hold Teachers

TORONTO (CP) — Teachers are more interested in improved teaching methods than in higher salaries, James D. McNabb, president of the Ontario Secondary School Teachers' Federation said Tuesday.

In an interview following an address in the federation's 47th annual meeting, Mr. McNabb said higher pay is effective in getting and keeping teachers for two or three years.

"But a teacher is not in there long until he sees this professional side is the most important.

"Boards keep crying salary, but a lot of teachers are crying for classroom television, overhead projectors and other teaching aids, plus the time to learn how to use them."

Mr. McNabb said that reaching the student more effectively is the main satisfaction in teaching.

"Producing a better learning situation is the most important item as far as I'm concerned."

Mr. McNabb, a Peterborough high school principal, said teachers deserve more pay and must get more if Ontario schools are to stand a chance of filling the 4,800 vacancies expected next year.

He told the federation meeting that existing salary scales are not adequate to attract young men and women to teaching. A university honors graduate can start in industry for $6,500 a year, about $800 more than beginning teachers, he said.

"I just know they can't fill all the vacancies with qualified people."

"The reason you can't evade is salary," Mr. McNabb said. "Teaching just can't compete with private industry."

"Let's face it, you're a graduating university student with honor grades and you have a choice of $5,400 to start teaching or $6,200 to enter business or industry. Which would you take?"

Another big factor in the teachers' shortage are the revised courses which keep more students in school.

"We used to aim at a ratio of 22 students to one teacher. Now we figure on a 17-to-one ratio."

The need for more teachers was also the result of new composite schools, where technical or other specialized courses demand fewer students per class.

Toronto Group Plans To Import Tropic Isle

TORONTO (CP)—The Toronto Citizens' Centenary Committee wants to change part of a busy downtown street into a pioneer village and import a tropical island, complete with swaying palm trees for centenial year.

The committee announced Tuesday an ambitious plan to mark the centenial in Toronto.

Projects in committee plans, or hopes to plan, include:

—A race over Toronto in balloons.

—Painting every sidewalk red, white and blue.

—Importing celebrities with Canadian backgrounds — initially Lorne Greene and Guy Lombardo.

—Refloating an old ferry in Toronto harbor, then blowing it up.

—Having Mayor William Dennison sail across Lake Ontario to the United States to promote an international sailboat race.

—Renaming University Avenue to Confederation Avenue and decorating it with $1,500,000 worth of bunting.

—Dispatching horsehack riders to every community within riding distance of Toronto to invite people here for the celebrations.

Robbers Get $240 From Post Office

BLACKWATER, Ont. (CP) — Two armed robbers Tuesday night held up the post office in this community 25 miles north of Oshawa and escaped with $240 in cash and a cheque of undisclosed value.

Provincial police said road blocks were set up in the surrounding area but the men escaped by car.

Quiet End to Book Row Likely

NEW YORK (AP)—The Kennedy book dispute could end quietly following Mrs. John F. Kennedy's decision to temporarily withhold her suit to stop its publication, a family spokesman indicated today.

"I'm not going to guarantee it," he said, "but much points to a resolution. There has been progress and I think things could well be resolved moderately and soon."

Lawyers for Mrs. Kennedy and Harper and Row, publishers of William Manchester's The Death of a President, an account of the Kennedy assassination, agreed Tuesday to put off hearings on her request for an injunction against the book until mid-January in expectation of a reasonably quick settlement.

The parties, ordered to appear at a New York State Supreme Court hearing, said the arrangement would give them sufficient time for more discussion on passages to be trimmed from the 300,000-word text. Both sides characterized progress as "steady."

"We're probably at a stage now where things depend more on the doctors than the lawyers," the Kennedy spokesman said. "We just have to wait for the author, although we'll be talking about other things for the next week or so." Manchester is in hospital with a mild case of pneumonia.

Harper and Row called the situation "hopeful and indicated that an amicable settlement was thought possible soon.

The publisher also agreed in the statement not to bring out the book until April 1. Look magazine earlier reached a settlement with Mrs. Kennedy on deletions in its 60,000-word extract of the text, the first instalment of which reaches newsstands Jan. 10.

The book and magazine publishers worked on removing passages Mrs. Kennedy considers of personal rather than historical interest since she moved to block publication Dec. 16. Manchester, she charged in her suit, had invaded her privacy and broken a contract stipulation he must submit the manuscript for her approval before turning it over to Harper and Row.

Dr. F. Erwin Tracy said Manchester, 48, was responding well to treatment and no longer in critical condition.

Diefenbaker Joins Call for Reducing Forces in Europe

OTTAWA (CP) — Opposition Leader Diefenbaker has added his voice to the growing chorus seeking a Canadian troop reduction in Europe.

And External Affairs Minister Martin has said Canada at the recent NATO ministerial meeting in Paris suggested reciprocal reductions in opposing NATO and Warsaw Pact forces—though not in the immediate future.

The New Democratic Party has long advocated a complete Canadian military withdrawal from Europe. This country maintains a 6,300-man infantry brigade and 5,300-man air division in Europe.

For the last year or more, a group within the Conservative parliamentary party led by Hebert Smith, MP for Simcoe North, has been suggesting Canadian troop reductions in Europe, if not complete withdrawal.

SUGGESTED REDUCTION

Mr. Diefenbaker had not reported Mr. Smith's group, at least publicly, until he said in the Commons Dec. 19 that "Canada should give consideration to reducing the numbers of her forces on the continent of Europe" because of the easing of East-West tension and the preponderance of nuclear power in the U.S.

Meanwhile, the government has reversed its policy in regard to West German participation in a NATO nuclear force.

On political though not military grounds, Canada had supported the proposal for a seaborne NATO nuclear force in which West Germany, though not Canada itself, would have participated. The proposal came mainly from Germany and the U.S.

But the government now feels that a treaty designed to prevent the spread of nuclear weapons must come ahead of any plan to give its German ally in NATO any finger on the nuclear trigger.

At the NATO meeting in Paris this month, the alliance established a seven-nation committee to plan nuclear strategy. West Germany is a permanent member and Canada a temporary member.

THE WEATHER

Friday: Variable cloudiness. A little colder. Low 15. High 22.

Four Inches of Snow Down, Two More to Come

The weatherman today was predicting more of the same as the Quinte district stayed under through the heaviest winter snowfall to date.

Almost four inches of snow fell throughout the area during the night, blowing in on winds gusting up to 35 mph.

The duty forecaster at Canadian Forces Base Trenton, said snowflurries today would drop another two inches on the district — with winds 15-35 mph.

The same conditions prevailed throughout the entire district. The Department of Lands and Forests radio station at Tweed reported four inches of snow at Palmer Rapids, north of Bancroft.

The fallout slowed highway and urban traffic, but area Provincial Police detachments reported no serious accidents.

In Belleville, the snow sent all available city snow-clearing machinery into action and City Engineer Wilbur Purcell said if the storm kept up snow removal from the downtown area would commence tonight.

Most of the main traffic arteries had been plowed by early morning, while sidewalk plows also were called out to make the going easier for pedestrians.

10 Men Died Quickly

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP)— The skipper of the big British fishing trawler St. Finbarr says 10 of his men died in minutes Christmas Day when fire struck at the icy seas off Labrador.

Captain Thomas Sawyers, thirty-eyed and weary like 32 other survivors, reached this ancient port Wednesday aboard the British dragger Orsino, the ship that staged a rescue on her maiden voyage.

A Canadian transport department inquiry into the marine disaster opens today. Captain Sawyers told his story to reporters Wednesday night.

Rocked by explosions in her forward crew quarters and engine room aft and torn by a fire for 36 hours afterwards, the 210-foot St. Finbarr went to the bottom under low Tuesday, 200 miles south of where the fire broke out and just 40 miles from shelter in Hare Bay on the northern tip of the island of Newfoundland.

Captain Sawyers said she carried the bodies of 20 trapped men with her and he believed they died within 10 minutes after the fire broke out.

HALL TO DEATH

Two others, exhausted and numb from 10-below-zero temperatures, fell into the icy waters and perished trying to scale an ice-coated ladder from a Mercatt alongside the pitching Orsino early Christmas Day.

Captain Edward Woolridge, 52, of the Orsino, recalled at a news conference with Captain Sawyers that seaman Harry Smith and wireless operator Thomas Gray "were in bad condition. They were in the water twice."

After three men made it up the ladder, Smith found himself unable to complete the climb and fell back into the water but managed to scramble into the raft.

"He reached for the ladder and I think he was too far gone to have the strength," Captain Woolridge said. "He made a

Survivor Assisted Ashore

Ship Blew Up While Captain Called Help

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP) — Capt. Tom Sawyers, 38-year-old veteran of 25 years at sea, told Wednesday night of a horror-filled Christmas morning aboard his burning British trawler St. Finbarr in Labrador-zero weather off the desolate Labrador coast.

Capt. Sawyers, a native of Fleetwood, Eng., and father of four, spoke in the comfort of a hotel suite two hours after he and 12 other survivors from his 25-man crew arrived on the rescue ship Orsino.

"I had just got on the bridge after breakfast Christmas morning," he told a news conference. "the second cook came on the bridge and informed us there was smoke in the accommodations down below.

"I ran off the bridge and managed to get down two decks, but the smoke was so intense I just couldn't stand it so I had to go back to get a rag to put around my face. I went down again and dragged the smoke mask out of the locker. It got jammed. I couldn't see but somebody behind me was pulling it."

Capt. Sawyers, obviously fatigued, said he returned to the bridge, sounded the alarm and sent out a "mayday" message which "was answered almost immediately."

The trawler Orsino, about 440 miles away at the time, raced for the St. Finbarr's position.

"I said I could hold my position. The ship's on fire everywhere . . . full of smoke. I'll put the lights on. I'm going around in circles."

He continued to circle the ship, partly to keep the wind away from the fire which was confined to the forward third of the ship.

He went back to the telephone to call Capt. Edward Woolridge, 52, of the Orsino.

"I picked the telephone up. I called 'mayday' again."

Captain Sawyers asked reporters, "would you like the actual words?

"I said . . . Christ, she's blown up. The next thing I knew I was outside on the port casing, laid alongside the funnel with part of the telephone in my hand. That's how quick it happened. That all happened in a matter of seven minutes."

CBRT Says 'No' to Offer

OTTAWA (CP) — Negotiators for the Canadian Brotherhood of Railway, Transport and General Workers have turned down a railway wage offer and a federal mediator says the rejection is "a disservice to the trade union movementin Canada."

The union announced Wednesday that bargainers for its 20,000 members have voted thumbs down on railway proposals for a 24-per-cent pay increase over three years, which means the issue now must go to compulsory arbitration.

H. Carl Goldenburg of Montreal, the in-between man for Ottawa in the contract dispute between 120,000 workers and the country's major railways, said the CBRT executive's decision was "very ill-advised."

The basic wage offer was accepted earlier this month by other trade unions representing about 80,000 rail workers in the shop trades and non-operating categories and 20,000 conductors and brakemen.

But CBRT leaders walked out of mediation proceedings with Mr. Goldenberg Nov. 23, claiming they had no confidence an agreement could be reached acceptable to their membership, most of whom work for the CNR.

"In my opinion they are doing a disservice to their own members by not giving them an opportunity to vote on the offer and also a disservice to the trade movement in Canada by preferring compulsory arbitration to collective bargaining," Mr. Goldenberg said.

When Mr. Goldenberg reported 10 days ago to Labor Minister Nicholson, he said he was confident the CBRT would agree to settlement approved by the remainder of the unions involved in the dispute.

Informants here said there was a good possibility members of the seven shopcraft unions will refuse to ratify the agreement signed by their negotiators but T. W. Read, president of that group, said at Montreal Wednesday the CBRT move will not affect their decision because ballots already have been cast but not yet tabulated.

But voting by other rail workers is expected to last well into January and the CBRT decision could affect the outcome.

The wage offer was arrived at after three months of mediation that began in September after Parliament ordered an end to a seven-day strike that began Aug. 26.

The legislation provided an interim wage increase of 18 per cent over two years. Four per cent was retroactive to Jan. 1 this year, four per cent to July 1, another four per cent applied Jan. 1, 1967, and the final six per cent next July 1.

Mr. Goldenberg's mediation formula retained the two four-per-cent increases for this year but changed the 1967 schedule to seven per cent on Jan. 1 and three per cent July 1. Then it added six per cent Jan. 1, 1968, to provide a three-year contract.

Government officials had been hopeful that compulsory arbitration could be avoided but it now is mandatory and under law will be handled by a board of three persons named by the cabinet.

Queen Mother Returns Home

LONDON (Reuters) — Queen Mother Elizabeth returned home Wednesday night after spending three weeks in hospital, it was announced today.

The Queen Mother, 66, underwent surgery for relief of a bowl obstruction Dec. 10.

Today's bulletin said she went home to convalesce after making "an uninterrupted recovery."

'Flatten Hanoi' Urges Senator, 'Let World Opinion Fly a Kite'

WASHINGTON (AP)—Mendel L. Rivers, chairman of the armed services committee of the U.S. House of Representatives, says the United States should "flatten Hanoi if necessary . . . and let world opinion go fly a kite."

His Senate counterpart, chairman Richard B. Russell of the armed services committee, says "the use of superior force is the only means by which they (the Communists) can be forced to the conference table."

Rivers, a South Carolina Democrat, said in a telephone interview Wednesday night from Charleston, S.C. "we should use to the fullest the potential of our great air power" against North Vietnam.

He said the lack of full use of such power "is why these people think we're kidding."

He derided reports of civilian casualties in North Vietnam and asked: "What about these (American) flyers that have been shot down on these missions of indecision? Nobody seems to be worried about these fellows."

Snow, Rain Whip Ontario

TORONTO (CP)—Snow and freezing rain whipped across Ontario Wednesday night and early today, creating hazardous driving conditions but no exceptional rash of accidents.

Northern Ontario took the brunt of the storm that moved up over the Great Lakes from the United States and then veered into Quebec.

More than five inches of snow fell at Sault Ste. Marie overnight.

At North Bay driving conditions were "slippery in some places" as blowing snow covered sections of highway.

Winds gusting between 30 and 50 miles an hour across northern Ontario Wednesday slowed traffic on the Queen Elizabeth Way to one-third of normal.

Freezing rain and snow up to four inches deep gave Toronto its first major storm of the season.

About 4,000 houses and a factory in east Windsor were without power for 30 minutes Wednesday when a car skidded into a pole, breaking a high tension circuit.

More snow was expected later along the north shore of Georgian Bay, but temperatures in southern Ontario were to be around the freezing mark.

Moon Gardens Forecast

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Harvard University astronomer predicted today expeditions of men to the moon in 10 to 20 years with the adventures taxplus their drinking water from lunar rocks and planting the first lunar gardens.

But, he said, they'll have to be equipped to do their daytime gardening amid temperatures ranging up to 212 degrees fahrenheit.

And, he said, if they venture from their shelters at night to check on their moon - plants, they'll have to have "pretty heavy red flannel underwear" to withstand temperatures about 240 degrees below zero.

Dr. Donald Menzel also told reporters at the 133rd meeting of the American Association for the Advancement of Science that when the explorers run out of food they'll conceivably be able to diet not only on their cultivated moon-plants but on such delicacies as "a form of sand flea that reportedly tastes like shrimp when ground up."

CULTIVATION POSSIBLE

He said the U.S. Army Quartermaster Corps is experimenting with various forms of vegetative and animal life—such as molds, bacteria and the sand fleas—which theoretically might be cultivated in the virtually airless, near-vacuum conditions of the moon's surface.

THE WEATHER

Synopsis: Strong winds, snowflurries and falling temperatures are predicted for today over most of Ontario. Snowflurries will end over northern Ontario. Friday morning, and skies will clear later in the day. A few flurries will linger in the north Friday.

Labrador to Alaska By Snowmobile Planned

OTTAWA (CP)—A pair of intrepid Quebecers set out Jan. 15 on a frigid 6,750-mile trip through Canada's north, believed never before attempted.

Paul Comte, 48, and Armand Levasseur, 50, both of Valleyfield, looked every bit the part of modern conveyors bois as they puffed cigars and told a press conference Wednesday about their plans.

They plan to travel by snowmobile from Goose Bay, Labrador, to Cape Lisburne, Alaska, arriving some time in May. Their twisting, treacherous route will keep them far to Canada's north and they expect average temperatures of 46 degrees below zero.

Both men decided to make the trip about two years ago. Then as Centennial Year approached, they decided to make it their centennial project.

Bombardier Snowmobile. Ltd at Valcourt, Que., agreed to provide the vehicles and underwrite the trip.

Mr. Levasseur operates Levasseur Freres, a flour-cereal grain that he founded. Mr. Comte is president of Valleyfield Express.

The families of both men will receive their normal pay cheques during their absence.

Both took short courses in maintenance of their snow machines and say they can keep them running "even at 100 below."

They plan to average about 70 miles a day.

Both are former Canadian Army members and are polished bushmen. They will wear special sub-zero garments and carry portable stoves, insulated tents and Arctic bedrolls.

They will carry a radio transmitter and make regular checks with the outside world on their departure and scheduled arrival times.

The Hudson's Bay Co. is to pitch in supplies at certain points and the United States DEW Line bases have also promised help. The U.S. Air Force is expected to fly the men back to Eastern Canada.

Polish Government-in-Exile Still Meets Every Friday Evening

LONDON (CP)—Every Friday evening a handful of elderly men congregate in London's smart Belgravia district and sit in ritual dignity for another cabinet meeting of the government of be Republic of Poland.

I'm not the "real" government, of course, but a group which sometimes describes itself as the "legitimate and constitutional government, known as the Polish government-in-exile."

This is the all-but-forgotten fiefdom of the Second World War, victims of great-power compromise and the hard realities of post-war politics.

Their fate was decided in 1945. At Yalta, in February, the Western Allies conceded Stalin the right to a "friendly government" in Poland and five months later recognized the puppet Communist regime set up in Warsaw under Russian sponsorship. At the Potsdam conference in August, the Big Three decreed that the "former Polish government in London . . . no longer exists."

But the government-in-exile refused to vanish.

Stripped of all diplomatic recognition, rebuffed or disowned by everyone but tellow exiles, it continues the quixotic and comfortless mission of besieging the world's cocktails with mimeographed demands for the "restoration of the independence, freedom and sovereignty of the Polish nation."

The memory of Potsdam still rankles, but it is overlaid now with quiet resignation.

Headquarters for the exiled Poles is 43 Eaton Place in Belgravia, the same address used by the Polish exile government during the war when it was warmly supported by the West and when the remnants of Poland's armed forces were doughty fighters alongside the Allies.

There are no markings on the heavy oak door to the street. Anyone who wants to telephone the government-in-exile has to know beforehand that it is listed in the phone book under "Polish National Fund".

Aleksander Zawisza, 68-year-old prime minister and foreign minister, has a small office along the ground floor corridor where he receives and handles his own mail. Surveying the room are a secret photograph of Joseph Pilsudski, who seized independence for modern Poland in 1918, and a romantic bust of the renowned pianist-president Ignace Jan Paderewski.

"We are realists," Zawisza told a visitor in halting English. "We know we cannot by ourselves regain independence for Poland, that we must have help."

The help would have to come from the West. This is one of the basic ideas that underlies discussions at the Friday evening cabinet meetings next door to Zawisza's office.

SEEK HELP

"The members of the government study conditions in Poland and the feelings of the people in various ways. We try to convince foreign powers that it is a mistake to give in to Russia."

Zawisza, a neat, bright-eyed man in a pin-striped suit, is a native of Lithuania who became a lawyer and then a diplomat in pre-war Poland. He heads a government of seven ministers whose average age is about 70.

Over them all reigns the tall, unbending figure of the 87-year-old August Zaleski, foreign minister of Poland in 1932-39 and 1939-41, who became president of the exile government in 1947 on the death of former president Wladyslaw Raczkiewicz.

Although the government gets some 200,000 for the Polish legations from the "national fund," fed by emigre groups in Europe and North America, the cabinet ministers are unpaid.

Through the lean post-war years, they have had to support themselves. Some have worked in factories, others live taken in boarders, still others work in offices.

"Nobody will dare say loudly that they recognize us," Zawisza said. However, he claimed recognition from the Vatican and Spain and said Ireland had never withdrawn recognition.

But the Spanish embassy in London proved vague when asked about it and the office of the apostolic delegate flatly denied recognition, in a pro-forma way that "certain courtesies are accorded on a personal basis" when Roman Catholic exile representatives visit the Vatican.

The Irish embassy contented itself with emphasizing that Ireland recognizes the Communist government in Warsaw. The implication was plainly left that it could not therefore recognize an exile regime as well, although out of kindness might not wait to withdraw recognition of the exiles.

Britain appears to be a somewhat reluctant host for the exiles, treating them as private individuals with no official status," in the words of the foreign office, and reassuring the Communist Polish embassy when necessary that Britain does not recognize the exiles.

grab for the ladder and he went to the ladder — I think he died right away."

Gray had "tried to get on the ladder and was very bad. The sea pulled at the clothes he had on and pulled him back into the water and he sank."

No attempt was made by the Orsino to recover the bodies, he said. "We had six more men to get in the ship. They were in bad shape."

However, a German ship, identified only as the Hamburg, received Smith's report and transferred it to the Orsino.

BODY LANDED

Wrapped in a Union Jack and attached to a stretcher, it was winched over the side of the Orsino about an hour after she docked Wednesday before the first of the survivors were helped down a ladder to dockside.

Some limped ashore on wooden, flippers-like feet. Some were to return home today by air but others were to remain for the inquiry with Captain Sawyers.

During the St. Finbarr's brief career—she was two years old —she was credited with no rescues and became known as "the ship that broke down on the banks, claiming an English record landing of 1,000,000 pounds of Icelandic cod on her first and second voyage. She carried about 400 to 450 tons on her lith and then she broke down.

Both skippers felt the intense heat burst the St. Finbarr's bulkheads while she was underlow, causing her bow and bridge to submerge as the forward section filled and sank.

She went down 10 miles off Cape Bauld, the northern extremity of the island of Newfoundland.

Cobalt Drugs Are Suspect

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. Food and Drug Administration said Wednesday it has taken action against a supplying distribution of iron-cobalt preparations used to combat anemia.

The action followed withdrawal by officials in Canada last week of a number of drugs containing cobalt. Canadian health officials said it was a precautionary action taken while seeking an explanation for a number of deaths among heavy beer drinkers.

The U.S. government agency also said it will convene a group of blood specialists to review data on the iron-cobalt compounds. If the drugs are found to be unsafe, the agency said, their sales will be banned permanently.

His group's view is that a neutral zone should be established in central Europe between Germany and Russia, covering the 100,000,000 people in such countries as Poland, Czechoslovakia, Hungary and Rumania and such former nations as Estonia, Lithuania and Latvia.

Polish Dolls Fire Hazard

WINNIPEG (CP) — Metropolitan Winnipeg stores, at the request of the provincial fire prevention office, have stopped selling a toy doll described by Fire Chief Lorne Eccles as "explosive and highly dangerous."

The dolls, sold under the name Bagpipe Ann Sing, are made of nitrocellulose and are a "real hazard in a child's hands" if exposed to high heat, Chief Eccles said Wednesday.

Stores have voluntarily stopped all sales of the Polish-made dolls and quantities have been urged to "get rid of them as soon as possible."

Chief Eccles said the dolls, which sold for 97 cents, were more likely to be in "poorer" homes where the dangers were greater.

So Many Jail Inmates Escape British Bookies Take Bets

LONDON (CP) — So many prisoners have been escaping from British jails that enterprising bookies are laying odds on the exodus.

Newspapers running bookscores on the escapes and recaptures, depicted convicts and warders as enemy leaders toasts to "absent friends" during the Christmas season.

The home office is investigating allegations that a Canterbury jail officer sold keys to prisoners who hatched an unsuccessful escape plot.

The Stafford Prefect Union Council protested that "prison escape kits"—in the form of trucks with long ladders—were being smuggled to the men behind the wall of Stafford prison.

Frank Mitchell, 36-year-old Dartmoor escaper who had been free for 17 days, was reported ready to give himself up to end the hunt for four other Dartmoor prisoners has cooled off and after he has given a press conference.

BUSINESS BRISK

Bookmaker Cyril A. Davis in suburban Hendon decided to do some business on the trend, which has reached the weather as a favorite topic of gossip. He put up the odds on how many prisoners might escape in a day. He laid 5 to 2 against one prisoner escaping, 5 to 1 against two prisoners, 10 to 1 against three. He reported a brisk business.

The parade began last Thursday when five men bolted Walton prison, near Liverpool, at the same time. Police and Mountbatten criticized the aged institutions and recommended construction of an island top-security prison armed with every modern device.

The government warned its top-security they may be locked unless they stop the rash of prison breaks.

Sir James Mackay, on his first day as head of the "hope differ's prison department, sent letters to governors of 50 prisons demanding an end to security slackness.

Three more prisoners fled from two prisons without barbs in northern England Wednesday night. A robber with a gun grabbed a ladder from a guard and scaled the wall at London's Pentonville prison, and a father broke out of a mental hospital. That raised the total number of escapes this year to 633.

NABBED THREE

The robber who scaled the Pentonville wall was recaptured 20 minutes later and the men who escaped from an open prison Christmas day were caught in Manchester. Officials said that left 122 convicts still at large.

Mackay, a 59-year-oil Scot known as a tough administrator, was appointed last week to draw up a fresh program for the tightening prison security. He started work after a long conference with Home Secretary Roy Jenkins in which they were reported to have discussed plans to spend large sums on strengthening prison perimeter walls, building watch towers and installing searchlights. Most of the country's ancient prisons lack such security aids.

The biggest headache always went on in driving rain over bleak Dartmoor. Four convicts who broke jail there three days ago were still on the run, and there was a report that they had grabbed several of the prison's master keys from a guard they slugged.

Escapes have increased since Earl Mountbatten's report just before Christmas of his investigation of prison security. He said Britain has no "completely secure" prison, and several experts contended that amounted to an invitation to escape.

Canadians Still Top Users Of Telephone

Statistics in the world's telephones, just released by the American Telephone and Telegraph Company, show the Canadians placed an average of 633.8 telephone calls during 1965, an increase of more than 12 calls per person over the previous year.

This is the 16th consecutive year that Canada has headed world-wide statistics in telephone usage.

Significantly, Canada ranks only sixth in the total number of telephones in service. Statistics show that the U.S. continued to rank first in the number of operational telephones with 93,252,000, followed by Japan ... 13,908,831; the United Kingdom, 10,704,000; West Germany, 8,802,116; Russia — with an estimated 7,980,000, and Canada with 7,650,000.

However in terms of telephones per 100 population, Canada ranks fifth, behind the United States, Sweden, New Zealand and Switzerland.

Figures show that residents of the United States placed the second highest average number of calls per year, 484, followed by those in the Virgin Islands, with 381.0; Icelanders placed 356.3 calls and Swedes 341.4.

On January 1, 1966, the total number of telephones in the world reached 186.3 million, a record increase of 12.8 million in a year. Also the world's 200-millionth telephone went into service sometime during the mid-summer of 1966.

Canada's telephonic links with the rest of North America now give Canadians access to some 128 million telephones, about 98 per cent of the world's total.

Board Members for New College Check Accommodation at School

Quinte area members of the Board of Governors for the new College of Applied Arts and Technology learned yesterday what temporary classroom accommodation could be made available at the Centennial Secondary School in Belleville.

The site of the new college to be built in the Belleville - Peterborough area has still not been chosen but temporary classroom is required to get the college into operation next summer and rooms have been offered at the Centennial School.

Yesterday five of the seven Quinte area members on the college board of governors visited the Belleville school and were taken on a tour of the building by Principal James Musgrove and secondary schools superintendent, E. A. Orr.

Governors taking in the tour included chairman, Rev. H. J. Maloney of Emerson, Judge J. C. Anderson of Belleville, George Cunningham, Prince Edward county; John Donelan, Napanee and Frank Rabel of Frankford.

TWO MEMBERS ABSENT

Two other area board members, Mrs. G. Spence Wonnacott of Belleville and D. R. Fraser of Trenton, were unable to attend.

In all there are about 50 teaching areas at the Centennial school of which only about 20 are currently in use.

Last members of the Bay of Quinte District High School Board offered vacant rooms in the school for temporary use by the new College.

School Principal James Musgrove said if the College board of governors accepted the offer of classroom accommodation at the Centennial school, there would be no clear distinction of areas used. He said any accommodation accepted by the College would have to be "integrated" with areas now in use by regular classes.

CAN USE TWO YEARS

School officials said that temporary college classes could be accommodated at Centennial for up to two years.

Tradesmen are still working on heating and air conditioning installations in still unfinished areas of the school.

Plasterers and carpenters are at work in the 850 seat auditorium, installers are laying hardwood flooring in the busy three section gymnasium and furniture is being installed in the library.

The school cafeteria is still not in use but is expected to be in readiness for school opening next week.

The official opening of the new school is scheduled for February 24th.

Wellington Family of Ten Left Homeless After Fire

PICTON — A Wellington family of 10 was left homeless late yesterday afternoon when fire gutted their two-storey frame dwelling, destroying all upstairs bedroom furniture and personal effects.

The fire broke out about 4.30 p.m. in the living room at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ron Miller at the corner of Nonon and Wharf Street and quickly ate its way up through a partition to the attic.

All downstairs furniture will the exception of the family TV and chesterfield was saved from the blaze.

Picton Fire Department assisted the Wellington fire fighters in preventing the spread of flames to a neighboring residence which was threatened in the gale like winds which were blowing.

The family of eight children (four foster and four adopted) is now with friends and relatives. Cause of the fire was not determined.

Picton firemen have been busy in the past week.

When fire fighters returned from the Wellington fire yesterday they found the remainder of the department personnel at the town dump fighting a blaze in the garbage disposal area.

Over the Christmas weekend they were called to the home of John Carr on Lake Street where furnace trouble was reported. On Monday afternoon they were called to the Picton Collegiate when workmen accidentally tripped the automatic fire alarm.

Last Friday the home of Mrs. Clara Harrison, 37 Pitt Street, was gutted by a blaze which caused $4,000 damage to house and furnishings.

Mrs. Harrison was in hospital at the time of the fire. Her son, John, had placed fuel on the furnace and had gone downtown to do Christmas shopping. When he returned he found the house afire.

Skating Club Prepares for Annual Show

TRENTON — Trenton's Figure Skating Club has completed tests of its expanded membership and is now devoting regular weekly practice periods to skating routines to be incorporated in the club's annual winter carnival falling on March 14 in the coming year. The carnival for 1967 appropriately follows a Centennial theme club president Mrs. Ian E. Banyard explained yesterday pointing out the keen interest all 118 members are showing in the detailed planning that goes into the presentation of colorful costumed ice shows.

Mrs. Banyard also mentioned how co-operation of president Mrs. Eunice Driscoll and the other members of the Belleville Figure Skating Club was helping enthusiasm in both organizations.

Application For Tourney Is Approved

TRENTON — The Trenton Lions Club's application for Easter week accommodation at the Community Gardens has been approved and the club is making plans for its popular minor hockey tournament in March arena manager Ron Thorton said yesterday. The announcement followed the report of a successful tournament sponsored by the Trenton Minor Hockey Association on Boxing Day.

Police Thank Motorists For Driving Attention

Provincial Police officials at Belleville district headquarters today expressed appreciation to motorists for an almost accident free Christmas period and at the same time are keeping their fingers crossed for the New Year's holiday this weekend.

Inspector A. McDougall said "thank you" to drivers for their driving attention during the Christmas holiday.

"There were no fatalities in the No. 9 district four county area and no major accidents," said the inspector. "The record was a credit to motorists and we appreciate their co-operation."

Inspector McDougall said he hoped for the same driver attention over the New Year's holiday.

Just to make sure, however, every traffic officer on the force will be on highway patrol duty with orders to be on sharp look-out for any motorists showing evidence of impaired driving.

"Carelessness and inattention are still the main causes of traffic accidents," the Inspector said.

Keep It Quiet

Japanese Think China to Have H-Bomb Soon

TOKYO (AP) — China's fifth nuclear explosion, apparently its biggest, indicates a big stride toward a hydrogen weapon, Japanese experts said today.

There was some speculation the device exploded Wednesday was a small hydrogen bomb, or a reinforced nuclear weapon. Although the official Chinese announcement gave no details of the size and type of the device, Japanese newspaper had no doubt it contained thermonuclear material.

They note the Chinese announcement said the test raised China's nuclear knowledge "to a new level."

"At any rate, we must pay attention to the fact that real production of a hydrogen bomb (By China) now is imminent and only a matter of time," the newspaper Sankei says.

James Quinn Easy Winner

TRENTON — The two-man race for a council vacancy in Murray township yesterday, attracted a very small percentage of the eligible electors when James Quinn, RR 3 Carrying Place, swamped James F. Day, RR 1 Trenton by a 250 majority.

Quinn running for a municipal office for the first time collected 305 votes in five polling stations while Day's count totalled 145. The 340 ballots cast represented a turnout of 16 per cent of the total registration.

The results by polls follows: Poll No. 1 (English Settlement) Day 18, Quinn 91; Poll No. 2 (Roseland Acres) Day 30, Quinn 174; Poll No. 3 (Hart's Corners) Day 60, Quinn 68; Poll No. 4 (Wooler) Day 24, Quinn 43; Poll No. 5 (Stockdale) Day 13, Quinn 21.

Lingham Lake Reservoir Maintains Dry Season Flow in Moira River

The walls of water control structures in maintaining river levels during dry season "low flow" periods is illustrated by data from three automatic recording gauges located in the Moira River and its tributaries.

The three gauges owned by the Moira River Conservation Authority are located in the Upper Moira on No. 7 Highway, in the Skootamatta River at Actinolite and in the Black River at No. 7 Highway. There are no significant water control structures in the Upper Moira or in the Skootamatta, while flow in the Black River is controlled by the Lingham Lake dam.

Water recording gauges show that the Upper Moira, while providing 22.8 per cent of the upper watershed run-off during the month of March, dwindled to but 1.2 per cent during the low flow period of August.

RESERVOIR FUNCTIONS

On the other hand, Black Creek, which during March provided 24.4 per cent of the total run-off, was responsible for 62.4 percent during August — thanks to the Lingham Lake reservoir and dam.

The gauges showed that during March the run-off in the Upper Moira totalled 2,620 acre feet, in the Skootamatta, 46,370, and in the Black River 26,940 acre feet.

During August the flow in the Upper Moira had dwindled to 36.7 acre feet; and in the Skootamatta to 491 acre feet. For the same period the run-off through Black River was 2470 acre feet, accounting for 82.4 per cent of the river flow.

The Upper Moira drains 229 square miles, the Skootamatta, 279 square miles, and Black River but 154 square miles.

Women's Role

When Her Majesty the Queen, in her Christmas message, urged women to use their growing influence to improve the lot of humanity she might have had in mind such committed people as Mary Rockefeller, chairman of the international division of the Young Women's Christian Association.

Mrs. Rockefeller could be regarded as the symbol of those women around the world whose interest and compassion and dedication to the needs of others are a fulfillment not only of their own being but of Christian charity.

With her husband Laurance, Mrs. Rockefeller recently visited YWCA's in Argentina, Chile, Uruguay and Brazil. Describing her experiences in the current issue of The National Geographic Magazine, she says: "Everywhere we visited, from swarming slums to rural crossroads, we found dedicated women dealing with great problems of education and health — and doing so with wonderful spirit."

Sixteen new associations have joined 10 older ones under the YWCA banner in South America during the past six years. In Valparaiso, Chile, Mrs. Rockefeller met members teaching sewing, knitting, and ceramics under ceilings cracked by a recent earthquake. Volunteers run the children's room of the only hospital in Patagonia, in southernmost Argentina, while in Montevideo, capital of Uruguay, YW members operate a nursery school and children's summer camp.

Everywhere Mrs. Rockefeller found members combating illiteracy, giving vocational training, helping the handicapped and encouraging women to take leading roles in community life.

Women similiarly committed to helping others and raising living standards are to be found in our own midst and across Canada. They include nurses and social workers, as well as a host of volunteers in church and service club groups. There are, too, the missionaries who work among the Indian and Eskimo populations, as well as overseas in places like Hong Kong.

For all their new-found influence and assurance, women can go still further in the realm of service to their fellow man. There is no limit to the projects they may undertake, individually or collectively.

As the Queen put it: "All the great works of charity and all humanitarian legislation have always been inspired by a flame of compassion which has burned brightly in the hearts of men and women . . . Mankind has many blemishes but deep down in every human soul there is a store of goodwill waiting to be called on."

Nostalgia

The old days were great for self-entertainment. Indeed, the saying, "We made our own entertainment," has become almost a cliche — but it is true just the same.

The older folk all have their memories of those times — of musical evenings at home, around the piano, or of family outings for skating or tobogganing.

Picnics and excursion trips by boat — these were enjoyed across the length and breadth of this big land of lakes and voyageur routes.

Lakeheaders, for example, recall trips to Silver Islet in the old Kaministiquia, and paddling around the harbor at the islet, Victoria-style, and swapping banter with fellow canoeists. It is still a vacation spot there on Sibley Peninsula, with lonely Isle Royale on the horizon; but now you drive there by car and there is a stillness about the place, a quietness that can almost be heard. The old folks are gone and so are the canoes. The former miners' cottages are the summer homes of latter-day vacationers.

Here in Quinte many recall the boat trips to Massassaga and to Presqu'ile — and oh the nostalgia of it all!

We were reminded of these little cameos from the past by the remark of an elderly Kingston woman. One hundred years old on Christmas Day, Mrs. Violet Bramah still recalls her early youth.

"Entertainment was right at our door step. The big excursion boats passed by in the summer and there was always music for those aboard."

Mrs. Bramah also recalled walking to Cataraqui to see Sir John A. Macdonald buried. "What a crowd. The girls and I got a ride part way back on a hay rack . . ."

And so it goes — we all have our end-of-the-year memories. Of such is life.

Manpower's Jean Marchand Beams in on Today's Problems

By RICHARD JACKSON

OTTAWA — Students resting from the Christmas exams are wondering if it is really worth the effort should have been in the Commons the other day to hear Manpower Minister Jean Marchand.

Along with the Government's new trouble-shooting strong man, Revenue Minister Benson, he gets handed more than his share of the Administration's tougher problems, Jean Marchand could be a Liberal leader-in-the-making, and perhaps a future Prime Minister.

He is a rare combination of "swinger" and savant and among the French-Canadians in Prime Minister Pearson's Cabinet, he is a giant, if actually only five feet seven inches tall.

If Quebec has a Spokesman—with the capital "s" in the Federal Cabinet, Jean Marchand is the man who speaks.

Midway between the new young crop of MPs in their late 20's and 30's and the aging leaders in their late 60's and early 70's, Jean Marchand at 46 is listened to by all.

With respect.

Respect even by students who often, in touring parties as from the high schools and universities, climb Parliament Hill and perch in the galleries of the House to watch in skepticism the democratic process at work.

So it is only as it should be that this bright young freshman Member of the Cabinet, so modest, unpretentious as he is a power Minister and the voice of the youth wing in Parliament, should address himself to these students as he did the other day.

"When I was a young man," he began, going back to the late 1930's — when he was emerging from school, "jobs were considerably harder to get than they have been more recently.

"In those days we used to say that the fellow who stood any chance of getting work without difficulty must be the man with a university degree, 20 years of practical working experience and not more than 25 years of age.

"Naturally, people of this sort were pretty hard to find.

"But even so, we who were shorter on experience and perhaps lacked the required degree didn't find jobs any less difficult to locate.

"We like to think that those were the bad old days, and that today, with jobs plentiful, a nybody can work who really wants to work.

"And we in our generation and those in the older age groups tell each other that young people today have it made, that opportunities were never so limitless."

These students were listening attentively, for Jean Marchand was getting through to them.

And what a change of Parliamentary pace that was.

The sad fact is that the young person without secondary education, without trades' training or other skills, is just as unemployable today as he was in pre-war earlier and unhappier decade.

"Worse, in some ways, unprepared youth has much less chance than 20 or 30 years ago, of the iron rule for silence in the galleries, there was even a little booing from the student ranks.

But not this time.

And Jean Marchand went on: "The uncomfortable truth is that in a world that puts an accent on youth, there is little or no place in the economic scheme of things for young people unless they meet today's specifications — criteria of educational experience.

"The sad fact is that the young person without secondary education, without trades' training or other skills, is just as unemployable today as he was in pre-war earlier and unhappier decade.

"Worse, in some ways, unprepared youth has much less chance than 20 or 30 years ago.

"For then, in the 30's and 40's, falling other occupations, there were still jobs to be done where strong backs and willing hands could provide a steady, if sparse income and spartan living.

"There was still a market for muscle.

"The machine, the computer, the automated system, hadn't yet still more work."

"Remember," he said, directing his closing words at the students in the galleries, "nothing is easy. Everything is getting more complicated, more difficult, demanding more and more knowledge and skill. So you have no choice but work, work and still more work."

Perhaps next time, for these students, study for exams won't seem such a drag.

Busy Ant

Farmer's Digest

Once upon a time there was an ant who worked hard all day in the fields. It was summer and the ant was busy cutting grass and carrying it home. The ant had a grasshopper for a neighbor. The grasshopper sat in his doorway singing all day. When winter came, the ant had a whole bale of grass; but he had violated the U.S. Federal farm law for overplanting grass. He was fined $.....50 and the surplus was seized. The grasshopper received the surplus and in exchange for his food stamps.

Democracy's Hidden Strength

By SYDNEY J. HARRIS

The hue and cry about the Warren Report on President Kennedy's assassination are good and healthful indications that we are not yet so brainwashed by "authority" that we tamely accept whatever we are told to believe. Wherever the truth lies, the evidence should be re-opened, widened, deepened, and pursued relentlessly to its end.

But, disturbing as the recent questioning may be, one salient fact should not be lost sight of — and that is the continuing strength of a legitimate and democratic government, as opposed to a totalitarian one. We suddenly and shockingly lost a President; we did not lose a Presidency.

One of the apparent strengths of a dictatorship, whether of left or of right, is its ability to "get things done" fast, without the balking and bickering of a democratic government. I think we have been over-impressed with this strength, and fail to see the comparable (and more than compensating) strength in our form of government.

When Kennedy died, there was no doubt who became President: the succession was automatic and unanimously accepted by all people. In the midst of our horror, there was still a sense of continuity and stability; the lines of authority were clear and unquestioned.

And this is precisely the basic, and fatal, flaw in any totalitarian government, from Hitler to Stalin to Mao to Franco to Castro. They do not really provide for a legitimate succession of authority. And this is the meaning of Nasarvk's shrewd comment, when he was the first President of Czechoslovakia: "Dictators always look good until the last 15 minutes."

It is in the last quarter-hour that we can see the hollowness of their power. The Jacobin gather about the corpse and believe in the magic possessed by things fall apart, as Yeats said, the centre cannot hold. For there is nothing to hold a country together when a dictator dies and is killed.

The weaknesses of a democracy are quite evident on the surface — delay, compromise, too little done too late, inability to act decisively in crises. But these are a small price to pay for the hidden strength which no totalitarian government possesses: a smooth and swift succession of legitimate authority from one hand to another.

China today is torn with internal dissention; Russia is smoldering in the uneasy grip of a committee; no country who will "represent" — or misrepresent — those countries tomorrow; and of all, the leaders themselves. Our ballots, rather than our bullets, remain our greatest "secret weapon."

He left McGill University's staff in 1884 and worked in the United States and Britain until his death but always flaunted his Canadian nationality and remembered McGill in his will. Osler is generally credited with inventing modern hospital procedure and medical training and with the discovery of psychosomatic medicine.

Peace Corps Man Drafted

Boston Globe

The Peace Corps has been sold to young Americans as one of the great people-to-people friendship gestures. Eight thousand of them are serving with magnificence under the most trying conditions and at scandalously low pay in some of the most primitive countries, winning the hearts of people with their unbeatable youth and their dedication.

But a California draft board now has inducted one of these youths, has ordered another to report back home for his pre-induction physical, and has classified two others 1-A. They are "draft dodgers," says the board, and the Peace Corps is no more than "a haven" for them. It is useless to answer invective with invective. But when one agency of government recruits and trains patriotic young men and sends them abroad at a cost of $5,000 each to wage peace, and another then immediately brings them back home so they can be sent abroad again to wage war, we wonder whether Washington's right hand knows what its left hand is doing.

Holy Mackerel—What Next!

Hamilton Spectator

It is good to know that the sailing ship on Canada's crest piece is the famed Bluenose, the schooner that brought fame as a racer to Nova Scotia and its skipper, Capt. Angus Walters, and not some cheap imposter.

We always thought it was the Bluenose and were surprised to learn that the mate of the Canadian Mist in Ottawa wasn't so sure. He said it could be any schooner, not necessarily the Bluenose.

Fortunately, Capt. Walters is still alive. He says there it no doubt that the diner's schooner is the Bluenose. Good—it would be ridiculous to have a lesser ship on our nation's most popular coin.

Now that the point's been settled once and for all, there's still the matter of the Bluenose's fate. It is destined to leave the dollar scene and be replaced by an engraving of a mackerel. It is a fate worse than death, a fate worse than being replaced by a fish that's as common as the dime itself.

The Bluenose's swift beauty adds something to the dime. The old speedster should stay, or return again after the mackerel outlives its welcome, if only to remind Canadians that money, especially the dime, often sails away with amazing speed.

Are We Women More Aggressive?

Christian Science Monitor

Many arguments are given for not assigning women to combat duty. Many can be heard now that draft and voluntary enlistment systems are under discussion. Most of them are simply not to the point.

But one that we have never heard argued or advanced in a recent conference by Margaret Mead, anthropologist and author of authoritative books about primitive people. Dr Mead was for opening more army posts to women but held they should not be given field assignments because they fight too fiercely. "Men have such rules rules, like not fighting on

Bad Breath Result Of Several Factors

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: One of my teachers told us that if you eat a lot of fats and starches you will have bad breath, and the fumes come from the stomach. And no matter how much mouth wash you use, it will do no good. If this is so, what can be done about bad breath!—Freshman

I'm afraid that teacher is a little mixed up. If your digestion is operating in good order, fats and starches don't cause either "fumes" or bad breath.

The teacher is correct, however, in saying that mouth washes won't cure all forms of bad breath.

Some foods, garlic and onions being the most notorious, can make the breath quite smelly for a matter of hours. Smoking also can cause unpleasant breath. So can alcoholic beverages.

Aside from those, here are the main causes:

1 — Food particles trapped between the teeth or in small crevices, and decaying there. Your toothbrush, plus floss to remove particles caught between the teeth, and routine visits to your dentist will take care of that.

2 — Infections in the mouth, diseased teeth, or infected gums. Similarly, can make the breath exceedingly foul. The answer is to see your dentist in time, if he is doubly important because disease of the gums causes the loss of more teeth than cavities do.

3 — Chronic infection in the nose or throat (sinus congestion, infected tonsils and adenoids, throat infections, and the like) can cause bad breath. Neither mouth washes nor toothbrush, obviously, can clear up such infections. See your doctor.

4 — Infections of lungs or bronchial tubes account for some bad breath.

* * *

Dear Dr. Molner: If one is dieting, will it tablets a day of brewer's yeast (7½ grains each) have any protein and salt benefit — Mrs. D. J.

While brewer's yeast contains some protein and sodium (salt,) they are hardly enough to reckon in your diet. The chief value of brewer's yeast is as a source of B Vitamins and certain minerals, especially iron and phosphorous.

* * *

Dear Dr. Molner: I have had a bump under my arm for about two years. It was sore when I first noticed it, but not now. It's about the size of a small pea. Should I worry about this?—A.G

If it was sore to start with, it probably is a hair follicle infection that has become a small cyst. Next time you see your doctor you have him check it, or preferably for peace of mind, do it now.

Dear Dr. Molner: What effect does it have if a person has a low count of white blood corpuscles? Is it dangerous? — Mrs. K. K.

This phrase can cover a number of conditions. The cause in a specific case is more significant than the actual count.

The white cells in the blood are germ-fighters. If an infection is present in the body, the white cells gather at the site to protect you. At the same time, the body increases its production of white cells.

However, certain virus infections, poisonings, and some drugs can suppress the white blood cells. The extent that a lower count than normal is harmful to fight off infections is a measure of its importance.

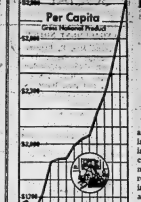
Canadian Firms Must Redouble Effort To Sell Abroad Says Trade Minister

OTTAWA (CP) — Canadian firms must redouble their efforts to sell to export markets in order to keep the economy healthy in 1967, Trade Minister Winters said in a year-end statement released by his office Wednesday night.

He said the stepped-up export drive takes on special importance because prospects now point to some moderation in domestic consumption demand next year. He announced earlier a target of $13,200,000,000 in export trade for 1967, compared with this year's $10,000,000,000.

"All-in-all, some dimunition in the total demand emanating from within the Canadian economy now seems to be under way," Mr. Winters said. "This lessening of domestic demand increases the stakes we have in export trade and makes a greater attention to exports.

"It means also that greater reliance must be placed on exports to provide the growth impetus necessary to employ an expanding labor force and make full use of productive resources generally."



Mr. Winters said production in 1966 maintained the exceptional growth rate of the previous two years but a four-per-cent rise in prices was greater than any year since the early-1950s.

"How to achieve reasonable price stability and a competitive cost structure while sustaining virtually full employment and optimum use of other productive resources is one of the major challenges facing Canadians today."

He pledged the full resources of his department to help exporters sell more abroad. He earlier announced plans to bring all foreign trade commissioners home for a series of trade promotion meetings across Canada in 1967.

"To exploit fully the rapid advances in technology now under way often requires a much broader sphere of market participation than is afforded within the confines of the domestic market. To an increasing degree Canadian manufacturing industries must look outward if they are to achieve the specialization and scale of operation necessary to prosper in this technological age."

Mr. Winters said the Kennedy round of tariff-reduction negotiations now under way in Geneva is likely to be concluded successfully soon and this will open "major new horizons for Canadian producers."

GNP CONTINUES CLIMB—The per-capita gross national product moved higher in 1966, the 12th straight year in which there has been an increase. Estimated per-capita GNP in 1966 was $2,850.

Car Insurance Firms Fighting For Survival

VANCOUVER (CP) — The automobile insurance industry is fighting for survival in British Columbia, and in the process is baring some of its innermost secrets to a provincial royal commission aggressively investigating its complex operations.

Premier W. A. C. Bennett ordered the royal commission during the last legislative session in the wake of sharp increases in car insurance premiums.

The government was also spurred to action by reports of widespread abuses of the controversial assigned risk plan by some of the 209 insurance companies in the province.

The plan, by which drivers with poor records are assigned to insurance companies at premiums up to four times normal, has long been a target of insurance industry critics.

Last year, E. F. Cantrell, provincial insurance superintendent, ordered the companies to cut back on the number of persons being processed assigned risks.

MAKE CHANGES

The commission subsequently returned 32 per cent of those of assigned risk to the regular market and now believes leaving 14,700 drivers paying the higher premiums during November, 1966.

Given wide terms of reference, the commission, headed by Mr. Justice H. A. Wootton of the British Columbia Supreme Court, went after the companies' hide with relish as many persons were on assigned risk and what made the rates seem so high during 1965 and early 1966.

The three - man commission has ordered the investigation of the feasibility of the provincial government moving into the car insurance industry.

Hearings are to resume in Victoria Jan. 3, following a 41-day sitting in Vancouver, adjourned late in December.

To date the commission has received 18 briefs, heard testimony from 25 witnesses and filled 45 volumes of court transcript.

The industry is attempting to show how its administrative costs are preferable to the minimal overhead of a single government insurance outlet—a difficult task in a market noted for its duplicity of services and infighting for marginal profits.

MUST EXPLAIN

It must explain satisfactorily the discrepancy between its perennial complaint that it is losing money on car insurance and its determination to stay in the field. Last year, profits were reported at less than three per cent by the majority of the companies.

The All - Canada Insurance Federation, which represents all but 35 of B.C.'s 209 companies and is responsible for dealing with the province at its federal and provincial levels, agrees with the company position.

BLAMES LACK

In its brief to the commission, the ACIF said the real reason behind premium increases is not the automobile insurance industry, but a lack of adequate accident prevention measures.

The ACIF urged compulsory blood alcohol tests for drinking drivers, permanent prohibition of sub-standard drivers and large scale institution of vehicle inspection stations.

CN Revenues Increase; Air Canada Has Profit

MONTREAL (CP) — Donald Gordon, president and chairman of Canadian National Railways, said Wednesday night record business in 1966 brought the CNR revenue increases in all its operations.

The railway will show an operating profit for the sixth consecutive year, Mr. Gordon said.

In his year-end review, he gave no specific profit figure but did give percentage figures for 1966. A CNR official said dollars - and - cents figures will not be available for at least two months.

Mr. Gordon said freight services, the CNR's largest profit makers, showed a revenue increase of almost seven per cent. Passenger service revenues jumped in all seven CN telecommunication revenues were up 10 per cent and those of CN-operated hotels seven per cent.

Higher wage costs, equipment improvements, higher taxes and increased material costs caused a jump in expenses of almost seven per cent during the year.

REDUCING DEFICIT

Despite this, said Mr. Gordon, the railway will show an operating profit which is expected to mean "an encouraging reduction" in the CNR's overall deficit. The deficit is mainly made up of interest on the capital debt from earlier years.

Mr. Gordon said a 26-per-cent wages increase spread across three years offered to a large group of CNR workers at year's end will mean an approximate increase of $100,000,000 in the railway's wage costs if it is accepted by the employees.

They were among 120,000 who staged a week - long strike against major railways earlier in 1966.

The CNR president said the increases in freight revenues in 1966 came mainly from heavier movements of potash, newsprint, forest products, chemicals and minerals and from a 10-per-cent rate increase imposed on certain freight traffic.

Additional freight facilities provided during the year included 600 "yellow door" box cars for newsprint shipments and 1,100 specialized air - hopper cars for moving freight such as potash.

Passengers travelled more miles by CNR in 1966 than in any year since 1956.

SEES MORE INCREASES

Continued increases in 1967 could be expected with the introduction of five turbotrains, called by Mr. Gordon "the most significant advance in the technology of railway passenger service in 100 years."

The turbotrains will run the 354 miles between Toronto and Montreal in slightly less than four hours.

Early in 1967, an electronic reservations system would be established capable of handling 11,000 reservation requests daily from 47 Canadian cities.

The $75,000,000 CNR - sponsored Place Bonaventure trade centre and a 26-storey terminal tower, both in Montreal, are near completion, while a similar tower in Edmonton opened early in 1966 and excavating work began on a multi-level garage and office building in Vancouver.

Added up, this all means that the CNR "stands ready to shape itself into a self - supporting part" of the national transportation system, Mr. Gordon said.

WORK, THEN STUDY

More than 70,000 workers in Norway took workers' educational association courses in 1965-66.

MONTREAL (CP)—G. R. McGregor, president of Air Canada, said today the airline made a profit in 1966 despite a two-week strike by airline machinists that grounded its 26 planes in November.

But, Mr. McGregor added, the surplus resulted largely from a diversion of passengers from other airlines during the week-long Canadian railway strike and a U.S. airline walkout.

Announcement of the profit came in the president's yearend report. He said this was the 13th profitable year for the publicly-owned airline in the last 16 years and forecast another surplus in 1967.

Mr. McGregor said Air Canada earned 5,337,167 passengers this year on scheduled and charter flights—an increase of 12 per cent over the number carried in 1965.

Air express rose 16 per cent and air mail eight per cent.

All this brought a total revenue of approximately $790,000,000—an increase of 10 per cent over 1965.

An airline official said profit figures may not be available until after Air Canada, a subsidiary of the publicly-owned CNR, presents its report to Parliament in March.

ACCRA (Reuters) — Ghana police have offered a $28,000 reward to anyone who could bring back deposed president Kwame Nkrumah and three others—dead or alive. A police notice published here Wednesday said Nkrumah and the three others are wanted to stand trial on charges of conspiracy and murder. It described the four men as "dangerous and may be armed."

TORONTO STOCKS TODAY

TORONTO (CP) — The Toronto stock market continued to slip downwards in morning trading today, dashing any hope of a traditional year-end rally.

Observers say there hasn't been any news to stimulate the economy and as a result the stock market has floundered.

They attribute light money and uncertainty about the immediate prospects of key industries as keeping potential investors away from the market.

By 11 a.m. only 512,000 shares had changed hands compared with 909,000 at the same time Wednesday.

The industrial index, which has given up ground all week, eased .08 to 146.74 as Great Lakes power dropped 1 to 22, Ford of Canada 1¼ to 118½, Massey-Ferguson ¼ to 21¼ and Power Corp. ¼ to 49¾.

Golds recovered most of Wednesday's loss as Dome gained 1 to 44¾ and Campbell Red Lake ¼ to 72½.

On index, golds were up 1.15 to 122.97, base metals .19 to 85.02 and western oils .05 to 131.03. The TSE was down .05 to 140.88.

Copper-Mac was the most active issue, gaining ¼ to 25½ cents on 270,750 shares. New Imperial added 13 cents at 2.33 on 58,000 shares and the PCE Explorations 4 to 32 cents on 89,000.

The industrial index dropped .28 to 146.83.

Moore Corp. and Harding Carpets A fell 1¼ each to 86 and 30. Bank of Nova Scotia retreated 1 to 63¼ and Massey-Ferguson ¼ to 21¼. Dominion Coal and Woodward A advanced 1 each to 6 and 34.

Golds declined in profit-taking after two days of good gains. Dome fell ¼ to 43¾ and Giant Yellowknife 25 cents to 8.00.

U.S. Will Import More Canadian Oil

WASHINGTON (CP) — U.S. imports of Canadian oil for 1967 will be an estimated 380,000 barrels daily, Interior Secretary Stewart Udall said in a statement Wednesday.

The exact deliveries for this expiring year won't be known for several months and in recent years the forecasts have been conservative.

This trend, with Canadian deliveries running ahead of forecasts, has irked American crude oil interests opposed to the expansion of U.S. markets for Canadian or other foreign oil.

Canada and Mexico, whose oil deliveries consistently average about 20,000 barrels daily, export to the U.S. under the so-called overland exemption. These deliveries are subtracted from over-all U.S. import needs and the remainder is allocated to importing companies.

Canada's growth rate in the U.S. market has been exceeding 10 per cent a year.

Lake Trade Is Heavy

CLEVELAND (AP) — Shipments of iron ore, coal and grain over the Great Lakes to Dec. 1 this year totalled 135,-122,632 tons, a nine-year peak, the Lake Carriers' Association reported Wednesday.

The total was nearly 10,000,000 tons ahead of shipments for the corresponding period last year.

Wants Her Husband Known as Governor

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP)—In 19 days Alabama will have two governors for the price of one—give or take a dollar.

Governor-elect Lurleen Wallace insists on it. On Jan. 16, she succeeds husband George in the $22,000-a-year job.

But from then on, he'll be at her right hand, her No. 1 adviser, a promise she made to the voters in her campaign.

"I'm going to be at the capital fulltime," Mrs. Wallace said, relaxing behind a desk piled high with mail from well-wishers. "I'm going to be active, but the governor (that's the way she expects her husband to be addressed when he leaves office) will be there with me. We'll be there together."

If for there's no provision for payment of a governor's adviser, but she has half-jokingly offered him "a dollar - a - year man" and if the state doesn't pay it, perhaps she will.

A 40-year-old mother of four, Mrs. Wallace has never been a stickler for formality or protocol. But how do you address her?

"It is the Honorable Governor Lurleen B. Wallace, if you want to be real strict and stick to protocol," she volunteered. "During my administration, however, everything official will be Lurleen B. Wallace."

If any want to get her dander up, try referring to them as Governor and Mr. George Wallace.

"As long as they live, every other ex-governor in Alabama carries the title of governor as a courtesy," Mrs. Wallace said. "I will insist on Governor Wallace 'not being called mister.'"

Isobel MacAulay Brings Presidency Of PC Women to Nova Scotia First Time

HALIFAX (CP)—A 53-year-old grandmother who once was disillusioned to make a bit for a Nova Scotia Liberal premier has brought the presidency of the national Progressive Conservative women's association to Nova Scotia for the first time.

Isobel MacAulay, a business woman here for 28 years, attained the presidency three years after she set her sights on the office.

"It was suggested to a group of officers that Nova Scotia should make a try for it and some of the girls told me I should go after it."

She sought and won the presidency of the Nova Scotia women's association in the 1964-66 years and then embarked on a campaign to win the national office.

She won the presidency by a narrow margin in a three-way contest at the party's national convention in Ottawa.

An energitic party worker for most of her adult life, she is OttaWa "to win the presidency for Nova Scotia," flecking out her supporters from her own province and others for Nova Scotia tartan dresses, pats, badges and other paparel.

Mrs. MacAulay's appeal for tolerance and unity in her first address after taking over as president was characteristic.

"If the women of this party can work together, we can show the rest of the party there is such a thing as unity," she said.

A firm believer in women's role in public affairs and business, Mrs. MacAulay has been in business 30 years. As president of Tartan House Ltd. with branches in Halifax, Yarmouth, N.S., and Cape Breton, she served for three years as president of the Halifax Downtown Businessmen's Association.

"I had no trouble at all working for them. I was accepted as one of the boys. And I am sure I will have no trouble working with the men of the national Progressive Conservative Association."

During Angus L. Macdonald's tenure as premier, Mrs. MacAulay was commissioned by him to make a Nova Scotia tartan kilt, the first such item to be made of the newly-designed tartan. The premier hoped to wear it as he led 100 pipers across the Canso Causeway following its completion but he died before that.

Along with her new position, Mrs. MacAulay is active in local affairs. She is a member of the Halifax Board of Trade, the Nova Scotia Centenary Celebrations committee and the Atlantic Provinces Economic Council.

She is the mother of two sons, one a doctor on the teaching staff of the University of Pittsburgh medical school and the other a salesman in Dartmouth, N.S. She has seven grandchildren.

FLOWERS IN BLOOM

GUNNINGSVILLE, N.B. (CP) — Mrs. Clifton Swan planted a flower garden in the spring and picked a bouquet of pansies on a December day when the temperature was 64 degrees. The local record for December is 65, recorded in 1902.

Dials Wrong Number Gets Irate Response

DEAR ANN LANDERS: When I dial a wrong number on the telephone I always apologize to the person who answers. I figure I have inconvenienced someone and I always say I am sorry.

Why do so many people get mad? After all, no one is going to call a wrong number intentionally. And then there is always the chance that the telephone equipment is not working properly and the wrong number was the result of a mechanical error.

In the past month, I have dialed some wrong numbers and the following comments have assailed my ears: "What's the matter . . . ya blind?" "Sober up or stay off the horn." Then there are those who just hang up on me after I have said I am sorry.

Just shoot everyone in the U.S. reads your column. Will you please print this letter and say a few words on the subject? — MY DIME.

DEAR DIME: People don't have a special set of manners they reserve for the telephone. Considerate individuals behave on the phone they same way they behave at other times. And so do the boors. The next time someone shouts rudely in your ear because you have dialed a wrong number, just be glad you don't have to spend more than a second or two listening to him.

* * *

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I would like to respond to "Feeling" — the young girl who expressed a desire to be a first-class secretary and travel with her boss.

I have been a first-class secretary for almost 25 years. My boss is the head of a world-wide corporation which employs hundreds of people. A secretary often makes the boss' travel plans and it is natural that she sometimes dreams of visiting all those exotic places. But if she is wise she will stay home and mind the store. In these days of speedy travel and rapid communication a businessman does not need a travelling secretary. So, don't get those funny ideas, dear. Travel on your own time. — MONTREAL.

DEAR MONTREAL: I hope you realize what your letter did for every wife whose husband says he must have his secretary along on his business trips. Does anyone have another point of view? If so — speak up and I'll print it.

* * *

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My wife and I have been married 28 years and we get along pretty well considering that her mother didn't think I would last six months.

We argue a lot lately because my wife says I don't answer her when she talks to me. I have told her repeatedly that I don't hear her. She says I don't hear her because I don't want to hear her. I suspect she doesn't speak up so she will have an excuse to chew at me about something. She used to nag me to death about my smoking but now that I have quit she needs a new subject. My wife has a high-pitched voice and I am sure if she really wanted me to hear her I would. Have you ever had this problem before? What's the answer. — ORV.

DEAR ORV: Yes, I have had the problem before and my ear experts tell me that male sometimes lose the ability to hear high-pitched sounds as he grows older — especially if the sound is his wife's voice. Ask her to try to speak in a lower register, and you try to listen a little harder, Buh.

Successful Living

Docile Child Begins Asserting Self at Five

Dear Doris: My third child, a boy of five and a half, used to be a good baby but now I'm not sure what's wrong. He is so stubborn I can't make him realize he must listen.

He does things like play with matches and then lies if we ask him about it. He even lies if we catch him in the act. If he doesn't like he's just clamps shut and won't say a word to anyone for hours.

He can't seem to get along with his baby sister (she's two) for very long as he is forever making her yell and cry.

Doris, I've spanked him many times for being so bullheaded but it seems a waste of time. He has a slight speech and hearing defect but it is hardly noticeable and we surely don't draw any attention to it. But perhaps that's the cause, even though the doctors say not. — Dismayed.

Dear Dismayed: Many a previously docile child begins asserting himself around five or six. He seems to have to be right; he wants to bully rivals; he becomes more adventurous. Besides which, your Fiver has an extra burdle to jump — a hearing defect!

He may not be at his most lovable, but he still needs plenty of praise. Spanking is indeed a waste of time. Things normally settle down again in six months or so. Ask your local health department for some helpful literature about this age and stage.

Dear Doris: People are always running down teenagers. I don't think this is right because I have two teenage daughters and a teen-age son. I have met most of their friends and they all seem to be civilized, well-mannered people.

Just because a few teenagers get into trouble that does not mean they all do. I think that most teen-agers are great. — A Mother of Three Teen-agers.

Dear Mother: Them's my sentiments too.

Dear Doris: Would you please say something about the need for volunteer drivers? Often drivers are badly needed to transport people (mostly elderly) to and from clinics for treatment.

Sometimes they need this because they can't get on buses or afford taxis. Sometimes it is just too costly to take a nurse's or social worker's valuable time for taxiing them. — Welfare Worker

Dear Worker: Indeed I will. We hear it said that urban living has taken the "heart" out of social services. Here is a way to put it to again. The volunteer gives himself when he helps a fellow traveller — whose legs may have trouble carrying him!

Any person with a car may enquire about the need where he is. In Belleville, the place to ask is the United and Community Services of Belleville and District, 224 John Street North.

Doris Clark, Master of Social Work, is a graduate of McGill, Toronto and McMaster Universities, and has broad experience in social work. If you would like help with your problems, write to her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.)

Susanna's Family Fare

Childhood Memories

Dear Susanna: Our kitchen is a cheery haven on cold, dark mornings.

You see, to save on fuel, our father turns the heat way down at night, which means that by the time we get dressed and downstairs each morning, we are usually good and shivery and miserable. But it's worth it.

Our mother, in the meantime, has been down in our roomy kitchen for about 20 minutes. She has the lights on, breakfast perking, and the oven going full blast. What a tremendous contrast when you walk in there and soak up all that beautiful warmth and hospitality. It must have been very much like this when she was a girl on the farm.

. . . and don't think for a minute she doesn't know exactly what she is doing. It's all part of her wonderful plan to make our growing up years as eventful and happy and memorable as possible — and how we love her for it! — Joe Of A Group Of Seven

* * *

Dear Susanna: Those inside waxed papers from boxes of Jelly powder are worth saving as I know you'll find many uses for them.

For instance I often wonder what to do with pieces of left over raw onion. These papers are about the perfect size and shape for wrapping up such odds and ends, with enough left over to twist-close the top. — Mrs. Careme.

Christmas Concerts

FRANKFORD UNITED CHURCH SUNDAY SCHOOL

FRANKFORD—At Frankford United Church hall on Wednesday evening, the Intermediate Sunday School class of girls met with their teacher, Miss Zelda Halsall.

They toured the village caroling, then returned to play games and contests.

Debbie Payne and Dianne Forbes were the winners of a drawing for the best snowman while lights were off. The next contest caused much excitement as questions based on the Christmas story were hidden around the room. Winners were Kathy Reid, Rhonda Farrar and Vicki Wyatt all tieing for first place.

Refreshments were served at a table set with candles and a miniature tree for a centre piece.

Canada Hopes Russia and U.S. Avoid Counter-missile Systems

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada, the country in the middle, is hoping that the United States and Russia will reach some mutual understanding not to accelerate the arms race again by building counter-missile systems.

Officials here said Wednesday that the U.S. would not need Canadian territory on which to build anti-missile defence bases, which could be constructed within the U.S.

On the other hand, nuclear missile interception in such circumstances would take place over Canada and this country would get most of the radioactive fallout.

Thus Canada might want to provide the U.S. with Arctic bases for the proposed Nike-X anti-missile system. This would transfer any space war to high northern latitudes where fallout would be less serious.

FORESEE LITTLE CHANGE

Defence Minister Hellyer is believed to have been thinking of this latter possibility when he told the Commons Dec. 7 that the present NORAD agreement with the U.S. is unlikely to require major changes in the immediate future "unless a decision is made by the U.S. to deploy an anti-missile defence."

U.S. Defence Secretary Robert McNamara has said there is "considerable evidence" that Russia has started to build a counter-missile system to defend some of its major cities.

U.S. State Secretary Dean Rusk has indicated that the U.S. is considering a major attempt to reach agreement with Russia that the two powers refrain from building hugely expensive counter-missile systems.

Meanwhile, officials said they are encouraged about the chances of a treaty to prevent the spread of nuclear weapons as a result of the NATO council meeting in Paris earlier this month.

The meeting torpedoed the proposal for a seaborne NATO nuclear force in which Germany would have participated. Russia had claimed such a force would allow proliferation of nuclear arms and thus scuttle any hope of a non-proliferation pact.

OFF THE RECORD — By Ed Reed

"It's been an awfully long day . . . I got in on time."

Older Boys Want Exams Abolished

HAMILTON (CP) — Abolition of examinations up to the first years of university and computer evaluation of students' progress were recommended Wednesday in a resolution approved by the Ontario Older Boys' Parliament.

About 130 members from across Ontario are attending the 46th session of the Parliament, an interdenominational organization formerly sponsored by several Protestant churches.

Patrick Boyer, of Bracebridge, Ont., minister of current affairs, said in presenting the resolution that the present method of educating Canadians is inadequate because it is based on written examinations which do not measure an individual's true education.

The resolution called for Mr. Boyer to present the parliament's recommendations to William Davis, Ontario education minister.

The parliament, composed of boys aged 16 to 20 years, earlier heard Rev. Gregory Baum of St. Michael's College, Toronto, predict an eventual broadening of the ecumenical movement to include Jewish and non-Christian faiths.

"Over the last 10 to 20 years there has been a widening of the ecumenical movement in some centres," Father Baum said.

"Some say that if we only come together as Christians, we form a comfortable club, creating a new wall around the Christian faith."

The Intelligencer

BELLEVILLE, ONTARIO, THURSDAY, DECEMBER 29, 1966

HOLIDAY WEEK MAIL BAG

The following letter is an appeal to sports-minded people to help support a proposed Belleville Centennial Hockey club. It has been circulated throughout the city. It speaks for itself:

Active players of the Belleville area, representing the Commercial Gas House and Junior B Leagues, want to serve community charities by the establishment of a Centennial hockey team to be known as the "Belleville Centennial Combines," an all-star team chosen from their lot. This all-star team has Senior A and B, Junior A and B, Intermediate A and B experience and is guided by a qualified coach whose experience has taken him as far away as Scotland. The team is managed and assisted by an executive.

The team shall accept challenges from any municipality in southern Ontario. Games are to be arranged by some charitable organization of that community who shall look after promotion, referees, ticket sales and other necessary preparations prior to game time. Gate receipts are to be split with 80% going to the sponsoring municipality and the remaining 20% turned over to Belleville charities from which travelling costs (.10c per mile) are to be deducted also hotel expenses, if necessary.

The team has arranged for ice time at Stirling Community Centre, from 10.30 a.m. to 11.30 a.m. each Sunday. Your presence at such practises would be welcome. Next practise will be January 8th.

"Our intentions are to operate through the remainder of this season in order that we may be established and can be booked this and the following year.

Your support and financial assistance is requested. Financial assistance can be provided through the purchase of a set (sweater, socks, processed crest number, your advertisement), or sets, valued at approximately $15.00 each. The sweaters shall be black and gold with gold shoulder patches. The crest shall bear the centennial symbol and the words "Belleville Combines." The advertisement shall appear across the back at shoulder level. Financial assistance may also be provided for the purchase of a trophy or trophy hardware to be administered by the executive. Your firm shall be approached by a team member for your support.

If you express an interest you will receive this letter. At such time, if you wish to donate, please send your donation as soon as possible to Mr. Kylie Bryant, Physical Director, Ontario School for the Deaf, Belleville, stating a specific individual to whom you are giving the sweater, if desired, and the advertisement to be displayed on the sweater. Money may be given directly to the player.

Many thanks for your consideration in this Centennial project. We sincerely feel our cause a benefit to the municipalities and their citizens through inexpensive entertainment and financial assistance. Such a team could lead to all star teams of the various municipalities working for charity.

Yours sincerely, D. Newman, 962-3572.

LIKES MR. REX

"I would like to say, I'm glad Mr. Crawford is letting Steve Rex have a chance, is goal for the Mo-Hawks. Dorset, who has been playing goal, has done a standout job in the nets, but he needs a rest. After all he's travelling quite a distance to play hockey. I must take a bit out of him. Rex played in goal when the Mo-Hawks played an exhibition game against Tulsa Oilers and the score could have been 16-1 instead of 4-1 for Tulsa if it hadn't been for Rex. Mo-Hawks have two outstanding goal tenders and a fine first-year team, and as the games go by the better they play together.

"In closing I would like to say thank you to Mr.. Robert Temple, Mr. Crawford and who ever else is responsible for getting Senior A Hockey back to Belleville. It sure is a wonderful Christmas present for the loyal supporters."

"A Loyal Supporter."

STILL ACTIVE

"I still keep in touch with sports and things municipal etc. in the Quinte area through the medium of the Intell and I was quite interested to see my name mentioned in your column of Dec. 20th.

"It may interest you to know that currently I am president of the Quebec Soccer Football Association.

"With one professional and nearly 50 senior amateur teams operating in Montreal alone the job is somewhat more over once that I was used to in the Quinte district.

"Incidentally the Quebec team was runner up to B.C. in the National championships played in Winnipeg this summer.

"Best wishes for the holiday season and the New Year.

Sluggish Habs Lucky To Tie Bruins

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Boston coach Harry Sinden was happy to come out with a 1-1 tie Wednesday night but Montreal coach Toe Blake didn't like it at all.

Certainly Montreal Canadiens, playing on their home ice, did not perform like a team that had just been chosen Team of the Year in the Canadian Press year-end poll of Canada's sports writers and broadcasters.

And there was little display of the talent that took the Habs to victory in last year's National Hockey League and Stanley Cup championships as fifth-place Boston's Wayne Connelly whipped in a tying goal two minutes and 22 seconds before the final buzzer.

"We didn't deserve to win it," said Blake. "We played poorly and can probably count ourselves lucky that we came out with a tie."

Canadiens' Jim Roberts scored his third goal of the season when he deflected Montreal's only goal at 12:37 of the second period.

Blake's gloom was no doubt accentuated by the fact that Tuesday night's last-gap goal by Boston followed the pattern of the Canadiens' previous game, in Montreal Saturday, when the New York Rangers snatched a 4-3 victory with a closing minutes marker.

Sinden, on the other hand, thought Boston deserved the tie.

The rookie coach said the Bruins have been playing better on the road than at home this season.

"We have a bit more hustle on our play away from home." In the only game scheduled for Thursday night, the Rangers complete their most successful half-season of play since the 1941-42 season when they play host to Detroit Red Wings.

Rangers, still tops in the league despite a 3-2 beating by Chicago Tuesday night, go in to their last game of 1966 with an enviable 16-8-6 won-lost-tied record for 31 games.

Last year, after 31 games, the Rangers record was a lowly 9-17-7.

The Rangers have beaten the Wings twice in two starts on New York ice this year. In Detroit, Rangers have won one and lost two.

CENTRES SIDELINED

Two Rangers centres, Red Berenson and Orland Kurtenbach, still are out of action. Berenson has a fractured cheekbone and Kurtenbach a pinched nerve in the back.

Rangers have Jim Johnson, 24, a centre from Omaha Knights, in reserve. He was dressed but didn't get on the ice Tuesday against Chicago.

Toronto Maple Leafs play host to Chicago Saturday night with both regular goalkeepers on the sidelines. Johnny Bower has a broken hand while Terry Sawchuk has a back injury.

The Leafs will be forced to go with minor leaguers Bruce Gamble and Gary Smith.

Detroit, firmly ensconced in the cellar two points behind Boston, got a nasty Christmas present with the news that defenceman Bert Marshall will be out of action because of a crippled lung.

Marshall was injured in Detroit's 4-4 tie Tuesday night with the Bruins.

BCI Wins Queen's Tourney

KINGSTON (CP) — Belleville Collegiate defeated Adam Scott Collegiate of Peterborough 49-31 to win the Queen's University annual Christmas basketball tournament Wednesday.

Led by John Chalmers, top scorer of the tournament, Belleville opened with a 34-43 win over Port Hope High School, followed by a 32-19 win over Sharbot Lake High School. In the semi-finals Belleville defeated Oshawa Collegiate 50-29.

Adam Scott edged Loyalist Collegiate of Kingston 25-21 in the first round and defeated Cornwall Collegiate 37-31 in the second round. A 32-31 win over Ernestown High School put Adam Scott in the final.

Chalmers scored 57 points for Belleville, 29 in the opening game.

Oshawa and Ernestown finished with two wins and one loss. Port Hope, Cornwall, Sharbot Lake and Loyalist were winless in two games.

Junior Macs Meet Oshawa in Picton

Belleville's Quinte McFarlands head back into the heavy traffic of the OHA Eastern Junior "B" League race tonight.

The Macs, locked in a strong five - team race, play host to the powerful Oshawa Crushmen in an 8:30 game in Picton.

Oshawa, Cobourg Cougars, the Macs and Peterborough Don Byrs are packed tighter than a tin of sardines in their top - spot battle. And close behind are the Kingston Frontenacs, threatening to make it a five - ply fight for first place.

League followers are finding it impossible to choose the team that will finish fifth-and out of the picture along with the tail - end Trenton Apple Kings. The breaks may decide the issue.

"We can't afford a slump, or can any other of the teams when the going is this tight," Macs' manager Jim "Snipe" Mathews said recently.

Actually, Oshawa Crushmen appear to have the best - balanced club on paper and they have been living up to it on the ice lanes as well. Goalie Dave Gavel and his backup man are aided by a stout defence that hits and skates while the front - lines attack offers a scoring threat with any combination on the ice.

Macs' coach Fiori Goegan is hoping the club can come up with the strong team effort he knows is necessary to halt the Crushmen tonight.

And co - manager Chris Lockyer is looking for the season's biggest crowd at the Picton Arena. Game time once again is 8.30 p.m.

Breaks Hand, Bower Out 3 Weeks

TORONTO (CP) — Goaltender Johnny Bower of Toronto Maple Leafs, back for two games last weekend after a shoulder injury, broke a right hand Wednesday in practice and will be out at least three weeks.

Bower, 42, suffered the injury to his stick hand while stopping a shot. A team spokesman declined to say who fired the shot. Bower allowed just two goals during a pair of weekend games in which the Leafs defeated Boston Bruins 3-0 and 4-2.

Clay, Terrell In Near-Clash

This Would Have Been A Fight!

NEW YORK (AP)—"Oh, he needs to be beaten real good. I'm going to knock him out."

Ernie Terrell, his eyes still smouldering, meant the words for Cassius Clay, following a hot tiff between the two heavyweights that almost broke into a free fight Wednesday.

If this was a publicity stunt, then the acting was magnificent.

The nasty accusations made by Clay may have hurt Ernie's feelings but the fracas certainly helped return attention to their upcoming fight in Houston Feb. 6.

By a strange coincidence, the whole bit took place while a television camera was grinding and both were being interviewed by a sports commentator in the boxing publicity office in the Garden.

The occasion was a Garden press conference to announce that the big arena will show the telecast of the fight.

Boxing veterans were dumbfounded at the unprofessional-like behavior of the two heavyweight champions, who are scheduled to fight for prices ranging to a $100 top at the Houston Astrodome. Terrell is World Boxing Association's champion while Clay is regarded as champion in most parts of the world.

After calling Terrell "an Uncle Tom" because the towering fighter wouldn't call him Muhammad Ali, the Muslim name Clay prefers, Clay slapped Terrell's right arm and challenged him to "fight it out right now" at a Madison Square Garden press conference.

The 6-foot-3 Clay doffed his sports coat and tried to get at Terrell while the 6-foot-6 Terrell lunged at Clay. They were about six feet apart in a jam-packed small room in the Garden when the acting started.

Various handlers and others collaborated to keep them apart.

The world's most successful idea in brewing comes to Canada.

SKOL is here!

Just a few years ago six of the world's leading brewers . . . from Canada, England, Belgium, Austria, Sweden and Portugal . . . got together with the idea of brewing a beer so good and so right that it would hit the spot with beer-drinkers all around the world . . . a beer that would be brewed to the same exacting standards wherever it was sold. When they had the brew they gave it a name. Its name is SKOL. SKOL International Beer. And the SKOL idea worked. SKOL has made it and made it big with beer-drinkers all around the world. It's already a top seller in 31 countries . . . the world's most successful idea in brewing. Now SKOL is here . . . brewed in Canada. Crothers Beaten; Kemp Sets Record

SASKATOON (CP) — Speedy Jim Kemp of the Los Angeles Olympic Track Club defied a sore knee to break the Canadian indoor open record for 300 metres Wednesday at the annual Knights of Columbus Jubilee Games.

He was clocked in 33.2 seconds as he flashed to victory in a heat and matched the time in the final. He defeated Oliver Ford of Southern University at Baton Rouge, La., and Brian McLaren of Winnipeg, a member of the Canadian British Empire Games team last summer.

The old mark, 36.2 seconds, was set in Winnipeg last year by Gaylord Norse of Knoxville, Tenn.

Kemp, a graduate of Kentucky State University and a member of the 1964 United States Olympic team, edged Anthony Gales of Southern and Lee Southern of Winnipeg in the heat.

Kemp's performances at the tournament's opening day, before about 700 in the afternoon and 2,000 at night, overshadowed a loss by Bill Crothers of Toronto in the 880, the featured event Wednesday.

Crothers, admittedly shy of top shape, lost a three-man duel with Jere Van Dyck of University of Oregon, and John Perry of the Ottawa club.

Van Dyck was confined to bed for three months this summer with a disease similar to mononucleosis, but stayed within range of Crothers and Perry, then battled for the early lead.

The 23-year-old speedster took command on the backstretch in the last lap and won in 1:52.2. Perry was a tenth of a second behind and Crothers was timed in 1:52.4.

Van Dyck said it was his first experience against international competition. He has limited university experience.

Czechs Whip Juniors

TORONTO (CP) — Czechoslovakia's national hockey team combined sound positional play and hard skating to defeat 18 stars of the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A circuit 4-2 before 7,050 fans here Wednesday.

Leftwinger Jiri Holik scored two goals for the visitors and assisted on another, scored by Rudolf Havel. Jaroslev Grandtner scored the other Czechoslovakian goal. Defenceman Tom Reid of St. Catharines Black Hawks and right winger Mickey Redmond of Peterborough Petes were the All-Stars' marksmen.

Referees Hugh McLean and Bob Naden called 69 minutes in penalties. Each team received eleven minors, and Derek Sanderson of Niagara Falls Flyers received a five-minute major for spearing Czechoslovakia's Jaroslav Holik. Jiri Holik and Ladislav Smed of the Czech team also received ten-minute misconduct penalties.

The All-Stars failed to take advantage of any Czechoslovakian penalties, but the visitors scored three of their goals while the Junior Team was short-handed.

Thieves Clean Junior Macs Dressing Room

The Junior McFarlands played Santa Claus last night but they didn't know it until they reached Pierlon's Community Centre for practice.

The Juniors share a dressing room with an intermediate club.

When they arrived they discovered their equipment box had been broken into.

Missing were two dozen sticks, twenty rolls of tape, pucks and an unknown quantity of equipment.

Manager "Snipe" Mathews said "We didn't have a thing to practise with. I'm going to get to the bottom of this thing. It is quite a blow especially with the club's finances at a low level."

The Macs play Oshawa over there tonight.

Russ Teams Pile Up Scores

HULL, Que. (CP)—The visiting Moscow Selects trounced an all-star team from the St. Lawrence Senior A' League 10-3 in an exhibition hockey game Wednesday night.

The Russians were led by Victor Shilov, Alexander Sakeev, Igor Samochernov and Vlacheslav Zetkov with two goals each. Victor Yarouslautsev and Alexander Yakushev also scored.

The all stars scored early in the first period and held the lead until the 14-minute mark when the Russians got three goals in three minutes to take control of the game.

The Selects got five goals in the second period but the all-stars could not score. Each team scored two goals in the third.

The visitors got 50 shots on goal compared with 22 for the all-stars.

SAINT JOHN, N.B. (CP) — Russia's national hockey team, continuing to make a shambles of Atlantic provinces' teams, hammered Saint John 19-0 in an exhibition game Wednesday.

It was the third consecutive slaughter by the Russians who walloped Corner Brook Royals 28-0 Friday and St. John's Capitals 18-1 Monday.

Saint John, an intermediate A entry in the Southern New Brunswick League, managed only one shot on goal in the first period.

The Russians got three goals from Yuri Pasamoskin and two from Alexander Almetov, Igor Romishevski, Victor Polupanov, Yuri Moiseev, Vladimar Juzzinov and Edward Ivanov.

The others went to Veniamin Alexandrov, Alexander Ragulin, Victor Yakubev and Vladimar Blinov.

Martin To Join Selects

ROSSLAND, B.C. (CP)—Seth Martin, goaltender for Rossland Warriors, was given the go-ahead from his doctor Wednesday to join the Western International Hockey League Selects in the Walter Brown International hockey tournament at Colorado Springs, Colo.

The WHL Selects were scheduled to meet the United States national team Wednesday night, the Canadian Nationals today and the U.S. team again Saturday.

Martin said Wednesday he would fly to Colorado Springs today.

Harvey Sought By Reds

By KEN FRITCHARD

NEW YORK (CP) — Providence Reds of the American Hockey League are negotiating with Doug Harvey as a free agent, it was announced Wednesday.

Buster Clegg, general manager of Providence, said in a telephone interview that the Reds had made Harvey, former star National Hockey League defenceman, an offer and hoped he would join the Reds, who languish in last place in the AHL's Eastern Division.

Clegg said it was his understanding that Baltimore Clippers, with whom Harvey played 34 games this year, have released the 42-year-old defenceman. The former Montreal Canadiens and New York Rangers player balked when Baltimore tried last week to put his contract to Providence.

Harvey said he signed with Baltimore as a free agent and became a free agent again when the Clippers put him on the block.

Amerks Bears Tie 3-3

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Nothing was settled Wednesday night in a pair of games that could have decided the bears and the worst teams in the American Hockey League.

The two top teams in each division, Hershey Bears in the East and Rochester Americans in the West, battled to a 3-3 tie, while the division cellar dwellers, Providence Reds in the East and Buffalo Bisons in the West, also tied 4-4.

Anderson Took Wrestling

Quinte Wins Hoop Tourney

By ROBERT SNEFJELLA

Quinte Secondary School hosted the "Quinte Christmas Tournament" yesterday, and carried off first place.

Three other schools, Birchmount Park of Toronto, Anderson of Whitby and local Moira, competed in the day long dual tourney, made up of wrestling and basketball. Quinte won the tournament with seven points overall, one better than Birchmount Park and Anderson. Moira followed closely with five points.

Each school entered a team in both events, and a round-robin was played with two points for a victory and a single point for a tie. The winner was decided on a total points basis.

Quinte dominated basketball with three victories, while Anderson swept wrestling in the same manner. However, Quinte nabbed a single point in wrestling, after battling to a 13-13 deadlock with Moira, whereas Anderson was blanked in basketball. Birchmount Park had two basketball decisions and one victory in wrestling, while Moira managed three wrestling points and one win in basketball.

With a few breaks, any one of the four schools could have easily captured first place. This is evident from scores of the very close individual games, and the tight overall score.

Following are game results: Basketball: Quinte 28, Moira 22; Birchmount Park 21; Anderson 49; Quinte 52; Anderson 47; Birchmount Park 23; Moira 22; Moira 36; Anderson 29; Quinte 37; Birchmount Park 28.

Wrestling: Anderson 21; Birchmount Park 21; Quinte 13; Moira 13; Moira 27; Birchmount Park 8; Quinte 25; Anderson 33; Birchmount Park 34; Quinte 30; Anderson 19; Moira 2.

Firemen Answer Call To Barn Fire

NAPANEE — The Napanee Fire Department had the assistance of neighbors in fighting a smouldering fire in a barn on the north shore of Hay Bay, about seven miles south of Napanee.

The alarm was sent in Tuesday afternoon when smoke was seen. The pumper returned to the hall about four hours later, but the local firemen was on the job until 3.30 a.m., and had made five trips to town and one to the lake in the meantime.

The farm is owned by Arthur Sherman, who is now in Detroit, and is leased by Metcalfe Foods, Limited, of Deseronto. Farm machinery and a bean planter were rescued from the building but damage by the heat cannot be estimated as yet.

Mrs. Ray Hess is believed to have started in baled pea scallags in the loft, and to have made its way down to the granary. Men worked throughout the night and the following day removing smouldering scallags, grain and hay. On Wednesday firemen were again called.

Cold hampered the firemen in their work, and hose had to be thawed out in the fireball on each occasion.

A faulty oil space heater took them to 119 Mill St. for a short time. There was no damage.

Santa Claus Rounds

DESERONTO — Traditionally, Santa Claus was reindeer and flies over the housetops, but in Deseronto last week he used a fire truck and stayed on the street and obeyed all the traffic laws.

He first visited the public school, with its 388 pupils, plus all their little brothers and sisters. Many of them came alone and went to the class room with the older ones, but some were brought by the family, were brought by their mothers.

Then, one by one, in orderly fashion, each class room was emptied of its little folk, who trooped out and then returned to their rooms.

Around the town Santa went with his fire truck and sirens. His stopped longest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John McGill, Mill St., which is home, also, to several out-patients of the Centre Hastings Memorial Hospital.

Perhaps nowhere did he receive a warmer welcome than at the 18 bedded home where little folk were too sick to visit the school party.

Those who had assisted Santa were: Fire Chief Al.Fraser and the factory men and the town council, the Lions Club, the Canadian Legion and a lot of other people who backed them up.

Gifts Total Half Billion

MONTREAL (CP) — Canadians donated an estimated $550,000,000 or $27.50 each this year to community funds, hospitals, universities, churches and other institutions supported by gifts, a fund-raising consultant firm said Wednesday.

Arthur R. Mayhee, president of G. A. Brakeley and Co. Ltd., said donations in 1966 were the largest on record: $50,000,000 more than 1965 donations, a gain of 10 per cent.

Donations by business firms and corporations accounted for about $45,000,000 of this year's total.

Christmas Gifts of Stars Range From Plane to Books

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Amid the tinselled litter of your own Christmas wrappings, you might like to know what some of the stars gave and received.

David Janssen surprised wife Ellie with a $20,000 plane (he flies, she's learning). Sandra Dee, separated from husband Bobby Darin, gave herself a mink coat, her 14th. The wives of Steve Forrest and Peter Graves received 1967 limousines from their husbands.

Not all Hollywood gifts were so costly. Greer Garson gave her Texas oilman husband, Buddy Fogelson, two books, a red flannel robe and "a new and louder clicker for the turn signal on his car." Jeffrey Hayden's packages for wife Eva Marie Saint included a vacuum-cleaner attachment for her new auto.

MacDonald Carey bought wife Betty a typewriter for her realty business. Robert Redford gave his family a mechanized snow remover for their Utah cabin. From Kathryn to Bing Crosby: An identical pair of silver-embossed, Irish - made shotguns.

GAVE GAG GIFTS

There were the gags. George Gobel gave wife Alice a diamond-and-gold bracelet with charms denoting highlights of their 25-year marriage, including the date her mother moved in with them. Jim. V .n sent an old army budd ..so doesn't speak German, a year's subscription to Berlin's Daily Tagesspiegel.

Mutual gifts were popular among husbands and wives: Fabian and bride Katie Regan, furniture . . . Debbie Reynolds and Harry Karl, furnishings for their Malibu Beach house. . .

Kirk Douglas' French - born wife Ann found under the tree an antique French clock he bought in Mexico. Dick Van Dyke bought wife Marge a $320 Parish watch to replace the $18 one she has been wearing.

Red Buttons gave his wife and baby $50,000 worth of himself the sum he declined by refusing an Australian tour during the holidays.

Movie Column

Tragedy and Romance Made Movie Headlines

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—This has been another year of change for Hollywood, with long-familiar faces vanishing from the local scene and new corporate structures appearing.

Tragedy and romance in the movie world made headlines in 1966. Of equal and perhaps more lasting importance were the immense changes taking place in the power structure—mergers, sellouts, etc. These developments appeared to strengthen the financial condition of the film industry, but the results will not be known until well into 1967.

1. The death of Walt Disney. The passing of the movie wizard was a shock to the entire world, his influence having been felt as much as any man's during this century.

2. Ronald Reagan's election as governor of California. Although the candidate not-pedaled his movie background, the issue of an actor's qualifications for public office was stressed throughout the campaign by his opposition.

3. The George Hamilton-Lynda Bird Johnson romance. The dating of a president's daughter and a movie actor provided reams of copy for newspapers and magazines.

4. Corporate changes. The shift of power was demonstrated by Gulf and Western's purchase of Paramount, United Artists' merger with Transamerica, Jack L. Warner's sell-out to Seven Arts, a Toronto-based firm.

5. Frank Sinatra's marriage. The 30-year-old swinger and Mia Farrow, 21-year-old star of television's Peyton Place, provided the wedding of the year.

6. New film czar. The motion picture producers finally found a man to succeed the late Eric Johnston as head of their association. He is Jack Valenti, former White House aide who took over his new post with vigorous leadership.

7. The Oscars. There was general approval of the Academy Awards to Lee Marvin (Cat Ballou) and Julie Christie (Darling) as best starring performers and The Sound of Music as best film.

8. The deaths of Buster Keaton and Hedda Hopper. Other notable deaths: Ed Wynn, Herbert J. Yates, Clifton. Webb, Francis L. Sullivan.

9. The murder of Mrs. Mickey Rooney. Her death at the hands of an obscure Yugoslavian actor and his subsequent suicide provided a shocking news story.

10. Shoplifting charge against Hedy Lamarr. The onetime Ecstasy girl was accused of taking $86 worth of merchandise from a department store. A jury acquitted her.

Correspondents Meet To Talk About World

NEW YORK (AP) — ABC turned its annual get-together of top news correspondents into a graceful occasion Wednesday night.

They were summoned, not to the usual stiff studio set, but to dinner at the home of commentator Howard K. Smith on-elite Washington. Clad in dinner jackets, sipping brandy and smoking cigars, the correspondents discussed in gentlemanly style a variety of subjects.

The talk was spiced by articulate and informed opinion. They took up with enthusiasm the Vietnam conflict, Sino-Soviet relations, the credibility gap, probable presidential candidates, the enigma of de Gaulle, the future of Britain, the new nationalism of Germany and a number of other subjects.

Smith, at the head of the long table, held the conversational reins firmly, and only once—when the Johnson administration was under heavy congressional fire, moved in to balance things off. The elegant setting, the flashes of wit and the frequently happy turns of phrase made it a thoroughly enjoyable hour.

USE SATELLITES

NBC's year-end wrapup—using the communications satellites to bring its correspondents together—will be along tonight —9:30-10 EST—and CBS, is set for Sunday afternoon — 2:30—3:30.

Earlier in the evening, NBC's Bob Hope Show launched what may be the new trend in spy stories. It was the first of a two-part affair, in which Hopesley called Code Name: Heroclitus.

Squidgy, apparently, is as bored with super-spies having super-adventures as some television viewers. So he has created a surly, dour fellow without memory of his past, without conscience and with a passion for chewing gum. His does his spying with the help of nothing more interesting than an old-fashioned pistol.

Questions and Answers On Highway Travel

Ontario Motor League
Eastern Ontario Club

Between 85 and 90 per cent of the visitors to Expo '67, Montreal's World Fair next year, will arrive in the family auto.

That estimate comes from the American Automobile Association, and is based on an AA survey of people who actually visited the Seattle World's Fair in 1962.

AAA predicted 7,150,000 persons would use the automobile as their means of reaching Montreal, out of an expected total of 8.3 million visitors. The estimate did not include the expected one million in local visitors and 700,000 visitors from overseas. These last two groups would bring the anticipated attendance to 10 million.

According to advance estimates, Montreal area accommodations will be overflowing. It is expected that 130,000 persons a day will need a place to stay.

About 1.2 million — 13 per cent of the out-of-city visitors — will stay with friends and relatives. This prediction does not seem too far off target, since 12 per cent of those queried in AAA's Seattle survey said they stayed with friends and relatives.

Expo officials have said that by 1967 there will be 25,000 commercial rooms within a 90-mile radius of Montreal. These have a capacity for 62,500 people, or less than half the expected average daily attendance by out-of-town visitors. Accommodations still need to be provided for 67,500.

QUESTION: We are arranging to have a trip to Florida this winter and would like very much to know what is going on and things we can do.

ANSWER: There are lots of things to do for those who like their sunshine less active. The horses run at Tropical Hialeah and Gulfstream, all easily reached from Miami Beach by bus.

Deep-sea fishing boats can be hired by a party of four for $100 and fishermen can wet a line from the municipal pier or from bridges over Biscayne Bay free.

The concert season is already in full swing with the Greater Miami Philharmonic and the Miami Beach symphony. Nationally known conductors and soloists take part.

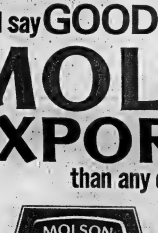
This week dog racing moves into the Biscayne Kennel Club and continues there and at the Miami Beach Kennel Club under the lights until March. This gives plungers a chance to feed the parimutuels both day and night. They get another chance when the jai alai starts.

The big week of the Christmas season begins Dec. 22, when the Orange Bowl Festival starts. It hits its climax New Year's Day when the annual college Orange Bowl football game and parade are held across the bay in Miami.

After Dec. 15, big name acts from Skeeting down, will be featured at various night clubs on the Beach.

QUESTION: What would be an average cost, to fly to Miami Beach and stay in a good hotel for two weeks for two people.

ANSWER: A typical two weeks for a couple in a modern Ocean-Front hotel, including all meals, jet down and back, would cost about $720. Nightlife, of course, is not included in this tab.



Probably the cheapest way to do the sightseeing is to take one of the tours available almost at hotels. It'll take in three clubs and include a drink and tips at each for the price of about $15 which is much cheaper than you could do it on your own, since there is a cover charge at most clubs.

And if you're really watching your pennies, never, but never, order a sandwich from room service late at night. It'll be good, mind you, but the price will be hard to swallow.

China's Fifth Nuclear Blast Puts More Strain on Red Tie

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP News Analyst

China has exploded another nuclear device and thrown yet another bomb into the rubble of Soviet-Chinese relations.

As much as any other one factor, atomic weaponry has contributed to worsening relations between the two Communist giants and may yet be the element which makes the break complete and final.

With the latest explosion, China's fifth and its third this year—Peking issued a propaganda blast which said the success of these tests "is a heavy blow to . . . U.S. imperialism and Soviet modern revisionism, which have been collaborating in a vain attempt to enforce their nuclear monopoly and sabotage the revolutionary struggles of all oppressed people and oppressed nations."

With each Chinese explosion Soviet nervousness has increased. This explosion could be enough to push the Kremlin into a more active role in seeking peace in Vietnam, despite avowals from Moscow that the Soviet leaders will take no such initiative unless specifically asked by the North Vietnamese.

Moscow appears now to see in China's nuclear club membership a real threat of nuclear weapons spreading to other countries—and of a world situation developing beyond the control of the two major nuclear powers.

Peking has vowed again and again to "break the nuclear monopoly" of the Russians and the Americans, and has given the impression that it believes the more nations that get the bomb, the better.

If the Chinese believe their own propaganda, that there is a "holy alliance" against them of the Russians, Americans and Japanese), they could be moved to rash actions despite their past revered of caution. This is particularly so in the confused state of Chinese politics in the wake of the violent purge.

The Vietnam war appears to be a constant abrasion on official Soviet nerves. Moscow blames China's attitude toward the U.S.S.R. for the American escalation, on the theory that had Peking remained united with Moscow, the Americans would not have dared the risk involved. The implication is that there might be more escalation leading to a general war in Asia.

The Kremlin is unlikely to want to bring about a situation in which the Americans could crush Soviet-Chinese conflict would be just about unbridgeable.

MONTREAL (CP) — There are 13 McGill undergraduates studying Arabic this year for the first time. The new venture is partly financed by the Ford Foundation, which granted $200,000 to the Institute of Islamic Studies in 1966.

U.S. Navy's Task Force One In Tonkin Gulf

SAIGON (AP) — The U.S. Navy announced today its power-packed Task Force One — made up of all three of the navy's nuclear-powered surface ships—is in action in the Gulf of Tonkin off North Vietnam.

The latest to arrive was the frigate Bainbridge, which joined the aircraft carrier Enterprise and the cruiser Long Beach 100 miles off the North Vietnamese coast.

The three ships operated previously as Task Force One with the U.S. 6th Fleet in the Mediterranean and sailed together in a history-making round-the-world voyage without refuelling in 1964.

The 85,000-ton Enterprise, the world's biggest warship, arrived Dec. 17 for her second tour of duty with the 7th Fleet off Vietnam. The Long Beach arrived her by two weeks.

The navy's disclosure came as ground fighting slackened again in the Mekong Delta and the 48-hour New Year's truce approached. Only one ground clash of any significance was reported.

Troops of the U.S. 1st Air Cavalry Division battled North Vietnamese force of unknown size in mountain - surrounded rice fields 280 miles northeast of Saigon. Fragmentary reports said they were still fighting this afternoon.

No contact was reported in the big Mekong Delta newly-launched Tuesday by several regiments of South Vietnamese troops, including 3,000 air mobile paratroops who jumped unopposed into canalized paddies 126 miles southwest of Saigon.

A Vietnamese military spokesman said Viet Cong casualties remained at 89 killed the number announced Wednesday for the initial two days. All were attributed to air strikes and infantrymen.

The U.S. military command reported American troop strength in South Vietnam reached 379,000 last Saturday, an increase of 5,000 men over the previous week.

CASUALTY LIST UP

The command also announced U.S. casualties last week were 109 killed and 574 wounded, compared with 98 killed and 438 wounded the week before.

Vietnamese headquarters reported 370 government soldiers killed last week compared with 190 in the previous week. Communist casualties last week were placed at 1,083 killed and 2,000 wounded. The week before 960 enemy killed and 1,800 captured were reported.

Saigon said generally poor weather again curtailed U.S. bombing of North Vietnam. American planes flew 70 strike missions, most of them in the southern part of North Vietnam.

The U.S. command reported two army helicopters shot down by Communist ground fire Wednesday.

A gunship helicopter was downed 27 miles east of Saigon. Its crewman said five of aboard were injured and the helicopter was destroyed.

The other helicopter was downed while supporting the big Vietnamese operation in the delta province of Kien Hoa Prince. No casualties were reported, and a spokesman said damage was minor.

All-out Hate-Russia Campaign Said Ordered

MOSCOW (AP) — Peking's leaders have ordered an all-out, hate-Russia campaign in the Chinese army, the Soviet defence ministry said today.

The defence ministry newspaper Krasnaya Zvezda (Red Star) says "everything has been placed at the service of anti-Soviet propaganda." The article, spread across the bottom of two pages, was clearly aimed at warning Soviet military personnel of possible danger from China.

"To cultivate hatred for the Soviet Union among servicemen," the article says, "Chinese propaganda is trying in every way to persuade army soldiers and commanders that the Soviet Union and American imperialism are 'one and the same thing.'"

China and the Soviet Union share a 4,150-mile border, much of it disputed territory. Moscow-Chinese conflict would be just about unbridgeable.

Tse-tung, Chinese Communist party chairman, has claimed 500,000 square miles of Soviet territory belongs to China.

In recent weeks the Soviets have disclosed they are strengthening civilian defence units along the border, obviously to meet any Chinese threat. There also have been unconfirmed reports of Soviet troops being shifted to the Chinese border.

Red Star says Chinese leaders "are trying to make the army a blind weapon of their anti - Leninist, anti - Soviet and anti - power course."

It says Mao and his supporters purged the commanding and political personnel of the army to mold it as an instrument of their will and that any sympathy for the Soviet Union on the part of Chinese military personnel is regarded as "betrayal of the nation."

For Canada--New Century's Eve

OTTAWA (CP) — A technicolor celebration in this wide-screen country begins Saturday night as more than 20,000,000 Canadians ring in the 100th anniversary of Confederation.

Expo 67, the dazzling world's fair opening April 28 at Montreal, is the biggest single project Canada has engaged in since the Second World War. It is only a part of a year-long centennial spectacular that will reach into all corners of the far-flung land.

Every troupe from the National Ballet to the Saskatchewan Provincial Church Pipe Band has been geared for the party with a subsidy.

Negro communities in Nova Scotia will see a new play called Coming Here to Stay. Another called If oot am pays— There is a Country—is to be produced in Quebec.

Among the 300 books written under federal grants is one by Solange Chaput-Rolland called My Country: Canada or Quebec?

She concludes that Quebec may some day become a country but Canada never will.

In Quebec, separatists plan to hide the legend "1867 Confederation 1967" on the province's rear licence plates with a small plaza saying:

"100 years of injustice."

Meanwhile, a parliamentary committee will be trying to write O Canada into a national anthem acceptable to the whole country.

Man and his World, the theme of the world's fair, sets the tone of the celebrations.

Things begin simply this Saturday night, New Year's Eve, with the lighting of a centennial flame that will burn before the Peace Tower on Parliament Hill through 1967.

Bells will ring in the special New Year at midnight and there'll be a common prayer in the churches Sunday—the product of a conference of 34 faiths.

The Confederation Trains with its artifacts and sight, sound, smell and electronic displays of Canada in the past, will pull out of Ottawa Sunday for the West Coast.

While it brings history along the main line, eight caravans of trucks will take a similar show into other communities.

There'll be a canoe pageant from Rocky Mountain House, Alta., to Montreal and the Pan-American Games at Winnipeg.

A military show featuring 1,400 men in period costumes will travel the country, along with hundreds of other entertainers.

Individually, most Canadians will be doing everything from planting trees to climbing mountains.

'One University' Disliked

College Heads Oppose Scheme

TORONTO (CP) — A recommendation that Ontario's 14 public universities be amalgamated into one University of Ontario has received scant support from university and government officials.

The recommendation came Thursday in a report from a government - appointed commission headed by Dr. John W. T. Spinks, president of the University of Saskatchewan.

Presidents of the 14 universities indicated they did not support the idea at a provincial university similar to state universities in California and New York. However they endorsed other recommendations in the report, particularly proposals on graduate studies and research.

William Davis, minister of university affairs, said he had some reservations about the report. He questioned whether or not the report was the best, or the only answer to university problems.

Robert Nixon, Interim Liberal house leader, said the one-university proposal deserves serious and detailed examination.

Dr. J. A. Corry, principal of Queen's University, Kingston, and chairman of the Committee of Presidents of Ontario Universities, said university presidents think the University of Ontario proposal is "an unnecessarily complicated solution to the problem of co-ordination and effort."

Dr. H. G. Thode, president of McMaster University, Hamilton, said a University of Ontario was neither necessary nor desirable at this time. Dr. J. D. MacLachlan, retiring president of Guelph University, said that although similar plans had worked in various U.S. states, it would be premature in Ontario.

Dr. G. Edward Hall, president of the University of Western Ontario, London, said the commission had overstepped its terms of reference and Dr. Murray Ross, president of Toronto's York University, was against the proposal.

The University of Ontario recommendation proposes that the 14 universities be combined in to one body for purposes of planning, graduate academic policy, budgets and construction.

The report said there would be a president of the University of Ontario and a 15-member board of regents. Each of the present universities would retain its own name and make its own faculty appointments and promotions.

What Is Suggested

TORONTO (CP) — Key recommendations of the Spinks commission report on Ontario's public universities:

* * *

Creation of a University of Ontario which would oversee long-range planning, graduate academic policy, budgets and campus development at the province's present 14 public universities.

* * *

An active campaign to recruit post-graduate students from other countries, especially England and the United States.

* * *

* * *

A "vigorous" graduate residence program, possibly with the help of Central Mortgage and Housing Corp. or Canada Pension Plan loan funds.

* * *

Establishment of a provincial authorization procedure for all doctoral programs.

* * *

Strengthening of non-science departments within the universities.

* * *

Development of "centres of excellence" in various fields good enough to compete successfully with corresponding centres in other parts of the world.

* * *

Creation of an Ontario universities research council to foster and co-ordinate research in the province's universities, assuming responsibility for the present Ontario graduate fellowship program.

* * *

An immediate $10,000,000 increase in provincial grants toward research facilities at provincial universities.

* * *

Creation of a comprehensive research library available to students from all public universities.

Many Proposals Warmly Backed

TORONTO (CP) — University officials approve of many of the recommendations of a commission headed by Dr. John W. T. Spinks, president of the University of Saskatchewan.

Dr. J. A. Corry, principal of Queen's University, Kingston, and chairman of the Committee of Presidents of Ontario Universities, said the report has some "extraordinary important statements and analyses of graduate education."

The report recommended a graduate residence program, provincial authorization procedure for all doctoral programs and an active campaign to recruit post-graduate students from England and the United States.

Dr. Claude Bissell, president of the University of Toronto, termed it "an excellent report despite the unanimous disagreement by Ontario universities with the final recommendation."

He said it was "sober and objective" and for the first time in Canada it turns attention towards the highest reaches of education."

"If its recommendations in respect to the support and development of graduate studies in the province are followed, then Ontario will become one of the major areas of graduate study," Dr. Bissell said.

Dr. Murray Ross, president of York University, called the one

Dr. James A. Gibson, president of Brock University at St. Catharines, said he agreed with most of the recommendations concerning research and funds.

Dr. Roger Guindon, rector of the University of Ottawa, said the government, without involving itself in the "academic domain" of universities, could take two basic steps to help universities co-ordinate their efforts.

Father Guindon suggested that university grants be allocated according to a fixed and equitable formula and strengthen the provincial committee on university affairs.

Marine Union Curb Remains

OTTAWA (CP)—Labor Minister Nicholson says a one-year extension to the trusteeship over five Canadian maritime unions ordered by the cabinet Thursday will allow a "phasing out" of the trustees' work.

Bert Leonard (Red) McLaughlin, president of the Seafarers' International Union, says the trusteeship is being continued because the government is having difficulty in getting co-operation from shipping companies.

Mr. Nicholson announced the extension Thursday just hours before the legislation enacted in 1963 to restore labor peace on the Great Lakes was due to expire.

He said some of the projects being carried out under the trusteeship have not been completed. These he described as "joint co-operation among the unions, closer co-operation by employer organizations, "stabilization of manpower" in the shipping industry and joint talks on ship-manning regulations.

In Montreal, Judge Rene Lippe, chairman of the three-man board of trustees, said he was leaving "in a day or so" whether he would remain as chairman and that comment sooner would be premature.

The other trustees are Joseph MacKenzie of Ottawa, director of organization for the Canadian Labor Congress; and Charles Millard of Toronto.

Body of Youth Found in Creek Near His Home

KINGSTON (CP)—The body of a youth missing since early Wednesday was found Thursday in a creek near his home at nearby Fort Henry Heights.

Police said James Duncan Roy, 19, had been shot in the chest with a .22-calibre rifle but that foul play was not suspected.

Coroner Stewart Patterson of Kingston said there will be no inquest.

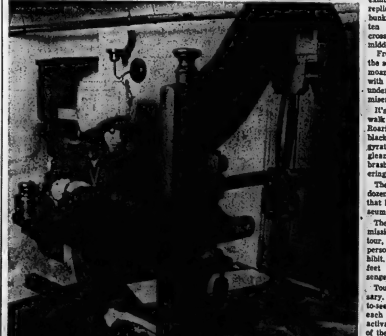
Confederation Train Is Ready

OTTAWA (CP)—What was it like to travel steerage in Canada in the disease-infected immigrant ships of the 1800s? Or a wooden railway coach across the Prairies on the original transcontinental line?

Sights and sounds of these and other episodes from Canada's first century of Confederation are dramatically reproduced aboard the colorful Confederation train, due to roll out of Ottawa Sunday for a tour of the nation.

The Confederation train will go on public display for the first time in Victoria Jan. 9 and spend the next 331 days visiting 70 cities and towns in every province except Newfoundland where narrow-gauge rail lines prohibit it.

In one dim chamber of an exhibit coach visitors will see a replica of the rough steerage bunks in which immigrants, often half - dead of cholera, crossed the Atlantic around the middle of the last century.



From hidden speakers come the sounds of the sea and pitiful moans that appear to originate from Hattie Sigwit's sprawled under this blanket or huddled miserably in a corner.

It's a pleasant contrast to walk into the Land of the Roaring Twenties. An empty black-sequined "Flapper" dress gyrates to a jazz beat and a gleaming player piano produces a crash mood music for a flickering silent movie.

These are only two of the dozen major theme exhibits that highlight the $1,500,000 museum on wheels.

The federal centennial commission, owner of the train's tour, estimates that 1,500,000 persons will visit the free exhibit, which extends for about 200 feet through six rebuilt passenger coaches.

Your guides will be unnecessary. There are brief and easy-to-see signs at the entrances to each theme area. Push-buttons activate recorded descriptions of the details, in either English or French.

Horror Begorra

CORK (Reuters) — Irishman Tim Hayes, 39, rose from the grave Thursday night, claiming a 101 - hour world record for staying buried underground in a coffin.

Hayes, a former seaman, lay buried six feet deep in a graveyard since Christmas day to better by one hour the previous record set by a Swede earlier this year.

Thousands of people broke through crash barriers late Thursday night to catch a glimpse of Tim who was bearded, pale and wearing glasses.

He lived in the coffin on boiled eggs, soup, bread and lemonade — lowered to him through two pipes which gave him an air supply.

Hayes, who read a novel, The Beautiful Coffin, during his stay underground, said when the coffin lid was opened: "I am perfectly fit and was completely confident all the time. I would stay down another 100 hours if necessary."

Burning Woman Falls to Death Sliding Past Fireman's Arms

NEW YORK (AP)—A desperate rescue attempt ended in tragedy today when a woman with her hair and clothing aflame slid past the outstretched arms of firemen and fell to her death from an 11th-storey hotel window.

Two firemen were on a ladder only two feet below the window of the blazing Brooklyn hotel.

Fireman Edward Rizzo, 31, was at the top of the danger-ous swaying 144-foot extension ladder, gripping the rungs with his legs, when he told the victim, identified as Rowena Matthews, about 33, to "come forward."

Seconds before, the explosion had occurred inside her room at the Standish Arms Hotel, overlooking the East River in Brooklyn Heights. Suddenly her hair and night clothing were afire as she stood on the window sill.

Behind Rizzo on the ladder was Lieut. Michael Chicko.

"We had got the ladder up as high as we could," Rizzo recalled later. "I had to release the locks at the top of the ladder and after I did that the lieutenant and I kept coming.

"We kept reassuring the lady, telling her 'we're here. We'll grab you. Everything will be all right.'"

Miss Mathews was carrying a box, he said, and he tried to tell her to drop it and step forward to fall into his arms—the ladder being extended as high as it would reach.

"Yes, in fact he had her hand," Chicko injected, "but he couldn't hold her. She was a ball of fire."

Rizzo said he grasped at her hand as she fell forward but she slid past and plummeted to the ground.

Later, firemen found that the box which Miss Mathews had clutched so closely to her contained a Persian cat, now killed in the fall, $55 in cash and a bankbook.

The blaze broke out on the 10th floor of the 12-storey structure shortly after midnight.

Two firemen suffered second-degree burns.

Flammable Dolls Not Sold Here

City fire department inspectors today began checking Belleville stores for imported dolls made of flammable material described as potential blowtorches.

An Intelligencer spot check of main toy outlets showed none of them sold such models during the Christmas shopping spree in Belleville.

However, Fire Chief Ted Foote, who ordered out the inspectors today, warned parents against the hazard.

"I've never heard of any of the dolls coming into this area, but if anybody has them they should take them away from the children," he said.

If his inspectors found any of the dolls in store stocks they would advise owners not to put them up for sale, he added.

In Toronto, the dolls were linked to imported frames for glasses as potential hazards.

The dolls are imported from Poland and the frames are made in Japan. Both are made of nitrocellulose.

The dolls, which sold in one Toronto bargain centre for 88 cents, would burst into flames at the touch of a match or gas jet, or in any heat exceeding 300 degrees, a Toronto fire prevention official warned yesterday.

The official staged a demonstration at Toronto City Hall yesterday and the nitrocellulose face of the doll burst into flame when touched with a piece of burning paged.

STUFFED WITH SAWDUST

The dolls are 18 inches long, with a flat, nitrocellulose face, long hair of different colors and are stuffed with sawdust.

At least 10,000 were imported into Eastern Canada before Christmas and thousands more were sold in previous years.

The dolls were examined and approved by the Ontario Department of Health two years ago.

Declared Insane

SYDNEY (AP)—Peter Raymond Kocan, who was convicted of attempting to murder Australian opposition leader Arthur Calwell, has been declared insane and transferred from Long Bay Jail to a mental hospital, it was reported today. Kocan, 19, was sentenced to life imprisonment in August after a shot was fired at Calwell June 10. Calwell received only superficial wounds.

ville toy dealers and among the outlets checked by the Intelligencer, said he didn't believe any of the dolls were imported from the Belleville area.

"However, it would still be wise to sound a warning in case any salesman had passed through and sold some here," he said.

Meantime, a check with a leading city optometrist's office, revealed most frames for glasses prescribed in the city are purchased from two Quinte district manufacturers in Kingston or Napanee.

At Deseronto, an official of Canadian Optical Company confirmed the flammable cellulose was used in frames imported from Europe and Japan and being sold in the Canadian and U.S. markets.

Jack Spence said his company and other Canadian firms use a non - flammable material.

"There's no law that says we can't use it — we just don't," he added.

"Nitro - cellulose also was used up to some years ago in the manufacture of film, said Mr. Spence.

When the material was once used by Canadian companies he recalled, his firm's operation was regularly inspected by Ontario Hydro safety officials.

Church Collections Stolen

TWEED (Special) — St. James' Anglican Church for years open evening of Carol vate Worship — may now close such evening following theft of its Christmas services collections.

Police Chief J. J. Paquette said the theft, which occurred sometime this week when thieves entered the open church and tripped a vestry door lock and removed envelopes between $300 and $500 was missing.

The money — all in church collection envelopes — was distributed during the Christmas Eve and Christmas Day services and had not been counted.

A filing cabinet containing the collection was opened with keys taken from the vestry desk of rector Rev. David V. Sinclair.

"There was nothing else touched in the office. They seemed to know where to go," said Chief Paquette.

Mr. Sinclair said the Christmas service collections are the biggest of the year.

He said it was his custom to always leave the church open at night and that, even now, he would hesitate to close it.

"But, if the church wardens advise it, I will have to," he added.

Housing Starts in City Higher Than Last Year

Housing starts across Ontario in communities of 5,000 population and over are 23 per cent less this year than for the same period in 1965 but the all-Ontario percentage figures don't correspond with those in Belleville.

Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation statistics show, that for the first 11 months this year there were 152 dwelling starts in Belleville, up from the 114 starts in the same period last year.

However there was a decided falling off in local starts for November this year as compared with 1965. Last year there were 20 starts in November. This year there were but two.

A shortage of NHA loan money for the Belleville area was given as a reason for the drop off in housing starts this fall.

On the other hand there was a slight decrease in the number of completions in Belleville for the first 11 months — 165 this year as compared with 170 last year. The number of houses currently under construction in the city is given as 76 as compared with 77 on the same date last year.

NHA loan approvals related to 2,435 dwelling units in November, five per cent less than in November of last year. Total loan approvals for the eleven month period related to 23,560 dwelling units, 9.7 per cent less than last, year's level. This comprised an increase of 66 per cent in CMHC loan approvals, and a decline of 40 per cent in Approved Lenders loans.

May a full measure of Happiness, Peace of Mind and Contentment of Heart be yours at this Yuletide Season.

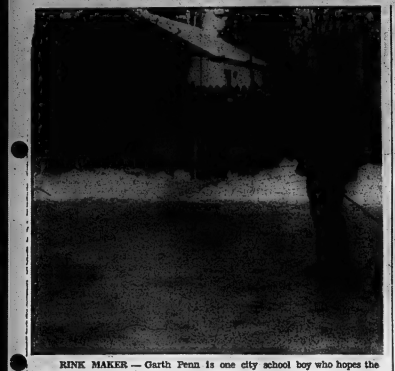
IN MEMORIAM

CARTER — In loving memory of our dear father, Ernest Carter, who died Dec. 30, 1945.
Dear Dad is still our guide and friend,
And sleep forsakes my eyes,
Memories are all I have to cherish,
Where my dear brothers lie.
Remembered and cherished by sister Lois and family.



ENGLISH — In loving memory of Mrs. Ruth English, who passed away Dec. 30th, 1965.
Oh, that I could clasp his hand,
Oh, that I could look into his face,
To hear his voice, to see his smile,
To sit beside him for a while,
His spirit fled, his suffering over,
In heaven he is free.
Forever missed and fondly remembered by his wife Nelly and Mr. R. English and family.

CROSS — In loving memory of a dear sister, Sarah Ann (Sadie) Cross, who died December 30th, 1965.
Sadie no more her last farewell,
She sleeps beneath the sod,
The heavenly gates were opened,
A loving voice said "Come."
I often sit and think of you,
And picture you there,
And wonder if you look for me,
Without a chance to say goodbye,
God took you home, it was His will,
But memories, sweet, still mine.
Sadly missed and remembered by sister Clara and brother Reuben.

LEPORE — In loving memory of my dear mother, Maria Leporé, who passed away December 30th, 1966.
In our hearts your memory lingers,
Dear mother, lonely and true,
There is no one to replace you,
There is no one like you.
Lovingly remembered by son Charles and daughter-in-law Alice.

Gaspe and Quebec City Both Seek Cartier Ship

QUEBEC (CP)—Who should get a replica of the ship used by Jacques Cartier on his historic voyages to Canada more than 400 years ago?

Gaspe, a town of 3,000 people, claims it is on grounds that was tier chose to land there in 1534 to take possession of the land for France.

Quebec City is seen by some as a worthy site because it was the spot chosen by Cartier as a winter camp on his second voyage.

Gaspe, 250 miles northeast of Quebec City, has been the most vociferous. There were student demonstrations in its behalf in October, and many cars there bear stickers reading: "We want the Grande Hermine for Gaspe."

The replica of the Grande Hermine, weighing 242 tons, was built under federal government auspices at Levis, across the St. Lawrence from Quebec City, at a cost of $300,000.

It was launched Oct. 27 and towed to Montreal where it will be anchored for display at the 1967 world's fair.

The plan as drawn up by the northern affairs department is for the ship to be returned to Quebec City after Expo. There it would be permanently anchored in the St. Charles River, a tributary of the St. Lawrence.

MAYOR PROTESTS

Some officials in the provincial capital see the Grande Hermine as a fitting addition to the antique air of the historic city. But Gaspe is protesting.

"Cartier went to Gaspe," says Dr. Philippe Roy, mayor of Gaspe. "The fact that he there discovered a whole country is certainly more important than his having to spend a winter at one place or another."

Mayor Roy, who sees great tourist-attracting potential in the vessel, has received support for his view from a number of communities, some of them far from Gaspe. There have even been expressions of pro-Gaspe sentiment among Quebec City organizations.

In a letter to Prime Minister Pearson the mayor said Gaspe should get the Grande Hermine and Quebec City should receive a replica of the ship in which Champlain made his voyage there from France in 1603.

Another suggestion is that the Grande Hermine should spend winters at Quebec City and summers at Gaspe. That way the vessel could serve the interests of both communities at the height of their tourist seasons.

Napanee High School Bids Opened

The Napanee and District Secondary School Board has agreed to consider two tenders for the completion of the stalled high school addition.

Work on the $2,500,000 32-room project has been at a near standstill since the original contractor left the job in November.

Seven tenders were opened last night and the board agreed to consider further those of James Stewart of Hamilton in the amount of $1,061,000 and The Coit Construction Co., of Scarboro for $1,070,000.

Other bids were made by C. A. Johansen of Ottawa, Ball Brothers of Kingston, John Eastwhistle of Cornwall, W. Sullivan of Arnprior and T. A. Andre of Kingston.

Work has been going on at the school in the electrical and mechanical phases since construction halted.

Trenton Asked to Name Fair Board Appointee

TRENTON — Town councillors meeting last night for the last time this year favored a communication from the Belleville Agricultural Fair Board seeking a Trenton representative on the board. The communication pointed out that while the town was only 10 miles distance from Belleville it seemed much further away in fair board matters.

In requesting a desire, for Trenton representation, the letter suggested the action would encourage town industry and people to participate in a class "A" agricultural fair with benefits for all concerned.

The matter was referred to councillor Paul Tripp's industrial and economic development committee.

According to the action taken on snow removal as it concerns local residents, townspeople are going to have to clean their own sidewalks or suffer the consequence.

Council authorized clerk comptroller O. W. Larry to advertise the town would not shovel sidewalks and would prosecute those people who fail to recognize the local by-law regulating residential snow removal.

In other business, council authorized the installation of a street light in the area of 30 Bocage St.; accepted a bid submitted by E. W. Powers and Sons to furnish the town fuel oil for the year at 13.8c a gallon; sanctioned payment of current accounts totalling $217,000; accepted an invitation from the Trenton Kiwanis Club to be the club's guests at that annual Kiwanis civic night dinner, Jan. 26.

Magistrate Will Not Hear Case

Magistrate T. Y. Wills today indicated he would not hear a case against a 19-year-old Belleville youth which led to allegations of brutality against city police.

Patrick Marshall was remanded by the magistrate until next Wednesday on a burglary charge.

The magistrate is a member of the city police commission which last week discounted the allegations made by a relative of the accused that he had been manhandled by police during his arrest.

Although no formal complaint was lodged an investigation was made by Police Chief J. R. McLauchlan and his report drew an announcement from commission chairman Judge J. C. Anderson that the allegations had not been substantiated and no further steps were necessary.

However, Magistrate Wills today said he would seek to have the case heard by another member of the bench in the Quinte district.

In view of certain activities that transpired, it would be much better if somebody else took it", he told Marshall.

Funerals

MRS. JOCK DEMARSH

Funeral services for Mrs. Jean (Jessie) DeMarsh of Trenton were held Thursday morning from the Weaver Funeral Home to St. Alphonsus Church, Wooler, for Requiem High Mass. Interment was in Codrington Roman Catholic Cemetery, with Rev. G. F. Sullivan officiating.

Educated in Madoc, she was a member of St. Alphonsus Church, Wooler, and a member of the Sacred Heart of St. Alphonsus Church.

She was predeceased by her husband, Jock DeMarsh, and a daughter, Kathleen DeMarsh.

She is survived by a son, Elmer DeMarsh, at home; three grandchildren, Allan, Wayne and Mrs. Wayne (Margaret) Smith, all of Trenton; two brothers, William Laird of R. Ice on Lakes Not Yet Safe For Anglers

Despite appearances, travel on ice - covered lakes and rivers in the Quinte district can still be hazardous.

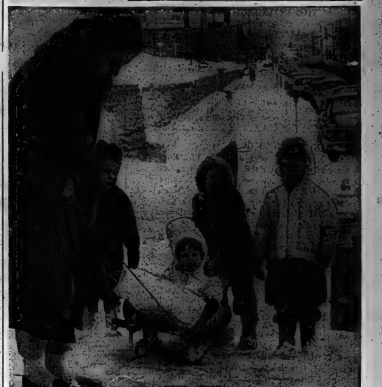
The Department of Lands and Forests at Tweed renewed recent warnings today suggesting ice sportsmen and fishermen hold off until colder weather has deepened the winter crust on district waterways.

"The ice in our district is only about four or five inches thick on the smaller lakes and only about six inch thick on the larger ones," said one officer. "The larger lakes wouldn't even be safe for a man to cross."

So far, there's been one known near - escape in the district.

This week five children escaped possible drowning when their sleigh broke through the ice on the Napanee River.

Ronald Wilson, operating a snow cruiser towing the sleigh, went into water up to his waist to aid the children to firmer ground.



The sleigh went through the ice first and then the snow cruiser slid back into the river when its gas gave way behind it," he recalled.

The children from four to 10 years old, were neighbors of Mr. Wilson and the incident happened near his home at R. R. 2 Napanee. No one was injured.

A Warning

The killing that is going on in Viet Nam — especially the incidental, or as often as not deliberate, killing of civilians, is shocking enough to western readers.

Yet as we approach another year's end, another holiday weekend, we should address ourselves once again to the need for due care and attention on the part of drivers in the days immediately ahead.

And if reading this and other warnings repeatedly given help to inculcate better driving habits, perhaps even save a life or two, it will have been worthwhile.

To hark back to Viet Nam, we read that South Vietnamese troops, in a major parachute assault, killed 20 Viet Cong in an operation extending over several days.

Now the significant thing about the above figure is that it is only three more than the number of Canadians who died in traffic accidents during the Christmas period, but it is considerably less than a quarter of the more than 400 Americans who died in highway smashups over Christmas.

And the wonder is that the toll was not higher. Wintry conditions made for difficult driving last weekend, and now we have had another fresh fall of snow. Yet, many drivers move too fast in the circumstances. How some cars stay on the road at such speeds is no thanks to the drivers.

The first requisite then is to drive only as fast as the conditions allow. This can vary for different vehicles, but there is ample evidence that not all drivers know their vehicle's capabilities in this regard. The greater the speed, no matter what the road conditions, the greater the chance of trouble in any emergency.

So slow down, show consideration for others. If you are driving, do not drink. To the younger drivers we say, refrain from showing off because you are handling a lethal instrument. If someone passes you do not try to make a race of it.

Dreamers

A picture of vacationers sunning themselves on the beach at Miami is the sort of thing newspaper editors like to spring on readers these days.

But all that sun can be just a bit too much, just a bit too enervating; and ultimately, just plain boring. By contrast, the first major snowfall of the season here provides the contrast that is part of the charm of the Canadian scene.

And we can always dream of those faraway places, if we have not actually been there. The real thing of course is pleasant — say a visit to Bermuda. Or to the Bahamas — but wishful thinking is cheaper. And the British destroyer HMS Defender was reported to have cut short a Christmas visit to Bermuda and set sail southwards for a possible operation against an elusive if not quite gangster syndicate. It is like something out of James Bond.

But snowbound Canadians will go on dreaming anyway. And some will be a little more practical than others. One group of Torontonians, for example, has plans to recreate a Caribbean island — complete with witch doctors and palm trees — on the lakeside at Hanlan's Point, just south of Toronto Island airport.

One Torontonian is in Jamaica recruiting natives for the project, and another hopes to leave in January to arrange for the cutting and transportation of hundreds of palm trees. The undertaking is one of several the group hopes to promote, with the city's sanction, for Centennial Year.

It may not be typically Canadian — a Caribbean island a stone's throw from downtown Toronto — but it will be a facet nonetheless of the great act of imagination and human endeavor that is taking place in Canada next year. Centennial Year and Expo 67 are just around the corner. Yes, next year is Canada's year.

Progress?

Eight years ago Fidel Castro demonstrated in Cuba how a small but well-organized guerrilla force could topple established authority.

In Viet Nam today a force of little more than 250,000 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong rebels pins down an American and allied force now numbering more than one million men.

A recent photograph of a North Vietnamese militia unit showed a girl carrying a spear.

And in Angola the other day an attacking force from the neighboring Congo used swords and bows and arrows, as well as conventional modern weapons, against a border community in the Portuguese African territory.

Such incidents afford a study in contrasts, between ancient and modern; and the inevitable conclusion is that while man has come a long way in recorded history, deep down his nature remains unchanged. Whether he handles a bow and arrow or a machine gun he will always be the same.

New Year Presentiments

Globe and Mail

There is grim irony in the fact that, at a time when most people are moved by feelings of goodwill toward men, they should set new records of slaughter on the highways. A total of 86 lives were lost across Canada during the 78-hour Christmas weekend — a horrifying toll which, if nothing else, should jolt us wide awake to the dangers of the weekend that lies ahead.

This is something more than an unhappy jog in the graph of our annual traffic statistics. There are other statistics which amply support the suspicion that many of these deaths were the product of stupidity and driving habits — carelessness, impairment, poor judgment, and a basic contempt for the value of human life.

In almost every category of driving offence Canadians have surpassed themselves this Christmas. In Toronto alone, police arrested nearly 100 drivers on charges of impaired driving, more than twice the 1965 haul. Again, in the hit-and-run category, we doubled the number of incidents. Must we always salute special occasions in this way — killing, maiming, spreading heartache and suffering throughout the land?

New Year's resolutions are admirable exercises in self-control but there is nothing in the rules to prevent motorists making them a few days in advance. After the shocking experiences of the Christmas weekend, a few should suggest themselves to those who intend to drive this weekend.

It is possible to cut back sharply the incidence of festive season traffic deaths by acknowledging candidly in advance our own weaknesses, assessing the weaknesses of other road users and adjusting ourselves accordingly.

Strictly Personal

1967—More of the Same

By SYDNEY J. HARRIS

Want to know what's ahead for 1967? Old Swami Harris is willing to tell you, and it doesn't need any crystal ball, either.

What's going to happen in 1967 is that armed conflict will break out in the Near East, a crisis revolt will take place in the Middle East, and aggression will be deplored in the Far East.

Two more countries will break off diplomatic relations with Cuba, and three more countries will ask us to remove this Red China in the UN. Our own foreign policy, as always, will be based on truth, justice, brotherhood, and the daily use of deodorants under the armpits.

We will be threatened with inflation and deflation, but flation will be nowhere in sight. Money will be tight, then loose, then gone. Like this year, and the year before, and the year before that.

The rich will complain about high taxes, the poor about high prices, and the repressed about high living. Everyone will try to get more of what he doesn't need, just because every one else is trying to do the same.

Public speakers will attack our conformity, our apathy, our selfishness, our short-sightedness, and our failure to live up to our Christian principles — and will be enthusiastically applauded by conformist, apathetic, selfish, shortsighted audiences who fail to live up to their Christian principles.

NASA will announce that the U.S. has landed the first Negro on the moon, thus proving to the Iron Curtain countries that we offer equal opportunities to all. Especially if they happen to be Astronauts.

Fifty thousand Americans will die slaughtered on the highways, driving cars they have not paid for, at speeds they cannot control, on their way to destinations they have little reason to be going to, in the company of relatives who bore and irritate them.

There will be another round of mass-murders, and a few of the cretinous killer will be bold up as an example of our immorality, our disregard for loneliness, our ineffectual prison system, our weak-kneed mental hospitals, our spiritual decadence, and the direct result of flouridation of our water supply.

"Government interference" will be indicted, by nearly every segment of our economy—which will then turn around and ask the government for more money, more protection, more favoritism, more of whatever it is unable to get for itself on an individualistic basis.

There will be a "crisis" in education, in slums, in civil rights, in transportation, in urban-rural relations; and the contending groups will ask for more "dialogue" while closing their ears to opposition.

That's what's ahead for 1967. Happy New Year, friends!

To Your Good Health

X-Ray And/Or Surgery Fight Cancer Menace

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: I understand there are two types of cancer, one that is treated with X-ray, and the other with surgery. Does one kind travel faster than the other? — D. Y.

No, that's not quite the way it is. Actually there are many types of cancer but that isn't what dictates the type of treatment.

If a cancer is found early and can be removed totally by surgery, that's that.

Sometimes a cancer is so located that surgical removal is impossible or is highly dangerous because of risk of damaging other organs.

In such cases, powerful, concentrated X-ray beams can destroy the cancer cells while doing much less damage to normal cells. (Heavy X-ray bombardment is bound to do some harm, but cancer cells are far more sensitive to the rays than healthy flesh.)

Again, X-ray may obliterate a cancer with less scarring. Or, in still other cases, surgery to remove the cancer may be followed by X-ray as a precaution if there is any suspicion that some malignant cells may remain near the site of the operation.

For still another possibility, often very useful, the process may be reversed: X-ray is used to shrink the tumor after which it can more safely and easily be removed by surgery.

In some instances a tumor may be inoperable, and may have begun to spread to other tissues. (Metastasized is the term.) In that case we know that it is bound to spread further and we cannot prevent it.

But we can slow it down. In breast cancer being on a combination of X-ray and hormone or other medical treatment can be far superior to either method used alone. In the last 10 or 15 years there have been scores of women apparently hopelessly ill and bedridden and exhausted, who with this treatment were able to get up, put on weight, feel fine and be able to take care of their families. This is important to a woman who wants to live long enough to see her children grow up, and they especially welcome these extra years of active, comfortable life.

Thus there are many considerations, and the choice of X-ray or surgery or both is left to either the type of cancer or its seriousness.

* * *

Dear Dr. Molner: This has been troubling me. If I had my tubes clipped and tied, could they untie themselves and could I become pregnant again? — Mrs. M. S.

There seems to be a misunderstanding of the term "tied." An ovum must pass through the Fallopian tubes in order for pregnancy to occur. When the tubes are cut and tied, the ovum consists of being s^utured around the ends of each cut tube. The tubes themselves are not knotted. The severed tubes cannot reunite spontaneously. Sometimes they can be put back together surgically, but very often they can't.

Dear Dr. Molner: Here in Phoenix we make "sun tea" or "sauna brew" just about every day. It is made by putting a large tea bag in a half-gallon of water and letting it stand in the sun for several hours. We have recently been told that this drink is harmful because of the X-rays affecting the tannic acid in the tea. — M. T.

I cannot conceive how the sun's rays could be harmful, in such circumstances, so I'd ignore this "warning" as just fiction.

Landing Planes by Computer

Ottawa Journal

Socked-in airports of recent weeks will have caused many a frustrated air passenger to wonder when technology will be advanced enough to allow planes to land blind. The answer contained in a report in the Economist is that British European Airways has a blind landing system which should be cleared for routine passenger service by 1968. British Overseas Airways is working on its own method and shouldn't be far behind. Blind landing methods are said to be further advanced in Britain than anywhere else in the world.

The human skills of a pilot are replaced by a computer and autopilot in the aircraft and a radar set on the ground. A radio signal from the airport gives the autopilot and the computer the information they need to line the aircraft up with the runway.

Tens of thousands of blind landings will be made to test that the system is safe in all circumstances. Already BEA aircraft have been landed this way but only when the weather allowed the pilot to take over at any sign of trouble. The next stage is to try the system out (with no passengers) in bad weather. Just in case any part of the equipment goes haywire, the BEA system is in triplicate.

The system will be used in good days and foul to speed airport traffic. A margin between landings has now to be allowed in the event the pilot changes his mind. The machines will never need to make a second pass — a rather chilling compliment to the efficiency of computers.

Sport—and Life as It Is

Ottawa Journal

People who don't understand the point of sport and the fun of competition have been known to downgrade it as an escape from "life as it really is". But it seems to us that sport has always had a great deal to do with life as it really is — and never more than today.

Take inflation: each of the players on the winning team in the professional football playoff between the National and American league champions will have earned $25,000 each in bonuses for two games — in addition to their annual salaries. The player shouldn't have much trouble getting "up" for those games!

Labor strife: the entire Springfield Indians hockey team refused to play until manager Eddie Shore. The boys later returned. To make their case with flashing skates and flying rubber? No, on the advice of their solicitor!

Special change: suddenly, New York Rangers are "in" as well as up, and they must find it as hard to get used to as do Indians.

The surge of youth: a 15-year-old girl swimmer from British Columbia wins the Lou Marsh trophy as Canada's athlete of the year: old Bobby Hull and old Russ Jackson can only gamble their calms in admiration.

Why wait for spring? Canadian Football League commissioner-to-be Keith Davey has his future bosses — the owners of the football teams — growling at his outspoken public statements even before he starts his job.

The list is endless. Sport is no escape from reality, it's smack in the middle of it.

Chance It Regret It!

Windsor Star

A young French actress, Francoise Hardy, made a rather significant statement the other day. "I believe it is better to regret what you have done than what you haven't done. Who doesn't risk anything, has nothing."

One is apt to think of regrets as a form of remorse for some misdeed committed, or some mistake made. Yet how many go through life with regrets that they didn't do a certain thing at some time in the past, even if it perhaps would have been an error or a sin?

It might make a fine point for a debate on ethics or theology, whether it is better to honestly and sincerely regret a sin committed or to secretly wish that such a sin had been committed.

UK Eyes On Canada

Vancouver Sun

The story told by Canadian immigration people in London about people having to be turned away from the showing of a film about Canada is encouraging to hear. In recent years there seemed to be a slackening of British interest in this country in spite, possibly, British immigrants may prove harder to get.

We should be happy, therefore, to grab them while we can.

Oranges Hit The Jackpot

Brantford Expositor

Since Canada grows no oranges and must import the fruit and the juice, the state of Florida orange production is of direct interest to the Canadian housewife now paying up to 89 cents for four small cans of frozen juice against a price in U.S. supermarkets of 69 to 85 cents.

The news from Florida, where orange harvesting starts next month, is that its production is about 42 per cent above average. So big is the glut that the U.S. government has stepped in with an offer to buy up to 15 million gallons of frozen juice to prevent a severe price drop. Even so, there would seem to be prospects for expecting that Canadian importers will be able to buy cheaper and pass some of the benefit to shoppers.

The sugar situation, not long ago one of shortage, has also corrected itself. Here sugar dropped in New York last week to 5.1¢ cents a pound wholesale. In Canada a supercharge of 1¢ around six cents a pound.

Crown Corporation Set Up

Nova Scotia Gets Coal Mining Lease on Life

SYDNEY (CP) — The Nova Scotia coal industry, its troubled history dating back nearly 250 years, may have some life left in it after all.

Condemned to death within 15 years by one expert, the industry was given an apparent lease on life Thursday by the federal and provincial governments. Between them, they will pour $55,000,000 into a two-fold program for eastern Nova Scotia.

The coal industry itself, propped up by federal treasury assistance for years, will be taken over by a new Crown corporation which will be given an initial $25,000,000 to rehabilitate and operate the collieries and $20,000,000 to develop new industry.

Nova Scotia has guaranteed another $10,000,000 for industrial development and aid to the province's small, so-called "independent" mines.

Seen here as the most significant feature in the announcement by Prime Minister Pearson in Ottawa and Premier Stanfield in Halifax was the lack of any timetable for phasing out the coal industry itself. Dr. Ritchie Donald, a Montreal consultant, recommended in October that all the pits employing 4,500 directly and another 1,000 indirectly — be closed by 1980.

Both Mr. Pearson and Mr. Stanfield said no rigid timetable would be followed. Instead, the "rationalization" of the collieries would be directly related to the success the new corporation has in luring new industry to Cape Breton and eastern Nova Scotia.

There already is speculation that several new industries, employing up to 2,000 persons, are considering the Sydney area.

Months of negotiations are expected before the federal government actually takes the pits over from Dominion Steel and Coal Corp., which currently operate the five biggest mines in the province—four in Cape Breton and one in Pictou County on the mainland.

Looking for Minerals

John Moody, an Imperial Oil technician, demonstrates one of the latest designs in electro-magnetic survey units, used to aid in detecting and defining mineral deposits in underground rock structures. Moody is a member of an exploration party working in the James Bay area of Ontario where Imperial Oil discovered a deposit of columbium, used principally as an alloying agent in steel.

CN Officials Will Attend C of C Meet

PICTON (Staff) — Canadian National Railways officials will attend the January session of the Prince Edward Chamber of Commerce to discuss the company's position regarding Prince Edward County service.

The December meeting saw chamber members vote to send a letter expressing dissatisfaction with the company's centralization of operations in Belleville, county members have complained about apparent CNR apathy toward businessmen in Prince Edward.

Town and county officials have also added their endorsement to the chamber's stand. CNR officials, having read newspaper reports of chamber of commerce discussions, are anxious to fully investigate the association's complaints and studies the company's position, said Howard Mallett, chamber of commerce president.

CNR officials announced on Tuesday that they are taking action to install warning signal lights at Mallory's crossing some time within the next eight and a half months. Although a specific date has not been put on the construction it is expected the problem will soon be looked after. Truck workers have already installed signals in Bloomfield and Sandy Hook and called cessions to work in this area.

The department of transport ordered the installation of signals about mid-November. A number of accidents have occurred at Mallory's crossing. The most serious of these resulted in the death of Mrs. Elizabeth Ann Hall in August, 1965. Following her death, a coroner's inquest advised the installation of flashing lights.

Bell Income Up 3 Per Cent

MONTREAL (CP)—Bell Telephone Co. of Canada's net income for this year is expected to increase by about three per cent to $89,000,000 from $86,524,849 in 1965 it was reported Thursday.

However, share-earnings will probably show only a modest improvement from the $2.81 reported for the year because of a higher average number of shares outstanding.

Bell Canada has applied to Parliament for an increase in capital to $1,700,000,000 from $1,000,000,000, including provision for preferred stock.

Bell Canada is also seeking to have Parliament drop the requirement that the federal transport board approve issue of its capital stock.

Manufacturing Weekly Wage Up Slightly

OTTAWA (CP) — Average weekly wages in Canadian manufacturing industry rose $1.64 to $82.89 in September from $81.25 in August, the Dominion Bureau of Statistics reports.

The jump was mainly attributed to an increase in average hourly earnings in durable goods manufacturing together with a longer work-week connected with a September rush of business.

Average hourly earnings in durable goods manufacturing rose four cents to $2.47, with higher earnings reported by all large component industries except machinery. All larger industries felt the increase in working hours to nearly 40 hours a week from 41¼ in August.

In non-durable goods manufacturing, average hourly earnings rose two cents to $2.07, with major increases in petroleum and coal, textiles and chemicals. The average workweek remained unchanged at about 40¼ hours.

Weekly wages in the construction industry rose $1.32 to $124.83, mainly as the result of a five-cent increase in average hourly earnings.

Warns of War

BELGRADE (Reuters) — Yugoslav President Tito said Thursday night tension in Eastern Europe had increased, but warned that armed conflicts in the Far East and elsewhere could turn into a world war. Tito said in a television interview: "In the situation as it is today, the struggle against the most essential, and this struggle for peace today should be led through the struggle against the American aggression in Vietnam.

Legal Aid Plan Postponed

TORONTO (CP) — Ontario's new legal aid plan, scheduled to start Jan. 2, 1967, has been delayed. No new date has been announced.

The Law Society of Upper Canada, which will administer the plan, has not completed drafting the program's regulations. When the draft is finished, it will be sent to Attorney-General Arthur Wishart who will present it to the Ontario cabinet.

A spokesman said Thursday night the Jan. 2 starting date was unrealistic. He said the society's program committee has been working overtime to complete the drafting process.

Dispute With Bricklayers Could Halt Algoma Steel

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont. (CP)—Operations of the giant Algoma Steel Corp. may come to a full halt by Jan. 9 unless a wage dispute with 80 striking bricklayers is settled.

The strike has already forced some 8,000 out of work at the steel plant and at ore operations in Wawa, 150 miles north of here. Another 1,500 are still employed in the plant here, in the finishing steel and shipping departments. But their work is expected to peter out by Jan. 9 for lack of production.

Steel production has been halted since Dec. 18 when two railway brotherhoods refused to cross picket lines of the bricklayers, members of Local 29, Bricklayers, Masons and Plasterers International Union.

The company announced late Thursday that it has agreed to resume negotiations with Local 29 at 10 a.m. Wednesday, Jan. 4. They said the local asked for the delay to enable their national union representative to participate in the talks.

Bricklayers want 50-cents-an-hour added to the basic hourly rate of $3.28 in a one-year contract, plus double time for weekend work. The company has offered 60.2 cents over three years while turning down the request for double weekend pay.

Algoma announced Thursday it has abandoned a second bid to have the railway unions declared illegal strikers for refusing to cross picket lines.

The company asked the Ontario Labor Relations Board to withdraw its application against certain, unnamed brotherhood members.

Wednesday the company sought withdrawal of a similar application against the two brotherhoods as a group. Local 626, Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers and Firemen, and Local 611, Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen.

The company said it will withdraw both applications because of what it believed is standard board procedure not to declare strikers illegal unless a strike is in progress.

Technically, the company says only the bricklayers are on strike, not the brotherhoods in whom the applications were directed. Brotherhood members reported for work after pickets were removed Christmas Eve but were unable to return to their jobs because the plant was closed.

Algoma has refused to resume operations until the dispute with the bricklayers is settled.

The company is reluctant to resume operations at a cost of $300,000 unless they can get assurance the bricklayers won't strike again.

Construction Volume Down

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada's construction industry fell short of its expected increase in business in 1966 and measures are needed in most parts of the country to stimulate further growth, the Canadian Construction Association said Thursday.

In its annual year-end statement, President Armand Trottier of Quebec City noted the federal government last summer predicted all construction in 1966 would be worth $13,200,000,000.

Instead, he said, it will come close to $11,000,000,000—some industry sources recently have used the figure $10,900,000,000—because of shortages of mortgage money and delays in the start of major engineering projects.

He forecast 1967's volume of business at $11,500,000,000 or more, depending on availability of mortgage money and certain policies affecting the industry.

The industry needed some stimulating measures, including starting deferred projects, easing or elimination of fiscal and monetary dampers on capital investment and introduction of new incentives.

Noting the time lag between introducing changes in government policies and their affecting construction, Mr. Trottier said priority attention should be given to developing more comprehensive statistics.

One of the reasons given by Finance Minister Sharp for not discussing possible policy changes in the construction field in his Dec. 19 mini-budget was the absence of details on spending plans of business and lower levels of government in 1967, Mr. Trottier said.

"This points up a serious problem in the federal government's capital investment forecasts only covering each calendar year.

"Towards the end of the year the forecast period only covers a steadily decreasing number of weeks until at the present time there is literally no detailed data available for the guidance of either the government, the monetary authorities or business.

"It is most important that such forecasts be prepared two or more times a year for a full year ahead" — or longer. Hvd data on 1967 been available, the recent budget address might well have not deferred action concerning changes in policies affecting capital investment.

"In view of the time lag already mentioned, a delay could have serious consequences to the whole economy."

Lauds Help Given By Four Sailors

DEAR ANN LANDERS: The letter about those wonderful teen-agers who helped a mother entertain a restless 3-year-old child on a cross-country train trip brought back one of my fondest memories.

ANN LANDERS

Eighteen years ago I was travelling by train from Oregon to the Midwest. I had a 3-year-old boy and an infant to care for, and I had my hands full. Four sailors noticed my plight, and took over the 3-year-old completely. One sailor had a harmonica and the youngster was intrigued by it. They treated the child to dinner and to lunch. One of the sailors held the baby for me. — said he had an infant the same age at home and it was a real treat for him.

My son is 21 years old now, but he remembers that trip to this day. He even remarks that when he splashes some potato chips, the sailors would not let him eat them off the floor.

In our rapidly moving society we fail to give credit to the thoughtful and kind people in the world. Thank you for printing letters that give them a well-earned pat on the back once in a while. It's refreshing to read about something besides problems for a change. — B.J.J.

DEAR B.J.J.: And it's good to write about something besides problems for a change. Thank you for writing.

* * *

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am an Episcopalian clergyman who happily admits that I have used your writing as t basis for some sermons.

I frequently notice that the problems you write about are the same problems I hear about. And have you noticed that the wife who complains about her husband's inadequacies and faults rarely blames herself when he loses interest?

May I suggest that the same heartfelt effort that attracted her husband during courtship never lose their appeal? A male rarely seduces a female — it's usually the other way around. There is nothing dignified in enticing a husband.

If a wife is wise, marriage can be the beginning of a deeper and more meaningful love. — NO NAME PLEASE.

* * *

DEAR SIR: Your parishioners are fortunate. In addition to spiritual guidance they are getting some down-to-earth homey hints on living. Bravo!

* * *

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Our daughter who is in her early 30's is happily married to a nice young man who also is.

Our concern is this: Both our daughter and our son-in-law are grossly overweight and out of shape. She loves to cook fattening foods and when they eat out they both order with no regard to quantity or caloric content.

Recently our son-in-law suggested driving 25 miles for barbecued ribs at 11:30 p.m. My husband made a remark about their love for food. Our daughter was miffed and snapped, "Eating is one of the great joys of life. We don't see any point of denying ourselves."

Please comment. — MRS. X.

* * *

DEAR MRS.: You don't say how much overweight these two are, but I get the picture.

Gluttony is suicide. If these two fail to see the point perhaps a physician will one day explain it to them.

P.S.: Has your son-in-law tried to buy life insurance lately?

Daily Exercise Plan Brings Fine Rewards

By Rohe and Bonnie Churchill

1. "How long will it take to improve my figure?" This question is constantly asked by our readers. Although individuals differ, research shows seven minutes of daily exercise for six - week period generally brings noticeable rewards. One routine, which capitalizes most important body muscles, begins by standing erect, arms at sides. Step on right foot, then exaggerate stride and tilt torso forward so there's an increased pull along back, thigh and calf muscles. Continue two steps and lunge forward on right foot, lifting left arm and contracting stomach muscles. Hold pose three seconds. Static position flexes arms, abdomen, and limbs. Alternate sides; practice four times.

2. Now, let's get to work slimming the torso and firming the arms. Sit on floor with limbs folded, as one side of the thigh, calf and foot rests against carpet. Place left hand against wall of right leg. Reverse right arm, arching it overhead. Bend to the left using a three-stage bobbing motion. Each time you stretch, simultaneously press hand against thigh to increase the lateral pull on the midriff. As Sally Mason, seen on CBS-TV's "The Red Skelton Show," illustrates, for added benefits keep chest high and chin up. Perform in sets of three, then alternate sides.

3. Next, let's bring new beauty contours to the collarbones and chest, as well as straighten shoulders and strengthen limbs. According to physical conditioners, one workout does the job. Kneel on a cushion. Then, extend right limb bending it so foot is flat on floor and right hand rest on knee. Keep torso erect, elbows straight, and back gently arched. Notice how resistive action — pressing down on right knee and reaching back as far as possible with left arm — helps elevate bust and square round shoulders. Reverse legs; practice five times.

Various Beneficial Hints Sent in By Helpful Readers

DORIS CLARE

Dear Doris: These may be repeats. If so, do not use. I read your tips; do any new ones I lodge beneficial:

1. Enclose stamped postcards to the sick.

2. To clean open electric lamp shades (when high) I have a long-handled, small paint brush with scrap of nylon net attached. Will carry out wee flies, etc., without removing glass.

3. Hair spray on dried flowers and weeds helps retain foliage, also on cat tails. Don't overspray the latter in shellac and they remain beautiful.

4. I attach pencil to dial phone and always have writing pad there. Saves Wait till I get ---! !"

5. I empty 10-pound sugar bag into pint jars. Find it more convenient for filling the sugar bowls. — Lulu and Rose

Dear L. and R.: Nice of you to pass them on. I particularly like numbers one and four.

Dear Doris: My parents are very strict. Sometimes I feel so depressed I wish I were dead. My parents never really let me go anywhere; it's just usually to a girl friend's home or something, no dates.

All I do day after day is get up in the morning, go to school, come home, do homework, eat supper, do some more homework, watch some television if I have finished my homework and then go to bed again; it's the same thing day after day.

My parents say after I finish school I can find some nice guy and get married. But I don't want to end up with one guy; I want to enjoy life while I still can. I want to go around with the gang and have a little fun. — Old Maid at Fifteen

Dear Old Maid: It beats me how parents think you can pick a husband if you don't get any practice in associating with boys. I want you to have fun with the gang too.

Parents — if you are reading this — couldn't you find a happy medium between strictness and too much permissiveness? Loosen up a little!

Confidential to Had It: Stilling your conscience with an eat-drink-and-be-merry philosophy is not as all fired satisfying as Omar Khayyam claims. What you push down (below a conscious level) is bound to rise up sometime and threaten to choke you. Nothing can beat keeping things straight as you go along.

See your old friend; confess what you did and seek forgiveness. Now is a good time for new beginnings.

Confidential to Still Loving: There's no percentage in devoting all your waking hours to self-pity. Maybe you don't feel like the life of the party, but don't kill the poor thing for everybody else! Make the effort — and it may surprise you that your spirits will lift. You may even forget that one unappreciative male twolimed you.

Recipe for Soft Type Cookies

By MARY MOORE

QUESTION: My husband loves soft cookies, but I'm only recipe I can find for soft cookies all contain molasses, so they all taste the same (Mission Cry Babies are now favorites). Have you any such recipes stashed away in your filing cabinet? Since I can sit and read a cook book the same way I can sit and read a novel (and thoroughly enjoy myself), I always look forward to your column. — Mrs. C. R.

ANSWER: Thank you.

BROWN SUGAR COOKIES
(repeated from June, 1961; bacon drippings option al; these are "soft" cookies)

1 cup soft shortening (or clarified bacon drippings)
2 cups brown sugar
2 eggs
½ cup sour milk or buttermilk or cream
3½ cups sifted all-purpose flour
2 tsp. soda
1 tsp. salt

Mix together thoroughly shortening (or bacon drippings), brown sugar and eggs. Stir in sour milk or buttermilk or cream. Sift together flour, soda and salt and stir in. Chill at least 2 hrs. Drop rounded tsps. about 2" apart on lightly greased baking sheet being sure to heap up the dough. Bake at 400 deg. Fahr. for 8 to 10 min. or until just set. Chopped nuts may be added.

TWENTY - FOUR - HOUR WHITE FRUIT MEDLEY
(Serves 25; repeated from June, 1959)

Make a custard in a double boiler of the following: 4 egg yolks beaten well with ½ cup sugar added, add the juice of 4 fresh limes (or 4 lemons may be substituted) and stir until sugar partially dissolves. Then add ½ cup light rum. Cook and stir over boiling water until thick. Let cool. Drain all fruits well. (I saved the juice, mixed it with gingerale and ice cubes and served it as a fruit punch.) One 15-oz. tin halved pears, one 20-oz. tin white pitted cherries, one 20-oz. tin mixed orange and grapefruit sections, 1 cup blanched shredded almonds, ½ lb. miniature marshmallows (white) and 2 cups 32 percent cream, whipped. Drain each tin of fruit separately then empty into large bowl (saving juice as a punch). Stir lightly, add marshmallows and the custard sauce and fold well, then add the whipped cream, folding lightly. Cover with foil or wax paper and refrigerate for 24 hours. Just before serving add 2 cups white grapes that have been peeled, halved, and seeded. We used cut glass bowls to serve this from.

Susanna's Family Fare

Advice to Pianists

Dear Susanna: Through four children and 5,000 piano lessons, I have a message for other mothers.

If you can get them past the first three grades, you are home free. From there, they will usually go on to get their grade eight (or more) and wind up with a fair, basic knowledge of music.

I was fortunate in that the school provided lessons very reasonably. In each case, though, I found that it was necessary to practically sit right there with them through every practice session for the first couple of years, until they had developed enough know-how and confidence and sheer joy of making music, to carry along on their own.

So mothers, if it is really your ambition to have your young one play the piano, I feel certain that perseverance time and patience in the early stages are the surest way to this ultimate achievement. — Mrs. G. Baly

. . . and there you are, Mom, still not able to play a note! — SUSANNA

MAY THERE BE A DARK MAN IN YOUR LIFE

Dear Friends: As the Scots would say, Happy Hogmanay to you all, and may the first footing over your door step on New Year's day be a dark man bearing a "wee giftee."

Do you know the dear story about this small present? It all started with the man bringing a piece of coal into your home so that you would always have a fire in your hearth.

And if you're true to the tradition, you'll clean up well the day before so that you won't have to throw anything out on New Year's day, not even the garbage!

All for now, 'till next year, and may not a single old acquaintance be forgot. — SUSANNA

Princess Radziwill Tops List of Best-dressed Women, Wife of President Fifth

NEW YORK (AP)—Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson, wife of the U.S. president, has been named to the women's international best-dressed list, the first time she has made it. Also for the first time daughter Lynda Bird was among the contenders.

Princess Stanislas Lee Radziwill topped the fashionable dozen for 1966 although last year she couldn't muster enough votes to make the list. She is the sister of Mrs. John F. Kennedy, wife of the late president, who made the list so often she now is in the fashion hall of fame.

This year the committee of fashion editors which polls the industry and compiles the list also elevated Kennedy's mother-in-law, Mrs. Joseph P. Kennedy, to the hall of fame after placing her five times in the top dozen.

The youngest international fashion plate and No. 1 on the list last year, American society figure Mrs. Carter Amanda Burden, was second this year. The 23-year-old brunette beauty is the daughter of Mrs. William Paley, also in the hall of fame.

ACTRESS IS THIRD

Mrs. Jason Robards Jr. (Lauren Bacall) was third. The husky-voiced American actress is devoted to Norman Norell's clothes.

Mainbocher is the long-standing favorite designer of that one-time poor little rich girl, American Gloria Vanderbilt, now Mrs. Wyatt Cooper, who has fourth spot.

Fifth berth was given to Mrs. Johnson. She has trimmed down to a size 10, "a perfect model's figure," says Mollie Parnis, one of her favorite designers. Mrs. Johnson also wears many Adele Simpson clothes.

Mrs. Alfred Gwynne Neas Vanderbilt, third wife of the millionaire American sportsman, won sixth place on the 1966 best-dressed list, presumably by wearing costumes by Pauline Trigere, Mainbocher, Donald Brooks, Linda Hackett and Jacques Tiffeau.

Seventh place went to Mrs. Patrick Dolores Guinness of the United States, daughter-in-law of banking-rich Mrs. Loel Guinness who also has topped the list in the past.

ONE FORD IS MISSING

Last year the Henry Fords' daughters, Charlotte and Anne, shared a spot on the list "because their tastes were so similar." This year eighth place was given to Charlotte Ford Niarchos alone.

Italian actress Sophia Loren (Mrs. Carlo Ponti) was in ninth place, and, as Mrs. Johnson, a newcomer to the top 12. So were Mrs. Angier Biddle Duke, wife of the U.S. ambassador to Spain, in 10th place, and Mrs. Henry Ford II, the former Cristina Austin of Rome, in 11th place.

Rounding out the dozen was Mrs. Harilaos Theodoracopulos, the former Betsy Pickering, wife of the Greek shipping magnate.

Along with Lynda Bird, the also-rans in the elegance sweepstakes were Nancy Dickerson, Washington news commentator; Mrs. William McCormick Blair, Jr., wife of the U.S. ambassador to the Philippines, and Mrs. John Sherman Cooper, wife of the U.S. senator from Kentucky.

With the exception of Princess Radziwill who does not like to use her title, European royalty, usually standard on the list, was absent this year.

GIRL GUIDE, BROWNIE NEWS

BELLEVILLE SOUTH EAST DISTRICT

Guides and Brownies of the district have had a most active program recently which has been helpful to the children as well as encouraging to those in charge. Mrs. M. Akey's First Point Anne Brownie pack conducted the school auditorium and entertained the mothers for their recent enrolment. At this time Heather Cox, Diane Sedore, Janet Collins, Conna Cronin, Cathy Cronin, Tina Lazear, Linda Moon, Janet Deveau and Joanna Murphy were enrolled. For their Christmas project the pack made a donation to the Humane Society. A basket of groceries was collected for a needy family.

Sheila Borelski has earned her golden hand and Golden Arrow badges. Pack 3 Brownies under Mrs. E. Mackey's direction presented a member of the Salvation Army with a gift of money for their food turn, at the Christmas party.

A December hike to the museum was a special feature of Mrs. J. Driscoll's 8th Belleville Brownie Pack. The pack also joined with Mrs. M. Chartrand's 18th Belleville pack for their Christmas party at which films were shown. Toys were given to the firemen for needy children. The following were enrolled: Christine Atkinson, Anne Bradford, Joane Bradford, Joane Barrell, Jane Canty, Lynyee Cookerass, Kathy Delaney, Kim Dustin, Laura Lee Fox, Anne Garvin, Deira Green, Linda Hedges, Mary McKeown, Anne Plews, Deanne Plews, Suzanne Sequin, Allisen Soaft, Valerie Soliger.

Pack 18 also hiked to the County Museum, and for their Christmas project gift packages were sent to elderly people spending Christmas in the hospital. Brown Owl Mrs. A. V. Lovering Pack 11 Brownies were especially busy at Christmas. From pennies saved during the year the Brownies bought gifts for two elderly women at Hastings Manor. Toys and clothes were collected and sent to needy families, and old Christmas cards were collected for the Retarded Children's School.

FLYING-UP CEREMONY

The Brownies joined with Captain Mrs. P. Russell's Company 9 Guides for a flying up ceremony at which many parents as well as the District Commissioner were present. Those flying up were Mary Ellen Nurse, Laurie Dentenbeck, Pam Morden, Katie Thompson, while Cathy Smith, Kathy Plant, Brenda Austin and Wendy Russell "Walked up" to Guides. The Guides entertained the Brownies and guest at a party with a program and refreshments. Tweenies enrolled were Pam Fuller, Lee Faulkner, Janice Vandervelde, Paula Hunt, Teresa Cotley, Judy Faulkner, Judy Ikle, and Cindy McGilvery.

The Guides were as equally busy as their smaller sisters just before Christmas. Lieutenant Peggy Hull of the First Point Anne Guide Company with Guides and the Brownies of the village sang Christmas carols around the village and enjoyed a party together. The Guides packed a food hamper for a needy family. As they have done for several years, the Guides and Rangers of Point Anne helped to pack Christmas mail several evenings.

Toys were collected by Company 1 of Belleville and presented to the Kiwanis Club to be distributed for Christmas, by Lieutenant B. J. Bell. A parents' night was held along with an enrolment. Julia Nettleton, Susan Doughby, Denise Doughby, Wendy Ashley, Cindy Harrison, Judy Johnson, Nancy White, Carola Kendall and Linda Sands were enrolled.

MAKE TOYS

The making of stuffed toys for the pediatric ward at the hospital kept the Guides of Mrs. B. C. Smith's Company 34 busy. A combined enrolment and Christmas party was held. Catherine McCullam, Donna Barrett, Linda Moore, Lisa Charland, Mary Jane Kelleher, Linda Godbout, Theresa Bankey, Roseanne Lane, Dale Boyle and Jennifer McCoy were enrolled.

Second class badges were presented by Ivy Smith, Mary Buckler and Karen Fraser. These girls also earned their hostess badges by serving tea to the parents. Mrs. B. Corke was the tester present.

Company Three Guides under Mrs. S. Baumhour attended St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church on White Gift Sunday and presented the minister with a gift of toys for the nursery department of the Sunday School.

The girls sang Christmas carols to friends of Guiding in the city and gathered at the captain's home for a lively Christmas party.

A parting gift was presented to Mrs. Colden on her retirement as district commissioner, by the girls of the company.

DISTRICT WOMEN'S INSTITUTES

MELROSE WOMEN'S INSTITUTE

Since Christmas is a joyous season, the members of Melrose Women's Institute kept this in mind as they enjoyed the annual Yule party at the B.A. Restaurant, north of Napanee, recently.

Twenty - nine members partook of the sumptuous supper after which a short business period was conducted. Mrs. Arthur Long read a letter of appreciation from the Department of Agriculture for the W.I. trophy which had been presented to William Treverton, a member of the Tyendinaga Calf Club at the awards' night in Madoc. All were urged to attend Achievement Day at Nicholson College on January 7, and Mrs. Clare Weese and Mrs. Newton Demille were appointed to secure leaders for the spring 4-H Homemaking project.

A committee was nominated to plan for the New Year's Eve buffet at Read, and the first euchre party in 1967 will be held on Jan. 11 with Mrs. Raymond Clarke and Mrs. Roy McLaren as conveners. Melrose W. I. are now members of the M.W.I.A. and are supporting it with a commendable donation last month.

Mrs. Malcolm Lazier and Mrs. William English were in charge of the evening's program and a talented young neighbor, Miss Donna Lazurick, favored with several selections on the accordion. Mrs. M. Lazier gave a humorous reading and all joined in the singing of favorite Christmas carols. Next came an unrehearsed number on the program when a group of members were called forward to model the gifts which the president had purchased for presenting to her friends and relatives on Dec. 25. There were looks of amazement as well as amusement as each model opened her surprise package and sportingly donned the contents.

Mrs. A. English was the commentator as she named the recipient of each gift and described the apparel which ranged from short shorts suitable for a Florida vacation to the bundle-some parkas and boots worn while hunting in the North.

Mrs. William English conducted a contest on well - known business establishments in Belleville. Gifts were distributed to all in attendance.

Sunday School Lesson

Recapturing Faith

By CLARENCE W. CRANFORD

Vast social changes are taking place in our day. These are caused in part by the rapid growth of cities, and the fantastic advances made by science and industry. Vast metropolitan areas draw more and more people into their impersonal grasp.

Cities can be kind to some, but cruel to many. They take people away from the warm, personal relationships they knew in smaller communities, and put them in the midst of crowds where they feel anonymous. If the Psalmist felt like saying, "There is none who takes notice of me," (Psalm 142:4 RSV) how much more do people today feel like saying it in the midst of the hustle and bustle of modern life.

The French artist, Jean Bersad, has commented on our modern industrial society by painting the crucifixion of Jesus as if it happened outside a modern industrial city. Smoke stacks and tenement houses form the background for Calvary. On the brow of the hill, a follower of Jesus stands shaking his fist at the city. He blames the city for Jesus' death. It is as if he is saying, "By your greed, your corruption, your ruthless use of power, your lack of concern for individual lives, you killed my Friend."

The Uniform Sunday School lesson for January 1: "Time of Preparation," Luke 3:1 through 4:15.

But it is not enough to shake the fist of censure. People need to be helped to recapture faith in the essential goodness of life, love for their fellow men, and purposes for noble living in the midst of the depersonalizing forces of life. The church cannot do this merely by condemning the bad. It must carry the spirit of the cross into tension areas of life.

In a sense, the church is living through a time described by Jesus in His parable of the wedding feast (Matthew 22:1-10) in which people ignored, or made light of, the king's invitation to the wedding of his son. Much of the world today ignores, or makes light of, the church's message. If the church is to be heard, in many cases it must go out into the highways of life and demonstrate its love by helping people in their struggle for a better life.

This calls for dedicated and self-disciplined leaders. It calls for leaders who are willing to identify themselves with the needs of others, who demonstrate their right to influence others by the way in which they control their own lives.

Jesus set such an example. He publicly expressed His dedication to God through His baptism. He demonstrated His right to lead others by the way He met his own temptations.

We can never know all the reasons why Jesus felt it was "fitting" for Him to be baptized. (Matthew 3:15 RSV) It has been suggested that He wanted to identify Himself with those who answered John's call, and whom He would later call to deeper commitment. Certainly He wanted to bear a public witness to His own movement in the cause of righteousness. It was an early evidence of His humility.

Having publicly witnessed to His commitment, Jesus faced the problem of how to carry on His ministry. Would He win men's attention by promising them bread? Would He resort to spectacular methods. Would He copy the world's diabolical use of power?

Jesus faced temptation in three areas, and each time provided His complete mastery. He faced hunger of the body, hunger for fame and attention, and hunger for power. In each case, He controlled the forces that tried to control Him.

The first was physical hunger. After long fasting, Jesus was desperately hungry. Should He use miraculous powers to satisfy His own needs? He rejected the thought. What power God had given Him would be used completely for others. He proved His right to be a spiritual leader by exercising complete discipline over the hungers of His body.

Every leader wants a following. One of the best ways to attract people is by spectacular methods. But suppose Jesus could attract people by spectacular feats. Would they respond for any other reason except to be entertained? Better a few loyal followers who shared His vision than a crowd who followed only to see a good show.

As for political and economic power, this was the way secular leaders secured their ends. Jesus condemned them for lording it over others. (Matthew 20:25). He would not stoop to this devilishly attractive method. His purpose was to serve, not to be served; to lead, not to compel.

In these ways, He proved Himself to be the perfect leader for God, and the perfect example for our day.

Nobody Quitting Says PM

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister Pearson faced a barrage of questions about possible retirements in the Ottawa hierarchy at his press conference Thursday, but came through without disclosing any major shifts.

Concerning his cabinet, he said that ailing Guy Favreau, president of the Privy Council and registrar-general, is "doing very well indeed." He hoped Mr. Favreau would be back in the Commons early in January, and any decision on his retirement would have to be made by Mr. Favreau himself.

No other cabinet shifts are being considered at the moment, he added.

Asked about Governor-General Vanier, who also has had a long bout of illness, Mr. Pearson indicated there is no plan for his early retirement.

The prime minister confirmed reports that Lionel Chevrier, high commissioner in Britain, will continue at his post until the end of March instead of returning home at the end of this year.

As for his own possible retirement, the 69-year-old prime minister wished reporters a happy New Year and said he expects to give them the same greeting next year.

At another point he commented:

"In effect, the board of transportation commissioners made its own law, and in a good many cases that law was the law of the railways. Railway figures and opinions were accepted as fact."

He foresaw two main results from the Baldwin proposal. Parliament "would have some control over the operational side of our transportation systems and some parliamentary machinery by which positive expansionary concepts of railway development could be put forward. . . ."

WANT WIDER POWERS

Mr. Hamilton had two main contentions — the new superboard should get even broader powers than those proposed by the government to direct transport companies, and Parliament should assert its right to review the commission's actions after a period of time to fix new guidelines, if necessary, for future transportation policy.

Mr. Pickersgill said the idea of such a parliamentary committee appealed to him.

He had some doubts about making it a statutory requirement. Mr. Hamilton replied that the Baldwin proposal would guarantee the commission "will not get out of complete touch with Parliament."

Mr. Baldwin says he'd like to see his idea of a statutory committee extended later to cover broadcasting and Mr. Hamilton agrees.

They argue that current Commons committees, lacking expert staffs, operational funds and continuity of service by MPs, are inadequate to do a proper job in a complicated field of asserting democratic control over government or public agencies.

Transportation Control Problem Faces House

OTTAWA (CP) — Parliament and the government face a critical, and possibly historic, decision in the next few weeks over the transportation bill now before the Commons.

It centres on the proposed Canadian transportation commission, which is to get vast powers over nearly all aspects of a major segment of the national economy.

Absorbed and, in some cases, extended under the new commission will be the powers now wielded by several government agencies in the separate fields of air, rail, water and road transport.

Government and opposition, recognizing the new "superboard" as a radical change, have largely buried partisan consideration in a give-and-take study of the legislation. This has resulted in a great many changes in the original government proposals.

They now have reached the end of the question of parliamentary control.

Transport Minister Pickersgill has already said he is attracted by a proposal aimed at nailing down Parliament's ultimate control. As yet, he has made no move to incorporate it in the bill before the Commons.

URGES REVIEW PLAN

Gerald W. Baldwin (PC—Peace River) placed the proposal before the Commons just before the Christmas adjournment. He urged that Mr. Pickersgill that a small parliamentary committee be required by law to review the administrative actions of the new super-board.

It would have an opposition MP as chairman, as now is the case with the public accounts committee which acts with the auditor-general as the watchdog over government spending.

But most importantly it would be guaranteed the staff and technical experts essential to weigh the transport commission's actions in regulating rail, road, water and air transport.

The proposal arose from dissatisfaction of the four Atlantic and four western provinces, the grain and other shippers with the present board of transport commissioners.

Alvin Hamilton (PC—Qu'Appelle), former Conservative agriculture minister, summed up this dissatisfaction this way:

Camp Plans PC Meeting Before Spring

FREDERICTON (CP) — Dalton Camp, national Progressive Conservative association president, says he expects to call a meeting of the national executive before Christmas.

The meeting would be designed to give leadership to "procedural re-analysis of Conservative policy."

Mr. Camp, in his native New Brunswick for the Christmas holidays, said in an interview Thursday his private centennial project is devoted to "a new generation of the Conservative party."

The national executive would be responsibility to make arrangements for a national leadership review to be held before the end of 1967. Mr. Camp reiterated that he does not consider himself a candidate for the post, now held by John Diefenbaker.

"Ever had a Newspaper Route?"

When a young man applies for a job he really wants — a job with "a future" — he is very apt to be asked, "Have you ever had a newspaper route?" His answer to that question may well decide whether or not he'll get the job.

Why? Because more and more employers are realizing that former newspaperboys already have a solid business background.

They've bought newspapers at wholesale — sold them at retail — and operated a business of their own. They've already learned that the only way to conduct a successful business is to give service . . . to keep present customers satisfied . . . and to get new customers.

Many of today's executives were yesterday's newspaperboys. They know that a newspaper route is the one part-time job open to a Young Canadian that teaches initiative, the value of money and the importance of getting along with people.

Yes sir . . . there's no doubt about it. For jobs with "a future", employers prefer former newspaperboys.

If you have a son that you think might be interested in a newspaper route, why not write us.

SPORTS SLICES

By Geo. H. Carver
Sports Editor

Was it a foxy, a fake, a fix, or a publicity fandango? Only the hairdressers know.

It happened in New York the other day when Cassius Clay — pardon — Muhammad Ali and Ernie Terrell who will endeavor to meld two world heavyweight titles into one dozen Houston way soon, met face to face.

The pair staged a verbal brawl that was perfection in its stark realism.

It took place at a crowded press conference and weirdo sports editors, boxing writers and broadcasters gasped at the sheer reality of the tonsilar brawl.

If it was acting, both Clay and Terrell should be awarded the first "Boscar" by the Academy of Hooks, Jabs and Dancing Sciences.

Press agents, promoters, public relations men and even the principals themselves especially in the case of Clay and Terrell, have been known to dig up some fantastic ideas and stunts to get their boys or themselves in the sports page headlines.

Clay, a natural Ali Blabba, relied on the power of his ego, a stout pair of tonsils and "poetry" that reeked of his native Missouri cornfields, to lead his deposit hostess with leaf.

Early in his professional career, Ali, whether by arrangement or good luck came up with some uncanny predictions as to what round the foeman would bite the dust.

The ego of this brash handsome youngster gave him another angle in his later bouts with roadblock stumblebums. His disdain of their ability was shown in his personal disdain for proper training methods.

He's cocky — And who can blame him? He is undefeated which because thus far no aspirant to his share of the duo world titles has been around to offer him any competition. George Chuvalo, Canadian heavyweight champion, is the only one who has stayed with Clay for the bout limit.

Now comes up the bout with the World Boxing Association champion Ernie Terrell the Chicago giant who can wallop and tickle a banjo or guitar with as much ease as he can toss a right cross or right hook.

Recently Terrell tore a leaf out of the Clay bish bosh and started a spout campaign of his own. Bravely he predicted he will knock out Muhammad. That remains to be seen in what is predicted to be and if each keeps true to form — a catch-as-catch-can brawl.

That they do not belong to the same union or are lodge brothers was clearly indicated at the show-nonticned press conference meeting.

The verbal darts were pointed with personal poison.

They flew thick and fast and as the principals edged closer to each other verbally, observers jumped at, as I mentioned, the stark reality of the thing. Later the consensus was that this was no phony setup, no prearranged publicity gag but an unrehearsed show that was startling in its sincerity.

For the first time in ring history a world championship brawl was almost enacted in a hotel room with the smallest crowd on record and no beef-offics take.

Terrell and Clay were not kidding. They were deadly serious. If the press and radio chappies and their fighters entourages had not intervened there might have been the best hack-alley fight since Mickey Walker licked Harry Greb in a dark sidestreet brawl.

And had it happened, it would have been the best heavyweight fight on record — the first bare-knuckle hassle since Sullivan knocked out a britisher and three cwebs of rod-eye in a 76-round melee in London.

Terrell, it appears, is not afraid of Clay, his gab, his record, predictions and fists. Other fighters, or so-called fighters have made their calls, but the majority of these were awed by the Clay pre-fight front and were beaten fighters before they entered the ring.

I think there is real hatred here. There were no press picture poses of the principals shaking hands, faking stances and smiling at each other in feigned brotherly love.

This fandango, the experts present wrote and said, was the real thing.

I do not like Clay. I do not like his attitude toward others; his philosophy of life: his temperament or his stinking ego. But I admire him for, his ring ability. I think he is a master boxer who has yet to produce a knockout punch, and the fastest heavyweight champion stood to ring history.

I think he will beat Terrell. And you know MY record as a predictor, 1-16.

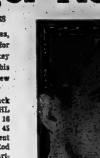
Ranger Rod Rides Herd On Wings

By THE CANADIAN PRESS



It's goals that win games, league titles and trophies for teams in the National Hockey League and nobody knows this better than Rod Gilbert of New York Rangers.

Stan Mikita of Chicago Black Hawks may well top the NHL individual scoring table with 16 goals, and 39 assists for 55 points, but he is a consistent second-best to New York's Rod Gilbert in the goals department.

Gilbert opened and closed the book on Detroit Red Wings' chances in the teams' clash in New York Thursday night as he scored New York's first goal at 12:33 of the first period and last at 6:49 of the third period in a 4-3 Ranger win.

Gilbert now has 19 goals, the best total in the league.

bert's 30, but only three of his points come from goals.

The victory clinched for New York its finest half-season performance since 1941-42, giving the Rangers a 17-8-5 won-lost-tied record for 39 games.

Gilbert's first-period goal was followed by a 12:42 marker from Ranger defenceman Harry Howell.

Detroit defenceman Howie Young, recently acquired from Los Angeles, sent a clapshot past Ranger goalkeeper Ed Giacomin at 13:29, his first goal of the season. Norm Ullman scored the tying goal at 2:31 of the second period but Jean Ratelle scored the winner for New York at 11:30.

Ratelle contributed again when a rebound of his went to Gilbert's stick then straight into the net at 6:49 of the last period.

In Toronto Thursday, coach Punch Imlach's face grew as long as his team's injury list as he faced the prospect of playing host to second - place Chicago Black Hawks Saturday night with a string of replacement players.

Defenceman Allan Stanley was clobbered by an unknown player's stick during practice Thursday and now is sporting six stitches between his eyes.

A little later, in the same practice, a hard shot by Jim Pappin smashed into goaltender Bruce Gamble's face — but Gamble had a mask on.

"The mask saved us," said Imlach, and saved is the word, because Gamble is filling in for regular netminders Johnny Bower and Terry Sawchuk.

Bower had bones in his hand broken Wednesday when he stopped a Frank Mahovlich slapshot. Sawchuk has been sidelined since Dec. 8 with a back injury.

Left winger Larry Jeffrey was another practice casualty. He picked up a concussion when he bounced off defenceman Kent Douglas into the boards, and is to visit a specialist in neurology.

In other action Saturday, New York travels to Montreal to play the fourth - place Canadiens, and second-last Boston Bruins are in Detroit.

Sunday, Toronto plays in New York, Detroit is host to Montreal and Boston is at Chicago.

Come From Behind Three Times

Macs Snatch Thriller From Oshawa

PETE FLEMING

Quinte McFarlands refused to fold before the Oshawa Crushmen's persistant attack in Picton last night.

The Macs came from behind three times to edge the Crushmen 5-4 in one of the season's better OHA Eastern Senior "B" League games.

The win was an important one for Flort Goegan's Quinte boys, keeping them atop the grouping's five-way battle for first place.

That game is set for 8.00 p.m. Quinte players taking part are Harold Townsend, Pete Fleming and Steve White.

Fleming shared Quinte's star billing last night with teammate Ron Riley, Riley's, the boys top scorer, fired three goals and Fleming notched the other pair, including the winner.

For Oshawa, Mike Hewer and Jerry Welsh triggered two goals each.

A small crowd, about 150 fans, saw outstanding end-to-end action and fine goaltending. Quinte fired 41 shots at Dave Gavel while Oshawa threw 30 at the Mac's Bob Forrester.

Oshawa got a 1-0 lead Hewer and a 2-1 edge from Welsh in the first period but each time Riley banged home the equalizer.

Quinte fired the only goal of the second heat, Fleming netting his first at 17.26, for a slim 3-3 lead going into the third.

Both clubs opened fire in the third and Oshawa needed less than four minutes to jump into a 4-3 lead. Welsh at 1.19 and Hewer at 3.16, the first on a power-play that overlapped from the second period, fired the goals.

Riley fired his third goal of the night, and his 32nd of the season, from the left - wing spot to turn it into a 4-4 stalemate at 8.35.

Forrester and Gavel traded great saves as Quinte outshot Oshawa 30-16 in the third but Pete Fleming's marker, aided by Steve White and converted defenceman Doug Potts, at 11.16, proved the winner.

Oshawa battled hard during the final nine minutes but the determined Macs threw back their best.

All the game's ten penalties, including a misconduct to Mac defenceman Harold Townsend, were assessed by referee Keith MacDonald during the first two periods.

SHERBROOKE, Que. (CP)— Moscow Selects wound up their Canadian tour with a victory Thursday night by defeating Sherbrooke Beavers of the Quebec senior hockey league four before a record crowd of 3,186 at the Sherbrooke Sports Palace.

The Selects, considered to be No. 2 team in Russian hockey, finished their seven game tour with five victories and four defeats.

The Beavers, finalists last season in the Allan Cup playffs for the Canadian senior hockey championship, held their own in the first period, but were outplayed in the second and third.

Goalie Serge Aubry of Sherbrooke made 40 saves and Alexander Paskov of the Selects stopped 34 shots in the Soviet nets.

Czechs Trim Baby Habs

MONTREAL (CP) — Czechoslovakia's national hockey team won its third consecutive game against Canadian competition Thursday night, trimming the pro-bolstered Montreal Junior Canadiens 5-3.

The Czechs, who beat University of Toronto Blues 9-3 in Windsor, Ont., Boxing Day and won 4-3 against an all-star team from the Ontario Hockey Association in Toronto Tuesday night, were never headed by the Junior Habs.

The visitors got two-goal performances from veteran centre Vaclav Nedomansky and Jaroslav Jirik. Rudolf Havel added a single.

Junior Canadiens were bolstered for the contest by several American Hockey League and Quebec Provincial Senior Hockey League players.

The visitors jumped to an early 1-0 lead on Nedomansky's first goal at 2:34 of the opening period while Rene Drolet of Quebec Aces was serving a penalty.

The visitors outshot the junior club 27 to 15 on the night holding a wide 14-5 margin in the opening 20 minutes.

City Lifter Wins National Title

He has been advised that one of his proteges has won the Canadian Intermediate Championship in the lightweight, 148 pounds class.

The new champion is Paul Barrett, 17, who showed championship possibilities early in his lifting career.

The championship was conducted nationally by telegraph.

Paul's titular efforts were, press, 180; snatch, 170; clean and jerk, 220, with a total of 580 pounds.

With an eye on British Empire Games records, Carr-Bralzt says he expects not a few will be broken.

"I have two lads now within striking distance of their class titles, Barrett and Bob Walt. We have now 36 boys in training and all are progressing slowly but surely."

Records Set At Saskatoon Meet

SASKATOON (CP)—Bob Seagren of Los Angeles expressed both joy and disappointment Thursday moments after he had established a world indoor pole vault record.

He soared 17 feet one inch on the final night of the second annual Knights of Colemben Jubilee Games, then immediately looked ahead to 18 feet.

"I did an unofficial 17-4 last week in Mobile, Ala.," he said. "I'm a little disappointed. I felt I could hit 17-7 here."

Seagren erased his own mark by three-quarters of an inch on his first try at that height, then missed on three attempts to clear 17-7 and surpass the world mark of 17-6¾ held by John Pennell of Miami.

Seagren, 21, now has cleared 17 feet or better on more than 30 official occasions.

Within minutes of his record performances, he predicted that 18 feet is within his capabilities this season.

"I think it should be easier to vault indoors," said the six-foot freshman at the University of Southern California. "The boards are fast and conditions are classical."

His demonstration before nearly 2,000 fans climaxed an outstanding meet and robbed some of the shine from earlier performances by high-jump specialist Ola Burrell and speedy Jim Kemp, both of Los Angeles.

Burrell, also 21, cleared 7-1 in his speciality to set a Canadian open record. He erased a mark of 6-10¾ held by Lew Hoyt of USC. Veterans John Thomas of Boston and John Dobrosh of Los Angeles both missed at 7-1 after surpassing seven feet. Thomas was awarded second place on the basis of fewer misses at lower heights.

The world indoor record, 7-4 was set in 1962 by Valery Brumel of Russia.

Kemp was clocked twice in 35.2 seconds for 300 metres Thursday, ripping a second from the Canadian open record held previously by Gaylord Norse of Knoxville, Tenn.

Two Canadian age-class records also were set. George Chandler of Calgary managed 6:44.1 in the midget mile to chop two seconds from the record set by Rich Dittman of Ottawa. Fitzwood Hodgson of Saskatoon erased his own midget mark with a clocking of 1:33 for 600 yards.

Hodgson was clocked in 1:31.8 Wednesday during a heat to surpass the old record of 1:32.4 held by Jim Hodgins of Toronto.

Another Canadian open record was tied Thursday. Doug Ring of Regina cleared six feet in the juvenile high jump, matching a record held by Gary Nielson of Vancouver.

One Canadian open record also was set Wednesday. Jim Morrison of Melfort, Sask., soared 20 feet 3 inches in the juvenile long jump to surpass his own mark of 19-4½, set last year.

Jere Van Dyck of Oregon University downed Bill Crothers of Toronto Thursday for the second time in as many days as he came from behind for a narrow victory at 600 yards. Van Dyck also surprised Crothers Wednesday in the half-mile.

Dave Bailey of Toronto, Canada's only sub - four - minute miler, turned in a good effort to down Sebulbe Mamo of Waterville, Me., and Oscar Moore of Carbondale, Ill., at two miles.

Mamo, an Ethiopian encouraged to attend Colby University by a member of the United States Peace Corps, followed Bailey past a weary Moore, who opened a huge early lead in the invitational event. Dave Atkison of Calgary, attending Indiana University on a track scholarship, was a solid fourth.

Nell Duggan of Hancock College in Los Angeles nipped Ray Harvell of Edmonton in the men's invitational as both were clocked in 4:11.2, slow by international standards.

Roscoe Divine of Oregon University, recuperating from a lacerating injury, held the lead briefly but dropped to third. Duggan caught Harwell, a student at the University of Alberta, with his final stride.

Abby Hoffman of Toronto defeated Linda James of Winnipeg and Cbc Carter of Hamilton in the women's invitational 600 yards. The Canadian girls provided only token opposition after Madeleine Manning and Una Morris of Tennessee dropped out.

Fans Storm Racetrack Offices

LAUREL, Md. (AP) — More than 400 angry customers were reported to have stormed the admissions office and ticket booths at Laurel Race Course Thursday when the day's program was cancelled 25 minutes before post time.

The fans, protesting that the sloe-race program should have been cancelled earlier, demanded refunds of admission, program and parking fees. Two hours later, Laurel also cancelled today's racing.

Most of the crowd of 4,277 fans left quietly, planning to use rain checks given them with their programs. But the others refused to leave, even when threatened with arrest. They were refunded all fees.

Sandy Joins NBC

Koufax Speaking; 'Low, Ball One'

NEW YORK (AP) — Sandy Koufax has found a job that will be less of a strain on his poor-left arm than was his former position.

The retired Los Angeles Dodger pitching star signed a 10-year contract Thursday with the National Broadcasting Co., calling for him to do broadcasting and other work for the network.

Koufax quit his $125,000 job with the Dodgers in November after winning 27 games, the winningest season in his 11-year career, because of arthritis in his left elbow.

Salary terms of his new job were not revealed, but it is thought the job will pay him something less than the Dodgers did last year. One report had him receiving $100,000 a year.

In Los Angeles, Koufax said: "It sounds great. I'm all excited at the chance to stay close to baseball. It's a fresh start, and I just hope it continues."

NBC said Koufax, 31 years old today, will be involved in both radio and television work and besides doing color commentary on sports events, he will be involved in initiating program ideas, developing talent for the network and working on special projects.

Koufax, the National League's most valuable player once and three times the Cy Young Award winner, set a record with 382 strikeouts in 1965. He pitched four no-hit games and led the Dodgers to three pennants and two World Series victories.

Minor Goalie Has Twin Shutouts

WELLINGTON — Village teams scored two shutouts in minor hockey play here with the same goalie being credited with both shutouts.

In OMHA novice play Harry MacDonald with four goals led the village team to an 8-0 victory. Frank Hardy got a pair and Gary Adams and Terry Greer singles.

In a peewee exhibition tilt, the village youngsters turned back Trenton 5-0.

Again MacDonald fired home four goals to lead the pack. Mike Lavender scored twice with Stephen Dentaior and Don Wight getting singles.

Scott Dawson played a double role in the nets blanking the opposition on both occasions.

Minor Hockey

The Elks defeated the Leafs 7-1 in Belleville Minor Hockey Association action last night.

S. Saznk and R. Mallory each scored twice for the winners with Schaeger, Maxwell and Roy getting singles. McCardy had an assist.

W. Farrell scored the Leafs lone goal with Thomson assisting.

The teams split ten penalties.

Mo-Hawks; Flunk Grads Tonight?

The Belleville Mo-Hawks have several objectives in mind as they open the heavy stretch grind towards the playoffs here tonight.

Toronto Varsity Grads, with a lineup containing stars such as goalie Jerry MacNamara and forwards Grant Moore, Moe Gravelle, Bob Babcock and Bob Awrey, visit the Mo-Hawks in tonight's regular OHA Senior "A" game. The faceoff is at 9.00.

First and foremost on the Belleville club's target list is "more wins and a better spot in the standing," although they are currently comfortable in sixth spot and within easy reach of fourth or fifth.

Actually the Mo-Hawks might easily change their team name to the ".500's". They have been at or near the .500 mark in wins and losses since the schedule opened but have never surpassed it. Right now the club has 18 wins, 17 losses and one tie, good for 21 of a possible 44 points.

A couple of strong efforts here tonight and in Orillia next Tuesday could give the boys a "plus" mark for the first time. However, there are no easy wins in the grouping and the club well knows that it takes an all-out effort to be in contention in any given game.

Meanwhile, a tight four-way race had developed for the Mo-Hawks' club scoring leadership.

Minnie Menard leads the way in total points, with 23, shares the goal lead with Bob McAlpine, with 11 each, and also shares the assist leadership with Wayne Brown, each with 14.

McAlpine and Gary Darling are tied for second place in points, with 22 each, while Brown has 20. Darling's total includes 10 goals and 12 assists, both second-high club marks.

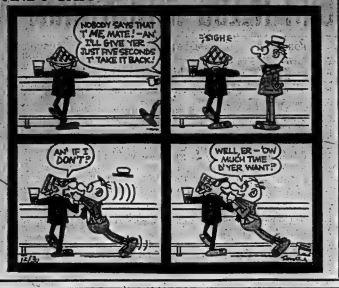
Indians Thumped By Aces

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Springfield is favored over Pittsburgh Hornets in tonight's American Hockey League action on the strength of a trend the Indians have been setting during their last four games.

The trend started last Friday when the Indians defeated Providence Reds 9-3 after staging a full - scale walkout on owner Eddie Shore earlier in the week.



Providence walloped Spring field 10-1 Sunday, but the Indians came back to edge Quebec Aces 6-4 Tuesday.

Behind Scenes Winner

Rangers' "Doc" Gets Assists

NEW YORK (AP)—The most important man in New York Rangers' 4-3 National Hockey League victory over Detroit Red Wings Thursday night wasn't accountably Rod Gilbert, who scored two goals and raised his league-leading total to 18, or Jean Ratelle, who potted the winner.

A key figure was short, heavy Jacques Laperiere, who smokes long black cigars and specializes in back operations on French-Canadian hockey players.

Dr. Kaye Vanagiawas is the man responsible for the presence of Gilbert and Ratelle in the Rangers' lineup. Inside of four months last spring, Dr. Vanagiawa performed virtually identical spinal fusions on the two young players, whose hockey careers have been strangely intermingled for 15 years.

Gilbert and Ratelle grew up together in Montreal, played schoolboy hockey together, were scouted and turned pro together by the Rangers and reached the NHL together.

Both have had back trouble—Gilbert since 1960 and Ratelle more recently.

GILBERT FIRST

Last February, Dr. Vanagiawa performed the intricate spinal fusion on Gilbert and in June, Ratelle went under his knife for the same operation.

Now they are back together again, and Thursday night they made life miserable for Detroit goalie Roger Crozier.

Ratelle's goal was his first since returning to the lineup and their league centre, who scored 31 last year, was delighted with it.

"I feel stronger with every game," he said. "And scoring the goal really felt wonderful. It was quite a boost for my confidence."

IT'S BEST SEASON

Gilbert did his recuperating over the summer, got away to the fastest start of his NHL career, and is enjoying his best big league season.

"I was glad to see Jean score one," Rod said, nodding towards his buddy. "That first one is so important when you're coming back."

The two-goal game was the fifth Gilbert has had this season. He scored three in the second game of the season.

"That was the big one for me," he said. "We were losing 2-1 and my three goals helped us get a 4-4 tie that night. After that, I knew the back would hold up and I'd be all right."

Dr. Vanagiawa puffed contentedly on his cigar as he walked out of Madison Square Garden. It was almost as if he knew it all the time.

'The Sons Of the Fathers ...'

TORONTO (CP)—Maple Leaf Gardens isn't the only place where hockey fans bellow: "Im-lach's a bum!"

It happens in London, Ont., too, where Brent Imlach is leading a disquieting season with London Nationals of the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A series.

Brent, who has scored only one goal and assisted on nine others this season, is a natural target for fans because he's the son of Punch Imlach, coach and general-manager of the National Hockey League Toronto Maple Leafs.

"I don't mind the boos. They pay their way in and it's their privilege to yell," said the 20-year-old Imlach, after filling in for the injured Larry Jeffrey in a Maple Leafs' workout Thursday.

"But I've lost my confidence and it seems there just isn't anything I can do about it. I've had lousy luck around the goal, hitting the posts or hitting a goalie in the face mask and he's going down."

Brent, however, played well enough with Toronto Marlboros in the OHA last season that his father brought him up to play in two games and dress for two others.

In Green Bay

Cowboys Face Challenge Of Lifetime

DALLAS (CP)—When underdog Dallas Cowboys step into the big pressure game with Green Bay Packers Sunday for the National Football League title, quarterback Don Meredith figures the young Cowboys will be facing the challenge of a lifetime.

"We consider Green Bay the supreme test," said Meredith. If ever a team had a challenge we've got one Sunday. I want to beat Green Bay so badly because of what they represent—the best in football.

"It isn't the money so much, although that it important. When we had a club meeting to vote on shares there were no problems, no arguments. And when you vote somebody a share or a part of a share you are taking quite a bit out of your pocket.

"As for me, I don't think it would make any difference whether they gave you $5,000 or $25,000 for winning the Super Bowl. If I was in the American Football League I'd almost pay to let me play in it. If we win Sunday, we will be representing the whole NFL in Los Angeles Jan. 15 I'd pay them to let me play, and all of our squad feels the same way.

"We feel we can run on Green Bay and certain types of pears will be effective. We'll be striking for 28 points, plus perhaps a field goal. We know that's quite an order against Green Bay, but we think we are capable of doing it."

Willie Townes, the hulking rookie defensive end who had won a job with the first team, agreed with Meredith about the Packers.

"Green Bay is the greatest team I ever saw," he said.

"Bart Starr is a great quarterback. It has been fascinating watching them play on television for years and hard to believe that you are actually playing against the same guys.

"We figure man for man we are just as good. They are no bigger and no faster than us."

A sellout of 75,504 fans has been assured for some time.

Game time is 4:05 p.m. EST, with national CBC television coverage.

The latest weather forecast for Sunday is for a high temperature of around 40 degrees and the possibility of rain.

Knights Shoemen Win CHHL Tilts

Ivanhoe Knights whipped the tail-end Thomasburg Thunderbirds 10-1, in Tweed, while Frankford Shoemen upended Wallbridge Warriors 6-2, in Stirling, last night.

Both games were in the Centre Hastings Hockey League. Two other tilts, Frankford vs Plainfield tonight and Frankford vs Glen Ross on Monday, have been postponed in Stirling.

Frankford got two-goal efforts from Jim Rousse and Bob Wright while downing the slumping Wallbridge crew. Bob Chesher and Jim Chard each had a goal and Bill Chesher contributed three assists.

Billy McMillan and Larry Ruppert were the Wallbridge marksmen.

Ivanhoe goals were also well distributed. Dale Benson, Bob Chapman and Don Bruce hit for two each while Harold Douglas, Don McCrory, Clare Hagerman and Jack Francis added singletons.

Strike Aimed at Quebec Unions

TORONTO (CP) — A mass walkout of building trades workers at Centennial Hospital in Scarborough and administration buildings at Queen's Park has been called for noon today by AFL-CIO construction unions.

The walkout decision, taken Thursday by the powerful AFL-CIO Toronto Building Trades Council, is the first step taken to attempt a break up in effect by the Quebec-based Confederation of National Trade Unions to establish a local in Ontario.

Carpenters failed to report for work Thursday at the two projects, refusing to work with floor men who defected from the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners to affiliate with the Quebec union.

An officer of one large general construction company said that if the CNTU carries out its intention to move into Ontario it could get out of the Montreal labor - union battles the province has ever seen.

Alex Mair, business manager of the Building Trades Council, said the dispute could lead to a general work stoppage in the construction industry unless contractors accept the council's demand that only members of AFL-CIO unions be employed on the projects.

Robert Garland, secretary and general counsel of Peridel Ltd., the general contractor for the Queen's Park buildings, said the action by the AFL-CIO denies the floor workers the right to choose their own union.

The 250 members of the Resilient Floor Workers local broke away from the Carpenters Union on Nov. 12 because they said the union was dominated by United States executives and that union dues were to be unreasonably increased.

Mr. Main said the AFL-CIO workers would not be back on the job until the matter of the floor workers is settled.

The Carpenters' Union has about 5,000 members in Toronto in 16 locals that are affiliated to a central council of the organization. The 25,000-member Building Trades Council has 25 unions under its jurisdiction.

Appeal Will Be Made For 350 Teachers

TORONTO (CP)—The Ontario government may be asked to provide financial assistance to about 350 teachers dismissed from the elementary and secondary school system.

The group was described as having retired at a period when salaries were low or had to resign because of disability.

J. D. McNabb of Peterborough, president of the Ontario Secondary School Teachers' Federation, said Thursday he will ask the Ontario Teachers' Superannuation Fund of governors to make an appeal in the Ontario government.

Although the pension of Ontario's teachers was recently doubled to $1,200 a year, the federation said the doubling of the pension is still inadequate, which is about the total economic life of the structure, he will turn over an obsolete building to the landowner. Thus, he will have had income for a 30-year period, and will depreciation (tax allowances) without any investment.

Since the landowner has absorbed his interest to the lender, he is in a peculiar position. Although he is not the developer should not make the mortgage payments. Because of the landowner's position, the landowner's interest will be wiped out if foreclosure takes place. He is free and he knows can look forward to is a 6 per cent return on the land with a chance that the developer will default get in trouble.

Dear Mr. Meltzer: We have a neighbor who is waging a personal campaign against us, unfortunately, we are becoming innocent victims of the battle. We have always used moderate signs advertising the poor construction of the house.

Of course, now has been able to sell their home. Prospective buyers will stop to read our signs, but unfortunately, by the end result is always that they are never seen or heard from again. Many times we have asked our irate neighbor to remove the signs, but he refuses. We followed your column since its beginning, but I've never come across a problem even remotely similar. We are getting hurt, not the builder for he is now working several miles away. — Mr. S. R.

ANSWER:" The above problem while not common is also not unique. As in the with many battles, usually innocent victims are hurt the most.

Apparently, the builder means to ignore your irate neighbor's offer of battle. Therefore, someone else will have to become the complainant. In somewhat similar situations, the private property rights of innocent third parties have generally been upheld. Your best friend at this point is an imaginative and competent lawyer. attorney.

Dear Mr. Meltzer: I am told that our community assessed properties based on 50 per cent of value. The house in which I now live was purchased last year for $23,000. Its assessment on the tax rolls is only $11,500 and not $14,000 (present assessment) Would you advise I hire a lawyer and fight. — Mr. W.

ANSWER: As a practical matter, the difference in assessment is not great enough to warrant a fight. You can best serve your objective by friendly negotiation.

The fact that the property was purchased for $23,000 may not be indicative of its value. The information about a "50 per cent ratio may also be wrong. There may be other considerations of which our correspondent has no knowledge.

It is well found, by experience, that settling small assessment differences on residential properties can best be done by friendly negotiations and discussions with the local assessor and tax collectors.

Mr. Meltzer welcomes your letters and comments. Unfortunately he is unable to enter into personal correspondence with readers, but will attempt to answer as many letters as possible through the column.

Napanee News

Groups Plan New Year's Eve Dances

NAPANEE — The Napanee and District Jaycees are sponsoring a New Year's Eve Ball in the Armouries, which is in marked contrast to the Mayor's Teen-Age Ball in the County Memorial Building. Those who attend the Jaycee's mail are expected to come either in semi-formal dress, or in a Centennial costume.

All week members have been busy decorating their area. Lines are being drawn for the couple's dance, with a ball before supper, prizes and noise - makers, and dancing to the music of an eight - piece orchestra.

Public dances are being sponsored, also by the Lennox and Addington Holstein Club in the arena, and by Napanee and District Curling Club in their rink. The Legion in Napanee, Deseronto and Tamworth are all holding New Year's Eve dances in their halls. The one in Deseronto is being limited to 100 couples, and few tickets are available the middle of the week.

Pupils Enjoy Final Yule Party, Concert

TYENDINAGA — To mark the Christmas festivities the old one-room school of S.S. 14, Tyendinaga, teacher and pupils held an evening party to which the mothers were invited. The room had been attractively decorated for the occasion.

The little folk entertained the guests with an hour's program, and refreshments were served, sandwiches and cookies for all, tea for the mothers, and chocolate milk for the pupils.

Mrs. Mark Vermilyea, a Women's Institute member took pictures during the afternoon which will be used in the Tweedsmuir history.

All the schools of Tyendinaga Township will be closed the end of June, and pupils will be transported by bus to the modern new school which will be completed by September.

Mayor Will Issue Official Proclamation

NAPANEE — Lennox and Addington, and its county town, Napanee, are going all out to welcome the 21st Centennial Year. Several balls and numerous receptions are held in progress when midnight arrives, but it is probable that the most unique celebration of the other townsfolk in the market square for the official welcome.

At 11.45 from the patio of the town hall, Mayor Lorne A. Conard will issue the official proclamation for Centennial Year.

At the conclusion, someone with stop watch in hand will begin the count down, and on the second of midnight, everything will happen at once. In Napanee, Tamworth, Newburgh and Bath, blockbusters will go off and every church bell from Adolphustown to Denbigh will peal forth its welcome. In Napanee on the second a bugle will be pushed turning on the elaborate lighting on the town hall and the nearby Public Utilities Building.

Mr. Meltzer on Real Estate
"What's Your Problem"

By BERNARD C. MELTZER

We have all heard stories about developers building without money and getting exorbitant profits from the properties. Actually, some of these stories are true. One of the many ways it is done is by getting the landowner to subordinate his interests as illustrated below:

Dear Mr. Meltzer: I own a commercial lot which I have been trying to sell for over a year at a price of $25,000. I have just received a proposition from a realtor which sounds attractive. It's beyond my understanding, so therefore, I request your opinion.

A developer has offered to buy my lot, paying me 6 per cent rent on the $25,000 price for a term of 30 years and will erect a $50,000 building. At the end of the lease-term, the building will become my property (or the property of my heirs).

The realtor tells me that the bank financing the deal requires a first lien on the property. Therefore, I will have to subordinate my interest in the land. I think I'm getting a raw deal. For the next 30 years, I'll be getting a good rent. At the end of that time I'll end up not only owning the land free and clear but also a $50,000 building. What do you think? Mr. T. G.

ANSWER: I think it is an excellent proposition — from the developer's standpoint, not from the landowner's. Let me explain. The developer can now offer as security $25,000 worth of land and a $50,000 building. Therefore, he should have no trouble getting a $50,000 mortgage and financing out, (investing no money).

At the end of the 30-year term,

A SCRUFFY REBELLION — Susan Driver, 13, the mounted colonel of the militia, reviews the troops before they march up Toronto's Yonge Street to repel the invaders. The school children were working on their centennial project — a movie documentary on the Upper Canada Rebellion of 1837 led by William Lyon Mackenzie. Movie was filmed at Toronto's Black Creek Pioneer Village. (CP Photo)

Toronto Public School Pupils Make Film of 1837 Rebellion

TORONTO (CP) — There is one bunch of youthful rebels in Toronto who are being encouraged by parents and teachers.

They are actors, average age 12, in a documentary film on Upper Canada's 1837 rebellion, led by William Lyon Mackenzie. Their director is 12-year-old Lewis Miller. Their production budget is the $75 they raised last September by washing cars.

The film is the centennial project of the 26 members of the Grade 8 class at Deer Park Senior Public School. The girls made the costumes in their home economics class. Everyone shared the research.

The movie is being shot at Black Creek Pioneer Village and at Mackenzie House, where the rebel once lived. Lewis, aided by five camera operators and two assistant directors, Terry Shawn and Hannah Davis, checks constantly to be sure the background is authentic.

The movie will begin with Mackenzie's 1836 defeat in the Upper Canada legislature, the event that convinced him rebellion was needed to oust the Family Compact led by Sir Francis Bond Head.

It will show the battle of Montgomery's Tavern, Dec. 7, 1837, where Mackenzie's followerswere routed.

The 1837 rebellion itself is considered a failure, but the movie will show that it forced the colonial office to look more closely at Canada, and will end with Lord Durham's 1840 report recommending responsible government for Canada.

A special note of authenticity will come from the collection of old rifles loaned by George Forster, father of one of the students.

A Deer Park teacher, B. R. Vail, who has been working on the project, explains its background.

"Our students keep complaining that Canadian history lacks something dramatic like the U.S. Civil War.

"This seemed a good way to dramatize a civil conflict that was close to home, and this comes through to them in a way that would never occur on paper."

A parent, Mrs. A. C. Houston, says, "Now, suddenly, they realize that this country has its own colorful past."

Premiere of the film is scheduled for March.

Comic Draws Laugh From Wife

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Don Adams, the flat-veiced sleuth of Get Smart, is the kind of a comedian who draws laughs from his wife even when he's deadly serious.

Recently he telephoned his wife from a hospital and told her: "Darling, there's been an accident. I've broken my nose."

Mrs. Adams burst out laughing. When her husband grew indignant, she explained that her alarm over his mention of an "accident" was so relieved by news of the broken nose that she felt impelled to laugh.

The accident to Adams was no joke to NBC and Talent Associates, which have an investment of millions riding on the comedian. Like only a few other stars—Lucille Ball, Andy Griffith, Jim Nabors—Adams is virtually irreplaceable in his television series, since his personality is so firmly imprinted on it.

How did it happen?

"We were rehearsing a fight scene on a building that was under construction," he said. "I had gone through my scene a couple of times, then I stepped back while a couple of actors rehearsed their fight.

"I wanted to figure out where I would stand, and I turned around to see the position of a girder. I walked right into a punch. All at once the stars and rockets started going off and I couldn't feel a thing on my nose because it was so shattered. The pain was in my eye, and I was convinced that was where he hit me."

Adams asked an assistant director to lead him off the set so the rest of the company wouldn't become alarmed. He was still convinced he had been hit in the eye until he looked into a mirror.

"I had to laugh," he recalled ruefully. "I had never seen a nose in such ridiculous condition."

Three Networks To Show Parade

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP)—NBC has been televising the annual Tournament of Roses parade for 15 years. CBS got into the act about a decade ago. Next Monday, ABC also will have its color cameras on the scene. This kind of three-network coverage is the sort of thing usually reserved for space shots.

The logical question would seem to be why all this concentration on one parade sponsored by the chamber of commerce of a Los Angeles suburb.

An answer is hard to come by. But it seems to be the one used to explain why men try to climb Mount Everest. Because it is there.

Betty White, who again will preside over NBC's broadcast describing the floats, identifying the bands and admiring the horseflesh for the 16th year in a row, thinks the parade gets so much attention "because it is unique in its field—more like a huge extravaganza than a parade."

Paul Levitan, CBS special events director in charge of parade coverage, says it is because "everybody loves a parade—the bands, the excitement."

NBC's Projection '67 Thursday night was a short year-end wrapup that seemed to be more of a stunt to use both the Atlantic and Pacific communications satellites than a meaningful look behind and ahead. The half-hour show had Frank McGee in New York while correspondents in Tokyo and one in London engaged in monologues about the state of the Far East and Europe. In spite of the satellite gimmick, it was a rather dull program.

Film Producer's Widow Found Dead in Home

LONDON (CP)—Police are to continue today with the investigation into the sudden death of Canadian-born Alexa Metcalfe, 39, wealthy widow of film producer Sir Alexander Korda.

Her body was found Wednesday at her country home in Surrey. A post-mortem examination Thursday failed to establish the cause of death.

Police said the pathologist found traces of sleeping tablets in the body, although it had not been determined whether they contributed to Mrs. Metcalfe's death.

"Mrs. Metcalfe did not die from any natural cause, although final play is not suspected," a police spokesman said.

Diefenbaker, Truscott Top News Figures

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

John Diefenbaker's political battles and Steven Truscott's fight to clear his name of a murder conviction made them the top Canadian news figures of 1966 in the judgment of news editors voting in a Canadian news figures of 1966 in the judgment of news editors voting in a Canadian Press poll.

The 71-year-old Mr. Diefenbaker, whose Conservative leadership tribulations and entanglement in the Gerda Munsinger scandal made a long string of front-page stories, was the No. 1 personality. He outpolled everybody by a wide margin in leading the category of those in public life.

Young Truscott, sentenced to life in 1959 at the age of 14 for the rape-killing of 13-year-old Lynne Harper near Clinton, Ont., gained the top rating among those not in political life by the unprecedented Supreme Court of Canada rehearing of his case. A book by Isabel Lothridge cast a widely-publicized cloud over the conviction. The issue is still before the court.

Embattled Prime Minister Ian Smith of Rhodesia, who defied the United Kingdom government and the United Nations over his country's independence, was voted the most newsworthy world personality. He moved out President Lyndon Johnson of the United States.

The selections were made by editors representing CP member newspaper and radio and television stations served by Broadcast News Ltd., a CP subsidiary.

Mr. Diefenbaker returned to the top of the news for the first time since 1960, when he was prime minister. Last year's newsiest Canadian figure was dope smuggler Lucien Rivard, now in a U.S. penitentiary.

Prime Minister Pearson — far down the 1966 list—ran second to Rivard and Mr. Diefenbaker was third.

Runner-up to the Conservative chief this year among those in public life was Defence Minister Paul Hellyer, whose contentious unification plan for the armed forces stirred up hot debate in and out of Parliament for the last half of the year. Rear-Admiral William Landymore, dismissed as sea operations chief in July for opposing the plan, was among the also-rans in the voting.

Third place went to Dalton Camp of Toronto, national president of the Conservatives, who outgunned Mr. Diefenbaker at the party's November convention and got a decision to have the leadership reviewed. At the same time, he retained his presidency over strong opposition.

Daniel Johnson, who brought the Union Nationale back to power in Quebec in a stunning surprise win over Jean Lesage's Liberals, shared the fourth spot with Finance Minister Mitchell Sharp. Mr. Pearson and External Affairs Minister Paul Martin were tied a notch below them.

Pierre Sevigny, the former Conservative associate defence minister whose association with Gerda Munsinger brought embarrassment to Mr. Diefenbaker, and Chester Ronning, the retired Canadian diplomat who has taken peace soundings in the Far East, rounded out those mentioned in the ballots.

Outside politics, the joint runners-up to Steven Truscott were Pat Watson and Laurier LaPierre, fired during the disembarkment of the CBC's controversial public affairs program This Hour Has Seven Days.

Miss LeBourdais, author of The Trial of Steven Truscott and named most newsworthy Canadian woman in a CP poll, came next.

In the fourth spot was Bobby Hull of Chicago Black Hawks of the National Hockey League, already named CP's Canadian Athlete of the Year. Another athlete — Carl Brewer, whose fight to disengage from the NHL and join Canada's national team made headlines — was among a trailing group that included such diverse figures as:

Lord Thomson, the Canadian-born communications magnate who acquired the Times of London late in the year; George Victor Spencer of Vancouver, the postal clerk who died before a royal commission investigating his spying for the Russians; C. Powell Morgan, president of Atlantic Acceptance Corp., who died while an Ontario royal commission was investigating his firm's $100,000,000 collapse, John Fisher, the Trial of Steven Truscott commissioner, and Dr. Charles B. Huggins of Chicago, Halifax-born joint winner of the Nobel Prize for medicine.

Revise BNA Act Says Dief

OTTAWA (CP)—A "made-in-Canada" constitution should be adopted in 1967 to strengthen the bonds that unite Canadians, Opposition Leader Diefenbaker says in his New Year's message.

He renews his proposal for a national conference to revise and "repatriate" the British North America Act of 1867.

Mr. Diefenbaker calls for a method of amending the constitution without recourse to the British Parliament.

The Conservative leader also urges that the 1960 bill of rights that he introduced as prime minister be embodied in the constitution. He said the bill "abolished" discrimination on the basis of race or color.

"However, to be completely effective, a constitutional amendment by agreement of the provinces is needed to cover some civil liberties which are of provincial jurisdiction."

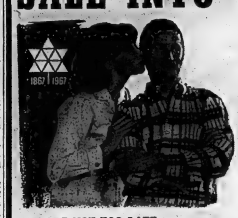
The statement says the provinces would accept this, as a contribution to freedom and Canadian citizenship.

OUTLINES TALKS PLAN

The proposed national conference on the constitution would be attended by representatives of Parliament and the provincial legislatures and by "other representative Canadians."

On economic issues he said: "We must encourage Canadians to invest in their own country. Failure to do this by necessary incentives cannot but lead to loss of sovereignty and every increasing external domination."

The first step in accelerating Canadian investment must be to reassure Canadians about the integrity and strength of financial institutions.



Referring to the recent collapse of large insurance and trust companies, he says those grands have lost their live savings through no fault of their own.

His calls for government compensation paymenns to investors who have lost much of their savings.

Record Art Theft

From AP-Reuters

LONDON (CP) — Raiders lifted eight paintings officially announced as being worth between £1,000,000 and £1,500,000 ($2,800,000 and $4,500,000) from the well-known Dulwich Art Gallery during the night in Britain's and possibly the world's biggest art robbery.

The burglars selected the cream of the gallery which is part of Dulwich College in the suburbs of London.

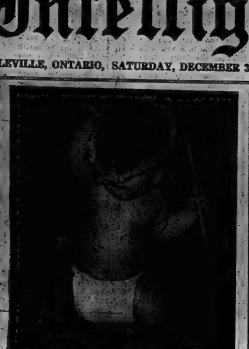
The collection, known as one of the finest in Britain, includes prized works by Rembrandt and Rubens.

The thieves took full advantage of the year-end college holidays when the grounds and buildings are sparsely populated.

Gallery attendants discovered the burglary this morning.

Police said the raiders got in by smashing a panel in one of the heavy oak doors leading to the gallery where a wide variety of art works is valued at about £2,000,000 ($80,000,000).

BLAME SMALL MAN



Detectives said one of the gang, clearly a small man, squeezed through the hole, cut the paintings from their frames and passed them out to his confederates.

Gallery officials, after a thorough search, announced the eight paintings included three by Rembrandt, three by Rubens, one by Elsheimer and one by Gerrard Dou. They said later their top figure of £1,500,000 ($4,500,000) as the value of the loss is probably as accurate as possible.

New Year to Usher In Canada's Centennial

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Canadians enter a new year and a new era at midnight tonight after 99 years of Confederation.

Across Canada some 40,000 church bells will welcome the New Year and centenary, accompanied by 100-gun salutes, wailing sirens, fireworks and thousands of bonfires.

But the first bells for the Canadian celebration will peal in Wellington, New Zealand, where New Year's Day arrives 13 hours earlier. Bells will ring at St. Paul's Cathedral and the National War Memorial.

In Canada, observances will range from subdued in some areas of Quebec to ceremonies on Parliament Hill in Ottawa and unique in the Manitoba community of Bowsman.

In Ottawa, Prime Minister Pearson will light a bonfire on Parliament Hill almost five hours before 1967 begins by the clock. The fire will burn in a fountain surrounded by provincial coats of arms.

In Bowsman, about 300 miles northwest of Winnipeg, residents will set the torch to 50 outhouses to celebrate the Centennial and completion of the town's new sewage system.

Premier Joseph Smallwood of Newfoundland will launch 1967 at 12:01 a.m. by lighting a centonial flame in front of Confederation building in St. John's. There will also be bellringing and bonfires.

In Prince Edward Island, Lt.-Gov. W. J. MacDonald will light a centennial flame on the Centennial Memorial Plaza, and a non-denominational centennial thanksgiving service will be held Sunday afternoon in Charlottetown.

Lt.-Gov. H. P. MacKeen of Nova Scotia will light a "flame of friendship" at Halifax City Hall and a centennial flag will be raised by Premier Robert Stanfield and Mayor Allan O'Brien.

There will be fires of friendship, interfaith services and 100-gun salutes along with traditional New Year's fanfare in New Brunswick.

Fredericton and Milltown will have 100-gun salutes.

In Quebec, some of the province's 1,600 municipalities will mark the start of Centennial Year with a bang while others will ignore it.

Hull, across the river from Ottawa, Chateauguay, to the south of Montreal, and Deveral, to the west of Montreal, are among the communities planning ceremonies.

In Ontario, in addition to celebrations in the federal capital, Toronto will have a torchlight parade through the city tonight to the provincial parliament buildings.

Premier Roberts will light a centennial flame and the ceremony will wind up with a giant fireworks display.

In Saskatchewan and Alberta there will be special church services, bell - ringing and 100-gun salutes.

In British Columbia, some 2,000 churches will ring their bells for 10 minutes starting at midnight.

Christmas Tree Bonfire To Start Centennial Here

The start of Centennial Year celebrations in Belleville will be about a week late in getting under way but to make up for tardiness the most push-off is going to be a "brilliant" affair.

One of the first events in Belleville celebrating Canada's 100th birthday will be a monster bonfire at Zwicki's Island Centennial Park scheduled for next Saturday evening, Jan. 7, commencing at 8:00 p.m.

It's going to be quite a party and is certain to attract a lot of attention.

The city public works department is co-operating with planners of the events and early next week will commence collecting Christmas trees from Belleville homes and will pile them under a huge heap on the island park.

Then Saturday evening they will be put to the torch and thousands of used Christmas trees will go up in smoke.

Mayor J. R. Ellis will touch things off by lighting a torch in front of city hall. The torch will then be carried to Zwicki's Island where the flame will be used to light the Christmas tree bonfire.

Adding of the fun will be a community sing song led (it is hoped) by a brass or accordion band.

Happy New Year!

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

At 11:30 p.m. tonight, an illuminated ball will slide down a flagpole on the Allied Chemical Tower in New York's Times Square.

And thus, the old tradition dating back to 1908, will signal the start of a New Year.

From New York, to Rome, to Glasgow, Scotland, millions will whoop it up.

In Rome, nimble-footed city policemen bracell for the usual Rome-in New Year's Eve shower of exploding crackers and cracking crockery.

Despite the law and by centuries - old tradition, Romans bring in the New Year by exploding fire crackers and by raining down everything but the kitchen sink on cars and fleeing pedestrians. It's their way of symbolizing a desire to start anew.

Scotland was prepared to celebrate its most singing, swinging New Year of all time. New Year's undoubtedly still holds away as the No. 1 holiday date of the year.

The Allied Chemical Tower in Times Square used to be the Times Tower until it was acquired by Allied Chemical in 1963. Only twice was the traditional ceremony omitted—for the wartime blackouts of 1942 and 1943.

Britain Pleads For Peace Talks

LONDON (AP) — British awaited official response today to its call for an urgent meeting of the United States, North and South Vietnam to discuss ending the war in Vietnam.

Initial reaction in Washington indicated the United States would be willing to attend. South Vietnamese officials said they were studying the proposal. There was no immediate reaction from Hanoi.

The British initiative, viewed as a surprise by some here, came Friday night with the announcement that Foreign Secretary George Brown had sent messages to the three countries urging an immediate meeting to discuss peace.

Brown offered to make available any suitable British territory for the proposed peace talk. London reports said he had in mind Hong Kong, the nearest British area to the war zone.

Charges Shake Quebec

Police Torture Case May Lead to Wide Probe

MONTREAL (CP) — Justice Minister Jean-Jacques Bertrand said Friday he will "very probably" recommend to the cabinet that a royal commission investigate all aspects of the administration of justice in Quebec.

The minister said in an interview that while he agrees in principle with a general inquiry he will have to give the matter further study.

His comments followed a lengthy meeting with A. J. Campbell, batonnier of the Quebec bar, which recently called for an inquiry into police conduct.

Mr. Bertrand said a general inquiry would in no way limit an inquiry as called for by the bar. However, many other aspects of the administration of justice needed examination, particularly the means at the disposal of police and the courts for fighting crime and the underworld.

Earlier Friday, Quebec's police forces reacted angrily to public criticism of police methods, and at the same time six provincial policemen and two insurances investigators were arraigned on charges of having tortured a detained man.

Though no members of his own force have been named in the current prosecution, Jean-Paul Gilbert, director of the Montreal police, was clearly disturbed when he said in an interview that police officers are being made victims of "restless times — times when all kinds of demonstrations, schemes and conspiracies are being set up to cause public distress and undermine law and authority."

The police have been given the job of protecting life and property.

"We try to do our job, but practically every move we make these days produces some kind of outcry that gets all kinds of publicity. We have a sworn duty to the public at large, and I know we're doing it well enough to deserve public support."

The Quebec Association of Police and Fire Chiefs has decided to press for a royal commission inquiry into the provincial bar and magistracies courts.

Director Gilbert's comments followed a call Thursday by the Committee on Human Rights for a special investigation of the circumstances surrounding the death of a man while in custody.

Ships in Distress

NEW YORK (AP)—The U.S. Coast Guard cutter Tamaroa speed today through the Atlantic to take into tow a battered 90-foot yawl whose rigging was torn away in the heavy seas.

Three women and two men were plucked Friday night from the yawl, the Petrel. Five other men volunteered to remain aboard until the cutter arrived.

The 10 had spent a harrowing 15 hours, bailing frantically with paper containers, buckets and cupped hands to keep the yawl from sinking while rescue vessels churned through the heavy seas toward her.

The five persons were rescued by the British freighter Cotrwell which lowered a small boat into the heavy seas. The Cotrwell radioed that all 10 Petrel passengers were in satisfactory condition and that it would stand by through the night.

NEW YORK (AP)—The U.S. Coast Guard cutter Vigilant was reported in the stormy Atlantic nearing a battered Liberian freighter carrying 39 Greek crew members. A coast guard officer said the cutter "should be on the scene now."

The coast guard officer said the storm seems to have abated with the swells dropping from 22 feet to about 12 feet as winds decreasing from 55 knots to 20 knots.

The distressed 10,000 - ton freighter Georgia was about 170 miles east - southeast of New York at last report.

"I think we're going to go down," the captain of the Georgia radioed Friday night. Repeated messages said that he anticipated he may have to abandon ship at any moment.

But in the early morning hours, the crew was still holding on.

Planes Keep Flying

MONTREAL (CP) — Supervisory personnel kept planes moving from Montreal International Airport today despite a strike by 46 employees who usually refuel aircraft.

Members of Lodge 869, International Association of Machinists, went on strike at 6:14 p.m. Friday against the fuelling contractor, Consolidated Aviation and Fuelling Services Ltd., and set up picket lines.

Both sides commented on the possibility of mishaps at the big airport, which normally handles 300 planes a day on domestic and international flights.

Hester Reusmilin president of the union lodge, said "Ours is skilled work and many things could go wrong if it is done by people who don't know the job."

Hartland Price, president of the company, said there was little danger of his supervisory personnel making fuelling mistakes.

However, he said, "There are a lot of very non-co-operative people hanging around our facilities. The main danger is that some angry union man may lose his head."

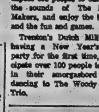
Belleville and District to Give Centennial Toot Tonight

If you're planning to bring the centennial year in with a bang — or a toot — you're going to have lots of company, according to spokesmen from the Belleville and district night spots.



Hats, horns and other noisemakers will be the order of the night as Belleville and local couples celebrate both in house parties and organized dances.

Babysitters Unlimited, a Belleville modelling agency firm, said it is booked solid for tonight.

Indications are the number of house parties will be high-er this year than usual. One local night spot proprietor said: "Reservations haven't been coming in as fast this week as last. I think more people are having house parties instead of going out."

Nevertheless Club Cedars in Carrollton has been sold out since last week. They can accommodate 250 due to the sounds of The Music Makers, and enjoy the buffet and the fun and games.

Trenton's Dutch Mill Inn, having a New Year's Eve party for the first time, anticipates over 100 people to join in their smorgasbord and dancing to The Woody Reid Trio.

Would Abolish Summer Course For Teachers

TORONTO (CP)—Dean D. F. Dadson of the Ontario College of Education said Friday a special University of Toronto committee has called for abolition of the college's summer course for teachers.

Dean Dadson said a preliminary report by the committee suggested the course be ended some time after 1980. He said the report was completed March 30 and given to Education Minister William Davis "in confidence."

The dean said the report will be made public when it is completed in a final draft.

He said the summer courses, to which generally qualified graduates to enter, teaching without spending a full year at OCE, were introduced 25 years ago as "a temporary measure" to cope with a teacher shortage.

"Now abolition as many are entering secondary school teaching through the summer courses as through the winter course."

Dean Dadson said the longer course generally produces a more stable, qualified staff. Those who take the summer course put insufficient experience in practising teaching.

Gunfire Greets 'Truce'

SAIGON (AP) — A two day truce in Vietnam was opened to the noise of gunfire today. The U.S. and its allies reported the Communist command launched one large attack and nearly 40 lesser assaults.

A unit of the U.S. 101st Airborne Division reported a small arms and mortar attack in the central highlands town of Kontum. Communist force estimated at battalion size, or 500 men.

A U.S. spokesman said the airborne troops returned the fire and that the engagement, 15 miles northwest of Kontum City, was still under way at 4:30 p.m., nearly three hours after it started.

American casualties were light and the enemy losses were not known, the spokesman said.

The engagement was the largest of 37 reported by the U.S. and South Vietnamese military commands in the first 12 hours after the ceasefire started at 8 a.m.

It's going to be a big night for the district service people too. At least one area service mess is advertising buffet at midnight and breakfast at 6 a.m. for those who manage to survive, and all the area messes in Camp Picton and the Trenton Station will be full and busy.

Brewer's Retail reports that sales for the holiday are "light" this year. A spokesman said: "Sales over the entire Belleville district are be-tween 20 and 25 per cent. Displacement of statutory holidays may have some bearing on the sales.

On the other hand, a spokesman for the Liquor Control Board reports sales are up this year. "Sales have increased all over the province for the holiday" he said.

IN MEMORIAM

CROSS — In loving memory of a dear mother, who passed away Dec. 21, 1967.
Sweet memories are all I have
Of a mother dear and true
Who left behind a heart of gold
When she went to rest
Her smile, a heart of gold,
And a hand to help the needy
Her gentle look, kind and mild
From us who thought the world of her
Is God's own child.
—Remembered by daughter Josephine and family.

MURPHY — In loving memory of Dear Mother, who passed away Days of sadness still come o'er us,
Tears of memory fall in vain
For memory keeps you ever near us
Dear Mother.
—Ever remembered by Pete, Ted, Bert, Jim and Mary.

MASCALL — In loving memory of Dear Mother, who passed away Dec. 21, 1967.
Sweet memories are all I have
And a heart that is sad and empty
It brings back a day I won't ever forget
You left asking without goodbyes,
Not knowing we would never cease
I miss you more than anyone
As each day passes, the emptiness grows
Your face I can't see
But the ache in my heart will always be
We love you
We know the grief I bear,
The sorrow I hide and carry
Will be with me always
You left so suddenly,
Without a moment's sadness,
But you left me memories
That will last forever.
—Sadly missed and always remembered by daughters and families, Mary, Josephine and Mavis.

MASCALL — In loving memory of our dear mother, who passed away Dec. 21, 1967.
Our dad and lovely year has passed,
Since you left us here to mourn
Your memory is cherished that no one can ever tell,
Your love for us was beautiful,
Dear Mother, you loved well.
No one will ever know,
It's lonely here without you,
How much we miss you,
How much we wish you were here,
Since you were called away.
Our hearts are filled with sorrow,
Nor ever said goodbye,
For God alone would know it,
How much we loved you,
How dearly we miss you,
But God has taken you home,
For part of us went with you,
The day God took you away,
Sadly missed and always remembered by sons Leonard and Alfred Jr. (Mascall).

BARRINGTON — In loving memory of our dear husband, grandfather, Arthur Harrington, who passed away Dec. 21, 1967.
He had a smile a pleasant way,

Forgave his foes, heavenly rest.
Sadly missed by wife Ethel and children, family.

Dryer Lineup At Hairdresser's Assures Top Styling For New Year's

Beauty Salons Busiest Spots in Town

Front Street merchants this week, may be moaning the post-Christmas blues, but the cash registers were jingling today in at least one type of downtown shop.

They are the women's beauty salons where hairdressers started early and were expected to finish late as they set hair for the big New Year's party tonight.

"Booked solid" was the general comment from beauty shop operators as they commented on the day's appointments.

One salon on Upper Front said their timetable for both Friday and Saturday of this week had been fully booked for nearly a month and a half.

Yesterday was fully booked for normal working hours but today was "big push" as women sought to delay appointments with the hairdresser as late as possible so as to have hair looking just right for the New Year party or dance.

As an indication of how busy the hairdressers were, most of the girls came to work at 7.30 this morning. Nine o'clock is the conventional opening time for hairdresser salons.

New Year's Party Preparations

Belleville hairdressers were "booked solid" today as women got last minute hair do's for that big New Year's Eve party. Picture at Front Street salon is indicative of the activity at all hairdressers.

Activities at the YMCA

Di Diamantides, former General Secretary at the Belleville YMCA and now in Thessaloniki, Greece, has sent the following New Year's message to his friends in this area.

"Nineteen Sixty six has been an eventful year for us - a busy family life, pleasures in our surroundings, meeting new friends and renewing old acquaintances, travelling, new opportunities and challenges for Di, and visits from friends. It was an exciting and full year for which we are grateful.

"We are enjoying our new life and our apartment very much. It is in a fine setting, by the sea which makes it a bit damp, a bit noisy during heavy traffic hours, but these are compensated by the beautiful sunsets, the city lights and their reflection on the water at night in the ships of a horse - drawn, panoramic view of the old city on the hill and the majestic view of Mt. Olympous across the Gulf of Thermaikos on clear days.

"We tried to see as much of Greece as possible this year. Places and sites which to Helen and myself many years ago seemed far and only accessible, are now just only a few hours drive. We visited many parts of Northern and Southern Greece and left the West part of the country and the Islands for 1967. During Easter, Yola with 41 other young people participated in the YMCA's two-week Easter excursion visiting Yugoslavia, Italy, Germany, Austria and Hungary. In July, Di flew to Geneva, Switzerland, to attend the summer meetings of the World Alliance of YMCA's. Early this year, Di joined the Rotary Club and Helen the AWOG, an American Women's Club which provided good fellowship and splendid contacts.

"During the summer we had a brief 2 - weeks vacation and all four of us drove to Delphi, Greece visiting archaelogical sites in Athens, its ancient Corneth, Mycenae, Epidaurus, Olympia and Delphi. It was hot, but a very interesting and education al experience.

"We were delighted with visits of many friends from Vancouver, Edmonton, New York, Rochester, Hamilton, Peterborough and Lindsay, Toronto, Montreal, Winnipeg and a two - day visit by 13 members of the Canadian Y World Tour. In September, Helen flew to Athens to a have a nice visit with Mrs. Cyrsdale, Chief Commissioner of Girl Guides of Canada. These visits have been a real treat to us. We hope we shall have more of them during the coming year. You too will be welcome.

"Highlight of the visits was the coming of our daughter Mary to spend her summer vacation with us. Mary graduated from the Ontario Ladies College in Whitby, this past June, and she is now back in Canada as a freshman at the University of Alberta majoring in physical education. She writes that she is among friends - friendships made during our four years stay in Edmonton, where Di was the physical director of Edmonton's Central YMCA.

"The arrival of Jim Bakken, a student world service worker, from Winnipeg in June has also added to our joy. Jim contributed in our national camp program during July and August, and now gives fine leadership to the boy's physical programs of the Central Y and the Kalamaria branch.

"During this year in Thessaloniki, efforts have been concentrated in cultivating relationships, in lay and staff training, exploring and finding of an ideal camp-site for a "Y" residence camp, in fund raising upgrading the physical education program working closely with the Y's Men's Club and to get on with the Saloniki development project - a multi-million Drachmaes 'Y' expansion program. There has been progress made in these and in other areas, but accomplishments are slow in attainment. Your continuous interest and support is an inspiration to us.

"For all these, we are supremely grateful.

. . . HAPPY NEW YEAR TOO! from ruled that Bernard Carpentier, 37, arrested Sept. 19 for disturbing the peace, died of accidental violence. The committee alleges he died in Montreal police cells one hour after a scuffle involving three or four policemen.

The charges against the six provincial policemen and two insurance investigators arraigned Friday have been set for part in "illegally wounding, mutilating and disfiguring Louis Sirotta by hitting him with fists and feet and attempting to strangle him, and by crushing cigars and cigarette butts on his body, and also by pulling out his moustache hair by hair."

The mistreatment is alleged to have taken place late in 1965 at QPP headquarters in Montreal and Quebec City while police were questioning the Montreal businessman about arson cases.

Criminal charges were laid after Mr. Sirotte filed a $250,000 civil suit alleging police brutality. The action named the Quebec Justice department and its former minister, Claude Wagner, 12 provincial policemen, the undercutters investigation bureau and two men identified as investigators.

Judge Irenee Lagarde, who presided at a special closed-door hearing to determine whether criminal charges should be laid as a result of the allegations, said "shocking things were revealed" at the hearing.

In addition to the eight men arraigned Friday, seven more —four provincial policemen, two investigators and a constable of the Quebec City force—have been served with summonses to appear at next week's hearings.

The eight charged Friday all posted bail and were released.

Canada's Destiny

Can Canada survive? That is the question posed by The Sunday Times of England in a magazine supplement devoted to this country as it approaches its Centennial.

The cover shows a smartly-clad Eskimo child, and the introduction to the supplement notes: "The little girl on the cover is a Canadian, one of 400 Eskimos living on the edge of the Arctic Ocean at Nuktoyaktuk in the Northwest Territories."

Who then are the Canadians? is the question the British publication goes on to pose. For the answer it turns to Northrop Frye, himself a Canadian, and in his answer there is not only a perceptive understanding of Canada and of Canadians, but also food for thought as we enter the greatest year in the history of this big land.

Frye defines Canadians as Americans who have rejected the Revolution. "Their laws, their constitution, their monarch, spring from Britain. Yet as a country it is the closest alternative to the United States, a way of living American without actually being in any of the 50 States."

"It can be said," the article continues, "that they pay for the privilege of being Canadian. Incomes are slightly lower, the Canadian dollar worth slightly less. But Canadians have something that the Americans lack. Their biculturalism, their spanning of the gap between America and Europe, their uncertain roots, have given them the opportunity to act as a catalyst in international affairs.

"In the United Nations they provided the initiative for the forming of a peacekeeping force. They forced the Commonwealth to seek a more logical purpose. It was at Suez that we in Britain first realized that support of the mother country through thick and thin was no longer to be taken for granted. The infant had grown up and taken on adult responsibilities. . ."

Canada's problems, the supplement notes, are now outside Britain's orbit. It wonders if Canadians can continue to stay politically independent of the United States "in spite of an inevitable economic surrender." It probes the big problem of biculturalism and asks if unity can be retained, and it ends on a note of confidence in Canada and its future.

"If this vast, attractive land can hold out, then this would be their century, the time when they finally shake off Voltaire's inapposite sneer: "a few acres of snow."

Shades of Goldwater

Remember Barry Goldwater — the hard-talking Republican whose belligerent views were a little too much for Americans during the last election.

The former presidential candidate upset a lot of people with his talk of using atomic weapons (albeit of low-intensity) to defoliate the Viet Nam jungles where the Viet Cong operate.

Mr. Goldwater and his right-wing ideas got short shrift in the election. Yet the irony of it is that the tactics of the Johnson administration on Viet Nam today are scarcely indistinguishable from those advocated by the man from Arizona.

Now another "hawk" has appeared on the scene in the person of Mendel L. Rivers, chairman of the armed services committee of the U.S. House of Representatives.

Mr. Rivers has been quoted as saying the United States should "listen to hell if necessary . . . and let world opinion go fly a kite."

Quite apart from the irresponsibility and immorality of such a statement, it is also strategically unsound. For one thing the North Vietnamese capital is a veritable rabbit warren of manhole-size concrete shelters. According to Harrison Salisbury of The New York Times, there are hundreds of thousands of these shelters along every highway and every city street.

Salisbury, in a copyright dispatch from Hanoi, says another factor reducing casualties and loss is dispersal. "Nothing like enough dispersal has been made. The countryside is strewn with dispersed goods and supplies. The same is true of the people."

So there is little point in laying Hanoi in ruins, because the real war is not being fought there. It is being waged below the border in South Vietnam, and in any event Hanoi is no more than a listening post for the real seat of power in this Communist conspiracy, Peking.

Bombing of people and their economy into submission may have worked against Germany — but it was a long and painful process. In the case of Viet Nam there just is not all that much in the way of industry to bomb. This is a land of savage terrain, ideal for guerrilla warfare. The Viet Cong are tough, they subsist on little, and supplies keep coming in from China, as well as the Soviet Union. This is the problem, to which the United States must find a solution, and not the self-defeating notion that a saturation cavilled at Hanoi would force the North Vietnamese to capitulate or negotiate.

Off With the Old, On With the New And Only the Tax-Man Has Fun

By RICHARD JACKSON

The old year's ending, new almost here;
Parliament will survive the year,
Though now and then as election
Will echo the Quiet Revolution.
Tories and Grits, as is every year,
Will disagree, that much is clear.
One takes this side, the other that,
Taxpayers wonder where they're at.
Tories attack each Grit measure,
Yet one and all pass at pleasure.
Drawing debate, rough or refined,
Will seek in vain the unclosed mind.
The only agreement the year will see
Will be an agreement to disagree.
Triumphs, disasters will appear
On the national scene, tomorrow's year.
The Ministry will see nothing funny
In Tory talk of inflated money,
Prices climb, Wage boosts quicken.
Which is the egg? Which the chicken?
Sharp Mitchell of Finance
Shrugs and deflates (not a chance!)
Prophets of doom, forecasts of gloom,
The time will be steady the boom,
Budgets may go and budgets come,
Only the tax-man has much fun.
Onward and upward taxes climb,
Three cents now in every dime.
Government spokesmen calmly advise
Taxpayers should economize,
While the Government, sad to see,
Spends and takes more from you and me.
Those debates of drama, suspense,
Will leave 'em laughing at Defence.
Charges of bungling and of waste
In too many changes, too much haste,
Too much spent for too little protection,
Tories demand Defence redirection.
But what or where or how?
Who knows?
Oppositions live but to oppose.
Tales of trouble, of deportation,
Confront the Department of Immigration.
The Trade Department will try to assess
Investment, import, ex-U.S.
At External Affairs they've got it made,
Raising the Treasury for foreign aid.
With tax-free bases at tax-free bars,
Driving their foreign tax-free cars.
At embassies they'll rock their doors
To touring Canadians they find such bores.
Living it up, the world they'll roam
Hoping they'll never have to come home;
For home, they sigh, is shambles, mess;
An end to life on the tax-free plan.
As winds of winter freeze and blow,
Partisan strife next year will grow.
Grits, by Commons' dogs today,
With welfare statism hope to stay,
While Tories, claiming resurrection,
Start thinking of the next election;
But surely split, may be glad to wait
For post-Centennial '68.
Weeks of trouble, months of strife,
New Dems struggling still for life
Sound off handsome, wide and high,
Of great things coming, bye and bye.
Orange and grapefruit, lemon and lime,
Social Credit bides its time.
Speaker Lamoureux, by word and deed,
Upholds the rules, decries the need
Of fighting fierce on points of order,
On guard along Gecorum's border.
The odd MP next year will vote
Against his Party — not by rote.
Hailed as hero, damned to perdition,
Depending on public position;
By this one cursed, by that adored,
According to whose ox is gored.
But one by one and two by two,
The Government's Estimates go through.
As Parliament, in established way, -
Goes on and on, from day to day.
As it has for nine and 99 years.
Tomorrow the hundred. Taxpayers, cheers!

GLEANINGS FROM OUR FILES OF BYGONE YEARS

20 YEARS AGO
December 31, 1946

There will be sounds of revelry tonight as a collective Belleville and district "let's down the hair" in the traditional style to welcome in the New Year. Rounds of parties, dinners, dances and general celebrations have been planned. If reports can be vouched for, tonight's celebration will be one of the merriest in years.

City housewives showed hot little interest in the pre-New Year market as only a few purchasers turned out. Turkey was conspicuous by its absence while a few ducks and chickens were offered at the usual prices.

Mayor Harry Hill who is seeking a second term of office, and Ald. R. D. Arnott, Barrister, will be the candidates for the office of mayor next year. The electors will be asked to express their views by ballot with regards to the engaging of a city manager, the reduction in the number of aldermen, a public utilities commission, a municipally elected Board of Education and a grant to the Belleville Municipal Road. If these matters receive the approval of the citizens, they will be given consideration by the incoming council.

Compassion

Let all think kindly of others; never criticize them, never condemn, never judge; on the contrary, let all condone, excuse, justify, seek to comprehend, seek to put themselves in the place of others. This mental attitude has to be perseveringly cultivated. It cannot be adopted in one good resolution — Arnold Bennett.

Letter to Editor

Toward Unity in Canada

Editor,
The Intelligencer.

In the editorial of Wednesday, December 14th, "Quiet Revolution?" indicates that my talk to the Belleville Rotary Club on "Separatism or Partnership" caused some thinking and controversy on the subject of English-French relations. This is my purpose.

You include Gilles Gregoire as one of the persons whose talk I suggested is political opportunism. I gave your reporter a copy of my speech. Nowhere in it will he find, nor did I mention, Mr. Gregoire. I, too, might ask you, "Did you listen to my speech"?

"The future course of events is not going to be all that smooth" as you state, unless English - speaking Canadians willingly accept the fact that a French-speaking Canadian is a Canadian like any other Canadian. I am advocating equal partnership in Canada — not with Canada, as equal partnership as individuals — not as separate provinces. We must stand for one Canada, bilingual and multicultural.

J. A. PERHAM.

Editor's Note: In his address, Mr. Perham suggested that all the talk by Jean Lesage and Daniel Johnson ("and more recently by Gilles Gregoire") was just "political opportunism." Our reference to Mr. Gregoire was by way of editorial comment, but inadvertently it was attributed as a statement by Mr. Perham.

No Time To Read

Montreal Gazette

Dr. Michael Ramsey says that since he was appointed Archbishop of Canterbury he had little time for reading. He reads in snatches between appointments, and has been seen walking through the grounds of Lambeth, half-bent over a book he picked off the shelf on his way to the chapel. Dr. Ramsey's difficulty is that shared by many distinguished men. They find themselves with less and less reading time. And what they do read takes on an official character — reports and documents,

Syria Walks Pipeline Tightrope

Christian Science Monitor

Syria is not one of the oil-exporting countries of the Middle East, yet its main source of outside income is oil. Its oil revenues come from payments by Western oil companies for the oil piped across Syria from the Arab hinterland to Mediterranean ports. The advantage for the Western interests is that the pipelines are a short route to the markets that spare the oil companies the long haul from the Persian Gulf round the Arabian peninsula and through the Suez Canal.

But this advantage has gotten to have less and less meaning for the oil companies. They have found ways of making themselves less dependent on the production pattern of two decades ago. And that means less dependent than they once were either on the output of northern Iraq or on the pipeline across Syria by which that output reaches world markets. Both Iraq and Syria would find it hard to make do without their oil revenues from Western companies. The latter, however, could make do without Iraq or Syria.

In trying to squeeze the last penny from the Iraq Petroleum Company — in which the principal interests are British Petroleum, Shell, Mobil and Compagnie Francaise de Petroles — Syria may find that it risks killing the goose that lays the golden eggs. Last week it took over, administratively, the pipeline which IPC operates across Syria. Now IPC has stopped pumping from northern Iraq to the Mediterranean ports. The losers, of course, are Syria and Iraq. Presumably IPC wants to make this point — and to get the Iraq Government to persuade Syria to be more rational.

Western oil interests are in fact under increasing pressure from the producing (or benefiting) countries of longest standing in the Middle East. Iraq has been squeezing IPC for a long time. The Shah of Iran, with considerable astuteness, has been cajoling and threatening the Western oil consortium that produces and markets Iranian oil. Saudi Arabia has warned that there must be no surrender to other demands at Saudi expense. And now we have this typically democratic assertion in Syria.

It can all be explained by illiterates lest the Western oil companies shift emphasis in investment and production to newer fields — fields already proven to have fewer political and geographical complications. There are, for example, the new fields along the Trucial Coast and in Africa where the going is much easier — at least, so far. For the older beneficiaries countries, the secret would seem to be to squeeze the traditional goose without strangling it. Syria — as we said — might find that this time it is going too far.

To Your Good Health

Gall Bladder Is A Delicate Organ

By JOSEPH C. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: What are the symptoms of gall bladder disease? I have had a pain in my right ribs and below my breast.

I was X-rayed and my doctor said my gall bladder looked all right and he thought it was nerves. Could nerves cause this constant pain? — Mrs. A. J.

The useful but sometimes objectionable gall bladder can play a lot of tricks. Sometimes an attack seems so much like heart disease that it takes careful diagnosis to bring out the truth. Or the discomfort can be mistaken at first for stomach trouble or other disorders.

The opposite can be true, too. Other complaints can seem to be gall bladder disease. That, of course, is why your doctor had you X-rayed instead of jumping to conclusions — and that also is why good medical care doesn't just come out of a book (or a medical column, either). It requires a lot of experience to know when not to be too certain that a complaint is properly diagnosed by matching the symptoms with one disease or another.

The usual signs of chronic gall bladder disease include discomfort in the upper right abdomen (but sometimes even in the back); flatulence or (gas enormous); intolerance of fatty foods; general digestive upset. Yet sometimes gall stones cause no symptoms at all.

Since X-ray shows your gall bladder to be functioning properly, it is time to look for other ailments with similar symptoms. Some possibilities are ulcers, kidney disease, or even neuralgia attacking between the ribs.

Yes, even nerves can play tricks like this on you. Spasm of the colon, or of the esophagus, is not uncommon condition, can, at times, cause continuing pain. A spastic colon, with cramping, likewise can be due to nerves.

You would like a more specific answer to your question, Mrs. A. J., but there are times when the only way to get the right answer is gradual elimination of several possibilities.

• • •

Dear Dr. Molner: Someone told me that a person died from squeezing a pimple near his nose because it was on top of some nerve or blood vessel. I wonder whether this is fact or fiction, because I have a lot of pimples and the temptation to squeeze them gets pretty bad. — J. C.

It isn't fiction.

The face is highly vascular (a lot of blood vessels) and if squeezing a pimple near the nose causes an infection, the infection can be carried to the brain. An added hazard is that our noses are a common lodging place for staphylococcus or "staph" germs. This germ, if it gets into the bloodstream, can be vicious.

Yes, squeezing pimples can be risky, particularly in the area of the upper lip and nose.

Dear Dr. Molner: I have a fungus infection in my mouth and throat. I have taken cans from taking antibiotics.

I have good and bad days, and sometimes even after I've tastes like pepper. I use a mouth wash and have changed the kinds of foods I use to my plates but the trouble remains. I can't go on this diet.—E. W.

The most likely focus of this fungus infection somewhere, possibly (since your teeth are out) in crevices of the tongue."

Swishing mouth and tongue with a two percent solution of gentian violet often helps cases like this. If it doesn't help, consult a dermatologist.

In time the company became a quasi-official department of the British colonial administration but India was placed under the British Crown after the Mutiny of 1857.

Lines on Life

Work Best Leisure

By Dr. Stuart E. Rosenberg

A well-known sociologist was consulted by thoughtful union leaders about the future of automation in America. They were predicting, not without some private fears, a much shorter work week and a far less-demanding working day.

They were worried about that kind of future, however, and were looking to him to help spell out a series of "leisure-time activities." They wanted to know what union programs to plan now, in order to help their men later — to fill their growing vacuum of time and energy.

Starry-eyed, creative folk don't need "programs" or "activities". Leisure, for them, is not free time, nor is it the absence of work. They do not regard leisure as idle time waiting to be filled in. It is, rather, the time for the discovery of the self.

One such observer of creative leisure had this significant observation: "When I go on a vacation trip I find I get a renewed perspective on life. It is not the change of scenery that is so important, though this may be refreshing. Rather, it is the freeing of my mind from immediate habitual concerns to a consideration of ultimate concern. It is a time for rediscovering the meaning and purpose of life, for seeing the pursuit of living in its wholeness."

Such a view of leisure is possible for men whose work is labor of love, or for those who can work leisurely, or for those who have satisfying achievements in their professions or jobs, that we can see that they have leisure in their work. Such people can go beyond their work, even while they work; their job satisfaction gives meaning to the whole of their lives.

But what concerned those union leaders was the major fact that as the labor of the average worker becomes less specialized, less challenging, less demanding, fewer and fewer workers will have job satisfactions. What kind of leisure-time activities, they were asking, would make sense and have meaning to people who were bored by their work?

The answer is paradoxically clear: Those who have no joy in their labor, run away from work in search of leisure. But such leisure is hardly filled with idle hours, empty efforts, small talk and smaller achievement — and all because it cannot combine work with free time. On the other hand, those who are in love with their work find leisure in their work. They can also love leisure, leisure that is creative, productive and fruitful.

We are in a peculiar bind. Automation frees men from hard work, but it makes work less and less personal and engaging. We need free time but only if we will know how to use it. We will know how to use it if the work we perform is personally significant to us — if we are involved in it as whole people.

Sociologists and other students of man and his society should be spending more of their time discovering ways and means to make work more meaningful in our society, instead of thinking primarily in terms of filling in the gaps with a "leisure-time" activities. Only then will automation become a blessing by releasing men to leisure who find some value in their work.

Wag Clock Was Displayed In Semi-finished Condition

By RALPH and TERRY KOVEL

The "wag-on-the-wall" clock is really a clock without the case. The term "Dutch wag," also refers to the English or American clocks that were displayed in this semi-finished condition. A true wag-on-the-wall had a dial or face, perhaps a hood, but no other casing. The weights and the swinging pendulum were not cased.

These otherwise accurate pendulum clocks would lose time because of the hands of inquisitive children or cats. There were several other types of clocks made with exposed works. Only the swinging pendulum type can properly be called a "wag-on-the-wall."

Q. What is Iowa City Glass?

A. A glass factory was founded in Iowa City, Iowa, in April of 1880. The company went out of business in the summer of 1882. Very little is known about the pressed glass made by the firm. Only a few of their patterns have been identified.

Most of the Iowa City glass has a cloudy appearance. Some has a green or purple tinge in the glass. A poor quality of local sand was used, and the imperfections resulted from the sand. A few pieces are very clear, probably because for some batches a fine quality of sand was imported for the factory.

The glassware is crude for the period. The glass is thick, and the mold lines are easily seen. The factory made animal and motto plates, flowered glass, Elaine, beehive platters and a few geometric patterns.

Don't believe every mark on an old piece of silver or silverplate. Some Victorian silver manufacturers named the product to mislead the public. Some of the silverplate manufacturers of Birmingham, England, used these names in the 19th century: Montana Silver, Indian Gold, Indian Silver, Brazilian Silver, Aluminum Silver, Bengal Silver, Japanese Silver, Argentina Silver, Peruvian Silver, Siberian Silver, Africa Silver, Bolivian Silver and American Silver Alloy. Confused?

Q. What is a steeple clock?

A. A steeple clock is named for the small towers at each side of the case. It is a shelf clock style popular in the 1830-1840 period. It has also been called a cathedral, Gothic, or double decker clock.

Bowen — Millard

The Alliance Church, Belleville was the setting on Christmas Eve when Eleanor Blanche Millard, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Millard, Belleville was united in marriage to William Frank Davidson, son of Mrs. J. Davidson, Belleville and the late Mr. Davidson. Rev. C. L. Broadhurst officiated at the wedding ceremony and wedding music was rendered by Mr. W. Leonard who accompanied the soloist, Mr. Doug Leonard in appropriate nuptial selections.

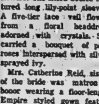
Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white satin floor-length gown showered with lace appliqué flowers. The fitted bodice featured long lily-point sleeves. A five-tier lace veil flowed from a floral headdress adorned with crystals. She carried a bouquet of pink roses interspersed with silver sprayed ivy.

Mrs. Catherine Reid, sister of the bride was matron of honor wearing a floor-length Empire styled gown featuring a jade green velvet bodice and jade green moiré side skirt. She wore a bow headdress of matching velvet. The bridesmaid Miss Sandra Rose and junior bridesmaid Miss Faye Millard, cousin of the bride were similarly attired but in wine red shade. Both wore matching velvet bow headdresses. Each carried a bouquet of white mums.

The little flower girl Miss Sharon Davidson, niece of the bridegroom was identically attired to the other attendants and carried a bouquet of white mums. Master Ronnie Davidson, nephew of the bridegroom was the ringbearer.

Mr. Arthur Davidson, brother of the bridegroom was groomsman, while Mr. Elmer Davidson, brother of the bridegroom and Mr. Kent Millard, brother of the bride were the ushers.

For the reception at the Tops Motor Hotel, the bride's mother greeted the guests wearing a two-piece ensemble of ivory and gold figured brocade, brown accessories and a corsage of pink Sweetheart roses. She was assisted by the bridegroom's mother who wore a two-piece blue suit of Lurex with black accessories and a corsage of pink roses.



Leaving on the wedding trip the bride chose a two-piece teal blue knitted suit, wine red and black accessories and a corsage of pink Sweetheart roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Davidson will reside in Belleville.

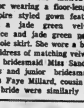
MR. AND MRS. FREDERICK G. TOMPKINS

Tompkins — Hoare

Naomi Louise, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold A. Hoare of Strathcona and Frederick George Tompkins, son of Mrs. Frederick J. Tompkins and the late Mr. Tompkins, R. R. 4, Napanee, were married by Rev. Guy Cass in Grace United Church, Napanee on Dec. 24, 1966, at 11 a.m. Mrs. L. Losey of Kingston was organist and John Carnegie, also of Kingston, was soloist.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore an off-white gown of peau de soie with appliqued lace at the neckline which carried through to the fitted waistline, and long lily-point sleeves. The bouffant skirt was swept into a chapel train at the back. Her headpiece was made of matching Cultured pearl and pearls and chiffon rosettes attached to a shoulder-length three-tiered illusion veil, and she carried white gardenias and red sweetheart roses on a white Bible.

Mrs. Charles Fenton of Belleville was matron of honour. She wore an off-white satin gown with ruby-red velvet trim around the Empire waistline, scoop neckline and elbow-length sleeves. The skirt was a floor-length A-line style with wide flowing panels at the back, and her headpiece was a red velvet pillbox. She carried a cascade bouquet of holly and white carnations. Dressed identically as the matron of honour were the three bridesmaids: Vicki Ricketts, Reg. N., formerly of Jamaica, now of Toronto; Erma Jubien, Reg. N., of Bridgewater, N.S.; and Marianne Taylor of Peterborough, cousin of the bride.



The flower girl, Cori Hoare, niece of the bride and Anne Tompkins, niece of the bridegroom, were dressed similarly to the other attendants and wore red velvet headbands with ring bead bands. They carried blossom baskets of holly and white carnations.

Don Tompkins of Toronto was his brother's attendant and the ushers were Douglas Hoare of Belleville, brother of the bride, William McMaster of Bradford and Charles Bax of Whitby.

At the reception in Grace United Church Hall the bride's mother greeted the guests, wearing a moss-green and gold satin brocade sheath dress with beige marabou hat, beige and moss-green accessories and a corsage of pink carnations.

For her wedding trip to Washington and points in Virginia the bride's mother the bride chose a matching mohair A-line coat and profile hat in Mediterranean shades of royal blue, jade and burgundy, worn with a powder blue sheath dress. Her accessories were black patent leather and she wore a corsage of white gardenias.

On their return the couple will live at 240 College St. West, Belleville.

DORIS CLARK

Dear Doris: I don't think we ever had a family conference in our life. You often suggest this as a way of deciding who does what, or how much board to pay, or what to do with grandmother.

We just took for granted father ruled the roost and his word was law. Now I have a little ones of my own and I'd like to start things off on the right foot. So would my husband. — Three Years Married

Dear Married: From the moment a baby can talk he can join in the family council. Age has no bearing on it.

There's nothing like it for bringing about lovely miracles of understanding and to understand is to take the first step towards improving things.

Seated at the council table, over hot cocoa and toast, new ideas pop from all sides; one family produced 37 ways of getting the young ones out from in front of a TV screen and doing more creative things. The doings they dreamed up delighted all of them.

You can syphon off hurt feelings, get a new deal, in an F. C. It is a rule not to brush off any member's ideas, not to interrupt, and to persuade instead of dictating.

All get a hearing; and with the solidarity brought about by conferring together, mother, dad, boys and girls can face the outside pressures feeling secure and ready for anything.

"Ring in the love of truth and right,
Ring in the common love of good."

Dear Doris: Will you please let me know where I can buy an old Moore's Almanac? — Mrs. A. A.

Dear Mrs. A. A.: It hasn't been published for a long time. Would any reader have a copy he or she would part with?

Dear Doris: My boy friend is on a hockey team that is going about 200 miles away to play in a tournament. Some of the girl friends are going along. We would be staying in a motel and the boys would stay in the gymnasium with the coach.

My mother doesn't approve of this. She is usually very fair, I don't know exactly what is right now. Please send your reply before Thursday. — Christina.

Dear Christina: A letter mailed in Belleville on Sunday has no chance of a reply from me by Thursday. It may take 10 days to even reach boy through the mail, from I'm daily in which you are reading my column. Sorry!

In case this crops up again — with you or someone else — here are my views:

If I were your mother, I'd want an older woman along with the girls. And I'd want to talk to the coach about his boys. You all have good intentions, but if there is drinking going on, or one single boy is hard to control, this could lead to a disappointing, perhaps really unhappy weekend.

Confidential to V.P.: Sorry, but a column about Successful Living is not my idea of a place to give vent to your private spleen about your husband. Why don't you write him a letter, if you want him to read something?

(P.S. I always request that readers identify themselves when writing in.)

Has Doris helped you with a problem? Write and tell her so!

Fruit, Cream Mousse

BY MARY MOORE

QUESTION: I would appreciate it if you could tell me the name of the dessert I remember a friend making before I married eight years ago. I know most of the ingredients but forget the quantities and how to put it together. She had jelly powder, Philadelphia cream cheese, chopped cherries, crushed pineapple and whipping cream. Perhaps there is more but I cannot remember. I know she melted the cheese in the jelly powder after boiling water was added. — Mrs. M. S.

Answer: What follows is actually a mousse, a colorful and delicate dessert.

SATURDAY
(New Year's Eve)

Dinner Menus

De Luxe English Meat Pie (see Note.); Shredded Green Beans with Shredded Almonds; Tomato Jelly Salads; New Year's Egg Nog; Sliced Christmas Cake and Shortbread; Tea.

STRAWBERRY AND PINEAPPLE CREAM MOUSSE

One 2pkg. strawberry jelly powder (2-oz. pkgs.)
One 4-oz. pkge. white cream cheese (room temperature)
1 cup boiling water
One 10-oz. can crushed pineapple heated just to boiling
2-3 cup sliced or chopped, drained maraschino cherries
1 cup 32 percent cream, whipped

In a large bowl cream the cheese until it is soft. Add the jelly powder and cream them together. Now slowly stir in the boiling water and boiling hot crushed pineapple and juice and stir until both jelly powder and cheese are dissolved. Chill until it begins to set. Then whip the cream until stiff and fold in until all is smoothly blended. Turn into your finest cut glass bowl to chill and set, or into individual stemmed glasses on a utility tray, if you have space in your refrigerator for them without danger of knocking. Garnish with additional cherries.

NEW YEARS EVE THOUGHTS FROM MARY

There were a few odd moments towards the end when I wondered if I was going to get all of the last-cooking done for all of the columns for 1966. Strangely enough the above request nearly floored me, but I rallied and actually it turned out to be a beauty.

So you see it is you, our readers, who spur me on to greater efforts and I am grateful.

As you know, I have other causes for gratitude. Marianne Barbe and their four precious children are right here in my home and I am surrounded with love and hearty appetites. A wonderful way for a grandmother to end one year and start another. When I say God bless you all and bring you as much joy, I mean it from the bottom of my heart.

DO YOU—

—as a husband and father find yourself under the pressure of problems at home and at work;

—as a wife and mother have difficulties in your marriage and with your children;

—as a teen-age boy or girl feel the need for guidance in your relationships or personal life.

Whatever your family or personal problem the Family Counselling Services of Belleville and Hastings County may be of assistance to you.

Telephone 962-9181. Your inquiry will be held in the strictest confidence.

Ann Landers

Little Tact Shown In Marking Birthday

ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Today I saw a dignified old gentleman lose all hope and very nearly go into a state of shock because of his well-meaning relatives.

The gentleman has a terminal illness. His days are numbered. He has known for a long time that he is very ill, but he was hoping for another couple of years. Now he knows the real story.

A host of relatives barged into his home last night to celebrate his birthday. They brought a birthday cake and casseroles of fish food. (His cat can only eat strained vegetables.) Nobody brought him a gift because they figured he'd be dead soon so why waste the money.

The sad part of the story is that the old gentleman's birthday isn't until March. His life expectancy is approximately three weeks. The family knows this. He didn't. But he guessed the reason for the party.

Please tell readers that informal visits are fine, but please — no premature birthday parties. The purpose is all too obvious. — ANTI-GHOUL

DEAR ANTI: Another excellent sample of people who messed well but did the wrong thing. Perhaps this letter will serve as a lesson to others.

* * *

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am 19 and engaged to marry a fine man who is 21. We have been going together for three years and are very much in love. My problem is that Ron is not affectionate and I'm a warm, outgoing person who likes a spontaneous kiss or a caress. Even if he would reach over and hold my hand it would mean a lot.

My mother is affectionate and my Dad is like Ron. Sometimes I see a hurt look in Mom's eyes when she kisses Dad and he doesn't respond.

Will it be the same with Ron and me after we are married? Is it possible that I can change him? — HONEY BUN.

DEAR HONEY: During courtship both parties are on their best behavior. If Ron is unable to thaw out now he will probably freeze into cubes later.

* * *

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I have been married to Jim for 15 years. His first wife died leaving him with two little girls. I was divorced and had a daughter of my own.

Jim has always been a good worker. He never gave me a dollar to spend on my own. We never went anywhere. I didn't mind for the first few years because I was young and in love. As time went on Jim became more and more stingier. I used his mean house and do the ironing for a woman in the neighborhood in order to have a little extra money. My husband never knew this.

Now the children are grown, our home is paid for and we have money in the bank, but I still don't get money like a wife should. I have to fight for every dime and I am sick of it. I am 47 years old, disgusted, tired and ready to leave. What is your advice? — JUST A SERVANT.

DEAR JUST: You aren't even a servant. Servants get paid. There's no point in telling you now that your trouble started 15 years ago. The appropriate time to decide how the family money is to be divided is before marriage.

It is shameful and demeaning for a wife to walk around penniless. Every woman whose husband is employed is entitled to an allowance. Now you must get your husband to talk to a counselor or a clergyman. I hope the lightened knows that if you leave him he will have to hire a housekeeper and support you under separate roof.

Tons of Hair To Come From India Temples

A Mineapolis, Minn., firm, Indian Tress Inc, has contracted to buy 222,700,000 worth of wigs during a seven - year period. Hong Kong firm is providing technical advice for a new factory to be built near Madras. The bulk of the hair, 50 tons a year, will come from temples in that area.

It is often a part of Hindu religious practice to shave the head. Young and old, men and women, queue up before temple barbers.

Some communities, such as the devout Brahmins and the Sadhus (holy men), shave their heads completely or leave only a pigtail. The eldest son shaves his head before he offers obsequies to his dead parent.

Many Hindus use this sacrifice to show thanks for divine favor.

Students shave their heads after passing examinations. Others do so after a relative has been cured of a serious illness.

Even women give up their hair in return for some divine favor. This makes for wigs of shining black hair, much in demand in foreign markets.

India already is selling $7,000,000 worth of hair a year to Western Europe.

RULES THE KITCHEN

MONTREAL (CP) — Mrs. Bernard Fraser, formerly of Drummondville, Que., thinks she is the only woman to head a Canadian food consultant's company. A dietician, she supervises food services in universities, hospitals, hotels and restaurants.

Church Groups

TABERNACLE AOTS CLUB

The Tabernacle United Church Mon's AOTS Club monthly supper meeting was held on Dec. 20 in the auditorium with a splendid attendance of regular members augmented by a visiting group from Bridge Street United Church AOTS Club.

A turkey supper with all the trimmings was served by a special group of ladies with Miss Ethel Horton in charge.

One minute of silent prayer was devoted to the memory of the late Leslie Robinson.

Captain J. A. Buchanan, accompanied by C. Templer at the piano, led in the singing of Christmas songs.

Seasonal gifts were presented to Miss Ethel Horton, church secretary and to Rev. and Mrs. Crooks.

Lyons gave the Boy Scout report. One boy scout will be sent to the Scout World Jamboree to be held in Idaho some time in 1967 and several boy scouts will be sent to Expo '67.

There is the need of a scout master and Mr. Lyons asked for volunteers with experience or willing to be trained. This would be a very worthwhile centennial project for any one interested in leadership experience.

Frederick Crooks gave a report on the first annual Old Time Fiddlers contest, which was even more successful than had been anticipated and augured well for future contests.

Mr. Cunningham and J. Jacques were complimented by the president for the splendid concert.

Rev. Robert Crooks gave a man-to-man talk on the power of Jesus to save. He cited many cases from his personal experience of unhappy men and women living in despair, brought to a new outlook on life and a happier evaluation of self and others by the tremendous dual power never-ending appeal of Jesus.

The election of officers was scheduled until the January meeting of the coming new year.

MARMORA COUNCIL C.W.I.

MARMORA — Christmas party of the C.W.I. held Monday evening in the hall was preceded by a short business meeting presided over by the president, Mrs. Breen O'Connor.

The 46 members present were reminded of the bake sale at Consumers Gas from 11 a.m., Saturday, Dec. 17, when a basket of groceries and a Christmas cake will be sold.

Donation to the Marmora Centennial Fund will be proceeds of the bake sale.

It was decided to hold the next meeting in the home of Mrs. Peter Brawley and Miss Mary Hughes, with co-hostesses Mrs. Charles Lajoie, and games.

Gifts were distributed.

Left Cow Behind

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont. (CP) — Laura Secord really did save the day at Queenston Heights in 1813, but the cow part of the story is "hogwash", says Frank Digweed, 80, former superintendent of the park on the battlefield. He has lived for more than 50 years in the shadow of Gen. Brock's monument there.

Woman Enjoys Work Aboard Lake Freighter

TORONTO (CP)—Mrs. Lionel Brunet is a cook with a wandering kitchen. It may move from Chicago to Toledo to Montreal and back again, all within two weeks.

The attractive brunette from French Canada is chief cook on the 15,500-ton bulk freighter, R. Bruce Angus, now tied up in Toronto harbor for the winter.

Mrs. Brunet has cooked aboard ships for the last five years. Before that she ran the kitchen for loggers in bush camps in Quebec.

Her job is not unusual for a woman. About half the ships owned by Upper Lakes Shipping have women in charge of their galleys.

Mrs. Brunet will stay on the Angus until February while a skeleton crew of 13 men makes repairs to the ship. Normally she has two assistants to help with the cooking for the regular crew of 32.

Her husband and four children, ranging in age from eight to 13, live in Port Colborne, Ont. During the summer shipping season she sees them about once every eight days as the ship passes through the Welland Canal. In winter she is home each weekend or her family comes to Toronto.

Economic reasons, not the lure of the sea, explain why she does this work.

"It's very good money on board. I can count on $600 clear a month, and I have no expenses for room and board.

"I'd prefer to be ashore but I could never get the same money. I want my youngsters to have a good education, so I'll stay on until my children are through school."

Mrs. Brunet's galley would delight any chef. It's spacious and modern, equipped with two stoves, a double sink and a walk-in freezer and refrigerator.

She places her food orders with the company's main office 10 days in advance and the supplies are forwarded to the port the ship is headed for.

She operates on a liberal budget — $4.50 per person is an average of $2.50 a serving. And the meals themselves are a delightful palate of the most discriminating.

The ship's crew enjoys an early Christmas dinner in the middle of Lake Huron. The menu offered a choice of roast turkey or baked ham, cranberry sauce, roast turkey or glazed ham. Dessert included plum or cranberry pudding and hot mince pie with ice cream.

What's like life for a woman aboard a freighter?

"It's just like working in a restaurant. The men respect me and I get treated very nice. In fact, you get more respect from a sailor than from anyone on shore."

Apple Cook Book Now Completed

BERWICK, N.S. (CP) — A Nova Scotia housewife who also runs a gift shop near the Annapolis Valley town has completed what she says is the first comprehensive apple cook book to be published in Canada.

Joan Balcom has collected a variety of apple recipes for the book, entitled Ripe 'N' Ready and published by Howard H. Lefkin, PO Box 1000, Wayne.

In the book she urges housewives to make use of the apple's diversity and to look on it not merely for pies, sauce and juice. To assist them she offers recipes including 14 varieties of apple pies, desserts, cakes, squares, relishes and preserves, stuffings, garnishes, salads and breads.

Her husband, Bob, who is senior cook at the apple - packing Cornes Bros Ltd. Greenwood, has contributed a recipe for roast partridge which he developed during his 15 years in food servicing.

Mrs. Balcom's keen interest in the apple industry logically follows her upbringing on one of the largest fruit farms in the Annapolis Valley. She spent many hours researching material for the book and includes a history of the apple industry in Nova Scotia, information on buying apples, their food value, descriptions of the varieties grown and complete instructions on making cider.

In fact, she says that a longing for cider by early French settlers resulted in the introduction of apples at Port Royal, N.S., in 1632. In order to produce cider in quantity, orchards were planted on the banks of Allain's Creek, a tributary of the Annapolis River. By 1689 they were bearing fruit and in the 1698 census, there were 1,264 apple trees at Port Royal.

The apple industry today produces an annual harvest of 2,000,000 bushels valued at 3,000,000.

Elegance, Charm, Color Seen in 1967 Rainwear

MONTREAL (CP) — Rainwear has come a long way since the mackintosh made its debut.

To celebrate the 1967 Montreal world's fair, the Canadian woman will have access to a variety of glorious rainwear fashion items.

Seldom has so much elegance, charm and color been combined in raincoats as is evidenced in the spring collection of Lydia Fashions of Montreal.

For the young active girl who loves to dash about in rainy weather, Lydia Fashions has created a mini pantsuit which features a short rain jacket having slightly over the hips and matched with bermuda - length shorts. All are water - resistant and ideal wear for motor trips, picnic outings and quick visits to a friend's home.

COAT KNEE-LENGTH

Slightly more conservative is a knee-length coat of Antron in a color called Expo blue which is slightly lighter than navy.

A delightful bit of "old world" is fashioned into a coat and bonnet ensemble designed to imitate the Quaker costume. The coat is black and the "onnet is matched with a lining of white sprinkled with black polka dots.

Lower Trend Predicted In January Food Costs

OTTAWA (CP) — Eggs, pork and carrots should cost less in January but beef prices may go up, the federal agriculture department says in its monthly food forecast.

The outlook by commodities:

Eggs: The present downward movement of prices is expected to continue.

Broiler chickens: With a seasonal build-up in supplies, no price increase is expected and there may be some decline.

Pork: Markedings are expected to continue to rise and easing of prices will probably continue.

Beef: With decreasing supplies of beef, prices are expected to be firm or higher.

Project Now Prized Possession

TORONTO (CP) — In 1937, Irene McAfee started her Grade 8 students on a project that exists now as a prized collection of Canadiana.

Miss McAfee has turned it over to the Toronto Board of Education. She says she hopes it will be used so that children can keep it.

It is a collection of photographs, prints, original art work and letters from some of Canada's well - known men and women—authors Stephen Leacock and L. M. Montgomery, painters A. J. Casson and Fred Brigden, and the then 90-year-old Sir William Mulock who, among other things, was postmaster general in Sir Wilfrid Laurier's 1896 cabinet.

It might be called an enrichment project. Miss McAfee divided the class into groups to do research and to write in their subjects.

WROTE LETTERS

"All I did was get those children curious and interested. There were about 50 of them and they got so busy writing letters, visiting authors and artists that they didn't realize they were studying Canadian history, literature, grammar and geography."

Painter A. Y. Jackson allowed a group to watch him work at his studio. Gwen Staples showed students how an etching is made and gave them one of a limited run. Some of the people visited the classroom.

Libraries and museums have been interested in the collection for their reference departments, but Miss McAfee hopes it will be kept together and available to schoolchildren.

Miss McAfee started teaching at Regal Road school in 1918. She left it and went back, and it was there the collection was made.

She retired five years ago from the Toronto Board of Education as a special teacher, and still does tutorial work.

"It is my life. There is something very exciting about helping a difficult child overcome his problems and I have a lot of help from specialists who have become my good, friends over the years."

Students Fight Back

CAMBRIDGE, England (CP) — Students at Girton, one of Cambridge University's few colleges for women, are fighting back to show they are not all bluestockings and can be just as attractive as swinging Chelsea chicks. But their movement's title is: "Society for the Metamorphosis of the Girtonian Image".

Second Glance

By Viva Richmond Graham

TIME, GENTLEMEN!

Mathematically speaking, there is something not clear
About the seconds, minutes, days and months of a year;
For add them together, they all disappear
The answer is nothing —
Just the end of a year.
Yet, regardless of feeling and without sign of a tear,
Father Time builds these fragments into another New Year.

— from "Conundrum."

* * *

The old year passes! The New Year has come!
For the animals who live by the day and season, the New Year has no meaning. Man is the only animal to whom this New Year is important.

Here are some of man's year-end thoughts concerning this precious substance, forever on the go:

"To save time is to lengthen life." — Old Proverb.

"... to be young and is again and lift to great handfuls of golden time and just squander it, confident there would always be more!" — Clare Bootham.

"I wish I could stand on a busy street corner, hat in hand, and beg people to throw me all their wasted hours." — Bernard Berenson.

This frantic, ceaseless rush of time is life's greatest robber, points out the playwright, Tennessee Williams in an essay entitled "The Timeless World of a Play."

This rush of time takes away all the dignity and significance of life, he maintains, and that is why a play is important: it offers the gift of time necessary to see people and events in a special condition — a world without time.

An arrest of time, he feels, gives the world of a play a great feeling of depth and significance.

To attend a play where time is frozen is the sense of being confined, the audience is permitted a kind of reprieve. It can sit in comfort and watch a world with light, color, emotion and action, with a dimension and dignity that real life would offer. If the intrusion of rushing time could be barred.

The lives of us all, when finished, he reminds us will be enclosed in a splendid state of reverence; the very kind of repose unconsciously admired in dramas.

For a play reveals events which are made to remain events and not reduced to mere fragments of inconsequence. This is the truth drama brings us.

It is the rush of time that is ephemeral, transitory.

"Therefore," concludes Mr. Williams, "man's great dignity lies in his ability to choose moral values which will withstand time's rush that corrupts and reconciles." He adds:

"Snatching the eternal out of the desperately fleeting is the great magic trick of human existence."

To all our readers, our best wishes for a happy, prosperous New Year!

Forget Bitterness From Past, Build A Future, Urges Vanier

OTTAWA (CP) — Gov. Gen. Vanier, in a New Year's message, urged Canadians today to forget past bitterness and build a future "which will make the progress of this century seem pale by comparison."

Through divisions, he warned, "we will provide our own destruction."

The 78-year-old former soldier and diplomat, who has been in ill health for several months, reviewed Canada's history and said Canadians must learn the lessons of their past.

While Confederation was 100 years old, the settlement of Canada dated back 3½ centuries—"during most of which the two founding peoples, first the French and then the British, then both together, with peoples of other origins, have co-existed and cooperated."

The record was not perfect, he said, "but to emphasize now our quarrels and shortcomings leads only to bitterness best forgotten. . . ."

"The measure of our unity has been the measure of our success. . . ."

"If we imagine that we can now go our separate ways within our country; if we think that selfish interests can now take precedence over the national good; if we exaggerate our differences or revel in contention; if we do any of these things, we will promote our own destruction."

Canada owes it to the world to remain united, the Governor-General said, because "no lesson is more badly needed than the one our country can supply, the lesson that diversity need not be the cause for conflict but, on the contrary, may lead to richer and nobler living."

He said he was proud of each of the 10 provinces but not all ways happy that the boundaries between them at times looked more like barriers than meeting places.

"Let us open the windows and the doors of the province. Let us look over the walls and see what is on the other side. Let us know one another and that will lead to understanding. . . .

"I pray God that we may all go forward hand in hand. We can't run the risk of this great country falling into pieces."

Not Exactly Etiquette

It may not be exactly etiquette, but no one seemed to mind when five-year-old Isabel St. Jean climbed on the dinner table for a better footing to pull a cracker with Mme. Vanier, wife of the Governor-General. The incident took place at a children's party at Government House, Ottawa. (CP Wirephoto)

Your Car

Piston Slap Noisy in Cold Engine

BY EUGENE B. MILMOE

You go out to the garage, start the car engine and you hear a strange, hollow, bell-like sound. But after driving a few miles, the noise more or less disappears, so you forget about it. Then, the next morning when you start up, the noise is heard again.

This is what is known as piston slap — most likely to occur when the engine is very cold. It's caused by one or more pistons which are rocking from side to side in their cylinders when the engine is first started. Then, as higher temperatures expand both piston and cylinder metals, the clearance is reduced and the rocking motion is minimized.

In addition, engine oil has had a chance to circulate well into the cylinders and cushion any side motion which might result in piston-slap noise.

B. L. writes: "My speedometer suddenly became very noisy last week and the needle kept jumping — now it won't register at all."

It's probably a broken cable which became kinked or ran dry of lubricant.

S. P. asks: "In the past few months, I've had my '56 sedan tuned up at three different service stations, but the engine is still rough, sluggish and a gas-burner. Can you recommend someone who will do the job right?"

Perhaps your engine can't be fine-tuned because of some major defect. Rather than order a routine tune-up, try a checkup.

From T.G.: "What is this four-way flasher device that converts turn signals into warning lights in case of trouble?"

It's a dash-installed switch tied into the turn signal system. When your car is immobilized on the road, you just pull the switch and all turn signals flash on and off at the same time.

THE GOLDEN YEARS

Playing It Cool On Retirement Cash

BY THOMAS COLLINS

The pension group, and those about to join it, are being fed too much confusion about what to do with their retirement savings.

Little old ladies are getting about 2 per cent return from the banks and trust funds and think it's wonderful. Men with business backgrounds who put their savings into electronics stocks for "fabulous" growth are seeing little more than up and down like a yo-yo, and are blaming everybody from Washington to the county sanitation department. Along with these two groups comes the following:

"All that I have saved on my retirement is in savings and loans accounts. I am getting only 4½ percent return. I need more. Where can I get more?"

It would be well for all of you who are of retirement age to understand two things: One is that nobody really knows which investment will do what, and for how long . . . and if anybody tries to tell you he knows he's probably trying to sell you something. The second is that a steady return of 4½ to 5 per cent is a sensible return on retirement savings . . . and anything over the skeptical of most sellers below or above that.

MARKET DROPPED

James K. Hudson, who retired a year ago with good savings and a little more sense than most about investments, has a pretty well been through the mill on his savings. "I had about all I owned in sound common stocks when I retired," he says. Then last February the market began dropping, and before December roughly one dollar in every three I had just vanished.

"This scared me. But I held to the stocks, and as they began recovering I slowly switched my money out of them. And into guaranteed savings certificates at the bank for 5 per cent. I came to the conclusion that stock prices could be affected by the state of the country's economy, by the state of the corporation issuing the stock but also by the gyrations of Wall Street traders. It was no place for retirement money . . ."

There are those who are told to put their savings into automobile stocks or gas stations because suburbs and shopping centres assure a growing industry. . . those who are told to sell their oil stocks because Detroit is trying to perfect electric cars. Maybe. I don't know. I doubt that anybody knows such things with enough assurance to protect retirement savings.

There are those who are told that mutual funds are safe because professionals choose the stocks that compose them. But mutual funds started suffering along with stocks last February.

What is said here is not an argument that any of these investments is good or bad, but an argument that all of them are unpredictable. Nobody in recent years has been more wrong more often than economists and stock brokers.

Amid all the advice in all different dimensions you are getting you might consider the following:

— If your retirement income is sufficient for your needs, and your savings are excess money, say quality investments will probably work out all right in the end. Anyway, you can't take the money with you.

— A part of your savings could be extremely valuable to you in an emergency or in a depression if you had them in an insured account in a bank or savings and loans where you could get all the money back no matter what. But always in local accounts so you could move quickly.

— Prices of most things are likely to keep going up year after year, whether they call it inflation or not. Quality stocks are a good offset for rising prices — maybe any money above that $10,000 you have sailed away in insured accounts.

Our Diversity Is Creative--Pearson

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister Pearson expressed the hope, in his New Year's message, that continental celebrations will increase Canadians' legitimate pride in their country.

He urged his countrymen to see Canada whole, not in its divisions and difficulties. The future "promises a destiny beyond the dreams of those who made our Confederation 100 years ago."

The statement says a national identity is being forged out of "the dualism of our origin and the diversity of our development."

"Indeed, one of the most exciting and creative things about Canada is our social and cultural diversity.

"This gives Canadians a far broader opportunity for personal and national growth and fulfilment than could ever be found in cultural and social uniformity."

The great challenge facing Canadians was to live "together with more faith and less self-doubt and hesitation.

"This is our greatest problem: not to become captives of the past when the present moves so quickly into the future. So we must find new solutions, adapt ourselves to new conditions, look ahead, think ahead."

The prime minister stated that the nation is young and flexible enough to develop a national purpose devoted to all that is noble and excellent in the human spirit.

"We are a greatly blessed land, though we often don't seem to realize it as we complain about our difficulties and seem to doubt our destiny."

BC Will Re-establish Eavesdropping Inquiry

VANCOUVER (CP) — The British Columbia cabinet will likely act today to reconstitute a royal commission inquiry into convention of the Pulp and Paper Workers of Canada.

Premier W. A. C. Bennett promised the cabinet would act "quite quickly . . . before the new year, I would hope," to revive the inquiry which Chief Justice J. O. Wilson of the B.C. Supreme Court ruled Friday was improperly constituted.

The chief justice, ruling on an application by the union to halt the inquiry, upheld the union's contention that a probe under which the cabinet appointed Commissioner I. A. Sargent was never intended to be used for the purpose to which it was put.

Judge Sargent, a retired county court judge, was appointed under the provincial Public Inquiries Act, which the union's counsel claimed provided only for the appointment of commissions to investigate election irregularities or government matters.

The commission had sat for eight days before Angus McPhee, vice-president of the pulp union, filed a petition in Supreme Court to have it declared invalid.

Union members discovered listening devices in hotel convention rooms early in November and reported the find to RCMP.

Stocks End Year Slowly; No News to Boost Market

By LARRY DWORKIN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

And that's the way the year ended—not with a bang but with a whimper.

Canadian stock markets didn't come through with the traditional year-end rally and brokers hold little hope for much activity early in the new year.

Almost all the analysists have a pet theory for the lack of action, but basically all the same. When New York is quiet so are Canadian stock markets.

"There just hasn't been any news to stimulate the economy," one broker said. "As a result the markets floundered."

Analysts attributed tight money, the possibility of a tax increase in the new year and uncertainty about the prospects of some key industries as keeping potential investors away.

"There is also the cloud of Vietnam hanging over the U.S. economy," another said.

Volumes continued to drag and only 9,484,000 shares were traded at Toronto compared with 8,663,000 last week.

At Montreal 3,469,000 shares changed hands against 3,307,000 last week.

The decline in volumes has plagued the markets for the last five or six months.

The Toronto industrial index, which measures key stock movements, eked out a slight gain of .06 to 147.53 as a result of stronger prices Friday.

Dominion Coal preferred climbed 3¼ to 8¼ on news that the federal and Nova Scotia governments plan to set up a crown corporation to buy and phase out the Cape Breton coal industry.

The stock touched a high of 17 before falling back in profit taking.

DOSCO MOVED UP

The company is a subsidiary of Dosco, which moved up ½ to 9. Hawker Siddeley, which controls Dosco, fell 3 cents to 2.30.

Other industrials to advance included Dominion Textile up 1¼ to 20½, Imm and Bell Telephone ¾ each to 84¾ and 46¼ and Canadian Breweries ¼ to 7¼.

CPR fell ¼ to 54¾. The company announced that its wholly owned subsidiary, Esquimalt and Nanaimo Railway Co., has received notices of reassessment from the department of national revenue for $45,000,000 on its tax for 1960-1964.

Dispute Turns Tide; Mo-Hawks Tie

By CLAIRE HOY
Staff Writer

A disputed goal mid-way through the third period sparked the Belleville Mo-Hawks to two more goals to overcome a three-goal deficit and earn a 4-4 tie with Toronto Varsity Grads before 1,000 fans at the Belleville Arena last night.

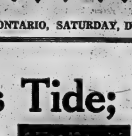
Wayne McConnell fired his eighth goal of the season to lift the Mo-Hawks from a lack-adaisical effort at 10.11 of the third frame. Belleville had a man advantage at the time.

Toronto goaltender Jerry MacNamara disputed the goal judge's decision and skated out of his net back towards the judge's cage, shaking his fist. He even swung his stick in a wild manner, hitting the screen and breaking the red light.

That goal made the score 4-3 and seemed to unsettle the visitors for the rest of the night. Eddie Marineau took advantage of it and backhanded the puck through a mass of players underneath MacNamara's pads only 17 seconds later. Menard and Brown assisted.

Then at 17.17, John "Shaker" Baker banged in a pass from Gary Darling and the score was 4-4. Greg Marchen picked up an assist along with Darling.

There was no scoring in the overtime period.



Until McConnell poked in McAlpine's pass at 10.11, it was Toronto against Belleville goaltender Steve Rexe. Time and again, Rexe stoke almost certain goals from the visitors to keep Belleville within reach.

Toronto netted Belleville 37-27 on the night and had them on the run most of the game.

Grant Moore opened the scoring for Toronto at 6.53 of the first period when he banged in a rebound from close in. Carl Hymers and Rick Hay drew assists.

About one minute later, Gary Darling knotted the score at one apiece with a ramble-dazzle stickhandling display around the Toronto net. McAlpine and Baker assisted.

Toronto went ahead again at 10.25 on a goal by Galipeau on a screen shot from the point. The Grads outshot the Mo-Hawks 11-9 in the first period.

STEVE REXE

Both teams had only five shots apiece in the second frame but Toronto held a wide edge territorially. Larry Babcock scored the only goal of the period for Toronto at 15.52, after the Grads had pulled their goaltender in favor of an extra forward because of a delayed penalty call against the Mo-Hawks. Hymers and Moore assisted on that goal.

The visitors started strong in the third period, and except for several key saves by Rexe, the game would have been out of reach. They did get one by the Belleville goaltender at 7.42, when Hay scored, but only after Rexe had made two quick saves on Moore and Sinclair and had no chance on the final rebound.

Baker and Darling both picked up assists, a goal and an assist, with McConnell and Marineau scoring singles. McAlpine earned two assist, with Menard, Brown and Marchen each picking up one.

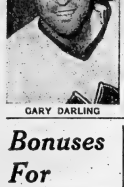
For Toronto, Grant Moore was the big gun with a goal and two assists. Rick Hay was one and one, with Galipeau and Babcock scoring the other goals. Hymers earned two assists and Sinclair one.

Referee Blair Graham of Islington handed out a total of 11 penalties, five of them to Belleville.

Hymers and Marchen had a private duel at 11.13 of the second period with Marchen landing three solid punches before being scuttled off to the penalty box.

Bob McAlpine expressed his displeasure at what he thought should have been a trip in the second period and sat out 18 minutes for his troubles.

At the half-way marks of the third period, Lou Sarchs and Roger Galipeau started mixing thing up in front of the Toronto net and both went off for high sticking.



In the overtime period, Toronto outshot Belleville 4-2, but the Mo-Hawks carried most of the play, just missing on several chances.

Near the five-minute mark of the overtime period, Menard broke right in alone, but MacNamara made a great play to block the low drive. Shortly after that a Belleville shot bounced off the goalpost and another slid right along the red line but stayed out.

Bonuses For Blues!

NEW YORK (CP) — What price glory?

In New York, it's $18,000, the amount New York Rangers management has set aside in bonuses for the players during the current National Hockey League season.

Emile Francis, general manager and coach, evolved a plan before the season started under which the team's 18 regulars could collect a maximum of $1,000 each if the Rangers come up to all his expectations.

So far they have. They're in first place in the standings and have already collected their first rewards. Francis paid out $250 a man when the Rangers gained 30 points in their first 25 games. The target was 26 points.

The team's next objective is 52 points in 50 games. The Rangers are closing in on that one with 40 points after 32 games following a 4-2 victory over Detroit Red Wings Thursday. That leaves them 18 games to pick up 12 points.

Additional bonuses are offered for playoff games and the Rangers haven't revealed full details except that each man can make $1,000 extra.

Bonuses are allowed in the NHL, including individual payments. Forward Rod Gilbert is reported in line for an extra $500 if he scores 25 goals. He now has 19. And if the Rangers make the playoffs, individual bonuses will be double, one New York newspaper reports.

Americans Thump Bisons 7-3

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Rochester Americans keep rolling along atop the American League standings, seemingly oblivious of the fact that the parent Toronto Maple Leafs of the National Hockey League keep stealing their goaltender.

The Leafs have sent goalie Gary Smith to Victoria Maple Leafs of the Western Hockey League after calling him up from Rochester as a replacement for Johnny Bower and Terry Sawchuk, both on the injury list.

But the Americans don't seem to mind. They held on to first place in the AHL's Western Division by coasting to a 7-3 victory over Buffalo Bisons Friday night.

In other Friday night games, Pittsburgh Hornets defeated Springfield Indians 4-3 and Baltimore Clippers rallied from a 4-1 deficit for a 4-4 tie with Providence Reds.

RECALL MARC REAUME

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — Rochester of the American Hockey League has recalled defenceman Marc Reaume from Tulsa Oilers of the Central Professional Hockey League. Reaume, 32, is expected to replace injured Duane Rupp.

Senior "A" Hockey

Aces Bury Oaks 14-5

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

Overtime anyone?

That could have been the invitation Friday night in the Ontario Hockey Association senior series as three of four games went into an extra 10-minute period.

Two ended in ties. Belleville McHawks and North York Varsity Grads battled 4-4 and Collingwood Georgians and Orillia played to a 5-5 stalemate. Tyndstock Athletics won the other overtime game 4-3 over Barrie Flyers.

The fourth game never came close to an extra period. Kingston Aces swamped Oakville Oaks 14-5 after scoring eight goals in the first period.

Grant Moore, Roger Galipeau, Larry Babcock and Rick Hay each scored once for North York.

John Baker scored for Belleville with less than three minutes remaining to send the game into overtime. Gary Darling, Wayne McConnel and Ed Mariasan scored for Aces.

Dave McComb, Joe Hanley, Hec Brainard, Bill Abbott and Dave Pitter shared the scoring with one each for the Georgians. George Westfall had two for Orillia and Eldon Watson, George Ford and Dune Brodie got the others.

Playing-coach Ted Power of Woodstock scored with less than two minutes left in the overtime period to lead the Athletics to their win and a share of second place in the series with Galt Hornets.

Art Sullivan, Pat Baster and Ron Ryan scored one each for Woodstock. John Weeks, Al Smith and Stan Rizzuto had one apiece for the last-place Flyers.

Eight forwards and a defenceman accounted for the Kingston goals as the Aces fired 33 shots at Oakville goaltender Al Trotta. 25 of them in the first period.

New Ski Spot Opens Near Kaladar

Add another ski spot to the Quinte district's growing list of resorts as opening up is assistly followers of the popular winter pastime.

"Baker's Valley Ski Retreat" makes its official opening today with the promise of excellent skiing for the New Year's weekend.

Operated by Ross Baker, the resort is located on Highway 7, 11 miles east of Kaladar, or some 57 miles from Belleville.

"We will be open on weekends only", said Baker, "and we have ski and toboggan runs, with 1,000 to 2,000 foot slopes, with natural snow." Novel skidoo and horse driven lifts are in use.

Imlach: Bench Looms For Big M

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Frank Mahovlich has scored 15 goals this season, but that isn't enough to satisfy coach Punch Imlach of Toronto Maple Leafs.

Imlach conscripted the left winger for a second practice session Friday in an effort to better his output, and indicated he's on the verge of benching Mahovlich if he doesn't get more goals this year than any other Leaf.

"It may depend on how he does against Chicago," said Imlach in reference to tonight's Leafs-Black Hawks game in Toronto.

Along with volunteers and convalescents at the second session Friday, Mahovlich was firing welcoming shots at Al Smith, called up from Victoria of the Western League in Toronto's current goalie crisis.

Smith developed a bruised hand from catching Mahovlich slap shots, but Imlach said that didn't mean a thing and he's thinking of starting the recruit tonight. His other possibility is Bruce Gamble.

Regular goalie Johnny Bower, sidelined with a broken finger, said Smith looked pretty sharp to him.

RANGERS MEET CANADIENS

In the night's other games, New York Rangers are at Montreal and Boston Bruins at Detroit.

Canadiens' captain Jean Beliveau watched the Montreal practice from a rail seat Friday and said his vision is still blurred when he looks downwards. He was sidelined two weeks ago after being struck on the eye by a stray stick.

His eye remains red and sagry-looking and he won't make a guess as to when he will return, though he has been given the go-ahead to skate Monday.

Canadiens' veteran right winger, Claude Provost, will return to action against the league-leading Rangers, but the status of Leon Rochefort remains doubtful.

Tonight will be the second consecutive Saturday for the Canadiens to entertain the Rangers. Last week New York won 4-3 on a goal by Dennie Marshall with 23 seconds remaining in the game.

After Friday's practice, coach Toe Blake was in comeback mood.

"Everybody's up and raring to go for this one," he said. "They seem to be the class of the league right now and we've got a score to settle with them."

But it seems the Rangers have plenty of reasons to keep things going the way they want them. The reasons are $18,000—the amount said to be set aside in bonuses for New York players.

Coach Emile Francis is reported to have evolved the bonus plan under which each of the team's 18 regulars could collect a maximum of $1,000 if the Rangers came up to expectations.

So far, the have done better by winning 18 of their last 16 starts to hold first place over Chicago by four points. Toronto and Montreal are third and fourth.

Rangers earned their first bonus of $250 a man after 25 games. The bonus target was 26 points, but they gained 30. Their next objective is 52 points in 50 games. They've got 18 games in which to pick up a mere 12 points.

Sunday, Montreal is at Detroit, Toronto at New York, and Boston at Chicago.

Come From Behind

National's Tie US; Win Tourney

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (CP)—The rough and rugged Canadian national ice hockey team behind with two goals in the final five minutes to gain a 4-4 tie with the United States Nationals and win the third annual Walter Brown international hockey tournament Friday night.

The tie was Canada's second in four games, along with two victories, and it gave the new champs six points in the standings.

It was also the second tie for the U.S. in the tournament.

The Western Canada Selects, the third team in the tournament, also have a pair of ties for two points. Tonight, the U.S. and the Selects tangle in the final game of the tourney for second place.

Bill Masterton of the U.S. had given his team a two-goal margin at the 13:46 of the third period, but then Canada's Morris Mott popped one in a little over a minute later to pull within one goal, and Marshall Johnston dropped in the tying tally seven seconds after a U.S. penalty.

Jerry Casey had given the U.S. a 1-0 first-period lead, but that metlet away before two minutes.

Canadian goals by Jean Cusson and Fran Huck in the second period.

Bob Currie then knotted the count again for the U.S. on an unassisted goal, 36 seconds after Huck's tally.

John Cunniff put the U.S. in front with only 25 seconds gone in the third period and then Masterton made it 4-2 before the Canadians staged their furious comeback.

Cusson replaces the Soviet Union as tournament champion. The Russians, who won here the last two years, failed to appear as scheduled.

The Selects were the late favorites over the Russian national team.

The game Friday night was a rough and penalty-filled game throughout. Canada held a defensive edge in first, not allowing a shot on goal for the first five minutes.

Now In Third Spot

Miners Beaten Again

STOCKHOLM (CP) — Swedish fans who have been packing the arena during Drumheller Miners' controversial performances here saw the Alberta team go down to defeat for the second time in the Bunny Ahearne hockey tournament Friday night, with a 5-2 loss to Djurgaarden of the host country.

The Miners, who failed in the second period in tie the score, now share third place in their group.

Bryanes of Sweden, which defeated the Miners 5-1 Thursday night, downed Leksand of Sweden 5-2 Friday night.

Bryanes now leads the group in which Canada is competing for the Ahearne Cup with six points, followed by Leksand with four and Drumheller and Djurgaarden with three each.

Ticket sales indicate Swedish fans rate the Canadian style of hockey despite complaints by a Swedish manager that the Canadians are too rough.

Bryanes manager Thure Wichberg termed the performance of the Canadians "boring" less than a scandal" after his team's 5-1 victory Thursday night.

But his outburst brought protests from Canadian officials, who blamed poor refereeing.

Art Potter, Canadian Amateur Hockey Association representative travelling with the Allan Cup championship team from Alberta, said Friday that unless the referees were changed "Drumheller Miners will not continue to play."

Canadian coach Boy Kelly also blamed the referees for the trouble Thursday when the Miners got 52 minutes of their 58 minutes in penalties in the last 10 minutes of play—on the referees.

Defeats Jack Canning

Gordanier Wins Classic

Peterborough's Bert Gordanier smothered all pressure against one of Belleville's better five-pin bowlers here last night.

Gordanier, facing elimination with a loss, defeated Jack Canning in back-to-back match games to capture the third annual Holiday Classic tournament at the Bowl-O-Drome.

46 Bowlers, from Kingston, Cobourg, Peterborough, Port Hope, Picton, Belleville, Campbellford, Trenton and Baltimore, participated.

In the qualifying four-game round, Gordanier finished well down in 13th position, with 1015.

He suffered a loss in the first round of match play while Canning, who qualified in sixth position with 1087, rolled along undefeated. A double loss eliminated a bowler.

Another Belleville veteran, Leo Labelle, clashed with Gordanier in the semi-final, ended with a one-loss record, and the Peterborough bowler beat him to reach the final.

Canning, by virtue of being undefeated, drew a bye into the final and could have won the spot with a single win over Gordanier.

Gordanier beat Canning by some 30 pins in their first match, forcing the sudden-death, then came through with a cliff-hanging 318-315 championship victory for first-place money.

In the final order of standing for prize money, Gordanier, Canning and Labelle were followed by Paul Brioux of Peterborough, Bill Pagan of Kingston, Bob Cassidaine of Belleville, George Healey of Cobourg and Wally Dever of Belleville.

High game honors went to Brioux with 365, Belleville's Art Bolier with 312, Cassidaine with 348 and Peterborough's Don Miller with 324. In all there were 24 over-300 games bowled.

Tom Fletcher led the qualifiers with 1179 and Art Bolier was second with 1166. Other qualifying scores were: Lou Mateo 1123, Gus Cormier 1109, Paul Brioux 1102, Jack Canning 1087, George Healey 1076, Bob Casselman 1072, Les Lennox 1045, Bill Pagan 1035, Les Tyrrick 1024, George Corbin 1023, Bert Gordanier 1012, Bud Petican 1003, Wally Dever 997, Leo Labelle 983.

Says Hugh McLean

"Did Not Favor Canadians"

HAMILTON (CP)—Hugh McLean, veteran official in the Ontario Hockey Association, Friday night denied charges that he favored Canadian players in a game against the touring Czechoslovakian hockey team.

McLean refereed as exhibition game in Toronto Wednesday night which was won 4-3 by the Czechs over a team of all-stars from the OHA Junior A series.

Following the game, Dr. Arndst Zdenek, president of the Czechoslovakian Ice Hockey Federation, said the referee allowed the Canadians to get away with more offences than the Czechs.

He asked that McLean not referee any of the Czech games in the centennial invitational hockey tournament in Winnipeg Jan. 1-4.

McLean said in an interview with Hamilton radio station CHML that Dr. Zdenek's charges are an example of the political pressures of international hockey.

International and amateur hockey, with the exception of the OHA Junior A series, uses the two-referee system, while professional hockey employs one referee and two linesmen for games.

McLean, of nearby Dundas, said a Czech official at Wednesday's game violated all rules and regulations of hockey when he walked into the referee's dressing room and complained to the timekeeper.

He said he told the official to leave the dressing room and "stay out until you know the rules properly."

McLean said the one-referee system should be employed in international hockey and suggested the Canadian Amateur Hockey Federation bring over some foreign officials to work games in Canada.

Says Packers' Lombardi

Team With Hottest Quarter Will Win

DALLAS (CP)—Coach Vince Lombardi of Green Bay Packers has made a simple prediction for Sunday's National Football League title game against Dallas Cowboys.

"If Bart Starr has a real hot day, we are going to win," he said. "If Don Meredith has a real hot day, Dallas probably will win. In this league it comes down to that."

Starr is quarterback of the Packers and he could lead them to one of the richest payoffs in football history. Each winning player collects $8,000 for Sunday's effort and gets a crack at a $15,000 payday in the Super Bowl against the American Football League champion Jan. 15 in Los Angeles.

Dallas is putting its money on the passing of Meredith at quarterback and the catching of halfback Dan Reeves. In between is Bob Hayes, former Olympic sprint champ, who uses his speed to put points on the board.

The Packers are one-touchdown favorites and coach Tom Landry of Dallas agrees with this prediction, with some reservations.

"I think the Packers should be favored, but our boys are pretty confident. Green Bay has the best set of linebackers in the league."

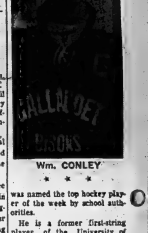
Asked if there is any weak spot in the Packer defence, Landry replied cheerily:

"No, I don't think so. They will give you a little bit on the ground but no points. If both teams play up to their potential it should be a close game."

The NFL game, starting at 4 p.m. EST, will be televised nationally in Canada on the CBC network and in the United States by CBS, which paid $2,000,000 for broadcasting rights.

The game is the second of a busy football weekend in Dallas. Southern Methodist University meets Rice in the city of Georgia today in the Cotton Bowl game.

All of the 75,504 seats in the Cotton Bowl have been sold out for more than a week for the pro game.



OSD Grad Stars On College Team

Gallaudet College, Washington, DC, the only college in the world for the deaf, thinks highly, hockey-wise of a third-year undergrad named Belleville, Ont.

He is William Conley of 265 Charles Street, a graduate of the Ontario School for the Deaf here.

Conley was named the college "athlete of the week" a short time ago, and recently was named the top hockey player of the week by school authorities.

* * *

He is a former first-string player of the University of Maryland hockey club.

Conley is president of the college hockey club, and a co-captain. The Gallaudet team is a member of a nine club circuit the Washington-Potomac Hockey League.

A former defenceman, Conley advanced to the front lines and immediately showed scoring ability. He has scored seven goals and two assists in nine games.

Recently he stepped from the penalty box, grabbed a loose puck and swept through the Baltimore Mercuries to score what was the winning goal in a 3-2 victory.

He is spedited with being the organizer of the college team and one of its mainstays in league action. It rates third place in the loop standing to date.

When he graduates, Bill hopes to enter the professional field of sport — and continue his hockey career.

Bills Versus Chiefs

Weather May Hold The Key

BUFFALO (CP) — The weather may yet hold the key to victory in Sunday's American Football League final between defending champion Buffalo Bills and the challenging Kansas City Chiefs.

Early Friday everyone had assumed that in mid-winter the field at War Memorial Stadium would be frozen solid and that the temperature would be as high as the low 20s.

On this basis, the Chiefs had been considered slight favorites to oust the Bills from their two-year stand as champions, even though Buffalo coach Joe Collier suggested that a frozen field might take away a little of Kansas City's vaunted fancy attack.

But, late Friday, the weather forecaster threw everyone a curve by announcing he expects the weather the 1 p.m. EST game time to be: "Fair, slight chance of snow, mild temperatures with the mercury getting well into the 30s. There will be no appreciable snow."

But he had a kicker in it also, even the most ardent Kansas City fan qualm when he added that the playing surface at the stadium will not be frozen. In fact, "It could be sloppy going," Coach Hank Stram of Kansas City—suggested he wasn't concerned over what condition the field is in, being more concerned with his players.

"You can't worry over things you have no control over," he said. "You do have control over the attitude of your club and that's the only thing we are concerning ourselves with—the artistic approach."

Artistry on the field has been the long suit of the Chiefs through the season as they have ride-dazzled their way to a 9-2-1 won-lost-tied record in sweeping to the Western Division crown.

Meanwhile, the Bills slogged it out and nipped Boston Patriots for the Eastern crown with a 9-4-1 record.

City Peewees Whip Petes

Belleville's OMHA peewee club, Smith's Fuels, continued to mow down out-of-town competition in exhibition play last night.

The Fuelmen whipped Peterborough Peewees 8-1 in the Lakelock city.

Lapensée triggered three Belleville goals with the others going to Ricketts, Smrke and Cooper. Richardson and Coates had two assists each, Mulvihill, Smith, Smrke and Coulson losers.

Winslow was the lone Peterborough marksman.

Rebels Take Over Top In C.H.H.L.

The current standing shows Glenn Ross with 18 points, Ivanhoe 18, Wallbridge 11, Foxboro 9, Frankford and Plainfield 8 each and Thomasburg in the cellar with three.

Glen Ross' big scoring duo of Jack Wright, Andy Faulkner and Ken McConnell succeeded for the win last night. Wright got the winner among his two goals and two assists. Faulkner also had two and two, tying him for the loop's scoring leadership, and McConnell got one goal and two helpers.

Foxboro led 3-2 going into the third period. They had two goals from John Hill and losers from Dennis Ray and Barry Dedels. Ross' assists, three to three assists before being assessed a misconduct and a match penalty during the third period.

Referees for the game were Howard Skelly and Gord Gregory.

RED WINGS FOR KINGSTON

NEWCASTLE, N.B. (CP) — Fredericton Red Wings will represent the province in the Canadian centennial midget hockey tournament at Kingston, Ont., in April. The Red Wings defeated Chatham All Stars 6-2 in a sudden-death game Friday after coasting to a 7-2 victory earlier in the day over Campbellton Royals. Fri. day's victories gave the Red Wings a 3-0 record in the two day tournament. Nine teams had entered.

NHL Statistics

Goalies Shade Marksmen

MONTREAL (CP) — National Hockey League sharpshooters are firing more pucks at opposing netminders this season, but it appears the hard-pressed goalies are winning an uphill battle.

Statistics released by the NHL Friday show that in the first third of the 1966-67 season, more shots were taken at the opposition nets than in a corresponding period last year—but fewer goals were scored.

In all, the six NHL teams blasted 4,473 shots at the harassed goaltenders, but scored only 419 times in the first 71 games this year. This is a scoring percentage of 9.4. The figures include games played Dec. 14.

In the corresponding period last year, the goalies allowed 447 pucks past them on 4,450 shots.

New York, currently in first place, had 31 fewer goals scored against them in their first 25 games this year than in 1965-66. Boston had cut its goals-against total by 21 to 90 in 24 games.

GOALS TELL THE TALE

Detroit Red Wings, who lost out in the Stanley Cup finals to Montreal Canadiens last spring, are currently in the cellar with 87 goals against them as compared to 69 in 24 games last year.

Glenn Hall and Denis DeJordy of Chicago Black Hawks have had 60 pucks end up in the net in 23 games compared with 56 last season.

The first-a-l Canadiens, currently in fourth place in the NHL standings, have allowed 55 goals in the first 22 games. This figure duplicates their 22-game record of last season.

An assortment of Toronto Maple Leaf netminders allowed 67 goals in the club's first 24 games this season, while during the corresponding time last year the goals-against total read 70.

In the shooting department, Chicago led the way with 684 shots and 84 goals in 23 games for a 12.3 scoring percentage. The Hawks are followed by the Rangers with 10.1 per cent accuracy on 81 goals in 800 tries.

Toronto's 71 goals on 735 shots gave the club a 9.7 percentage. The Bruins havenetted 67 goals on 772 shots for 8.7, Canadiens have a 7.9 mark and Detroit 7.8 per cent on 54 goals and 685 shots and 62 markers on 792 tries.

Portland Adds To Lead

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Portland Buckaroos strengthened their hold on first place in the Western Hockey League Friday night when they downed California Seals 6-4 at Oakland.

The lowly San Diego Gulls game without an ace of beating second-place Vancouver, but the Canucks recovered and nipped the Gulls 2-1 at Vancouver.

The win leaves Portland with 48 points—11 points up on Vancouver and 17 ahead of third-place Los Angeles Blades. Seattle Totems and California are tied for fifth place with 31 points but California has a game in hand. Victoria Maple Leafs trail with 28 points while San Diego remains the cellar-dweller with 19.

Two - goal performances by Connie Madigan and Bill Saunders gave Portland the win over California. Lee Lunde and Larry Leach provided the others.

Flyers Blank Rangers

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont. (CP) — Goaltender Phil Myre posted his first shutout of the season as Niagara Falls Flyers defeated Kitchener Kitchener 5-0 Friday night in an Ontario Hockey Association Junior A game before 4,000 fans.

Coach Wally Kullman of Kitchener was ejected from the game in the third period after objecting to a penalty handed out by referee Bob Nadin to Dave Richardson.

Clem Tremblay, Tom Webster, Jim Lorentz, Ross Webley and Terry Sanderson also scored once for the Flyers who were outshot in the game 37-34.

Russians Blast Halifax Jrs.

HALIFAX (CP) — Russia's defending hockey champions showed superior skating and puck control to blast Halifax Canadiens 16-2 in an exhibition game before a crowd of 4,000 here Friday night.

Today's Tip: Whatever position you are playing, try to be the best at that position. It is better to be a good lead than an average second.

Curling Cues By Hec Gervais

The Situation: Sometimes you can spoil a potentially big end by one misplaced shot early in the end. You can never start from first rock expecting to count an eight end, but you should play your shots for maximum chance for a big one.

The Strategy: When placing your stones and your opponents are missing, try to leave as much open space as possible for the opponents to slip by. Keep your first four or five rocks in front of the house to eliminate the possibility of a freeze. Notice in the diagrams, I have numbered them to would play the rocks from one through eight.

Junior "B" Clubs Stage Close Race

Oshawa Crushmen regained sole possession of first place in the red hot 'OHA Eastern Junior "B" puck race last night with a home - ice 4-1 victory over Peterborough.

Only four points separate the top four clubs.

Following is the unofficial standing kept here including all games played to date.

Horse racing was cancelled Thursday and Friday. The cancellation Thursday, the fifth this month because of bad weather, snowed 400 to 500 racing fans. Apollos Drub Oklahoma

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Houston Apollos drubbed Central Hockey League leader Oklahoma City 6-1 Friday night and moved within one point of tying the Blazers for first place.

Memphis beat Omaha 3-1 and Tulsa and St. Louis battled to a 2-2 draw.

Oklahoma has 36 points, followed by Houston with 35 points, Tulsa 32, St. Louis 28 and Memphis 25.

Norman Ferguson scored twice for Houston. Other goals came from Bob Inglis, Norm Dennis, Leo Thiffault and Andre Boudrias. Woodley got Oklahoma's goal.

For Memphis it was Andre Pronovost, Lou Rochefort and Doug Roberts.

Time is gained by keeping your eyes on the puck being dropped rather than on the faceoff spot. It will take you longer to react if you watch the spot and the puck suddenly comes in view. Remember, split seconds mean goals.

1.30—Century 21 59 minute special describing Canada's First Hundred Years in the words of the great and the not so great.

Lot of Women Broadcasters Deplorable Says Kate Aitken

STREETSVILLE, Ont. (CP)—A 75-year-old woman who kept 1,250,000 Canadians glued to the radio every time she spoke into the microphone says women broadcasters in Canada are in a "deplorable situation."

Inimitable Kate Aitken, better known as radio's Mrs. A., knows what she is talking about.

She broke a cross - Canada link in June, 1937, soon after retired without explanation to her regular radio listeners.

Asked why, she told a reporter at that time: "Just say I'm unpredictable, that I never did have any business sense, that I'm probably making a mistake."

She dropped a career which spanned 25 years and took her 2,000,000 miles through 34 countries.

Mrs. Aitken is still keenly interested in the business of newsgathering and future opportunities for women broadcasters throughout the world.

She says women broadcasters in Canada have as keen a sense of news value as men, if not a keener one.

STILL ENJOYS LIFE

"They have a more intuitive sense of values which helps in the evaluation of news and how it affects not one individual but the whole family of humanity.

"But the basic issue is that no woman file in with the back-room boys—she's out of place, out of context and they have no sympathy with her.

"You can beat it in two ways: by an intelligent approach, or by being as rowdy as the boys; and that's out."

The hardships of being a woman in a man's world don't seem to have taken the fun out of her long career. "I enjoyed every moment of it and I'm still enjoying it," she said in an interview.

A devoted grandmother to nine youngsters, she continues to be active in a wide variety of interests, managing even to turn retirement into a career.

Up at 7 every morning, she first scans the newspapers and then devotes the morning to writing.

Her current topic is Canadian etiquette — "extremely interesting because it has changed so."

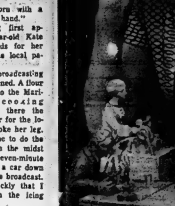
WROTE ADS AT 10

This fall she returned to university and now she spends each afternoon working on material for a course on a contemporary novel. "I went back because I love writing so far, she has about 50 books to her name) and I love to learn."

Each Saturday she treks to the nearby South Peel Hospital to distribute reading material to the bed-ridden as a member of the women's auxiliary.

One of seven children of a Boston, Ont., storekeeper, she grew up in a community where the library, church, the skating rink and the dance club meant a great deal. Because all the store clerks lived in her parents' home, there were "about 25 of us at every meal."

"I was really born with a mixing spoon in my hand."



The writing bug first appeared when 10-year-old Kate started to write ads for her father's store in the local paper.

The start of her broadcasting career merely happened. A floor firm had sent her to the Marimes to conduct cooking courses and while there the woman commentator for the local radio station broke her leg.

"There was no one to do the broadcast. I was in the midst of demonstrating seven-minute icing, but they sent a car down for me and I did the broadcast. It all came so quickly that I just continued with the icing recipe."

Returning to Toronto, Mrs. Aitken started regular broadcasting over station CFRB.

Her home at Streetsville, a village 25 miles west of Toronto, overlooks woods and a brook. A blanket of snow makes the 8½-acre property look like a Christmas card. In summer, the gardens are full of bloom.

BUSY IN RETIREMENT — Kate Aitken, who retired in 1957 after 25 years as a radio broadcaster, keeps busy at age 75 with a variety of projects. Currently she is busy writing on Canadian etiquette and attending university.

Film, TV Stars on Floats

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — The distance between Pasadena and Hollywood is not a great deal more than the geographic 20 miles. But that will be rectified next Monday.

Pasadena has been characterized, especially by Bob Hope and other comedians, as a longnette - wielding dowager. Hollywood, of course, bears the image of a peroxided starlet. The dowager and the starlet have seldom joined forces for Pasadena's annual Tournament of Roses.

But both are more mature now, and Hollywood will be well represented in the two - hour parade which will be televised across the continent Monday morning.

In previous years, Hollywood participation was largely limited to selection of stars as grand marshal. Mary Pickford, Harold Lloyd, Lee Carrillo, Shirley Temple, Edgar Bergen, Kay Kyser and Bob Hope all served from 1933 to 1947. Last year the grand marshal was Walt Disney, who led the parade alongside his old friend, Mickey Mouse.

RIDE ON FLOAT

This year Pat Crowley, Mark Miller and their sons of the Please Don't Eat the Daisies television series, will ride a florists' float, along with their shaggy dog. Bill Cosby of I Spy will appear on a float sponsored by the Centennial Rose Parade committee.

For its Shangri-la theme, the American Trucking Association is assembling some of the Surviving members of the Lost Horizon cast — Jane Wyatt, Margo and Sam Jaffe. Chinese actress Lisa Lu will grace the float Kong float.
